

Is Her Beautiful Smile Good Genes, Or Does She Have A Secret?

A smile so natural, only her dentist knows for sure.

Empowered

Eating her favorite foods, free to travel and live the life she wants. Not afraid to laugh or get close to the ones she loves. Many peers have missing or failing teeth, some even have dentures. How does she do it?

Odds Against Us

Virtually every adult will lose a tooth in their lifetime. For many, the suffering doesn't stop there. As we age, factors ranging from poor oral health to heredity often bring about accelerated tooth loss - so much so that the average American will lose 4 or more teeth by the time they reach 50 years of age.

Traditional Remedies

Historically, alternatives to failing teeth often involved a lifetime of glues, creams and adhesives and often were accompanied by discomfort and changes in appearance - meaning the options for treating missing or failing teeth could do little to alleviate the physical and emotional discomfort of tooth loss.

Dental Implants

Dental Implants are now considered a "Standard of Care" when replacing missing teeth and are often a better treatment option than conventional dental crowns, bridges, partial and full dentures. Dental Implants have been proven to be a more successful long term option when compared to these more traditional approaches. The appeal of dental implants is very simple: implants look and perform like natural teeth and fit precisely without the need for adhesives. They are permanent and cared for just like natural teeth and restore one's natural smile.

ClearChoice Dental Implant Centers

Before ClearChoice, getting implants could take over a year and involve endless visits to multiple providers. Our state-of-the-art facilities bring everything together under one roof. The doctors, technicians and cutting edge technology needed for a fast, convenient result can all be found in one place. That is how ClearChoice can deliver beautiful smiles in just one day.*

Consider this:

MYTH: Tooth loss affects a relatively small group of people.

FACT: By the age of 50, the average American is missing 4 or more teeth.

MYTH: Tooth loss is almost always a result of poor oral hygiene.

FACT: Oral hygiene is important, but genetics and age are significant drivers of tooth loss.

MYTH: Dental problems caused by gum disease and tooth loss resolve themselves quickly.

FACT: Most dental problems do not "self-resolve" and usually become worse with time.

MYTH: Dentures are the only option for those dealing with tooth loss.

FACT: Dental implants look and feel like your natural teeth and are a modern alternative to dentures.

Your Satisfaction Is Important To Us

ClearChoice Dental Implant Centers provide comprehensive implant treatment professionally and affordably. That's why an independent survey of thousands of patients showed they would overwhelmingly recommend ClearChoice to otherst. At ClearChoice, we work to ensure that no one leaves until they are happy with their smile.

So Did She or Didn't She?

Almost anyone that has lost multiple teeth or even a single tooth is a strong candidate for dental implants. So next time you see someone over 50 with a beautiful, radiant smile ask yourself ... is she lucky or did she make the ClearChoice?

Anthony H. Griffin stands with his wife, Lucy, while the audience gives him a standing ovation for his 12 years as county executive on April 24, before the board of supervisor's budget meeting. Griffin served as the county's administrative leader since 2000, the second-longest tenure since the position was created in 1952. "I enter the next phase of my life with mixed emotions. I am excited but uncertain about my future, and I will miss continuing in my current capacity," Griffin said when he announced his retirement last year. "Fairfax County is a great community and a great organization."

orning has broken, like the first morning...' Cat Stevens sang it in his 1971 hit, and Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova used it to sum up the board's 8-2 vote, endorsing the advertised 2013 budget during the April 24 budget session.

All seven Democrats on the board, and Republican Michael Frey (Sully), endorsed County Executive Anthony Griffin's $6.7 billion advertised budget, which means a $1.075 real estate tax rate, a $0.02 storm water tax rate and a $79 increase in the tax bill of the average county homeowner this year.

"Today, while not entirely out of the woods, we are beginning to see evidence of a recovery, a slow and sluggish recovery, but a recovery nonetheless," Bulova said. "Hopefully, we are beginning to see the dawn of a new day."

Bulova listed signs of a recovery, including:

- uptick in land-use applications,
- strengthening commercial leasing and building activity,
- projected increase in revenue growth at 3.56 increasing home sales and declining foreclosures. "This is quite a contrast from four years ago when we adopted a budget to the backdrop of what is now known as the 'The Great Recession'," Bulova said.

