airfax County residents have vet to agree on the specifics of residential studio units and are continuing the debate on several aspects of the proposed amendment.

As of Jan. 6, the Planning Commission proposed amendment defines residential studios as efficiency units that make up a multiple-family residential building, or part of a building, in which 80 percent of the units must be for those who do not make more than 60 percent of the median income of the area. In the Washington, D.C. area, that is $45,000.

The Residential Studio Unit Amendment has also been amended to remove residential studio units from consideration in lower density R-E through R-8 districts, where single family detached homes are allowed.

AS IT CURRENTLY STANDS,

the amendment does not allow for the conversion of single family homes. It was this issue that several members of the Board of Supervisors, including Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield), were opposed to and advised the Planning Commission RSU Committee to remove from consideration, along with removing from consideration the development of Residential Studio Units in lower-density neigh-

"Some people thought someone could just go in and create a boarding house out of a single family home, so the Board asked the Planning Commission to just remove that option altogether," said Michelle Krocker, executive director of the Northern Virginia Affordable Housing Alliance.

Herrity, however, said that he is still opposed to the income limit of $45,000 for 80 percent of the

"The ordinance still needs a lot of work. 80 percent of the units will be out of the reach of our policemen, firemen, teachers and other young professionals in Fairfax County because of the rent controls," Herrity said. "I think that's still the chief problem with the ordinance."

Herrity said he has been working with state delegate Jim LeMunyon (R-67) on issues related to residential studio units.

"I've been working with Jim LeMunyon on a piece of legislation that would keep these RSUs out of neighborhoods and prevent single family conversions," Herrity said.

According to Krocker, residential studio units will provide those who work in positions vital to Fairfax County with an affordable place to live. Using Paycheck to Paycheck, a website that can compare the salary of different occupations in various areas, > Krocker said she was able to compile a list of jobs that make anywhere from $19,000 per year to $48,000 per year, including automotive technicians, bookkeepers, childcare workers, preschool teachers, cooks, bank tellers, and others.

> "Single persons who work in those occupations could be well served by housing of this type; housing that is just small and an affordable place for them to live that doesn't have a huge amount of space that they have to pay for," Krocker said.

According to Joe Pettit, a volunteer at the Church of the Nativity in Burke, residents' concerns of overcrowding and illegal board houses are not related to residential studio units, but many groups have linked

"This is a reflection that Fairfax County lacks lowincome rental housing. If we had more affordable rental housing, there would be less pressure. It

Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield)

"The ordinance still needs a lot of work. Eighty percent of the units will be out of the reach of our policemen, firemen, teachers and other young professionals in Fairfax County because of the rent controls. I think that's still the chief problem with the ordinance, that our young professionals, teachers, policemen and firemen are all placed out of these units."

Al Smuzynski, Fairfax Station

"The current amendment I think is going in the right direction, but it's got some serious flaws that will make it hard to actually build these."

Keith Bender, Springfield

"This proposal of 500 square feet with no walls doesn't address someone who is making $60,000 a year and has three kids. But it needs to. There are a lot of problems here. You have to include the smallest before you can ever think of taking care of the largest. If we don't address the need of someone making seven dollars an hour or twelve dollars an hour, we're still going to have housing problems. We will just be managing the problems that we ourselves have created.

Nancy Mercer, Braddock District

"If we were smart, we would take this opportunity of all this angst, that everybody has, and fear, and we would sit down and look at all of the tools we have available, and look at what we can build."

Supervisor Jeffrey McKay (D-Lee District)

"I definitely think they should be in commercial districts, especially planned development commercial districts, which tend to be higher density. I think we should consider them in industrial areas because there's a lot of industrial areas that have untapped density and they do have connectivity to mass transit, and a lot of times they're bordering residential areas, but are not in them, and so the impacts can be better mitigated. I think there are some residential districts that make sense but the idea that first surfaced was anywhere and everywhere, and that makes no sense to me."

Rob Jackson, President, Fairfax County Federation of Citizens Associations

"We certainly think the concept of RSUs have some merit, as there are not many efficiency apartments in Fairfax County, and if done correctly, they could benefit the community."

