From Community Eyesore To Community Asset

Transformation of Kings West Swim Club adds green space.

BY VICTORIA ROSS
THE CONNECTION

For several years, neighbors in the Kings Park West subdivision grappled with the problem of what to do with the big hole in the ground that was once the Kings West Swim Club.

Built in 1976, the Kings West Swim Club—owned and maintained by a voluntary membership organization, not a homeowner's association—was similar to many suburban neighborhood pools built during the 1960s and 1970s. It was a community hot spot that featured basketball and tennis courts and a clubhouse.

Proximity to the pool was a plus. When Mary Haley bought her house in 1980, her deck overlooked the swim club, and she said it was great living within walking distance to the pool. "It was a gathering place when we moved in," Haley said during a community meeting about the defunct pool.

But after years of declining membership and skyrocketing maintenance bills, Kings West closed down in 2005. Abandoned, the pool quickly became an eyesore, a health hazard and a magnet for troublemakers.

"There are probably hundreds of pools throughout Fairfax County that closed because of similar circumstances," said Supervisor John Cook (R-Braddock).

ON WEDNESDAY, JAN. 30, Cook hosted a groundbreaking ceremony at the site to announce that the long-awaited plan to transform the dilapidated swim club into parkland and a storm water retention basin was officially underway.

"We turned what was a negative for the community into a big environmental positive," Cook said.

Cook is credited with spearheading the effort to transform the nine-acre swim club property, which sits in a resource protection area near a stream, into a neighborhood park. He worked closely with the county's Department of Public Works and Environmental Services (DPWES) and the Fairfax County Park Authority (FCPA), as well as Braddock District Park Board member Tony Vellucci.

For nearly two years, Cook and Vellucci hosted dozens of community meetings and worked closely with neighbors to come up with a solution to the abandoned and neglected pool.

"I am proud to have been able to play a role in taking an abandoned pool that created serious health and safety concerns for the community and transform it into an environmental resource that will provide much needed water quality enhancements in the Rabbit Branch of the Pohick Stream Valley and protect a sensitive Resource Protection Area," Cook said during the ceremony.

UPON COMPLETION, the new green space will replace the club house and parking lot, but will reuse the existing swimming pool in order to remove several hundred pounds of nitrogen, phosphorous and sediment that would otherwise pollute Rabbit Branch annually.

The newly created pervious surface will also reduce storm water runoff by 44,000 cubic feet per year, or roughly 10 percent of the annual rainfall that would flow through the site, further improving sediment control and reducing the effects of erosion.

Cook said that $430,000 of storm water funds were provided because of these significant environmental benefits.

"When community and government come together and work cooperatively, successes like this happen," Cook said. "The community has been very proactive throughout this whole process, maintaining its commitment to the swim club while also searching tirelessly for a way to reuse the property in a beneficial manner."

He said the transformation project is a significant achievement for the Braddock District.

"The community gains additional green space. The removal of the pool and its amenities removes a potential health hazard, eyesore and crime magnet," Cook said. "It's a win for everyone here in the community; it's a win for our storm water program, and it's a win for parks."

Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) promised to be the first person in line to sign up for the new Fairfax County license plate, and he was. On Wednesday, Jan. 3, Barry Biggar, president and CEO of FXVA, showed Herrity where to sign on the dotted line for his pre-ordered specialty license plate.

Pre-order Fairfax County license plates now.

BY VICTORIA ROSS
THE CONNECTION

Residents of Fairfax County can now pre-order their Fairfax County license plates online at the new Visit Fairfax website—www.fxva.com/plates/.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors voted last week to approve the sale of the license plates, in partnership with Visit Fairfax, the nonprofit promotion and tourism arm of Fairfax County, and the Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles.

The license plates feature the county seal, county map and the website addresses of the government and Visit Fairfax. The plate will cost $25 a year. As mandated by state law, $10 is retained by the state while the other $15 goes back to the license plate sponsor after 1,000 plates are ordered.

The DMV requires 350 commitments from the community in order to make the specialty plate available for purchase at all Virginia DMV locations.

Revenue from the plates will support the World Police and Fire Games—the largest sporting event in the world after the Summer Olympics—which the county will host in 2015. In following years, proceeds will be dedicated to tourism.