BUT NOT EVERYONE was singing the same sunny tune.

Republican Supervisors John Cook (Braddock) and Pat Herrity (Springfield) voted against the budget. Herrity, who recently underwent successful heart surgery, said the budget doesn't reflect the "new normal," and does "nothing to plan for the future."

"I cannot support this budget because it raises the tax rate at a time when our homeowners are still

Highlights include restored struggling," Herrity said in a statement. "It continues to fund things that should not be on our priority affordable housing for people making up to $120,000 per vear.'

> Herrity has been a strident critic of the county Housing Blueprint, which lays out strategies for a variety of affordable housing options - from workforce housing to housing the homeless.

> "(His) comments were like a broken record." Bulova said. "Something Pat does is roll workforce into affordable housing, and he can make it sound like we're spending money from the budget on people who are well-heeled, and that is just not correct."

Bulova said the county does not subsidize workforce housing, but encourages developers, through incentives such as increased density, to provide affordable housing for young professionals and others who want to live and work in Fairfax County.

Cook said there were many positives in the budget, but transportation was the sticking point for him.

"Our own County staff tells us we need $3 billion over the next decade to meet our transportation needs. State and Federal governments will not provide it," Cook said.

Cook said that despite increased county spending, "not a penny of those additional funds will support transportation infrastructure.

"We have to bring programmatic expenses down, so we have funding to complete critical infrastructure projects. You can't just always keep adding on to the top, you've got to go back and reprioritize,"

He said he was disappointed the board did not adopt his proposal to transfer the county's vehicle registration fee - which provides about $24 million per year – from the general fund to transportation

"Board members have said that setting aside some money for transportation would mean there would be less funding available for other things. Yes, that's called setting priorities," Cook said.

Supervisor John Foust (D-Dranesville) pointed out that Cook and Herrity "are always saying they are for things like human services and raises for our employees but they don't agree to pay for them. It seems airfax County officials met with about 75 representatives churches and other houses of worship Sunday, April 22, to address rumors and concerns that the County's Fire Marshal will shut down their hypothermia programs next winter - and shut out many homeless residents because of fire code violations.

Held at St. Stephens United Methodist Church in Burke, the information session was hosted by county staff, elected officials and nonprofit partners. Panelists included Amanda Andere, executive director of FACETS; Kerri Wilson, executive director of Reston Interfaith and Deputy County Executive Patricia Harrison.

"I think the bottom line is that the fire marshal's office will work individually with houses of worship to make sure they are safe and up to code," said Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova (D-At-large), who called Sunday's meeting.

"In some cases, it might be as simple as a installing a smoke detector or carbon monoxide detector," she said.

Currently, about 35 houses of worship provide shelter to approximately 1,000 homeless residents during the winter months. Each year, various churches, synagogues, mosques and temples take turns providing space to provide food and shelter for the homeless population during the winter months. Last year, there were no hypothermia-related deaths reported during the season.

Supervisor Cathy Hudgins (D-Hunter Mill), who has been a longtime advocate for the county's homeless population, said she wants to see the county maintain a partnership with the faith community in a safe environment.

"But the more critical issue is how will we eliminate or reduce hyperthermia without the needed housing? Our faith partners are looking to us to do the heavy lifting by providing the housing so they can support the county by serving the clients, Hudgins said.

Sunday's meeting was prompted by concerns from some church leaders that they would be forced to shut down their programs due to fire code violations.

On Monday, April 16, the Rev. Keary Kincannon of Rising Hope Mission Church in Alexandria sent out a press release stating the county will close 18 of 36 churches that host a hypothermia program.

"Nine churches will not be allowed to bring the homeless in from the cold under any circumstances. An additional nine require extensive work to correct code violations that may cost hundreds of thousands of dollars," Kincannon said in the release.

Last week, Bulova said four houses of worship may be affected by their inability to comply with fire codes, not 18, and stressed Fairfax County's longstanding support of the Hypothermia Prevention Program.

"I have been working with County staff to make sure safety concerns that arose during this program year are addressed before the 2012-2013 program begins," Bulova said in an email announcing Sunday's session.