Michelle Krocker, executive director of the Northern Virginia Affordable Housing Alliance

This is meant to help working singles, but it could also be used to assist people who are homeless. Any kind of housing that is affordable is going to help low income people, so it's one of the strategies that the County can and should use, but it shouldn't be limited to just people who are homeless. It could serve a much greater percentage of the population.

s the General Assembly convenes on Jan. 8, several delegates from Fairfax County have written bills that tackle some of the issues they believe are important to Virginians.

Del. Dave Albo (R-42) proposed a bill that would get rid of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission's three person board and would replace them with five citizens with business experience who are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state legislature. Members of the current threeperson board make six-digit salaries and are appointed by the governor. Albo's plan would make the position part time and would pay 50 dollars per day.

"The bill was originally filed when the Governor tried to privatize the ABC stores. The idea was that the private sector could operate them more efficiently. We never could find a way to do it. If we privatized them, in a few years, the state would be losing tens of millions. So my bill basically keeps the ABC stores with the state, but organizes it as a business/corporation with a Board of Directors and a CEO," Albo wrote

Del. Scott Surovell (D-44) has proposed five ethics reform bills, some of which address issues that surfaced in 2013 due to ongoing investigation related to Governor McDonnell's gift scandal.

"I wanted to get those out there early in the process, because I know there are discussions out there on what we should be doing. The bills themselves focus on holes in the states ethics laws," Surovell said.

Surovell's bills include banning economic ties with appointees and eliminating gifts during litigation, intended to keep politicians transparent.

"The last twelve months have raised a lot of questions among Virginians of how business is conducted in Richmond," Surovell said. "I think we owe it to our constituents to ensure that relationships between elected officials and lobbyists and special interests have as much transparency as possible, so that citizens can make their own decisions as to whether that activity is appropriate or not and every one follows the law."

At the Fairfax County Democratic Committees' Annual Road to Richmond Legislative Brunch, Del. Mark Sickles (D-43) talked about retiring Del. Jim Scott's (D-53) legacy and mentioned the upcoming General As-"One year ago, no one thought that we would get a $1.4 billion per year transportation budget," Sickles said. "So that makes me think that we could get Medicaid."

Sen. Dick Saslaw (D-35) also addressed ethics reform, the expansion of Medicaid, and other legislative priorities at the legislative brunch. "We're going to have to deal with the ethics issue. It's not as easy to deal with as you think, because you're going to have to distinguish between what's entertainment and what is a gift," Saslaw said. "It's not an easy topic. We are going to deal with it, we are going to get legislation, and we will get something to the desk of the governor." According to Saslaw, economic development is one of McAuliffe's top priorities. "I don't know of any governor in the country that is as well wired with the business community across the planet as that man is," Saslaw said.

Studio Units Debate Goes On

wouldn't eliminate people looking for boarding types of situations, but it would lessen it," Pettit said. "The RSUs would fill the need for many people who need lowincome housing. That's the bottom line."

According to 2012 Fairfax County data mentioned in a staff note in the proposed amendment, less than one percent of the overall housing units in Fairfax County are efficiency units, while 23 percent of the population lives in single households.

"In some sense, portions of Fairfax are becoming like Arlington. People who have moved to the suburbs want to preserve the suburban atmosphere," Pettit said. "That was the type of housing they chose, and I can understand why they would want to preserve that, but it appears that more and more single individual living units are going to be needed."

SOME FAIRFAX COUNTY RESIDENTS

at the Jan. 6 Residential Studio Unit Committee Meeting disagreed on who is meant to be the specific populations served by these units.

Clyde Miller, a resident of Falls Church, spoke at the meeting against the way the current proposed RSU amendment is written.

"There's no requirement and no thought in any of this language that any of this is regulated. It could have a halfway house in an R-12 residential district, unmanaged and unregulated. The County placed that in same pot with the notion that we need to do something for first-year school teachers, and they don't belong in the same pot. They need to be separated," Miller said.

Pettit, however, believes that residential studio units can help a variety of people.

"These are designed for people from all kinds of backgrounds, not just coming from the area of my particular interest, those with disabilities, but also older people, younger people, those just starting out that want their own place rather than boarding with some other people," Pettit said.

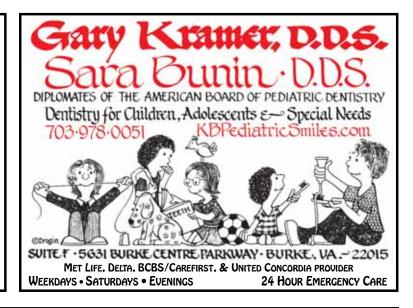

Keith Bender, a Springfield resident, believes that more thought needs to be put into the amendment.

