As we grow older, the enchantment of childhood seems to slip away from us. But one experience that has always been there, even now that I'm older, is the magic of going to Gooma and Goofa's house. The comfort and love I feel there is surpassed by no other place. A particularly fond memory I have with Gooma is making pancakes. Ever since I was little that has been one of the highlights of being at the Goo's house.

CHILDREN'S CONNECTION 2012

Welcome

Dear Readers:

This week, the Fairfax Connection turns over its pages to the youth and students.

We asked principals and teachers from area schools to encourage students to contribute their words, pictures and photos for our annual Children's Issue.

The response, as always, was enormous. While we were unable to publish every piece we received, we did our best to put together a paper with a fair sampling of the submitted stories, poems, drawings, paintings, photographs and other works of art.

We appreciate the extra effort made by school staff to gather the materials during their busy time leading up to the holidays. We'd also like to encourage both schools and parents to mark their 2013 calendars for early December, the deadline for submissions for next year's Children's Connection. Please keep us in mind as your children

The children's issue is only a part of our year-round commitment to cover education and our local schools. As always, the Connection welcomes letters to the editor, story ideas, calendar listings and notices of local events from our readers. Photos and other submissions about special events at schools are especially welcome for our weekly schools pages.

Our preferred method for material is e-mail, which should be sent to south@connectionnewspapers.com, but you can reach us by mail at 1606 King Street, Alexandria, VA 22314 or call 703-778-9414 with any questions.

POETRY CORNER

Poems from Robinson Middle School

Winter Traditions

BY AUDREY MYERS OF FAIRFAX,
SEVENTH GRADE, 13

Wrapping a scarf around my neck,
Racing to the car with my sisters
Turning on the radio,
Hearing winter tunes
Humming along
Holding mugs of hot chocolate
Shopping at the mall,
Seeing winter coats,
Boots and gloves sitting on shelves.
Christmas morning
Waking up early,
Old robe thrown on
I scatter on the carpet, my sisters side by side
My mom, dad, brother sitting on the couch,
Watching, smiles on their faces
Ripping open presents
Gasps, eyes widen
Snapping pictures
Late night, hot fire
Sweet Pannetone
Lights blink
Snow falls

The snow falls from the clouds,
Weightless, like feathers.
Drifting down, placing itself softly
Upon countless snowmen and snow forts,
Shrouding the once clear sidewalks,
The once clear driveways and sidewalks.
Encasing the earth in a majestic white blanket,
Waiting for all to awake and see,
The beauty within

You

BY KATHY TRAN OF FAIRFAX, EIGHTH
GRADE, 13

You gave me a slap in the face to wake me up when reality became too much
You comforted me in my darkest hour and helped me face my demons
You stood by me
when the world was against me
You entered my life in a whirlwind, pulling me into your light
You changed me for good
You saved my life
And I just wanted to take this chance to say
Thank You

Adventure of Stories

BY RACHEL MCGIRL OF FAIRFAX,
SEVENTH GRADE, 12

From the moment I open that cover,
It's a race.
Past the copyright page, past the table of contents,
Just waiting for the adventure to begin.
That first page, that first sentence,
What could this story be about?
The words draw me to the page,
Sucking me in.
I think to myself,
What could happen on the next page?
Wild horses couldn't drag me away,
Not even the giant from Chapter 3.
Nothing else matters in the world,
Except for the book in my arms.

You Have No Idea

BY KATHY TRAN OF FAIRFAX, EIGHTH
GRADE, 13

You have no idea
What your "harmless" jokes
Do to me
How each playful,
Thoughtless poke
Tears my heart up
And cracks my soul
Little by Little
There's a hole
Deep inside of me
That you'll never know
All thanks
To your mindless
Jagged
Cruel
Words
And you have no idea
How it tears me up inside
And how I want to drop everything
And run

Winter Night

BY RACHEL MCGIRL OF FAIRFAX,
SEVENTH GRADE, 12

I watch the moon's reflection on the snow,
Shimmering like water.

Vivian Stewart of Burke, 9, fourth grade, Mrs. Capriotti's class at Laurel Ridge Elementary School.

