Karen Menatti and Ron Field, historic interpreters at the Mount Vernon Estate, entertain visitors with demonstrations on the making of colonial chocolate and ice cream.

Making Ice Cream, Colonial-Style

As the temperature and humidity raced toward 90 on Aug. 4, chocolate ice cream was being made in the green house at the Mount Vernon Estate.

Karen Menatti and Ron Field, historic interpreters, demonstrated the colonial techniques for making chocolate and using the chocolate to flavor ice cream.

To make the chocolate, Field first roasted the cocoa beans, shelled them and crushed the beans in a large bowl. The beans then are grounded on a metate, a grinding stone, with an iron rolling pin called a mano. The metate is heated from below. Later the spices are added. Some of the spices used were anato, cinnamon, vanilla, nutmeg, anise, chili peppers and anise.

Meanwhile Menatti prepared ice cream with a cream machine similar to what Gen.

George Washington ordered for the household in 1784. To make the ice cream, milk, cream, sugar and flavoring were mixed together and put inside the creaming canister and turned and agitated in the salt ice which was in an outer bucket. After the mixture thickened, the mixture was transferred to molds for setting.

For more information about events and activities at the Mount Vernon Estate visit www.mountvernon.org.

Huntington residents poised to push for bond referendum in November.

BY MICHAEL LEE POPE
THE GAZETTE

After decades of soggy basements, moldy walls and waterlogged lives, residents of the Huntington neighborhood say they have had enough — and they want the voters of Fairfax County to do something about it. This November, voters across Fairfax County will consider a $30 million bond referendum to build a levee along Cameron Run. Mount Vernon Supervisor Gerry Hyland says voters tend to approve bond initiatives, adding that the last one that failed was in the early 1990s.

"In most cases, voters are prepared to give the board authority to issue bonds," said Hyland. "But the other piece of it is that they need to have some comfort level that the subject matter of the bond is something they can support."

Huntington residents are preparing for a full-court press in the coming weeks, reaching out to civic associations across Fairfax County. Leading that charge is

A Three-Way Race

Voters will have variety of options for Sept. 4 special election.

BY MICHAEL LEE POPE

Voters in the special election for the House of Delegates have a variety of choices, offering candidates on the left and the right and somewhere in between. Last week, Libertarian candidate Justin Malkin threw his hat into the ring, opening up the field of candidates to allow for a wide variety of options for voters. To underscore this point, Malkin spent his first week attending an Alexandria Tea Party meeting and a gay pool party.

"I don't think there are too many candidates that would attend both," said Malkin. "But I'm socially tolerant and fiscally responsible."

The entrance of Malkin adds yet another twist in a special election that's already been full of unexpected turns. It began in April when four-term Del. David Englin (D-45) announced that he had been unfaithful in his marriage and would not seek reelection. Almost immediately, people began speculating that he would resign. But Englin waited until after the June primary to announce his resignation, leading Republican Gov. Bob McDonnell to call a special election on Sept. 4. Now three can Suspects in business robbery.

Suspects Cut Hole in Ceiling

Police are investigating a robbery in the Huntington area where suspects reportedly cut a 3-foot by 2-foot hole in a roof, slid through it and robbed the business.

Police were called to the ACE Cash Express, 2254 Huntington Ave., on Monday, July 9 at around 9:13 a.m. for a report of a robbery. An employee reported hearing a crashing sound, turned and saw a man pointing a pistol at her. The man grabbed her. A second man, also armed with a gun, demanded that the employee open the business' safe. The men took the money and fled with an undisclosed amount of money. No one was injured.

The suspects are described as black, in their 20's, wearing masks, gloves and dark hooded sweatshirts. One was 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighed 280 pound. The other suspect was 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed 185 pounds. He wore dark sunglasses and a red bandana.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Crime Solvers by phone at 1-866-411-TIPS/8477, e-mail at www.fairfaxcrimesolvers.org or text "TIP187" plus a message to CRIMES/274637 or call Fairfax County Police at 703-691-2131.

Eagle Scout Project To Aid UCM

Caleb Norville is working on an Eagle Scout project in Boy Scout Troop 1509 to collect food collection for UCM. It will be held at the Belle View shopping center on Aug. 25 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Anyone donating is asked to buy nonperishable food such as canned goods, rice, cereal, peanut butter and jelly, macaroni, tuna and baby care products including diapers and baby food, and donate it at the collection point there. Donors are also asked to give old plastic grocery bags. UCM is running low in their food pantry, and they require support from the community.

WPHS Pep Rally Next Week

The Fall Sports Pep Rally will be held at 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, Aug. 22 at the West Potomac High School Stadium. The West Potomac Athletic Booster Club has taken over the event this year and is planning this free community event to get everyone excited before the new school year begins:

- ❖ A DJ will provide music and entertainment.
- ❖ Participants should wear blue and white out to show school spirit.
- ❖ Free West Potomac T-shirts will be given to elementary school children.
- ❖ There will be a 50/50 raffle, a bake sale, Spirit Wear sales and $1 concessions: Pizza, hot dogs, Gatorade and water.
- ❖ Performances by the Cheerleaders, Dance Team and West Potomac Band,
- ❖ Coaches and teams will be introduced.
- ❖ The finale will feature a Wobble Dance for everyone down on the field.

Join Big Chalk Draw

Art at the Center, 2804 Sherwood Hall Lane, is hosting its Big Chalk Draw, 8-10 a.m., Aug. 31. The free community art event will be held in its parking lot at 2804 Sherwood Hall Lane.