"It's being crafted so it's a beautiful example of what could have been, but nobody wants to step up and build it," said Bender.

The next Planning Commission Residential Studios Committee will be on Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. in Conference Rooms 2 and 3 at the Fairfax County Government Center.

Enjoy greater comfort and energy savings this winter.

Some people call it nesting—the simple act of enjoying your home. When winter comes, you want that nest, your home, to be warm and cozy. But you also want to keep energy costs in line.

Washington Gas has a few simple things you can do that can help save money on your winter heating bills, without giving up the comfort you want.

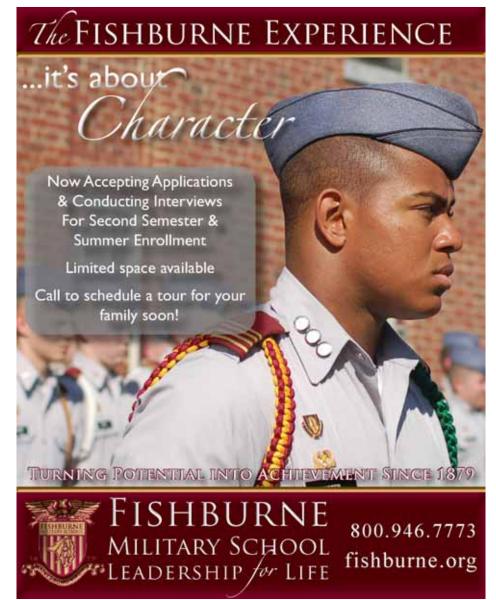

- Have a licensed natural gas contractor perform a complete inspection of your heating and water heater systems
- Set your thermostat comfortably low in winter and consider installing a programmable thermostat. Setting your thermostat set just one degree lower can save you as much as 3 percent.
- Install proper insulation in your home.
- When you're not using a fireplace, close the flue.
- Replace your furnace filter once a month.
- Turn your hot water heater down to warm or low, never more than 120 degrees.
- Replace all cracked or broken window glass, consider adding storm windows, caulk and weatherstrip doors and windows.
- Wash full loads of laundry and dishes.

For more information and additional energy saving tips visit washingtongas.com.

Take advantage of our Budget Plan.

With the Washington Gas Budget Plan, you'll be able to spread the higher cost of winter heating into the warmer months. You'll pay the same amount each month for natural gas. It costs nothing to enroll. To sign up for The Budget Payment Plan, call 703-750-1000 or log on to washingtongas.com.

promises of reform to the mental health service system in the last decade, Virginia's mental health services system fails to serve many of those in need of its services."

According to dLCV, there are more than 40,000 Virginians living with serious mental illness and thousands more with less serious emotional disorders that require treatment including an estimated 130,658 children between the ages of nine and eighteen who need treatment. The dLCV which and regional jails of whom nearly

Thirty-one of the 133 individuals in such hospital placements in November, 2013, had been waiting for discharge for more than a year. The dLCV maintains that funding is misdirected towards unnecessary hospitalization when funding is needed desperately for community-based

Problem-solving on 2014 Agenda

By Supervisor John Cook (R-Braddock District)

am looking forward to the opportunity to work with my Board colleagues and Braddock residents on a number of important issues. Here are some of the key issues that will affect Fairfax County residents in 2014.

Federal and state law requires the Board to pass a new Stormwater Ordinance this spring as part of Chesapeake Bay pollution control. Our stormwater program will also start to address flooding caused by prior development that did not adequately plan for run-off. I have been working to minimize the burden these requirements would place on homeowners seeking to make renovations, while still meeting important environmental goals.

❖ The Board will consider a zoning amendment to permit Residential Studio Unit (RSU) apartments. An RSU is a small zero-bedroom apartment, of no more than 500 square feet (the voted to keep RSU's out of low-tor to create new, market rate affordable housing at no cost to the taxpayers.

I am co-chairing a joint Board of Supervisor-School Board Infrastructure Financing Committee charged with figuring out how to pay for school renovations, major maintenance needs of County buildings and parks, and new consize of a good-sized living room), struction of schools, parks, and with a bathroom and kitchenette facilities to meet the demands of included. The Board has already population growth. I am also part of a working group tasked with density residential areas. I hope designing a new compensation we can work out remaining issues plan for our County workforce that so we can allow the private sec- will keep employee pay comparable to our competitors and still be affordable to the taxpayers.