"We've already had numerous calls about the specialty plates," said Barry Biggar, president and CEO of Visit Fairfax, when Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) arrived at the Visit Fairfax office last week to pre-order his license plate. Herrity, who initiated the plan, estimated that Fairfax County could generate roughly $250,000 per year from the plates.

"I don't think we're going to have trouble getting 350 residents to purchase these license plates," Herrity said.

Making the Difference Between Struggle and Success

BY CARMEN JORDAN

All youth need stability and loving parents to give them the best chance for success in life. This is why finding adoptive homes and permanent traditional foster homes for our youth is so critical. Over the last six years, as a Fairfax Families4Kids mentor, I have seen foster youth struggle, especially when circumstance has caused them to be moved frequently from foster care placement to foster care placement (including traditional foster homes and foster group homes).

There is one 14-year-old youth in particular that I recall that was originally removed from his biological home, then lived with another biological family member for a time, then was moved into a traditional foster home, then to a group foster facility—all of this taking place over a few short years. This youth has been participating at group FF4Kids mentoring events for several years. I remember the poor behavior demonstrated at times by this youth at the group events, including not following the rules, speaking out of turn in an effort to gain attention, occasional physical outbursts due to not being able to control his anger, actually teasing other foster youth in an effort to get them to chase him around the room.

This behavior was his way of crying out for the love and attention he was not receiving at “home.” He wanted so desperately to be seen and heard by anyone in his life. This foster youth was just recently placed in a loving, adoptive home. The youth’s behavior at the group mentoring events has made a complete turnaround. He no longer needs to be the center of attention, always has a smile on his face, and demonstrates positive interaction with both mentors/volunteers and the other foster youth. This is due to him finally feeling safe and knowing that there are loving adults that he can trust to protect and take care of him. There is no amount of support from the county, school system, programs, and organizations that can replicate the day in and day out support that a child receives from a loving family.

MY HOPE is that as a community, we do more to seek out Fairfax County families that are willing to provide loving adoptive and long-term foster homes for foster youth. There is a reason that the name of our program is “Fairfax Families4Kids.” It is our mission to find Fairfax County families for these foster kids. Mentoring through the program helps prepare these youth for placement. The county’s ability to more effectively find long-term, loving homes for foster youth is the key to a foster youth’s ability to grow to become mature, responsible, independent adults.

I have mentored many foster youth both through their years in foster care and their transition out of foster care. Though many foster youth have positive transitions out of foster care into independent, adult lives, there are many foster youth whose outcomes are less successful.

I can tell you stories about Fairfax County foster youth that transition out and become homeless within weeks or months. They share with me the “life skills” they have learned to survive.

“The metro trains/buses run all night except 3 to 6 a.m., so if you have metro money, you can ride all day and night to stay warm. Then you just need to walk the streets during those hours.

* Another youth said he sleeps on the floor of a

Carmen Jordan, mentor for Fairfax Families4Kids: “My hope is that, as a community, we do more to seek out Fairfax County families that are willing to provide loving adoptive and long-term foster homes for foster youth.”

About the Author

Carmen Jordan of Reston has been a mentor for Fairfax Families4Kids for six years. She is considered one of the most experienced mentors in the program. In addition to working full-time as a marquee account manager at Deltek in Herndon, Jordan makes herself available to “trouble-shoot” for the children and families she mentors. In the following column, she details her experiences with the program, and at-risk foster youth.

friend’s motel room or catches a few hours of sleep at the 24-hour McDonald’s until the police ask him to leave.

❖ They can tell you about their stays at the various community homeless shelters. “The crack heads and heroin addicts will steal from you so you need to keep your stuff with you at all times.”

❖ They will tell you where they can find public computers where they can apply online for jobs. They can make enough money to feed themselves but not enough to find permanent housing. They live with health ailments because they no longer have health insurance.

AT TIMES it is painful to witness, but as mentors, our mentoring does not cease just because they transition out of foster care. Through FF4Kids mentoring, a trusting relationship is formed, allowing foster youth to be receptive to the advice and counseling that we have to offer. This is key: if there is no trust, it is difficult for foster youth to accept advice and counseling.