The center is asking for donations of new backpacks and school supplies to benefit families served by Good Shepherd Housing and Family Services.

Battling Flames at Fort Belvoir

Fort Belvoir and Fairfax County firefighters responded to reports of a fire after 12:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 13 on 18th Street. As many as 100 firefighters from Fairfax County joined 40 from Fort Belvoir as they worked to contain the blaze at a building in the Defense Acquisition University complex. One Belvoir firefighter sustained a minor burn. No other injuries were reported. Crews contained the fire late Monday afternoon and suppressed hotspots throughout the evening. The building contains offices and a cafeteria along with a library. Deputy Fire Chief Richard Monroe said, the roof was completely destroyed and the building sustained considerable water damage. However, there are no preliminary estimates of the cost of the damage. Fort Belvoir Fire and Emergency Services are investigating the cause of the fire.

PEOPLE

Celebrating Community Support

New Hope Housing hosted its annual volunteer recognition event on June 19 at the Mount Vernon Presbyterian Church. The Kyle Randall Volunteer of the Year Award, given to outstanding New Hope Housing volunteers and civic partners who demonstrate Randall's spirit of generosity and commitment, was presented to Katrina Beverly. Beverly supports shelter programs, special events and administrative staff while completing her Ph.D. in non-profit management. Sidoux Mitchell received the Jim Lund Award, given for exceptional length of service. Sidoux has been an active volunteer with New Hope Housing for over 30 years. Hannah Lau received the Allie McConnell Youth Service Award for organizing the donation of 18 new microwaves and other kitchen supplies for families in New Hope Housing's programs. For more information about New Hope Housing, go to www.newhopehousing.org.

Peace and Justice Award

Rising Hope Mission Church was honored in June at the Annual Conference of the Virginia United Methodist Church by the Methodist Federation for Social Action. The Church, led by founding Pastor Keary Kincannon was awarded the "Bishop Leontine Kelly Peace and Justice Award." Kelly, for whom the award was named, is a Virginian and was the first African American woman to be ordained a bishop in any major denomination. From left are Gerald and Barbara Warren (Hurricane Katrina refugees and now church leaders), Kay Barnes (director of missions from England), Mary Baker (long-time member and community representative), Yvonne Cunningham (worship leader and minister of discipleship), the Rev. Keary Kincannon, Sula Tyler (certified lay minister) and Jacqueline Martin (president of Rising Hope's United Methodist Women).

Jarrett, Crute Wed

Ashley Nicole Jarrett of Virginia Beach and Patrick David Crute of Chesapeake were married on June 30, 2012, at Farmville United Methodist Church, Farmville, Va. The Rev. Sylvia Meadows officiated and a reception followed in Blackwell Hall, Longwood University.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David I. Jarrett of Virginia Beach, Va. She is the granddaughter of Mr. James B. Harris and the late Mrs. Nellie Harris of Norfolk, Va., and the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jarrett of Normal, Ill.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. David Crute, Jr. of Chesapeake, Va. He is the grandson of the late Raymond J. Whitehurst, and Peggy Eason Whitehurst and Charles Lindbergh Whisenant of Chesapeake, Va., and the late J. David Crute, Sr., former mayor of Farmville, and Jane Danby Crute of Farmville, Va.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Stephanie Lee, friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Colleen Nichols, Miss Lori Corley, and Miss Katie Bartoszek. Mr. David Crute, Jr. was his son's best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Crute

Groomsmen were Mr. Stephen Lee, Mr. Matthew Baldwin, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Christopher Warren. Mrs. Pamela Baldwin and Mrs. Debbie Ives served as Mistress of Ceremonies. Miss Katie Nosay, niece of the bride, and Miss Lauren Cashwell served as guest book attendants. Mr. Andrew Nosay and Mr. Carter Jarrett, nephews of the bride, greeted guests with the programs.

Mrs. Crute, a graduate of Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va., received an M.S.Ed in education with a concentration in higher education in May, and in 2006 a B.S. in elementary education from Longwood University in Farmville, Va. She is employed by George Mason University in Fairfax, Va. as the assistant director of career services in the School of Management.

Mr. Crute, a 2006 graduate of Longwood University in Farmville, Va., received B.A. degrees in history and political science. He is employed by DDC Advocacy in National Harbor, Md. as the deputy field manager.

Following a honeymoon in Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. Crute reside in Alexandria.

Pitching In

U.S. Rep. Jim Moran continued his "Jim Pitches In" event series on July 31 by volunteering with United Community Ministries to deliver canned goods and household items to the UCM food pantry. Through "Jim Pitches In," the congressman highlights a local non-profit — its work, the people it serves, and the causes it promotes.

Summer Networking

Earl Reed welcomes guests to the Mount Vernon/Lee Chamber of Commerce's summer network reception held at Doctors Express. About 50 guests enjoyed food and beverages provided by Curcio Law. Door prizes were donated by Curcio Communications and Honest-1Auto Care.

Donating Books

The Mt. Vernon Kiwanis Club visited UCM's Bryant Early Learning Center in June to distribute 34 brand new books for children in the pre-kindergarten and pre-school classes. Joanne Malkin, Betty Pushek, and Greg Engelking from the Mt. Vernon Kiwanis Club helped each child pick out a book and wrote, or helped the child in some cases, write their name in the book. OPINION

Starting School Prepared

First day of school on Sept. 4; local nonprofits provide school supplies and weekend food.

