Thanks Gerry!

Supervisor Gerry Hyland Supports Strong Kids & Schools

When Fairfax students and teachers needed a leader, Supervisor Gerald "Gerry" Hyland was there for them. Hyland has taken the lead in supporting our schools with the funding they need. That means:

- Smaller class sizes
- Support for teachers
- Personal attention for students

Supervisor Hyland values education and knows that to keep Fairfax County strong, we must have the best schools, effective public safety and strong property values.

Cankerworm Spraying: Is It Necessary?

Some residents believe spraying of fall cankerworm is unnecessary.

Later this month, the Fairfax County Forest Pest Management Branch is scheduled to spray 2,200 acres of the Mason, Lee and Mount Vernon districts with insecticide in order to rid these areas of fall cankerworms, commonly known as inchworms.

"It's kind of unusual for a native insect to be this bad," said Troy Shaw, an urban forester in the Forest Pest Management Branch.

Despite its name, fall cankerworms can be active in the spring, when large populations can lead to defoliation of tree species.

This year, the county has reported a dramatic rise in the numbers of fall cankerworms in residential and forest areas. The county says that the cankerworms can damage hundreds of acres of trees through defoliation.

"Does defoliation kill trees? Absolutely," Shaw said. "In a suburban environment, there are a lot of wildcards, so you can expect to see tree mortality."

So, to eliminate the cankerworm, the Forest Pest Management Branch will be spraying trees with Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt). The cankerworm will die within a week of ingesting the insecticide.

LORTON RESIDENT Ashley Kennedy, however, isn't convinced that the spraying of this species is justified, saying that it is unnecessary and actively harmful to the environment.

At the public hearings on Fairfax County's proposed 2015 budget, Kennedy, an entomologist who is a researcher in the environmental science department at George Mason, told the Board of Supervisors that she's spent the last six weeks researching the cankerworms and working with entomologists from institutions across the country to determine the pros and cons of these spraying programs.

The consensus, she says, is that there are no pros. By eliminating the spraying program, the county will save nearly half a million each year. Although it may be too late to stop the spraying this year, Kennedy said at the hearings that it should be considered in years to come.

A fall cankerworm is called so because the adult moths are active in fall. The county is spraying now because the larvae, or caterpillars, are active in the spring. During an Ask Fairfax! online chat session on the fall cankerworm, Joan Allen, an urban forester in the Urban Forest Management Division, said it is believed that only the caterpillars will be directly affected during the spraying.

"While Bt only directly harms caterpillars, there may be a shortage of food available to birds in the limited areas being treated," Allen said during the chat.

Kennedy discovered through her research that a pair of chickadees requires between 4,000 and 9,000 caterpillars to rear one clutch of chicks.

"Songbirds will undoubtedly suffer if the county proceeds with this Bt spraying plan," she said.

The barn at Meadowood Stables will remain open during renovation.

Meadowood Stables Remain Open

Rep. Jim Moran, Supervisor Gerry Hyland approve decision.

The barn at the Meadowood Special Recreation Area will remain open during renovation, the Bureau of Land Management announced on April 10.

According to an environmental assessment released by BLM, a majority of the comments received regarding the 2012 environmental assessment requested that the barn remain opened during renovation.

"The BLM will prioritize the work to be completed in phases to eliminate the need to close the barn during the renovation," the BLM stated.

Rep. Jim Moran (D-8) praised the BLM's decision in an April 10 press release. The process has been ongoing since 2011.

"This was the only opportunity to repair Meadowood Stables, otherwise it would have been shuttered due to the cost. BLM deserves much praise for working toward a solution that was a win for all involved," said Rep. Moran. "Today's announcement ensures the stables will remain open for decades to come, providing the local community ready access to the barn and surrounding property."

In 2012, Rep. Moran, along with Mount Vernon District Supervisor Gerry Hyland and John Lyons, the director of the BLM Eastern States Office, held a meeting discussing stable renovations in a way that would keep horses on the property during renovation.