For many of these foster youth, the relationships they have with their mentor is the longest term relationship they have with a responsible adult. I can’t tell you how many times a social worker, case worker, life skills coach or foster parent has said “Carmen, you have known him longer. Talk to him and explain how important it is for him to stay in school, obtain his high school diploma.”

It has been an honor and privilege to mentor many of the foster youth within our Fairfax County community. They have taught me more about perseverance through adversity than I could ever teach them. Mentoring can be difficult at times, they will make missteps along the way but they will also surprise you with their ability to accomplish goals they have set for themselves in an effort to become mature, independent young adults. Mentoring is about being there for them through the ups and downs!

Building Blocks for Success

Fairfax Families4Kids: a community of hope.

BY SUPERVISOR MICHAEL FREY

When it comes to building buildings or fixing things, Fairfax County does a great job. Schools, fire stations, parks—the county has a proven track record of exemplary projects.

Building or fixing families and people—that’s tougher to evaluate.

Fairfax is probably no better or worse than most local governments. Fixing people is hard. There is no plan that, if followed to the letter, results in a split family being made whole, or a person with mental illness or substance abuse issues being cured. People are different than buildings.

Maybe that’s why I was so excited about the Fairfax Families4Kids program when I was introduced to it, and became such a huge supporter of it immediately.

Kids in foster care really have the deck stacked against them. For whatever reason their family situation didn’t work and someone—typically the courts—stepped in and forced change. They are left looking to total strangers to do what their family should have done but couldn’t. That’s a lot to ask. They are dependent on government programs to find them temporary housing, maybe a permanent foster home, and for some of the luckier kids, a family.

FF4Kids is a partnership between the county and a whole lot of people who really believe these kids in foster care deserve more help. The program offers the kind of opportunities and experiences that the county can’t possibly provide by itself. Without the volunteers, who serve as mentors, friends, teachers and occasionally substitute parents, most of these kids would bounce from one temporary situation to the next, usually aging out of foster care with little skills, no love, and little chance for future success.

I have been so impressed with everyone I have met who is involved with the program. It has increased my sense of optimism about the chances that more of these kids will find forever homes with adoptive families. Clearly, there is a positive effect on the kids when they see the mentors devoting so much time and effort to them. Many of these kids have never had the love and attention they get within this program. Certainly they have never had the life education they get, and for the first time many of them begin to believe in themselves. Self-confidence and optimism are not qualities you find in many foster children. A program that gives them those two things, in my mind, can’t help but benefit them.

There have been success stories for kids in this program, including adoption of some of the children by some of the mentors. Of course, not every child has been so lucky. Some still age out of the system with no family back-up to catch them if they fall. But they do have the FF4Kids family, and that in itself is a confidence-builder. They also have life skills and social skills that they likely would not without the FF4Kids programs. There are no guarantees in life, but there is no doubt in my mind whether or not they find the adoptive family we all hope that they will, they will be much better prepared young adults.

As long as there are incredibly caring and dedicated people like the FF4Kids mentors and volunteers, I will be doing all I can to help support them.

Homeless, Not Hopeless

BY PAM MICHELL
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, NEW HOPE
HOUSING, INC.

George and Mary spent many years homeless and unsheltered in Fairfax County. Yes, Fairfax County, one of the wealthiest counties in the country. But in Fairfax County, homeless persons such as George and Mary are generally hidden. They live in the woods, behind dumpsters, and in shopping centers. Out of sight, out of mind.

For many years, local non-profit partners have been working with county staff day in and day out to offer persons who find themselves homeless a chance to start anew. When given the stability of housing and the support of professionals and volunteers, homeless adults—including those who have lived many years on the streets and in the woods—can and do change and become stable, contributing members of our community. We non-profit homeless services providers can tell story upon story of what a difference stable housing and supports can make in a life of someone whom others have given up on, whom others have discarded as “hopeless.”

In January 2012, 697 single adults were counted as homeless in Fairfax County and 51 percent of them (353) were chronically homeless—12 consecutive months or four separate incidences of homelessness in the past three years; 24 percent of homeless adults were unsheltered. These numbers are going up.