With school beginning in a few weeks, area charitable organizations have been collecting contributions of new backpacks, calculators, other school supplies, money and gift cards and winter coats to help the tens of thousands of truly needy Northern Virginia students.

In Fairfax County alone, more than 40,000 students are poor enough to qualify for subsidized meals, and those students have mostly not had access to those meals over the summer since Fairfax County Public Schools no longer operates summer school.

Working poor families cannot easily outfit one or more children properly for school (think of the cost of a graphing calculator).

"For many families in our area who are working hard but struggling to make ends meet, the prospect of finding the funds to purchase new supplies for their children each year can be stressful," said Lisa Whetzel, Our Daily Bread's executive director. The organization was still $3,000 and 200 backpacks short of its goal last week. To help, contact Becca Brummett or Jennifer Rose at 703-273-8829 or holiday@ODBFairfax.org, or visit www.ODBFairfax.org.

One organization, Doorways for Women and Children in Arlington, aptly describes the challenges of some of Arlington's students on its website: "Embarrassed and disappointed that their family can only afford to prioritize necessities as simple as groceries and rent, children living in poverty share a very different schooling experience than many of their peers."

Arlington Doorways for Women and Families collects money, school supplies, winter coats and more for needy students. Contact Rachel Dove at rdove@doorwaysva.org or 703-504-9283 or www.doorwaysva.org/donate/seasonal-ways-to-give/backtoschool/

FACETS in Fairfax, which provided more than 300 students with backpacks filled with supplies last year, is collecting school supplies until Aug. 17, and welcomes financial contributions: FACETS Back to School Drive, 10640 Page Avenue, Suite 300, Fairfax. Drop donations between 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday, at 10640 Page Avenue, Suite 300, Fairfax. FACETS also seeks volunteers to help at special events where students will "shop" for their school supplies.

Reston Interfaith encourages residents to drop off Back-to-School-Drive items at Reston Interfaith Administrative Offices, 11150 Sunset Hills Road, Suite 210, Reston. Contact Alacia Earley, volunteer and drives manager, 571-323-9568.

Northern Virginia Family Services Back to School Drive provides over 2,000 backpacks to youth in pre-K through college. On-site: Sort and organize school supplies, stuff backpacks and help distribute. Donate money or new school supplies at 13926 Metrotech Drive, Chantilly.

On Thursday, Aug. 30, county firefighters will distribute backpacks and school supplies for children throughout Fairfax County. They will distribute approximately 2,000 backpacks, with supplies to school administrators, teachers, and local shelters for children in need.

United Community Ministries also helps local students. Send donations to United Community Ministries, 7511 Fordson Road, Alexandria. Contact 703-768-7106.

Once school begins, some local nonprofits will start a different kind of backpack program, one that provides "weekend backpacks" for these children who might not have enough to eat. The weekend backpacks contain child-friendly foods that are high in nutritional value. Beginning in September, schools will assist in the distribution of these bags.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Independent Oversight Valuable

To the Editor:

From time to time I've been reading in the Mount Vernon Gazette and other newspapers about the Fairfax County police failure to release records of certain closed cases and elected officials and the Police Chief refusing to establish an independent citizen's review panel. Such publicity unnecessarily causes a rift between citizens and the public, and that's too bad.

The police are a vital part of our community and provide valuable protective and safety services. But, the nature of their services requires accountability. Any organization regardless of the nature of the service delivery must be held accountable for their actions to help ensure efficient and effective delivery of services particularly when the organization such as the police, interacts with the public. Insisting on accountability doesn't mean that the organization is not doing its job but it is valuable to management for assessing performance.

Hard feelings between the public and police including certain officials possibly can be eliminated or minimized by establishing a mechanism for accountability that reasonably serves the police, the public and elected officials.

I understand that several states have independent citizen review panels that work well. I believe that they can be used to establish a model panel for Fairfax County that can be acceptable by all concerned. The panel can have a sunset date, say for 3 to 5 years, and if no problems exist with its operation at the end of that period it will become a permanent panel. And as a matter of course, the supervisors can correct problems and continue the panel unless it is so ineffective as to be a waste of time because it hasn't effectively and reasonably served the police and the public.

Because of the horror stories published by the Gazette and other newspapers, the supervisors should step up to the plate and do their job to prevent such horror stories in the future. Such stories serve no useful purpose for police, the elected officials and the public, particularly the families that are directly affected. An independent citizens oversight panel could be very useful in helping avoid or minimize such problems.

I have been a supporter of the Virginia police, sheriffs, chiefs of police, police officers of America

New 95 Express Lanes: Construction Underway

BY LINDA T. "TODDY" PULLER
STATE SENATOR (D-36)

The ground breaking for the expansion and improvement of the I-95/395 High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV)/ Express lanes from near Edsall Road in Fairfax County to Garrisonville Road in Stafford County was held Tuesday, Aug. 7. Completion is expected in December 2014.

Nearly $1 billion in infrastructure improvements to the I-95 corridor will be made. This project will include:

- ❖ Adding a third HOV lane for 14-miles along I-95 from the Edsall Road area on I-395 south to the Prince William Parkway;
- ❖ Improving two existing HOV lanes for 6 miles between Prince William Parkway and Rt. 234, Dumfries Road; and
- ❖ Adding two new HOV/Express Lanes

for another 9 miles south to Stafford County, Rt. 610 Garrisonville Road.