"I am committed to finding solutions that do not put undue burden on houses of worship but still provide adequate safety for the vulnerable population that relies on the Hypothermia Program during the winter months."

Supervisor John Cook (R-Braddock), who attended Sunday's meeting and met with faith representatives last week, said part of the concern was that some churches heard they were on the list (for code violations), but didn't know why.

"There was a real interest in churches to counter the rumor mill," Cook said. "The meeting was a good step in that regard."

Cook said other localities, such as Richmond and Virginia Beach, have encountered similar issues because the fire code is a statewide set of regulations enacted by the General Assembly but enforced by local jurisdictions. Tensions arise because each jurisdiction has some discretion when interpreting the codes.

"Everyone has to take deep breath, and recognize that we have to work through a process," Cook said.

"Fairfax County has a unique partnership with our faith communities and non-profits. We are committed to serving the homeless population in a way that is compassionate and ensures their safety," Bulova said.

undreds of people gathered at the Sherwood Center on Friday, April 20 to attend the 2nd Annual Mayor's Ball, and to celebrate the opening of the 27th year of Fairfax Spotlight on the Arts Festival.

Guests enjoyed a champagne reception and silent auction before a dinner accompanied by musical vignettes performed by students from the Fairfax Academy for Communications and Arts, Mason Opera and George Mason Department of Music. Guests also danced until midnight to the jazzy sounds of the Fairfax Swing Band.

All proceeds from the evening will go towards assisting local students to study arts related programs at George Mason University and Northern Virginia Community College.

The 27th annual Spotlight on the Arts festival, which is dedicated to promoting local artists, will run until May 12. For more information on Spotlight, call 703 352-ARTS or visit www.fairfaxspotlight.org to view complete schedule with dates and times of events.

Highlights of the festival include:

- ❖ A premiere performance of Disney's "Winnie the Pooh" by Acting for Young People at the Sherwood Center
- "Forever Young" Art Exhibit at Adam Lister Galery
- * "SWING! SWING!" a Sherwood Center performance featuring swing music by the Woodson High School Jazz Band, as well as Tom and Debra of Gottaswing
 - ❖ A Spring Arts Festival at Truro Church
- An FX Players (Fairfax High School) production of "Sweeney Todd," a Woodson Players (Woodson High School) production of "Alice in Wonderland" and a PVI Players (Paul VI High School) production of "Hello, Dolly!"
- * "Wild Side Art Show" (The 2012 Earth Exhibit of Student Artwork) at City Hall, a display sponsored by the City of Fairfax Environmental Sustainability Committee and Twins Ace Hardware
- * "Tea with Celtic Baroque" with the Síor-Óg Celtic music ensemble at Historic Blenheim Civil War Interpretive Center

Good, Bad and Ugly in Virginia Budget

BY CHAP PETERSEN STATE SEN. (D-34)

he Virginia Senfinally adopted the State Budget on a vote of 21-19 last week. It now goes to the Governor for his amendments.

Some parts are good, some parts are bad, and some parts are ugly. One part is missing:

The original Senate budget, which passed 35-4 with widespread support, inserted $300 million in additional construction funding for Dulles Rail. That funding matched the $150 million initially proposed to "buy down tolls" for northern Virginia commuters — a proffer that resulted after months of lobbying by Northern Virginia lawmakers. With that money missing, the State Budget is a failure.

Is this just a regional issue? Not hardly.

Dulles Airport connects Virginia to the world. With non-stop flights to the capitals of Asia, Europe and the Middle East, it is the nerve center of our international travel. It has driven the unprecedented growth in western Fairfax Loudoun Coun-

Dulles Rail, the rail line connecting the Airport with the Nation's Capital, has been stuck in the planning stages for too long. It was already "old news" as a state objective when I joined the Regional Commission as a young City Councilman in 1998. And yet it languished for years, as the Region fought through various recessions and other projects took priority.

During that time, Dulles Rail was the focus of criticism and controversy, particularly in the failure to tunnel through Tysons Corner or implement a Bus Rapid Transit system as an intermediate step. I'm aware of these criticisms, because I made them.

But let's not lose sight of the Big Picture. Dulles is Virginia's access portal to the 21st century. Along with the ports of Hampton Roads, it represents the focal point of our international trade and commerce. That trade is growing.