This month you can help us find out who is “out there.” You can hear their stories and you can help provide them the housing they need.

As part of a nationwide effort to put a name and a face to each

We Are a Family

To the Editor:

Thank you for the wonderful articles highlighting the positive impact of Fairfax Families4Kids and the relationships and families that have come about because of the program.

As a mentor, I know firsthand how important mentoring programs such as Fairfax Families4Kids can be in a child's life.

Initially I got involved with FF4Kids because I wanted to give back. In other words, I wanted to be there for children because I have had adults in my life that have mentored me and helped to mold me into the person I am today.

Also, my grandparents and my mother have been foster parents and I have seen the impact on foster kids of having loving/caring adults in their lives.

What I have realized is that spending time with the kids has had a tremendous impact on me. I think of the various experiences of the kids—multiple foster homes, aging out without a place to live or no job. It always reminds me to remember how truly blessed I am no matter what happens. If they can survive the hand life has dealt to them then there is nothing I cannot overcome. I continue to be amazed and humbled by their resiliency.

To see the challenges they have aging out of the system makes me want to do all I can to ensure they have the support they need. We are more than mentors and mentees. We are a family.

McDonald's Donates $4,200 to Fairfax County Schools

On Friday, Jan. 18, the McDonald's Family Restaurants of Greater Washington, D.C., presented Fairfax County Public Schools with a check for $4,200. This donation is from the first ever DMV-wide McTeacher's Night Fundraising event that was held in late fall of 2012. To celebrate McDonald's longstanding history of supporting local schools, teachers, school administrators, parents and students visited their local McDonald's for dinner, where a percentage of the evening's sales went back to local education.

Fairfax County Public Schools is just one of many school districts in the Greater Washington, D.C., area that will receive a monetary donation from the event. The total amount raised through the donations from McDonald's restaurants is $45,000.

Community to Discuss Boundary Changes

At its business meeting on Thursday, Jan. 24, the Fairfax County School Board voted to conduct a boundary study to address overcrowding at Fairfax High School and Lanier Middle School. The board also approved the inclusion of Chantilly High and Rocky Run Middle, Falls Church High and Jackson Middle, Oakton High and Franklin Middle, Woodson High and Frost Middle, and Robinson Secondary Schools in the boundary study.

Approximately 300 students from Fairfax High and 150 students from Lanier Middle will need to move in order to relieve overcrowding at those schools. Students who reside in the City of Fairfax will not be impacted by the proposed boundary changes. Boundary adjustments are being considered only for middle and high schools; elementary school attendance areas will not change as a result of this boundary study.

Three community dialogue meetings have been scheduled in February for citizens to discuss how to address overcrowding at Fairfax High and Lanier Middle Schools. Parents and residents can review the proposed scenarios and provide their feedback at the following community dialogue meetings. All meetings will be from 7 to 9 p.m. and will be identical in format and information presented. The following meetings will be held:

- ❖ Tuesday, Feb. 19—Oakton High School cafeteria (snow date is March 7).
- ❖ Wednesday, Feb. 20—Lanier Middle School cafeteria (snow date is Feb. 27).
- ❖ Tuesday, Feb. 26—Woodson High School cafeteria (snow date is March 6).

Those who plan to attend the dialogue sessions are asked to register. Parents and residents can also find more information, and submit questions and comments online.

Preserving Mental Health as We Age

Experts say diet, exercise and mental stimulation are key.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

Randy Weadon walks six miles each day around the perimeters of his retirement community, Greenspring in Springfield. He also does crossword puzzles daily.

"During tax season, I walk around the halls and mentally do my income taxes in my head," said Weadon, a retired Coast Guard officer. "If I had not started walking, I don't know if I'd be alive. I am 86-and-a-half years old, but I don't feel that age at all."

Geriatric experts say healthy lifestyle habits like regular exercise, eating a nutritious diet and brain challenges can help preserve mental health as we age.

"The one thing that I always tell my patients is that if you don't use it, you lose it. I recommend crossword puzzles, mentally challenging games and reading, especially about current events," said Dr. Lisa Calusic, a psychiatrist at Inova Behavioral Health Services in Alexandria, and an Arlington, resident.