The work schedule will be Monday-Friday, day and night shifts, and most weekends. HOV lanes will be open during morning and afternoon rush hours. Nightly closures of I-95/395 HOV lanes are scheduled from 8 p.m. until 5 a.m. week nights and 11 p.m. until 9 a.m. on weekends. Delays of 10-15 minutes can be expected during lane closures through the construction area.

When finished, the new 95 Express Lanes should provide some much needed relief in traffic congestion in this northern Virginia area. The project should take under 30 months to complete. Of course, relief can't come fast enough for this heavily traveled corridor.

Fluor-Lane 95, LLC is the "design/builder of the 95 Express Lanes," the same group working on the I-495 Express Lanes, scheduled to open later this year. Funding for the project is coming from state, federal and private money. The contract between Fluor and the state will continue to permit cars with three or more passengers to continue to use the express lanes free.

The 95 Express Lanes project should also provide considerable economic benefits to the area. "The project will employ approximately 500 construction personnel and support 8,000 jobs in the region with an overall impact of $2 billion. $190 million worth of contracts will be targeted to small and disadvantaged businesses as part of the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT's) Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE)/Small Women-Owned, Minority-Owned Business Program." It took over 8 years working with the different government entities and communities including commuters to work out different concerns and bring this to fruition. It is hoped that this will "provide faster, more direct options for high-occupancy vehicles and toll-paying customers" and help move traffic through this busy corridor.

Among those in attendance at the Ceremonial Groundbreaking were: Gov. Robert McDonnell, state Secretary of Transportation Sean Connaughton, U.S. Rep. Gerry Connolly, Chairman of the Prince William County Board of Supervisors Corey Stewart, and Chair of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Sharon Bulova, Fort Belvoir Garrison Commander, Colonel Gregory Gadson, and myself.

Limited Opposition

To the Editor:

In last week's Gazette, Rich Rieger weighed in concerning whether there is, in fact, a wildlife corridor from Mount Vernon District Park through Westgrove Park to Dyke Marsh. Mr. Rieger's arguments are filled with conjecture. He concedes the existence of "road kill" on Fort Hunt Road, but suggests that "Many more make it across." How are we to prove that to be true? It is equally plausible that wildlife in Mount Vernon District Park, for the most part, refrain from venturing across Fort Hunt Road given its status as an animal "killing field." Mr. Rieger also points out that "Birds, insects, bats and seeds move easily across these human-made obstacles." Of course, for animals and plant matter that fly through the air, one could describe any area on the planet Earth as a "wildlife corridor." This does not justify depriving dog owners of a place to exercise their dogs off-leash which is the ultimate reason why Rich Rieger and others claim the existence of a fictitious wildlife corridor.

Mr. Rieger contends that the chain link fence surrounding Westgrove Park "is far from impenetrable" and should be removed. The Park Authority likely intends that the fence be complete with the exception of the opening gate at Fort Hunt Road and will likely repair any fence penetrations. The fence provides security for Belle View Elementary School to the north and the Westgrove neighborhood to the south.

Like Fort Hunt Road, the George Washington Parkway is a "killing field" for every creature from deer to foxes. Presumably, most animals are smart enough to avoid traversing an area where their very existence is mortally threatened.

Although Mr. Rieger did not mention it in his letter, apparently, he is somehow affiliated with the Friends of Dyke Marsh (FODM), alleged opponents of the off-leash dog area (OLDA) at Westgrove Park. I say this based upon the fact that he mentioned that affiliation on the sign-in sheet for the Master Plan Public Information Meeting that occurred on July 30, 2012, concerning Westgrove Park.

Opponents of the OLDA used every trick in the book to try to make it seem as if opposition to the OLDA was large and widespread. When the moment of truth arrived, the opposition was virtually nowhere to be found. The sign-in sheets for the Master Plan meeting are quite revealing: 127 people signed up at the meeting. Of those, 82 are specifically identifiable as members of Westgrove PACK, and/or a supporter of OLDA. Of the opponents, only eight people are one or more of (1) affiliated with FODM, and/or (2) known opponents of the OLDA. Although FODM has almost 300 members, they were only able to muster a handful of attendees. The fictitious "Friends of Westgrove Park" only mustered one identified "member." The fictitious "Friends of Quander Brook" only mustered a single attendee.

When Glenda Booth spoke, she said she was there on behalf of FODM as well as the Audubon Society of Northern Virginia which she mentioned boasts 5,000 members. On behalf of those organizations, she stated opposition to the OLDA. After the meeting, I checked the Audubon website, separately inputting "Westgrove" and "dog" in the website search box in two separate searches. There were no hits. I e-mailed their president inquiring as to whether they have taken any official position with regard to the OLDA. He confirmed that they have "taken no official written position on the issue."

I previously reported on secret meetings arranged by opponents with Park Authority officials, and other attempts to leverage opposition to make it appear the opposition was more widespread. The despicable tactics of what has now been revealed to be a miniscule opposition to the OLDA, but what was represented to be opposition by a significant percentage of our community, have now been exposed for all to see. I suggest to Supervisor Hyland and others who make important decisions on behalf of our community that the particular community members who employed these dishonest tactics should be viewed with extreme suspicion whenever they advocate for any position in the civic arena and claim to be representing anyone but themselves.

Time for School

Advice on how to transition from a laid-back summer to a hectic academic year.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE GAZETTE

When Ellen Feldman's 5-year-old son started school last fall, one of the biggest adjustments for the single mother of two was having to adhere to a schedule.

"All of a sudden we went from being able to do things on our own time frame to having to wake up and be at a certain place at a certain time," said Feldman. "Sending my son off to school for the first time was exciting, but also difficult."