That brings us to the 2012 spe-

Heretofore, the Commonwealth has done little to support this critical state project, which is now completing "Phase I" of its construction. Instead, the project has been funded by local landowners, local governments, the Federal government and commuters in the Dulles Corridor.

Seeking to change this dynamic, the Senate — after significant debate — added the additional $300 million in state money last month. Note that this is barely 6 percent of the overall project cost, which is more than $5 billion.

Yet it's critical, especially as local governments like Loudoun County must decide in the next few months to commit their own money to Phase II of the project, which will link the Rail Line to the Airport and into Loudoun.

Is the project perfect? No. Is the Metro Washington Airports Authority, the operating authority, perfect? No. But no project ever is. (Read a history of the intercontinental railroad, the most important infrastructure project in U.S. history, which was riddled with corruption).

But Virginia says it's broke. Where can these funds come

Just look at projects like the widening of Rte 460 in Southside Virginia, which is not supported by a single jurisdiction in southeast Virginia yet will cost $500 million. In fact, the City of Portsmouth told us recently they don't want "this very costly capital project."

Why are we dumping money in a project nobody wants, and ignoring Dulles?

The Budget remains a unique opportunity to fix this situation. While transportation projects are not typically itemized in a biennial budget, it's not unprecedented. What is unprecedented is the lack of state support for a project that will bring billions in trade and revenue to the Commonwealth.

The Governor can still win this battle with a stroke of his pen, by making a fiscal commitment to Dulles Rail when he amends the State Budget. It's all in his hands.

Giles wrote of the Connection coverage:

"Its stories gave voice to the homeless. Its stories effectively portrayed the plight of the poor living in tents and other makeshift shelters. It reported on how poverty and homelessness affects children. It examined the causes of homelessness and explained why people don't have a place to live even when some have a job. It reported on the role of government and groups that advocate for the poor.

County Budget Endorsed

to me they are for everything and willing to pay for nothing."

BUDGET HIGHLIGHTS include:

For the first time since 2009, county employees are poised to receive a 2.5 percent merit increase on top of the proposed 2.18 percent market rate adjustment at a cost of about $16.5 million.

"They deserve a raise," said Foust. "Their cooperation over the past couple of really tough years has enabled us to avoid draconian service cuts without increasing the tax burden."

The board also voted to move forward to restore funding for an array of human services programs at an added cost of $1.36 million, including $275,000 for the Department of Family Services Rent Relief Program; $100,000 for the Adult Dental Program and $300,000 for the Home Based Care program.

In addition, the advertised budget funds the board's Housing Blueprint for the acquisition of 200 new housing units and $1.3 million for the county's portion of the Housing Blueprint Community Challenge.

The board set aside a $4.2 million reserve to address critical state and federal reduction to the Community Services Board, which oversees the Infant and Toddler Connection and programs for intellectually-disabled adults, the homeless, and other vulnerable residents

The County's award-winning libraries also received funding support in the amount of $674,359.

Noting that the libraries have "taken an inordinate hit" in the past few years, Bulova said the budget will restore nine hours each week at the county's regional libraries, and three hours each week at the county's community libraries. In addition, the budget includes funding 14 part-time positions to meet staffing needs at community libraries.

Although Fairfax County Public Schools initially requested an 8 percent increase in funding from fiscal year 2012, the board maintained the advertised transfer of a 4.5 percent increase over fiscal year 2012. The general fund transfer for school operations and debt service totals $1.85 billion and represents 52.2 percent of the county's total FY 2013 budget.

Coming Next Month: Summer Activities and Programs

The Power of Art

"If I were a rich man, ya ha deedle deedle, bubba bubba deedle deedle dum."

"If I Were a Rich Man," Fiddler on the Roof

A catchy show tune, a mesmerizing photograph, stunning computer graphics, a stirring orchestra rendition, an eloquent pencil drawing, or

This Just In:

Fifteen Fairfax County Public School students received national medals for their entries in the 2012 Scholastic Art Awards sponsored by the Alliance for Young Artists and Writers. the graceful movements of a modern dance performance – each has the power to move audiences and transport them to a moment in time.