Researchers Pamela Greenwood and Raja Parasuraman, professors at the Department of Psychology at George Mason University in Fairfax, have spent more than 20 years studying the way the human brain ages with a focus on Alzheimer's disease. The two wrote a book, "Nurturing the Older Brain and Mind," in which they explore ways middle-aged people can stave off mental deterioration.

"We know that if we can put off dementing illnesses, even by a year or two through lifestyle changes, that will reduce the number of people with Alzheimer's disease, which is reaching epidemic proportions," Parasuraman says.

The duo says that preventing and staving off mental deterioration is more important than ever now that workers are staying employed longer for economic reasons. Physical activity is an important tool as well.

"Exercise [is] the 'lifestyle' factor with the strongest effect," said Greenwood. "A number of different research groups have found benefits of aerobic exercise on both brain structure and function, and on cognitive performance."

Joel Martin, a professor of kinesiology at George Mason, agrees: "Regular exercise has been proven to slow the aging process," he said. "People have their actual age, which they can't do anything about, and their biological age. Someone could be 40 years old, live a very inactive lifestyle and not eat very well, which may cause them to be closer to 60 in terms of their biological age. Vice versa: Someone who is 60 could be very active and eat a healthy diet and feel like they are much younger, perhaps a biological age closer to mid-40s."

As an octogenarian, Weadon credits his sharpness to regular mental challenges. Martin agrees. "Regularly engaging in activities requiring cognitive function is important," said Martin. "Most tissues in the body respond to stress placed on it by becoming stronger or adapting to handle the stimulus you place on it. If you lift weights, your muscles get bigger and stronger. If you don't do any sort of physical activity to stimulate your muscles, then they get smaller and become weaker. The brain is the same way, it needs regular stimulation to maintain its function."

Experts also say not to rule out the importance of good nutrition. "The antioxidants in foods, especially fruits and vegetables, can help to preserve and protect tissues from damage that occurs as part of the natural aging process," said Martin.

'Stuff the Bus' Campaign Helps Feed the Hungry

Donations continue to increase as campaign enters third year.

BY VICTORIA ROSS
THE CONNECTION NEWSPAPERS

Local grocery stores were packed this weekend with shoppers stocking up on Super Bowl snacks for the annual football fan party. At the Wal-Mart in Fairfax, shoppers were greeted with colorful displays of chips, dips and other party favorites.

They were also greeted by volunteers from Our Daily Bread (ODB), who were handing out flyers and encouraging shoppers to donate gift cards or specific items to restock ODB's pantry shelves. A Fairfax nonprofit for nearly 30 years, ODB provides food and other critical services to the working poor, the elderly and the disabled. More than half of ODB's clients are local children.

Dianne Hon, a Vienna resident, said "Stuff the Bus" makes it easy to donate. "I am already here for groceries and other items, especially since it's the day before the Super Bowl, so it's very convenient to pick up a few extra items for a worthy cause," Hon said.

"Thank you for doing this," Hon said to the volunteers. "You made this so easy."

Jonathan and Roxanne Daley of Fairfax donated a gift card to the campaign. "It's too easy to forget that there are people in Fairfax County who go hungry," Roxanne Daley said. "I love the gift card idea. It's easy and you know you're helping someone get what they want."

FAIRFAX BOARD OF SUPERVISORS CHAIRMAN Sharon Bulova, who greeted shoppers and encouraged them to donate on Saturday, Feb. 2, said gift cards are especially helpful for a number of reasons.

"There's a dignity about it," Bulova said. "You don't stand out from other shoppers with a gift card, and you can purchase what you want for a special recipe, or if you have specific dietary needs."

Chris Garris, ODB's food program manager and volunteer coordinator, said they are encouraging more people to donate gift cards, particularly because they help clients purchase fresh food. "A $20 gift card helps families supplement our pantry's non-perishable food with milk and meat."

Garris said the timing of the Stuff the Bus campaign—which is intentionally scheduled between Martin Luther King Day in January and Presidents Day in February—is important for local pantries because it occurs after the seasonal dose of good will.

"During the fall and holiday season, Our Daily Bread's food pantry is overwhelmed with donations from the community," she said. "But by February, our supplies are often running low even though the need for food is greater than ever."