But hey,
I can't completely blame you,
Can I?
After all,
You have no idea

Gone are golden leaves and crisp air
And instead
Something new has come

Twinkling like little stars
They're frozen diamonds in the air
Swirling down
And lighting up the world
With snowball fights
And Frosty the Snowman

Gone are pumpkins and turkey
And instead
Warm hot chocolate
With a candy cane
Fill up stomachs
Hurt from laughing
Over time spent with friends

Gone are Halloween and Thanksgiving
And instead
Christmas carols and lights
With a wreath or two Light up
A home and family

Gone is autumn
And instead
Warm memories
Good times
And a new chapter
Starts

Autumn

BY KATHY TRAN OF FAIRFAX, EIGHTH
GRADE, 13

Golden rays peek
Through falling leaves
Reflecting
Light, love, and warmth
Crisp, cool air
Invades my senses
As a rush of wind envelops me
Even if
The days of surf and sand
Have disappeared
And Jack Frost looms ahead
It's ok
Because
The nostalgic crunch of leaves
Fluffy, hand-knit scarves
And beauty of life
Is just fine

Christmas winds blow and flow
Harps playing pretty music

Christmas almost here,
Getting ready, trim the tree.
I can hardly wait.

Winter is so cold.
I can't wait for it to snow.
I can build snow forts.

Christmas time is here.
Presents, joy, and family,
Winter break, hooray!!

Winter

BY DEAN ZHANG

The trees are losing leaves to the frosty weather.
The squirrels are eating acorns.
The bears hibernate.
Insects take shelter.
People sleep in.
Birds fly south to escape the winter chill.
Snow falls from the sky making the world a white wonderland.
Kids come out to play!
And on December 25th, Christmas comes.
Winter is a time to play, rest and sleep.
That's how life is winter.

Dean Zhang of Fairfax, 12, is a seventh grade student at Rachel Carson Middle School in Herndon.

Giving Thanks!

I am thankful for my teacher because she teaches me how to read and write. And to be smart. And she taught me about patterns. And math.

—BY SAMANTHA KATZ, 7, KRISTEN STUMP'S CLASS, FIRST GRADE

The Day We Made Lunch for the School!

As my friends and I strutted into the cafeteria for breakfast, we noticed the place had been left a mess. I noticed a mysterious looking note on the table. I read the note out loud. "Got sick... Kitchen a mess... Clean up... Then Cook!" I told my friends Miguel and Jonathan to grab a hairnet and an apron. They asked me why. "We are going to make lunch for the school," I replied in a stern voice.

"Whaaat?" they said at the same time.

"We have to! We can't let the Mighty Mustangs go without lunch!" I said as we began walking toward the hairnets and aprons.

"Okay, fine," Jonathan said with a sigh.

"I'm in too!" Miguel said. What should we cook? What about hamburgers with fries and for dessert, vanilla ice cream with hot fudge, nuts, cherries, and whipped cream?

We began getting our ingredients together. I grabbed the ice cream and toppings. Miguel was on burgers and Jonathan had the fries all covered. I could see both of them fidgeting with the hairnets as they flipped burgers and dunked fries in sizzling oil.

"I'm tired of wearing this hairnet!" Jonathan shouted out with frustration.

"Me too!" Miguel yelled over the sizzling sound of fries. "Fine, you don't have to wear the hairnets, but keep the aprons on," I demanded. "Let's stay focused here."

"Yessss!" They shouted as they high-fived each other. Let's get back to work. We have over 500 orders of fries and burgers to make.

Minutes later, I noticed we were working in perfect harmony until Miguel shouted,

"We're out of burgers! To be honest I dropped a few patties as I was trying to get the hang of things," Miguel admitted. We have to come up with an idea quickly. Fifth grade lunch is in less than 45 minutes!

"We should make chicken tenders. Kids love chicken tenders and fries. Besides, we already have fries," Jonathan suggested. We all ran to the basement where we knew the meats were kept. We ran over to the huge freezer in the corner only to find packages of chicken frozen solid. We don't have time for the chicken tenders to thaw out. With panic in our hearts and sweaty palms, we decided to scan the refrigerator. When we opened the refrigerator, it was like time had stopped. There it was... packages and packages of the fifth grade favorite!

Ribs! Ribs! Ribs, we shouted while doing the happy dance. We ran back to the cafeteria, turned on the stove and dumped all the ribs in a huge pot. We could hear classes filing in the cafeteria right as we began to drop ribs and fries on the red Styrofoam trays. We served the ribs, fries and ice cream to hundreds of kids that day. It was a homerun! We even had some left over for us to try.

Yummy! We murmured while wiping rib sauce off our mouths.

I can say for sure that the next time I see a mysterious note in the cafeteria, I'll leave it alone!