From purchasing school supplies and new clothes to reuniting with friends and leaving home for the first time, the start of a new school year can bring about emotions that range from delight to anxiety.

"Back to school, which is a positive experience, has stress built into it," said Linda Gulyn, a professor of psychology at Marymount University in Arlington, Va. "Any change is stressful, even a positive change. But kids will adapt quickly." The transition, said experts, is more manageable when parents develop a plan before the first day of classes.

"The more structure parents can give their kids before school starts, the better," said professional organizer Cecilia Anderson, a former teacher and the owner of Splendidly Organized, Inc. in Vienna. "If kids are given total free reign during the summer, they are not going to be in the right mindset for school."

Michele Claeys, associate head and middle school principal at the Norwood School in Potomac, believes that final days of summer break can be an ideal time for an academic brush-up: "There are often skills that aren't used throughout the summer, but are important as school starts. Having children of all ages read as much as possible for pleasure throughout the summer, but also in the days leading up to the start of school, is a good idea because it is a sustained experience where they are focused on something for a long period time." Claeys also recommended giving children an opportunity to discuss their reading with friends.

EXPERTS ALSO SUGGEST establishing a sleep routine with a consistent bedtime. "If parents get started a full week ahead of time trying to get children into the routine of being awake and alert for the morning, it gives them a chance to get their bodies adjusted to the schedule that they will have to maintain for the whole year," said Claeys.

Reintroducing a back-to-school morning ritual can be an anxiety-inducing exercise for some, especially after two months without a rigid agenda. According to professional organizers, a tactical plan can make the day-break drill more pleasant.

"Do as much as you can the night before. For parents who pack their kids lunches, it is important to have things ready to go and put in bags," said Anderson. For children who want the freedom of packing their own lunches, Anderson recommended dividing lunch options into food group and allowing children to select one item from each group.

Linda Gulyn, Ph.D., a professor of psychology at Marymount University says that any change — including a return to school — can be stressful.

"You want to give your child a balanced meal," she said. "One day there might be tuna sandwiches, and turkey sandwiches on another day, and whatever snack goes along with it like cut-up vegetables. Have those ready to go and in bins and let children choose one thing from each bin. That way kids will have more ownership over their lunches and there will be few complaints."

Don't underestimate the importance of breakfast either: "A child won't have all faculties for learning if they haven't eaten well," said Anderson.

"Some kids don't have lunch until 1 o'clock, so to go from 6 a.m. until 1 o'clock without food is tough. They need something that has protein. It doesn't have to be home-cooked eggs. It can be turkey sausages or lunchmeat, but a bag of chips and a monster drink is not a good breakfast."

TO AVOID a last-minute morning search for errant permission slips or stray report cards, Vienna-based professional organizer Susan Unger of ClutterSOS urges parents to create a command center, a central location where all papers that must be signed and returned to school are kept. She adds that a chart outlining the morning tasks is another useful tool: "If children have a check list to look at, they can ask themselves, 'Have I brushed my teeth?' or 'Have I combed my hair?' The night before, choose clothes and put the backpack by the door."

Use a family calendar. "Another important thing is having a calendar that lists activities and sporting events and putting it in a place where everybody can see it and everybody knows the schedule," said Unger. "It also helps to color-code the calendar, so have one color for each child."

Before heading out to purchase new supplies or clothes for school, organizers suggest taking inventory. "You can see what you already have and what you need and make a shopping list from that," said Unger.

One of the most important components of creating a good start to a new school year is attitude, education experts agree. "Generally, it is helpful if parents help children see school as a fun, happy place where they can be stimulated and learn," said Claeys.

"But I Don't Want to Go to School"

Separation Anxiety and Other Resistances to School

"Separation anxiety is a natural and healthy emotion," said Linda Gulyn, Ph.D., a professor of psychology at Marymount University in Arlington. "Developmental theory will say when children have separation anxiety, it is a sign that they are attached to the parent. That is good sign."

Understanding an older child's resistance to school: "From a psychological point of view, it is important for parents to acknowledge the child's feelings," Gulyn said. "Even if you're looking at your 14-year-old and thinking she's being absolutely unreasonable, you have to say 'I understand how you feel. I get it.' Then the teen feels that they are being respected."

"For a lot of teens, there is a lot of pressure going into school mode, so that is legitimate anxiety. They might be saying, 'I now have three A.P. (Advanced Placement) classes. I have to play volleyball. I have to work part-time. I have all this stuff going on,' so the pressure is real," said Gulyn.

Aldersgate Awards 11 Scholarships

Aldersgate United Methodist Church has awarded 11 scholarships for the 2012-2013 school year. This is the largest number of scholarships ever awarded by the church in a single year.

To be eligible, applicants are required to be members or regular attendees of Aldersgate Church. The criteria used for selection were: financial need, academic achievement, participation in Aldersgate Church activities, and participation in community activities. Selections were made by the Permanent Endowment Committee based on the applications and interviews of each candidate.

A total of seven college scholarships, each for $1,000 were awarded to the following persons who are pursuing college degrees: Ben Aleixo, Natalie Hurd, Kaitlyn Kincannon, Laura-Paige Mertins, Zipporah Norton, Austin Riggins and Andrew Sutherland. A total of four seminary scholarships were awarded. Two were for $1,500 each, awarded to Teer Hardy and Taylor Mertins. In the absence of additional applicants, funds for two additional seminary scholarships, of $1,000 each, were provided to Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington D.C. for students to be selected by the Seminary.