"Stuff the Bus is an important component in restocking pantries after the holidays," Bulova said. "The need for healthy food is ever growing and the interest for Fairfax County residents to help is there, so we are happily providing the bridge to bring them together."

THE CAMPAIGN, now in its third year, is a partnership between Fairfax County Office of Public Private Partnerships (OP3); MV Transportation Inc., which operates the FASTRAN buses and provides volunteers; local nonprofits; and grocery store chains. All donations go directly to local nonprofit organizations that help feed needy families and individuals in the Fairfax-Falls Church Community.

"The residents of Fairfax and our partners, like MV Transportation and Frank & Co., have really come out in support of Stuff the Bus this year. Each year, we get more donations," said Michael Artson, chief planner with the county's Neighborhood and Community Services (NCS) Department, one of the food drive's organizers.

"Food pantries address a critical need which is especially acute after the holidays, the Stuff the Bus campaign helps us help our community. Its importance to helping stock the shelves can't be overstated," said Roxanne Rice, executive director, Food for Others.

Last year, more than 25,000 lbs. of food was collected for local pantries, all benefiting local nonprofits that help feed needy families in the Fairfax community.

At the end of Saturday's Stuff the Bus campaign, Juliet Reyes of Herndon, a Wal-Mart employee, who was in the middle of her shift as a cashier, asked ODB volunteers if she could donate cash. "I've been listening to people talk about this, and I want to help too. People here shouldn't go hungry."

Butler Too Much for TC

LB Senior totals 29 points, 22 rebounds in OT victory.

THE CONNECTION

The T.C. Williams girls' basketball team this season snapped a nine-game losing streak against West Springfield, twice beating the three-time defending Patriot District champion during the month of January.

Defeating West Springfield for the first time since 2009 gave TC an opportunity to earn the No. 1 seed in this year's district tournament. But the Titans' journey to the top of the district standings was derailed on Tuesday night by Lake Braddock's 6-foot-4 matchup nightmare.

NATALIE BUTLER

scored 29 points, grabbed 22 rebounds and blocked seven shots as the Bruins defeated the Titans 56-54 in overtime on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at T.C. Williams High School.

Along with being a force in the paint, Butler, a 6-foot-4 senior who will play at Georgetown University next season, made four clutch free throws to help Lake Braddock move into a second-place tie with T.C. Williams. West Springfield sits atop the district standings with an 11-2 record, followed by the Bruins and Titans at 10-3. Lake Braddock would win a head-to-head tiebreaker with TC, having won both regular season meetings with the Titans.

Lake Braddock led 53-52 when junior Caitlyn Mandela went to the free-throw line with 13.6 seconds remaining in overtime. Mandela made her first attempt and missed the second. Butler grabbed the rebound, drew a foul and put the game out of reach by knocking down both foul shots. The Titans added a meaningless bucket in the closing seconds.

"I knew that the crowd was going to be loud and that there was going to be lots of distractions and a lot of pressure," Butler said about her game-clinching free throws. "I just really wanted to win and the team did a great job and I didn't want to let the team down. I sort of blocked everything out and just told myself, they're just two free throws—make them and move on."

Butler also made a pair of free throws to tie the score at 45-all with 41.4 seconds remaining in regulation. She finished the evening seven-for-nine at the foul line.

While Butler came up clutch at the charity stripe, it was her production in the paint during the second half that gave the Bruins a chance to win. After Butler totaled just five points in the first half, including a scoreless second quarter, Lake Braddock coach John Giannelli said the Bruins made an effort to get the ball inside.

"In the first half, we didn't look inside at all and we didn't swing the ball at all," Giannelli said. "We came in at halftime, we talked to Nat and we decided we need to swing the ball quicker and then Nat switches from post to post and then we get the ball inside or we swing it back. Our main goal was to get the ball inside to Nat. The more we swung the ball, the better chance we had to get it into her."

Butler responded with nine points in the third quarter, nine in the fourth and six in overtime.

T.C. Williams head coach Kesha Walton said the Titans tried to keep Butler from catching the ball down low. Six-foot sophomore Grace Patterson and 5-foot-10 senior Baylee Simpson battled in the paint, but it wasn't enough. In the teams' first meeting, Butler scored 40 points and grabbed 31 rebounds during a 76-65 victory against TC on Jan. 11, according to stats from the Washington Post's website.