Whatever the talent or interest, Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS) provides students with a comprehensive arts education.

Students in grades K through 6 receive music and art instruction taught by certified art teachers. Middle school and high school students may choose to enroll in a variety of elective course offerings in all fine arts disciplines to include dance, music, theatre, and visual art. Advanced Placement (AP) or International Baccalaureate (IB) art classes are offered for students in grades 11 - 12.

Art engages students in a process that helps them develop the self-esteem, self-discipline, cooperation, and self motivation necessary for success in life.

"Art making involves critical thinking and problem solving to create a product," said Aaron Stratten, art education specialist at FCPS. "In this sense, art is an authentic approach to providing students with essential skills they will need in the 21st century to develop creative solutions to challenges. Creativity and problem solving are essential components of innovation which will feed the economy and industries of the future."

Art All Around Us

Students can explore many forms of art including art, music, photography, computer graphics, dance, orchestra, theatre, band, and more. Beginning in elementary school, students are introduced to concepts and processes that nurture creative thinking and problem solving through art and music classes.

"As they advance to the next grade level, students are exposed to recognized works of art and become actively involved in finding connections between images and ideas," said Stratten. "Emphasis is placed on exploring themes and concepts related to family and a sense of place. By participating in real and meaningful art experiences, students increase their understanding of the value of the visual arts to themselves, their family, and to the world in which they live."

Music to Your Ears

More than 40,000 FCPS students are enrolled in the music elective programs of band, chorus, general music, orchestra, and guitar. The vocal and instrumental ensembles are seen and heard worldwide. Locally, the ensembles perform at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, George Mason Center for the Performing Arts, and the White House among others.

"Music, through its inherent ability to develop intellectual and emotional communication skills, encourages cultural awareness and enriches society," said Tamra Ferreira, fine arts coordinator at FCPS. "The FCPS music curriculum provides opportunities for students to attain the knowledge and skills necessary to be become musically literate, well-rounded individuals."

Let the Shows Begin!

Springtime theatre productions bring performance spaces alive throughout Fairfax County Public Schools. The study of theatre provides students opportunities for personal and academic growth, ways to create bridges to other subject disciplines and other cultures, and the development of skills which provide lifelong enjoyment. In middle school, FCPS students discover and explore the basic elements of theatre, and augment that study with a variety of theatre presentations and special events. At the high school level students develop and expand their knowledge, skills, and resources to create a high level of accomplishment in the classroom and in performance.

Go see a show at a Fairfax County Public School. Many events are free or inexpensive. Find out more at www.fcps.edu and click on the blue Events tab.

Getting To Know Us:

Herndon High School Theatre Teacher

Zoë Dillard

Zoë Dillard grew up around theatrical personalities, so it was an obvious choice when it came time to decide on a career. Theatre, of course.

Though she initially pursued acting roles, it was a request in 1982 from Falls Church High School to help them choreograph a musical that confirmed her love of working with young people in the theatre.

Today, she serves as the theatre director and teacher at Herndon High School.

Dillard believes theatre offers students a chance to discover themselves.

"High school is all about finding your niche. Some students come into the theatre to here and what's going on. Once they are here, they realize there are many opportunities," said Dillard. "They can direct children's theatre or participate in improv. They can be part of the ensemble or put their technical skills to work building sets. They can work with 5th and 6th graders in the children's theatre. They can also use their computer graphic design skills for publicity."

"I try to offer students many different kinds of opportunities in the theatre so they will grow," she said. "It's not just about acting."

"I love their energy," she continued. "By the time they are seniors, they've changed and grown. I find that inspiring to watch."

Cappies: Award-Winning Performances

For those who would rather critique than perform, the Cappies, or Critics and Awards Program, is designed for high school theatre and journalism students who are trained as theatre critics, attend shows at other schools, write reviews, and publish the reviews in local newspapers and online. The international program was launched by FCPS in 1999.

Each spring, Cappies critics nominate actors and technicians for Cappies awards, which are presented, along with awards for critics, at the annual Cappies Gala at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

"The Cappies Gala showcases the amazing artistic talents of our high school students," said Judy Bowns, co-founder of Cappies and theatre arts and dance specialist at FCPS. "Student actors, backstage technicians, singers, dancers, and musicians are honored with a Cappie by their peers who acknowledge this excellence by their votes. It's the only student theatre awards program that is student-driven with no awards decided by adults."