The County budget is in decent shape. Last year we dealt with our structural challenge by stopping the practice of balancing the budget with one-time money. Now, we should be able to balance this year's budget without raising the tax rate, holding agency spending basically flat, giving schools the 2 percent increase we promised them, and giving our workforce a cost-of-living raise.

❖ In Braddock District, one of the first uses of the new state transportation funding could be widening Braddock Road from Guinea Road to the Beltway, including HOV-Bus lanes. I will put together a citizen task force to ensure the interests of our neighborhoods are protected as we explore how to design this project. I am also looking forward to the completion of George Mason's "Campus Drive" project and the beginning of the County's improvements to the Braddock -Route 123 intersection.

❖ I am also looking forward to the launch of our newly-funded initiative against neighborhood speeding. I will be asking our neighborhoods to join in making the commitment to encourage residents to slow down and drive

How are we going to accomplish all these things? By working together in a positive manner, involving our citizens, looking for solutions instead of problems, and adhering to principles of sound fiscal management. It's a new year. Let's get to work!

Shelter Offers 'Pet Haven' Services

any people may not beaware that domestic violence and animal abuse are connected. People may stay in dangerous and traumatic situations in fear of leaving their pets behind to an abusive spouse or partner. The Fairfax County Animal Shelter is launching an expansion of the "Pet Haven" program offering emergency housing, food, supplies and care for pets in domestic violence situations.

The Animal Shelter is a partner, along with the Police Department's Victims Services Unit and the County's Domestic Violence Network, in the new program. Statistically, 71 percent of pet-owning victims entering shelters reported that their batterer had injured, maimed, killed or threatened family pets and 68 percent of victims reported past violence towards their animals. Domestic violence continues to be a serious concern in Fairfax County. In its 2012 Annual Report, the Domestic Violence Fatality Review Team reported that more than half (57 percent) of all Fairfax County's homicides were domestic violencerelated. Overall, only 38 percent of the victims sought law enforcement intervention, only one sought a protective order and none sought domestic violence advocacy services.

Victims seeking a safe place for their pets should contact the Animal Shelter FCPDPetResources@fairfaxcounty.gov or call 703-324-0208. For more information and available resources, contact the 24-hour Domestic & Sexual Violence Hotline at 703-360-7273.

Members of 100+ Women Who Care Donate $3,800 to Our Daily Bread

ur Daily Bread has received $3,800 from the members of 100+ Women Who Care Northern Virginia to help ease the plight of lowincome residents in the Fairfax County. The nonprofit was selected by the members of 100+ Women Who Care during the organization's Nov. 7 meeting.

"We are very thankful for the support of 100+ Women Who Care Northern Virginia," said Lisa Whetzel, Our Daily Bread Executive Director. "This generous contribution enhances our ability to serve the needs of Fairfax County families who are in financial crisis, especially during the holidays, and throughout the year. In fact, at least seven families will avoid eviction this winter because of this donation. Now that's a holiday

"Our Daily Bread is a great example of a local, volunteer-run organization that is making a measurable impact in Fairfax County," said Traci Richards, co-founder of 100+ Women Who Care Northern Virginia. "Our members are proud to support such an outstanding organization that helps individuals and families who are struggling to make ends meet."

Founded in 2012, 100+ Women Who Care Northern Virginia is one of many women's giving circles across the nation that focus on coordinating funding for local, community charitable organizations. Women gather at quarterly meetings to hear three short presentations on local nonprofits in need; members vote and the group makes a collective donation directly to the local nonprofit chosen. 100+ Women Who Care Northern Virginia is run entirely by volunteers with no administrative fees solicited from members. Meetings last no more than an hour.

The next meeting of 100+ Women Who Care Northern Virginia will be held on Feb. 6, 2014 from 7:30-8:30 p.m. at Tysons-Pimmit Regional Library at 7584 Leesburg Pike in Falls Church, Va.

Kitchen Organization for the New Year

Local organizers, designers and culinary experts offer smart tips for making space and clearing clutter.