"Baylee fought as hard as she could. ... Grace got out there and did the best that she could as far as banging [Butler]," Walton said. "That was our game plan: we knew we had to contain her if we wanted to come out successful tonight. ... She's a legit 6-4. Even if she catches the ball, there's nothing we can do but foul, so our goal is to try to keep it away from her as much as we can."

Junior guard Betsy Gallier scored 11 points for Lake Braddock. Junior guard Aryn Burrage scored six points and sophomore guard Christine McGrath finished with five.

LAKE BRADDOCK improved to 14-5 and extended its winning streak to five games. Tuesday was Giannelli's fourth game filling in for head coach Leigh Janis, who recently had a child.

Butler said the Bruins have handled the coaching transition well and she's pleased with the team's success. Lake Braddock finished 7-15 her sophomore season and 9-15 last year.

Giannelli, who came to Lake Braddock from Centreville this season, started the year as a varsity assistant and the head JV coach.

"Being on varsity since [I was] a sophomore, we weren't a threat," Butler said. "It's unbelievable to be a threat now in my senior year. It's great experience. There's a lot of pressure that comes with it, but I love it and I can't wait to play in the next game. Coach G has done a great job with Coach Janis. I think he blended perfectly with the team. There were no issues whatsoever. The girls respected him as a head coach and we all came to practice every day ready to work."

TC will close the regular season with a road game against Annandale at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 7. Lake Braddock will host West Potomac at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 8.

Robinson Excelling At Duquesne

West Springfield 2012 grad is Dukes' second-leading scorer.

BY JON ROETMAN
THE CONNECTION

April Robinson was a scared freshman when she arrived at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. The former West Springfield standout was entering the world of Division I college basketball and wasn't sure of her place among her elder teammates.

"When she came on a visit, she was really quiet," said Duquesne junior forward Orsi Szecsi, who was Robinson's host during her visit. "I was the only person that she was talking to. When she came for school, she opened up, but she was a weak freshman, so we always made fun of her. She would just give you the look, the 'What's going on,' just staring at you, blank behind the eyes."

While Robinson's teammates gave her a hard time, and the freshman is still working on the whole "quiet" thing, the 2012 West Springfield graduate has shown the Dukes—and the rest of the Atlantic 10 Conference—there's nothing weak about her game.

Robinson, a 5-foot-8 point guard, earned a starting role and never let it go. Not only did Robinson secure a position of leadership as a true freshman—and the only freshman on the Duquesne roster—she has thrived in it. In 21 games, she's second on the team in scoring (9.0), minutes per game (27.8), assists (2.5) and total steals (31). She has twice been named A-10 Rookie of the Week (Dec. 3, 31) and has played a major role in Duquesne posting a 17-4 record. As of Wednesday morning, the Dukes were third in the A-10 with a 6-1 record, behind Dayton (7-0) and Saint Joseph's (6-0).

Robinson hasn't been overwhelmed by playing such a prominent role.

"You just play. Starting as a freshman and playing a lot of minutes, it doesn't really mean anything because you go into each practice, each game like it's your last," Robinson said at George Washington University's Smith Center on Wednesday, Jan. 30, after the Dukes beat the Colonials 63-59 in double overtime. "You've just got to do whatever it takes to help your team get the W."

"She's come in, in my mind, and exceeded expectations," said McConnell-Serio, who received the 2004 WNBA Coach of the Year award with the Minnesota Lynx. "She has been tremendous from the beginning and competed. She has always been poised. ... We're better with her as a point guard. She makes plays, she scores, she creates ... she really understands what we're trying to do offensively and defensively and she's amazed me from the beginning of the season until now."

Robinson said the size, quickness and physicality of opponents on the college level are some notable differences from playing high school ball, but the biggest change has been dealing with full-court pressure: "You can't really breathe," she said.

"We basically build on her," Szecsi said. "I'm real proud of her because not many freshmen can do that at her position."

Robinson Stands Up to Cancer

Robinson DECA chapter raises Cancer awareness and $5,000.