The scholarships were funded by endowment funds previously established through contributions by Aldersgate members to provide financial assistance for Aldersgate students in pursuing college or seminary degrees.

Hurley Graduates from West Point

Matthew Brett "Matt" Hurley of Mount Vernon graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point on May 26. He received his bachelor of science degree and was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army within his chosen branch: Infantry. He has already reported to Fort Benning, Ga. for a succession of training courses.

Hurley is a 2008 graduate of Episcopal High School in Alexandria where he was co-captain of football and lacrosse. He was a varsity Army lacrosse midfielder for 4 years. In June the Patriot League named Hurley to its lacrosse academic honor roll based on his last semester.

Learning Center Graduates

Thirteen preschoolers from UCM's Bryant Early Learning Center in Alexandria were recognized during a recent school-wide graduation ceremony. The graduating class included two "BEL Babies" — children who have attended UCM's Bryant Early Learning Center since they were infants and have continued through pre-kindergarten. Located at 2709 Popkins Lane in Alexandria, the Bryant Early Learning Center provides safe, affordable developmental childcare to children 6 weeks to 5 years of age. Subsidies are available through Fairfax County's Office for Children for households who qualify.

Politics of Flooding

EVERYONE IN HUNTINGTON has a story. Pregnant women rescued by firefighters in rafts. Fish floating on the street. Waste-deep water. Mold. Mildew. Escape. Expense. And then there's the annual cycle of regret, with this year's storm season bringing yet another round of potential flash flood events that could once again waterlog the neighborhood and create yet another disaster scenario.

"People here are frustrated, upset and distraught," said Huntington resident David Coon. "The county has basically dropped the ball."

Back in 2006, county officials declared 160 homes uninhabitable after a major storm. That led to an Army Corps of Engineers study recommending the construction of a floodwall to solve the problem. But nothing happened. Then the 2011 flood created another widespread disaster, one that remains an emotional touchstone for many residents in this community that borders the southern edge of Alexandria. That led to a petition drive to get the measure on the ballot this fall.

"It's awful," said Ana Funes, who lives on Arlington Terrace. "And all of the people who live around here live in fear that it will happen again."

MANY NEIGHBORHOOD residents here blame growth and development. As more houses are constructed, more and more impervious surfaces are created. And the flow of Cameron Run was moved at one point to accommodate the construction of the Capital Beltway. Residents here say growth and development throughout the county has been at the expense of this neighborhood, which would be a good selling point for the referendum.

"The things that have caused the flooding for Huntington have been very good for Fairfax County," said Ruof. "But, boy Huntington has really paid the price, and we need help."

Perhaps the chief obstacle facing supporters of the bond referendum is apathy. Many people are unaware that the issue is on the ballot. And the memory of the 2011 flood isn't as vibrant outside the immediate neighborhood.

"I can't say that I've given much thought to it," said Robert Reynolds, co-chairman of the Mount Vernon Council of Citizens Associations. "If this is a good solution, I'm sure people will vote accordingly."

Bon Appetite!

Virtue Feed and Grain among America's Top 50 restaurants.

Alexandria's Virtue Feed and Grain Restaurant has been named one of the Top 50 Best New Restaurants in America, according to Andrew Knowlton in the September issue of Bon Appetite Magazine.

Knowlton stated in the feature article that he chose restaurants that are "changing the way we eat."

"What kind of restaurants stand out to me in 2012?" Knowlton said. "Well, to start, they're usually scrappy and personal, guided by chefs with a passion to create independently owned places they would want to eat at on their day off."

Irish chef Cathal Armstrong and his wife Meschelle opened Virtue Feed and Grain in June of 2011 in the historic warehouse previously occupied by Olsson's Books on South Union Street.

"This is what I call a 'gastro tavern,'" said Meschelle Armstrong, who along with her husband also created Restaurant Eve, Eamonn's Dublin Chipper, PX, the Majestic

Visiting Artists Share Secrets

Meet the artists at the Torpedo Factory's August Visiting Artists Program and learn about their methods, materials, techniques, and backgrounds as they demonstrate their art forms. Demonstrations will be ongoing from 1-4 p.m. Questions are encouraged.

Now in its third year, the Torpedo Factory's Visiting Artist Program exposes visitors to a rotating group of emerging and accomplished artists, and provides an opportunity to interact, explore and exchange ideas. As part of the program's requirements, Visiting Artists will engage in art enrichment activities throughout the summer.

August resident artists plan the following events:

❖ Judith Giuliani will answer questions about her painting process in Studio 30.

❖ Sculptor Colleen Lochausen will have several sculpture armatures for visitors to add clay to while observing her work in Studio 32.

❖ Mixed media artist Dianne Bugash will demonstrate her techniques for creating three-dimensional constructions out of mixed media and recycled objects and have clay and other materials for visitors to play with in Studio 317.

❖ Drew Parris will demonstrate silverpoint drawing and provide visitors the opportunity to try it out in Studio 328.

West Potomac Football To Host Scrimmage

The West Potomac football team, led by first-year head coach Jeremiah Davis, will host a scrimmage against Potomac High at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 16. The Wolverines' second scrimmage is 6 p.m. on Aug. 23 at Madison High School.

West Potomac's top returning playmaker is junior DeMornay Pierson-El, who is a threat to score whenever he touches the ball. In last year's regular season finale against T.C. Williams, Pierson-El hauled in five receptions for 158 yards and three touchdowns, ran the ball five times for 22 yards and returned a kickoff 99 yards for a score. The win helped West Potomac clinch a share of the Patriot District title.