> BY MARILYN CAMPBELL THE CONNECTION

f organizing an unruly kitchen, one where there never seems to be enough space for storage containers and pots and pans, is on your list of resolutions this year, the project might be less daunting than you think. From creating a system for grouping spices to keeping plates in easy reach, local experts share secrets for a well-maintained

Hang pots and pans inside pantry doors, says Sallie Kjos of GreyHunt Interiors in Chantilly, Va. "It organizes them, but decoratively can look effective."

Pots and pans can also be hung from the ceiling using a hanging cookware rack. "These are actually very pretty hanging over a kitchen island and it frees up cabinet space for other items when storage space is limited," said Susan Unger, of ClutterSOS in Victoria Sanchez, of Victoria at Home in Alexandria, agrees: "Pot racks are totally underutilized," she said. "They offer extra storage for your pots and pans and add a decorative element above an island or along the wall."

Unger also recommends storage racks that hang from walls and doors. "[They are] very functional and I've used them many times in kitchens and other rooms," she said. "It is not unattractive, but [it's] not a 'pretty' organizing item."

Reduce clutter any way you can. "Clear off the fridge," said Kjos. "Paint the inside of your cabinets with magnetic chalk paint and write your messages there with your calendar and coupons hidden away for a cleaner look.

When it comes to storing cooking utensils that need to stay within easy reach, Kjos said, "You can replace canisters that may look bulky with glass jars. Use urns to store your wooden spoons and spatulas to make them into a pretty and decorative arrange-

Anna Reeves, owner of Tiny Chefs with locations in Potomac, Alexandria, Fairfax, Arlington, Vienna and Oakton, gets back to basics when it comes to cooking and kitchen organization. She starts with an old-fashioned pad and pencil, organizational tools that would be helpful in most kitchens.

"One good tip is to write down everything you need before you sit down to make a recipe, so you have a list of all the supplies and ingredients" she said. "I have friends who start a recipe and then realize that they don't have all of the ingredients and tools they

Even something as simple as stacking storage containers becomes easier when they are similar in size. "Uniform Tupperware containers make for easy storage," said Reeves.

Kristen Robinson, a chef instructor at The Art Institute of Washington, a branch of The Art Institute of Atlanta, has an organizational safety warning, however. "Most people don't realize that food poisoning usually occurs in the home due to improper food storage and handling," she said. "I label and date everything that goes in the refrigerator and freezer. It's important to label and date leftovers and pay close attention to expiration dates. One thing I do to keep items fresh on the shelf is to store my grains, beans and rice in mason jars. I label and date these items, too. I hate having open bags of these items and Ziploc bags can be clumsy."

IF YOU'RE LUCKY ENOUGH to have a kitchen remodel on your agenda for 2014, consider cuttingedge cabinetry that offers storage solutions. "I am both pleased and amazed at the new designs for base corner cabinets," said Joe Starkey of Old Town Bath and Kitchen in Alexandria. You can still find and still use traditional lazy Susans, but alternatives out there, [such as a] blind corner with full access or with swing out or with pull out, are staggering. Newer mechanics have allowed redesign of the actual storage ar-

Bill Millholland, executive vice president at Case Design/Remodeling, with offices in Bethesda and Falls Church said, "One particular project always comes to mind when I think of kitchen organization and clever storage solutions, and it incorporates the idea of placing heavy items [like] plates in a drawer rather than up high in a wall cabinet. This is both convenient and practical for people of all ages and

Trendiest Color for 2014: Radiant Orchid

Local designers offer tips on using this exotic hue tastefully and share their own color predictions.

By Marilyn CAMPBELL The Connection

t has been called exotic, vibrant and even magical. Now it has been named the 2014 color of the year: orchid, or radiant orchid to be exact.

Pantone, color authority and provider of professional color standards for design industries, says this shade of purple will be everywhere in 2014. Local design experts agree that this lively hue can add bursts of energy to almost any interior when used tastefully. But before you lay radiant orchid marble in your powder room, remember that Pantone will crown a new shade in less than 12 months.

"I would use this color in 'easily changed' items such as linens and accessories to add a pop of color to a space," said Bill Millholland, executive vice president at Case Design/Remodeling, with offices in Bethesda and Falls Church. "I think of the Pantone selection as primarily fashion focused. As a result, it has a limited lifespan and is not appropriate for tile [and] cabinetry É that you want to look great for a long time."

Jim Nicolson, of Tech Painting Company in Alexandria, said, "We might get a request for an accent wall in a deep purple or violet, but it would be fashion-forward type people who uses those colors, at least in the Washington area."