The gala draws more than 2,000 theatre students and their families. For more information visit www.cappies.com.

Have a Crime to Report? There's an App for That!

Fairfax County Crime Solvers has provided an anonymous tip line for the public to report crime since 1979. In 2008 they introduced secure text and email capabilities. They are now proud to promote a new smartphone app to further the public's ability to report crimes anonymously.

The free app, TipSubmit, is the first app of its kind and works on both the iPhone and Android phones. It allows the public to anonymously submit tips to police through their local Crime Solvers program. This mobile app works with the existing TipSoft software already utilized by Fairfax County Crime Solvers for their text and email tips. However, the app offers even more because it has the ability to use GPS to auto-locate the nearest Crime Solvers program or law enforcement agency. Users may also manually select a location for their tip. Tipsters may include photos and videos with their tips.

In Virginia, tipsters and their information are protected under state law when their information is reported to a certified Crime Solvers program. (15.2-1713.1) For the tipster that fears retaliation, this state law is essential. It allows the tipster to communicate through a Crime Solvers program and still maintain their anonymity. As with the text and email capabilities, this app continues to promote that two-way communication, allowing real-time chat between the tipster and program.

Smart phone users are encouraged to download this free app and use it when you have information on a crime or a wanted person. For additional information on this new app, please visit http://tipsoftonewise.com/index.asp?P=TipSubmitMobile

For crimes occurring in Fairfax County, tipsters may continue to contact Crime Solvers by phone at 1-866-411-TIPS(8477), e-mail tips at www.fairfaxcrimesolvers.org or text "TIP187" plus your message to CRIMES(274637).

'Arabian Nights' at Lake Braddock

Lake Braddock students perform culturally-rich classic.

By Victoria Ross THE CONNECTION

on't expect Disney's "Aladdin" in Lake Braddock Second ary School's production of "The Arabian Nights." The costumes are lavish; the set is striking; and, yes, there are even belly dancers. But this performance of The Arabian Nights relies less on cartoonish cultural stereotypes and more on a multi-layered interpretation of Arabic culture.

Director R. L. Mirabal said the 40 students in the performance were enthused about the chance to explore a culture of peace and tolerance that "has often been incorrectly labeled as violent and evil."

"This production of The Arabian Nights is motivated by a desire to balance the truth of the Arabic culture with the image that is sometimes depicted by our current society." Mirabal said.

The Arabian Nights is a classic collection of Middle Eastern and South Asian folk tales collected over centuries by various Islamic authors, scholars and translators. First performed in English in 1706, the work usually includes the ruler Shahryar, from Persian meaning "sovereign," and his wife, Scheherazade, meaning "of noble lineage."

The Arabian Nights stories are framed within other tales - stories within stories. Some contain only a few hundred nights, while others include 1,001 or more.

"I like the framework of this play. It's more like the film 'Inception,' with a lot of unusual aspects and layers," said senior Elena Dominguez, 18, who plays Scheherazade, the beautiful heroine who is sentenced to die at sunrise.

When the play begins, Scheherazade is desperate to devise a plan to escape her fate. She regales her captor, Shahryar (played by freshman Tony Talcott, 14) with tales of romance, heroism, comedy and betraval all night long. By cleverly leaving Shahryar in suspense at the end of each evening, Scheherazade is able to win a reprieve for another day.

The question is, can she continue her enchanting stories for 1001 nights to save herself?

Dominguez said.

News

Student winners from Hidden Pond with Le-Ha Anderson and Kelly Maxwell from Dominion Virginia Power (event sponsors).

Springfield Team Wins Envirothon Competition

A group of young men from Hidden Pond in Springfield have just placed first in the regional Envirothon. The Virginia Envirothon is a team based natural resources competition for high school students. Students who participate learn stewardship and management concepts and work to solve real world environmental problems. The program is field-oriented, community based and gives students an opportunity to work with natural resource professionals. These students will now go to the statewide competition which will be held in May.