Along with Pierson-El, senior quarterback Caleb Williams, fullback Alex Amico, offensive lineman/linebacker Darien Pickett, defensive end Tommy Peters, defensive lineman Bunmi Rotimi, defensive back James Harkless and wide receiver/defensive back Mychael Gyamfi are the Wolverines' key players this year, Davis wrote in an email. West Potomac opens the regular season on the road at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 30 against rival Mount Vernon.

West Potomac has home games against Centreville (Sept. 7), Lake Braddock (Sept. 21), Westfield (Oct. 12), Woodson (Oct. 19) and T.C. Williams (Nov. 2). It faces South County (Sept. 14), Annandale (Sept. 28), Lee (Oct. 5) and West Springfield (Oct. 26) on the road.

MVHS Football to Scrimmage Freedom

The Mount Vernon football team will travel to Woodbridge to scrimmage Freedom at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 18. The Majors' second scrimmage is Aug. 24 at La Plata.

Mount Vernon opens the regular season at home against West Potomac at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 30. The Majors' other home games are against Marshall (Sept. 7), Falls Church (Sept. 28), Hayfield (Oct. 12) and Edison (Oct. 19).

Mount Vernon will travel to face Centreville (Sept. 14), Washington-Lee (Sept. 21), Stuart (Oct. 5), Yorktown (Oct. 26) and Wakefield (Nov. 2).

DeMornay Pierson-El is the West Potomac football team's top returning offensive threat.

Mount Vernon's Bannon Wins Golf Tourney

Casey Bannon, a rising senior at Mount Vernon, won the Mid Atlantic PGA Junior Tour golf tournament on Aug. 9-10 at Kingsmill Resort in Williamsburg.

Bannon finished three under par (70-71) during the two-day tournament and was the only golfer to finish under par.

Bannon shot five strokes better than his nearest competitor, Vienna's Wonsuk Rhee, who carded a two-over 146. In round one, Bannon tallied five birdies and three bogies.

In round two, Bannon carded four birdies and three bogies.

Theatre Sports Summer Camp

West Potomac High School drama instructor Phillip Clark held a week-long camp in the art of Theatre Sports, also known as Improv. Four members of the West Potomac theatre sports team joined the group of 5th through 7th grades at St. Aidan's Church hall on Riverside Drive. Students worked in teams prompted by audience suggestions of a character, object and location. The final scene involved lightbulb polishers, a water bottle with the action taking place inside a piano.

Unitarians Prepare for August Church Shoppers

In August, local pastors notice an influx of new faces as people tend to “church shop” before schedules get busier in the fall.

At Mount Vernon Unitarian Church, the Rev. Kate Walker plans a series of August sermons to tell “shoppers” what is unique about the Unitarian Universalist faith. In September, newcomers are welcomed to a “meet and greet” lunch with Walker and other church leaders. For those interested in hearing more about the church, two Saturday morning sessions provide information, as well as a tour of the church grounds on Mason Hill, a historic 1900s plantation estate.

At the 10 a.m. service, Aug. 19, Walker will discuss the “Power of the Pulpit” explaining how the Unitarian Universalist tradition is not hierarchical. “The true power of the community lies in its membership,” she said.

On Aug. 26, Walker will ask, “Is God Inevitable?” “Are humans hard wired to believe in something greater than themselves — call it God, the Higher Power, or Dark Matter?” she asked. On Sept. 9, an informal lunch will be served to interested newcomers in Hollin Hall, a historic mansion, next to the chapel, with the minister and church leaders available to answer questions. The morning service that day welcomes members back from summer travels. Members bring small containers of water from their journeys, which are poured together in a ceremony to symbolize the reuniting of the community.

More in-depth explanations of Unitarian Universalism are presented on two Saturday mornings. On Saturday, Sept., 29 from 9-12:30 a.m., Walker will discuss the history of Unitarian Universalism and Meg Clontz will describe the history of the Mount Vernon church and offer a tour of the grounds. On Oct. 20, from 9:30-11 a.m. Georgia Pourchot will describe the church’s Green Sanctuary and social justice work.

For more information see www.mvuc.org or contact minister@mvuc.org.

UCM Plans Open House

United Community Ministries is hosting an open house on Wednesday, Sept. 5, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at its main office at 7511 Fordson Road.

Shirley Marshall

The public is invited to talk with UCM’s new executive director Shirley Marshall, tour its food pantry and other support programs and learn how to help by volunteering.

Unitarian Church To Host Picnic at Fort Ward Park

A family potluck picnic will be hosted by the Mount Vernon Unitarian Church for members who live in Alexandria and their families and friends, as well as anyone who would like to meet the MVUC minister and hear more about the Unitarian faith on Sunday, Aug. 26, 4-6 p.m. at Fort Ward Park, 4301 West Braddock Road, Picnic Area 1. Bring a dish to share and reusable plates and utensils, if possible.

MVUC minister the Rev. Kate Walker said she will provide a grill and charcoal, some non-alcoholic drinks, and “our most welcoming smiles.” She said the picnic “will be a relaxed way to introduce people to our community through food, games, and conversation.”