Instead, designers say to look for radiant orchid in textiles. "A great complementary color is navy blue," said interior designer Sallie Kjos of GreyHunt Interiors in Chantilly. "You can inject these colors into your home by using throw pillows if such a bright color still makes and throws. Replace rugs with navy blue and white indooroutdoor rugs, [using] the pops of orchid on the pillows and > artwork. É Look É for orchid pillows in solids and mix [them] with a geometric pattern in navy blue."

Victoria Sanchez, of Victoria at Home in Alexandria, said, "Orchid is going to be the new blue for the bedroom. It will take the place of blue and can be paired with similar neutrals."

Sanchez predicts that soft colors will also be popular in 2014. "Neutrals are here to stay," she said. "We'll still be enjoying grays, taupes and shades of ivory with their soothing palettes."

Lisa Magee, project designer at Case Design/Remodeling anticipates seeing shades of gray this year. "Grays are where it's at. We're moving away from the earth tones and into the cooler colors like grays and blues."

Nicolson said that "Grays were big last year, a lot of shades of gray, and that doesn't seem to be changing, but that could very well be unique to Washington."

As a neutral, gray would work with radiant orchid as well. But you a little gun shy, Kjos offers a simple solution: "For your coffee table, purchase a live orchid to bring in the color."

South County Basketball Coach Hess Beats Former Team

Stallions win two out of three at tournament.

BY ANDREW MINER FOR THE CONNECTION

he South County Stallions beat the Langley Saxons in day-two action of the Mount Vernon Holiday Basketball Tournament 59-52 in the consolation bracket play on Dec. 27.

Stallion coach Travis Hess wished South County played any other school than the one he formerly coached.

"It was the one team I didn't want to play," Hess said afterwards. "At least not so soon, after a tough loss the following night, it was easy to game plan but I still know most of the kids on that team as well as coach [Scott] Newman."

Newman, on the other hand, said, "[coach Hess and I] shared some funny texts back and forth and while we preferred not to play them it was just another game and we gave them all we had."

Hess, less than a year removed gley, squared off against first-year head coach Newman of the Saxons. Newman had been Hess' assistant at Langley for the last four years and there were still players on the Saxons who Hess had personally coached.

After the first quarter, the score was knotted at 12. Then the Stallions outscored the Saxons 17-7 in the second quarter.

"We gave better effort today than yesterday," Newman said. "South County is a good team and we are still young.'

In the second half, South County jumped all over the Saxons. The Stallions extended their lead to 16 by outscoring the Saxons 15-9 and led 44-28 entering the fourth quarter. Langley, however, scratched and clawed back into the game by doing what it does best: draining 3-pointers. They hit three that quarter and by using a diamond press were able to cut the Stallion lead to four with 1:25 remaining. South County then hit six of its next eight foul shots to cement the victory in the final 73 seconds.

South County finished the tournament with a 72-66 win over Gar-Field on Dec. 28, improving the Stallions' record to 8-3. South County will host West Springfield at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 10.

Through snow days and a prolonged football season, Hess admitted, "it's on the coaching staff" and that "we haven't had enough practices" when asked how South County can better learn how to close games. Both tournament games the Stallions have let their opponents back into the game. They blew a nine-point fourth quarter lead before losing to Oakton the night before. Hess was excited to get back to practice, however, in order to "work on everything."

Leadership Fairfax to Host Annual Supervisors Breakfast

he Leadership Fairfax 23rd Annual Board of Supervisors Breakfast will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 18, 7 - 9:30 a.m. at Hyatt Fair Lakes in Fairfax.

In its 23rd year, the breakfast provides leaders from business, government, and the non-profit sector an opportunity to hear straight from the Supervisors about happenings in Fairfax County, including the "State of the County" address from Chairman Sharon Bulova.

Leadership Fairfax will recognize Capt. Willie F. Bailey, of Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department, as the winner of the 2014 Katherine Hanley Public Service Award.

Capt. Bailey is recognized for his service, not only to the fire department, but also to the community. Throughout his career, he has spearheaded efforts to collect much needed items (such as backpacks, school supplies, and winter coats) for children in need in Alexandria and the South County area. He has been honored by the Mount Vernon Chamber of Commerce, Alexandria City Schools, the Rotary Club of Tysons