Robinson Stands Up to Cancer, a series of events put on by students at Robinson Secondary School, reached out to the community to raise money for cancer research and treatment, while raising awareness about those in need.

Goals of the project were to raise $5,000 for cancer treatment and research; to establish partnerships with multiple organizations to expand relations with the Robinson Distributive Education Clubs of America or DECA chapter (which aims to teach students marketing, management and entrepreneurship); and to raise awareness on all cancer types through "awareness days."

The beneficiary for the student efforts is the Stand Up to Cancer organization. One of the major DECA supporters is the Future Business Leaders of America ASK project. This project is also dedicated to helping families suffering from cancer diagnosis. The ASK project collected gift cards for the Children's Hospital for over a month, finishing this event with a Benefit Concert. In helping promote this gift card collection drive, ASK was able to collect over $1,000 for their cause.

The students had a second and third objective as well: to raise community awareness through partnering with community organizations and to benefit the entire Robinson Secondary school community and the local Burke community as well.

Stand Up to Cancer Events Held October 2012-January 2013

❖ At the informational booth at Taste of Robinson on Oct. 19, 2012, a community event, the students introduced the project. The event was also the Homecoming football game for Robinson. The Stand Up to Cancer booth attracted many donors and cultivated interest from the primary and secondary target market.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America recently honored Fairfax native Janelle Neubauer with a full-tuition seminary scholarship from the ELCA Fund for Leaders. I'm sure your readers would love to hear about Janelle's achievement. Please find a press release attached, and feel free to contact me via

❖ Students sold the Stand Up to Cancer Ribbon Banner and offered it during every event and collected signatures from the Robinson Community to fundraise and demonstrate community involvement in the project. Students hung multiple banners with several hundred signatures in memory or in honor of those affected by cancer.

❖ The DECA club made fundraising efforts at "Touching Bases" on Nov. 12, 2012, during Veterans Day. Robinson Secondary had a four hour delay in order to allow parents to communicate with teachers about their child's academic progress. This enabled the DECA students to reach their secondary target market through fundraising towards their $5,000 goal and distributing flyers for upcoming awareness day events.

❖ Pink-out day for breast cancer awareness, on Nov. 13, 2012, raised awareness through a smash of color. Similar events were later held: Lime-out day for Lymphoma awareness, Nov. 27, 2012, and Orange-out for leukemia awareness, on Dec. 7, 2012. Lavender-out day for all types of cancer awareness, held Tuesday, Jan. 15, was the final color-out cancer awareness day, dedicated to all types of cancers. The color-out event promotion consisted of clips on GMR, a broadcast announcement from School Principal Dan Meier, posting flyers, electronic marquee announcements in the main hallway, social media promotion through the DECA Robinson twitter page and group facebook posts, and DECA member announcements during lunch and classes.

❖ The Robinson students used

Paul Mitchell hair extensions on Nov. 13, 2012, in a partnership with the local Paul Mitchell School to sell hair extensions during all lunches on the day of our pink-out. Through the DECA-Paul Mitchell School combined efforts, a percentage of the money raised in the event was donated to the organization "CancerSchmancer."

❖ The ASK gift card collection contest, Nov. 30 through Dec. 14, 2012, was held in all first period classes to promote to the primary target market and to promote partnerships with the Future Business Leaders of America. The contests entailed the FBLA ASK project donating gift cards to The Children's Hospital to lessen the financial burden of families affected by cancer.

❖ One of the largest events was Hat Day, Dec. 7, 2012. For this day, students could pay $5 to wear a hat during the entire school day and receive a sticker receipt in exchange for their donations. The Robinson DECA chapter assisted with this event in volunteering during lunches to help presale as well as volunteering to collect donations the morning of the event.

❖ Black-out for Skin cancer awareness, Dec. 19, 2012, promoted the Stand Up to Cancer project through a tee-shirt day.

❖ On White-out Day for lung cancer awareness, Tuesday, Jan. 8, the students formed a partnership with the Student Government Association. The week of Jan. 8 was the Student Government Association Ice fest student spirit week, so as a means of co-promotion the DECA chapter hosted a lung-cancer awareness day on the day of the Robinson basketball game.