Autism Awareness at Union Mill Elementary

April is Autism Awareness month and students at Union Mill had an opportunity to participate in a sensory simulation activity during P.E. classes. Students experienced an obstacle course that simulated activities children with autism find helpful such as jumping, bouncing, pressure, etc. Students were rotated to other stations that simulated challenges for some children with autism (perception confusion, fine motor challenges, and filtering out external stimuli). It was a great way for students to gain a better understanding of autism – and, with understanding, comes empathy and support.

Second graders trying to do everyday fine motor tasks.

A Peace Fellow Returns to Fairfax

Lauren Conn, a Fairfax native and graduate of Fairfax High School and the University of William and Mary, will return from Argentina this summer to begin work supporting area youth. Conn has been offered a position with the Inter-American Development Bank here in Washington, D.C. The bank is the largest source of multilateral development financing and technical assistance in Latin America and the Caribbean aimed at reducing international organizations poverty and inequality. Lauren, a Rotary World Peace Fellow, will graduate this summer from the Universidad del Salvador in Buenos Aires, Argentina with a Master's Degree in International Relations with a concentration in Economics, Development and Cooperation. Conn was sponsored as a Rotary Peace Fellow by The Fairfax Rotary Club and The Rotary Foundation.

Verne Tuininga, Fairfax Rotary Club's International Service Chair said, "Investment in today's scholars, like Lauren, represent Rotary's faith that these promising students will become tomorrow's leaders and will make substantial contributions both to their communities and to the world.'

Upon graduation, Rotary Peace Fellows work in a variety of areas, including grassroots and local non-governmental organizations, national governments, the military, law enforcement, and bilateral and ihollans@earthlink.net.

Lauren Conn at Rotary District 4825 event.

such as the United Nations, World Bank, International Organization for Migration, and the Organization of American Studies. Graduates of the Rotary Peace Centers program also benefit from the support of a worldwide network of more than 500 alumni committed to building peace. Through the Rotary Peace Centers program and The Rotary Foundation, rotarians increase their effectiveness in promoting greater tolerance and cooperation among peoples, leading to world understanding and peace.

The Rotary Club of Fairfax meets on Mondays at 12:15 p.m. at the American Legion Hall on Oak Street in Fairfax City. For more information about the Rotary Club of Fairfax, visit the club's website at www.fairfaxrotary.org. Or email Rotary Club of Fairfax's Executive Director Irby N. Hollans, Jr.,

My family and I have purchased all of our cars from Jack Taylor Toyota since the 1980s and we've been visiting Paul and his team at the dealership for all our service needs. Paul is always personable and friendly and his team always gets the job done right. They take much care to respect your car and your time. Any time I've been quoted a time it's always faster than expected. I will continue to take my car to Paul's team for all my needs and I know when I buy my next car, it will be at Jack Taylor Toyota in Alexandria, VA.

Northern Region Well Represented at Capital Classic

Oakton's Katherine and Caroline Coyer scored six and five points, respectively, for the Virginia squad.

> By Jon Roetman The Connection

est Springfield senior Logan Battle isn't accustomed to beginning a basketball game on the bench. The 6foot-1 Spartan standout earned a scholarship to Georgetown by making plays on the court from the opening tip. But during the first game of the 39th Annual Capital Classic, a public school matchup between the Virginia All-Stars and the Maryland AllStars, she started with a seat on the sideline.

That didn't stop Battle from having her usual game-changing impact.

Battle came off the bench to score 12 points and earn game MVP honors as Virginia cruised to a 74-49 victory on April 21 at T.C. Williams High School in Alexandria. After a slow start by both squads, Virginia's second unit of Battle, West Springfield teammate April Robinson (Duquesne), Forest Park's Lexi Carpenter (Dayton), Stafford's Merritt Hempe (Georgia) and Fairfax's Liz West Springfield senior Logan Battle won game MVP honors as the Virginia All-Stars defeated the Maryland All-Stars 74-49 during the 39th Annual Capital Classic on April 21 at T.C. Williams.

McNaughton (UMBC) sparked an 11-2 firstquarter run as the Commonwealth gradually pulled away.

"Sitting on the bench starting out gives me a chance to see how the other team plays and get a feel for what I'm supposed to be doing," Battle said. "...We've all seen each other play [and] played with each other during AAU or in other all-star games before. When we got on the court, we worked well together [because] none of us are selfish."