Moran had previously threatened to cut BLM funding if the stables did not remain open.

"BLM listened to the community and made the right decision," Hyland said. "Their willingness to come to the table and hear everyone's concerns proves they are an important partner with Fairfax County."

The topic was contentious because the barn's closure would have required individuals using the stable to find another place to board their horses. Meadowood Stables is also home to Simple Changes, a therapeutic riding program.

According to the BLM's final Environmental Impact Statement, the barn is in need of renovation to meet structural, plumbing, electrical, and Architectural Barriers Act standards. The roof and restroom are also in need of repair.

30 Years in Prison for Three Deaths

One of the victims was a young Fairfax woman.

BY BONNIE HOBBS
THE CONNECTION

The man responsible for the heroin deaths of three people in Fairfax County will be spending the next three decades in prison. Eugene Asomani "Shine" Williams, 35, of Washington, D.C., was sentenced last week in federal court for conspiring to distribute heroin and possessing a firearm while doing so.

The three victims were Woodson High graduate Kara Schachinger, 22, of Fairfax; Joshua Pearson, 33, of Fairfax County and Timothy Huffman, 23, an active duty soldier who was serving in the Army at Fort Belvoir.

"Williams peddled a dangerous drug and inflicted untold damage to the victims, their families, and our communities," said Dana Boente, U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia. "This case exemplifies the cooperative efforts of federal, state and local law enforcement to combat this pernicious crime."

On Jan. 22 in U.S. District Court in Alexandria, Williams pleaded guilty to conspiracy to distribute one kilogram or more of heroin and possession of a firearm during and in furtherance of a drug-trafficking crime. In a statement of facts filed with his plea agreement, he admitted to distributing more than one kilogram of heroin in Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia between 2004 and Sept. 26, 2013.

Williams further admitted that Pearson, Huffman and Schachinger all died as a result of their use of heroin distributed by him.

"I have heard firsthand from families about the devastation brought by the loss of a loved one in this wave of heroin-related deaths, and about the strain placed on law-enforcement and healthcare professionals as they work to respond to it," said Attorney General Mark Herring. "Education, prevention and treatment will play a major part in dealing with this emerging threat, but I will also ensure that my office is doing all it can to keep these dangerous drugs, and those who distribute them, off the streets."

Williams returned to court last Friday, April 18 and, at that time, U.S. District Court Judge Leonie Brinkema sentenced him to 30 years in prison.

"Today's sentencing of Eugene Williams closes the book on a drug trafficker who was responsible for trafficking heroin that led to the death of three individuals in Fairfax County," said Special Agent-in-Charge Karl C. Colder of the Drug Enforcement Administration, Washington Division. "Heroin is a drug that destroys lives and, tragically, sometimes takes them. This case clearly demonstrates DEA's commitment, by working with our law-enforcement partners, to stop drug traffickers who profit from the harm – in this case deadly harm – they present to our community."

Col. Ed Roessler Jr., Fairfax County Chief of Police, also weighed in on Williams's punishment.

"Fairfax County is safer today thanks to the robust partnerships between local, state and federal law enforcement," he said. "Today's sentencing is proof positive these partnerships work against drug traffickers and others who set up criminal enterprises in our region."

ment Conservation and Recreation's Natural Heritage division and the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries to ensure no endangered species are affected. "There is a chance that we would be killing other species of caterpillars while we are spraying, but there is nothing out there that is available that is just specific for cankerworms," Shaw said.

But Kennedy says the program's targeting of one pest will cause collateral damage. Larvae of Virginia's state insect, the Tiger Swallowtail Butterfly, and Monarch butterflies could be affected.

Kennedy points to the fact that the cankerworm does not bite or sting, and poses no threat to humans, pets or livestock.

"The fall cankerworm is not a pest of enough significance to warrant such a wide scale offensive," Kennedy said.

Shaw, however, says that the caterpillar is a nuisance for many homeowners.