MVUC is a medium-sized Unitarian congregation located on a historic plantation grounds at 1909 Windmill Road, Alexandria. The church is known for its environmental and social justice work. OBITUARY Lena Martin Lena Martin died on Monday, Aug. 6, 2012 in the company of her pastor and her devoted caretaker Carol Pickering. Lena was born in Society Hill, S.C. on Feb. 9, 1913 to Jasper and Martha Flowers. She came from a big, close-knit family of 13 brothers and sisters. She was affectionately referred to as “Man” by those close to her.

After school, she moved to Lilesville, N.C. and worked there for a time. Looking for more in life, Lena moved to Washington, D.C. She married and had one daughter Dotsie Becoats who preceded her in death. Throughout her life she had a few jobs, but most often reminisced about her time with the D.C. School System, for it provided her with many friends.

After living in D.C., Lena found a comfortable life in Alexandria, surrounded by family and friends. For a time, she enjoyed living with and taking care of her sister Milverda (Lady) who also preceded her in death. Lena enjoyed traveling with her brother John and they went back home to visit whenever possible.

She was well known at Mount Vernon House where she had come to live in later years. Lena spent the last year of her life at Manor Care in Alexandria where she was quite the celebrity and became affectionately known as “Momma Lena.” She was known to be frank, straightforward and colorful. Although her 100th birthday would not come until 2013, Lena began to celebrate 100 years in 2012. She will be missed by all who knew her.

She leaves to cherish her memory; two brothers, Andrew Flowers of Westville, N.J. and John Flowers of Willingsboro, N.J., three sisters-in-law, Mary Flowers, Linda Flowers, Geraldine Flowers and a host of nieces, nephews and friends, including a special friend, caretaker Carol Pickering.

Charitable donations may be made in Lena’s memory to a charity of your choice or United Community Ministries, 7511 Fordson Road, Alexandria, VA 22306 or www.ucmagency.org.

Special Election

didates are vying for the seat in an election that's expected to bring out about 10 percent of the registered voters — about 4,000 to 6,000 voters.

"The Libertarian is much more likely to draw from Republican voters than Democratic voters, so I would imagine having a three-way race helps Krupicka," said Kyle Kondik, analyst with the University of Virginia Center for Politics. "It's already a safe seat for Democrats, so I would say Krupicka remains the strong favorite barring some major scandal."

ON THE ISSUES, the three candidates offer variety for voters. Krupicka approaches the campaign from the left, supporting health-care reform and gun control while opposing limitations on abortion. McGhee approaches issues from the right, supporting limitations on abortion while opposing health-care reform and gun control. Malkin approaches the campaign from a Libertarian perspective, opposing health-care reform, gun control and limitations on abortion. "I describe myself as socially tolerant and fiscally responsible," said Malkin, who received the Libertarian Party nomination for the House of Delegates race. "And I want to give people that option."

McGhee, on the other hand offers a much more traditional Republican campaign — one that would fit in with the new Republican majority in the General Assembly on all the hot-button social issues. And yet not all of his priorities would be seen as Republican. For example, if elected, McGhee says he would restore a hotel-occupancy tax in Arlington County that would allow the local government to raise money. He also wants to work on legislation to address "driverless vehicles," a growing technological trend that allows GPS technology and motion sensors to pilot automobiles.

"There's really nothing on the books that says how we are going to handle this," said McGhee. "For instance, I would say there needs to be a licensed driver in the driver's seat and there needs to be an override mode."

Krupicka offers voters the most familiar face. First elected to the City Council at the age of 32, Krupicka spent many years as the youngest elected official in Alexandria. Now he finds himself as the oldest candidate in the race — and the one with the most experience as an elected official. He also has an existing campaign team from his failed bid for the Democratic nomination to fill the seat vacated last year by state Sen. Patsy Ticer (D-30), a hotly contested race with Del. Adam Ebbin (D-49). If elected, Krupicka says he would stand up to what he calls "the war on women" in Richmond.

"There are frequent attempts in Richmond to roll back women's rights to make their own health-care choices, and that's been going on for a long time," said Krupicka. "So I'm going to oppose those attempts and look for every opportunity I can to call them out."

Malkin splits the difference between the two parties, offering a socially liberal and fiscally conservative choice to voters. If elected, he says he would oppose attempts to increase regulation on abortion clinics, vote against efforts to increase gun control and oppose efforts to increase the government's role in health care.

He also said he would support efforts to increase transparency of police agencies in Virginia, which currently withhold documents that are widely available in many other states.

"If we don't know what the police are doing, how can we know if there's abuse?" asked Malkin. "We need to be able to watch the watchmen."

"The Libertarian is much more likely to draw from Republican voters than Democratic voters, so I would imagine having a three-way race helps Krupicka."

— Kyle Kondik, analyst with the University of Virginia Center for Politics

Meet the Candidates

❖ Tim McGhee, 35: A native of Chicago, McGhee was raised in Sanford, Fla., and received an undergraduate degree in math computer science at Bryan College. Professionally, McGhee is a web developer who moved to Northern Virginia in 1999 and has lived in Alexandria since 2004.

❖ Rob Krupicka, 41: A native of Thousand Oaks, Calif., Krupicka was raised in Seattle and received an undergraduate degree in economics from the University of Virginia. Professionally, Krupicka is a communications and organizational strategist. He was first elected to the Alexandria City Council in 2003, and was appointed to the Virginia Board of Education in 2009.

❖ Justin Malkin, 40: A native of New York City, Malkin was raised in Tenaflly, N.J., and received an undergraduate degree in economics and Russian. He also has a master of business administration from the University of Rochester. Professionally, Malkin is a credit analyst who moved to Alexandria in 2008.