Each team had limited practice time prior to the contest, which tipped off the four-game all-star event, but Robinson said the girls meshed well together on the floor.

"Everyone has the same goal and dream," she said. "We're just playing basketball."

FRED PRIESTER, who led Oakton to an undefeated season and the 2012 state championship, coached the Virginia All-Stars.

"There's always a little edge there," Priester said of the inter-state matchup. "We in the Virginia suburbs think we play pretty good ball, they think they play pretty good ball, so there's a little bit of bragging rights there."

Oakton's Katherine and Caroline Coyer scored six and five points, respectively, for the Virginia squad, playing their final high school game before suiting up for Villanova.

"It was a little bittersweet," Katherine Coyer said. "It was definitely great to get to represent Oakton High School one more time. Of course, it's sad that this is the last time we're going to be putting on these shorts and playing to represent Oakton, [but] even going forward, this isn't something we're going to forget."

T.C. Williams senior Gaby Moss, who will play at Georgia State, scored nine points on her home floor. Robinson scored six points, Edison's Ruth Sherrill (Hofstra) finished with five and McNaughton had three.

In the other girls' game, the Prep-Private All-Stars defeated the Interhigh All-Stars 76-67. Bishop O'Connell's Nicole Carty scored three points for the Prep-Private team.

Lancers Girls Lacrosse Readying for Districts

Lee, behind good senior leadership, competing hard in Patriot.

hrough eight games, the Robinson Rams boys' soccer team has proven to be one of the more impressive teams in the Northern Region with a 6-2 overall record. But several big games lie ahead for the Concorde District team and there is still plenty to prove.

"So far, we are having a good season," said Robinson coach Jac Cicala. "We do have some nice wins but we have some really huge games remaining which will be key in preparation for the district tournament."

Robinson, 2-0 in district play, was scheduled to play road games on back-to-back nights this week - a district contest at Oakton on Thursday, April 26, and a non-district game versus W.T. Woodson (Patriot District) on Friday, April 27. Both games are scheduled for 7.

Woodson is undefeated and Oakton is also a ranked team in the metropolitan area so the Rams will have a challenging week. But with just a handful of games remaining in the regular season before the start of the district tournament in the third week of May, Robinson will be aiming for the best possible seeding as possible for districts.

Thus far, the Rams have district wins over Chantilly, 4-0 at home on April 10; and Westfield, 5-0 at home on April 16. District contests with Centreville, Oakton, and Herndon remain, as well as non-district contests with Woodson and Washington-Lee.

TO BEGIN THE SEASON Robinson won its first three games - all at home and all by 3-0 scores over Lake Braddock (Patriot District) on March 19, Stone Bridge (Liberty District) on March 21, and First Colonial from Virginia Beach on March 23.

The team lost its next game on March 27 by a 1-0 score to local rival and visitor West Springfield (Patriot District). But the Rams came back two days later with a 2-1 win at South County (Patriot District) to put them at 4-1 on the season.

Following spring break, Robinson opened its district schedule with Chantilly at home on April 10, winning by the 4-0 score. A 2-1 non-district loss at Mount Vernon High (National District) followed on April 13. But Robinson beat Westfield decisively in its following game to improve to 6-2.

Particularly strong play for the Rams up front this season has come from senior strikers Ryan Harmouche and Mikael Belay. The midfield play of junior Andrew Osiecki, senior co-captain Sam Yardley, and junior Ben Ferrell has been steady and solid. And in the back, defenders Evan Christian, a junior, senior Kyle Groth, and senior co-captain Alex Streitmater has been quite strong. In the net, senior Joshua Penn has done a good job.

Robinson has outscored its opponents 21-4 overall over its eight regular season games. The two goals allowed versus Mount Vernon was the lone occasion in which the Rams allowed more than one in a game.

Robinson will look to continue and even improve on its stellar play as the regular season winds down and the postseason looms ahead with districts and then the 16-team Northern Region tourney show-case

"My expectation for the team is to make the regional tournament and get as far as we can," said Coach Cicala. "There are some very good teams in the region this year. It is a wide open field so hopefully we can make our way through the gauntlet."