"There's a lot of truth to be told that the caterpillars cause nuisance issues. It drives people crazy," he said. Although the Urban Forest Management Division has said that the cankerworms can cause tree mortality through defoliation, Kennedy says they do not have evidence of this occurring in Fairfax County.

In the late winter, the county put up 450 barrier bands around trees that traps the cankerworms and allows for them to be counted.

"That's how we came up with the areas we proposed for treatment," Shaw said.

year in Fairfax County, Kennedy thinks it is unlikely a cankerworm outbreak is occurring.

"Fall cankerworm population already suffered to natural forces," she said. "Cool wet spring weather, which we have experienced plenty of this year, has an adverse effect on its numbers."

Shaw, however, says that there isn't really scientific evidence that the cold winter alone has caused a decrease in cankerworms.

The Audubon Society of Northern Virginia, Friends of Dyke Marsh, Friends of Mason Neck, Northern Virginia Bird Club and Friends of Huntley Meadows have also voiced their opposition to the spraying.

After hearing Kennedy's testimony, Sully District Supervisor Michael Frey asked whether it was too late to stop the program from occurring this year.

Although the supervisors asked for Kennedy's testimony to be referred to the Urban Forest Management Division, spraying is still set to occur the week of April 29. If there is rain or colder weather, Shaw said, spraying may be delayed since it is leaf dependent. The spraying of Bt, which has no impacts on humans or other mammals and will only last for a maximum of two weeks, will prevent homeowners from using other insecticides that kill all insets and could last all summer, Shaw said.

"If we don't do what we're doing, there's going to be an increase in homeowners' use of pesticides that will have the direct opposite effect of what we're trying to prevent," Shaw said. Anyone who has questions or concerns related to the fall cankerworm spraying can call the Fairfax County Forest Pest Management Branch at 703-324-5304.

OPINION

Past Time for Later Start Times

It's possible that, finally, high school will begin the day a time healthier for teens.

Teenagers are sleep deprived, and sleep deprivation takes a significant toll on safety, health and learning. We've known this for decades.

But for decades, literally, Fairfax County Public Schools (and Montgomery County, Md.) have let a combination of reactionary blabber ("buck up and get moving;" "just tell them to go to bed earlier") and organizational resistance prevent implementing a solution to this very real problem.

Getting up at 5:30 or 6 a.m. to hop on a school bus at 5:45 a.m. or even as late at 6:30 a.m. to get to school by 7:20 a.m. is not healthy for teenagers. It is nearly impossible for teenagers to go to sleep before 11 p.m. or midnight.

Fairfax County high school students average six hours of sleep a night on weeknights. Research shows they need nine hours of sleep.

Research has also quantified the costs of sleep deprivation.

That level of sleep deprivation contributes to depression and suicidal thoughts.

Driving-while-teen is challenging by itself; driving with sleep deprivation is like driving under the influence, and contributes to car accidents both minor and major.

Sleep deprivation is also associated with lack of impulse control, another aspect of teenage life that needs no augmentation.

It's hard to learn when sleep deprived, and harder still to get excited about what one is learning.

Children's National Medical Center was contracted more than a year ago by Fairfax County Public Schools to develop proposals for starting high schools after 8 a.m. Specific proposals will be presented shortly, and those specific proposals are sure to bring out specific objections.

Yes, changing start times will cost money. Yes, changing start times will require changing a lot of other things that many will find inconvenient. It's going to require significant will on the part of supporters of teen health, supporters of later high school start times to push this proposal across the finish line. Kudos to SLEEP in Fairfax advocates who have been pushing for so long.

How much would you spend, how much would you be willing to be inconvenienced, to prevent a single suicide? To prevent a single serious car crash? These are genuinely the things that are at stake.

COMMENTARY

The Richmond Hostage Crisis

BY PAT HERRITY
SPRINGFIELD DISTRICT SUPERVISOR

The ongoing Medicaid expansion political chokehold that has seized control of Richmond is both frustrating and frightening. As the birthplace of our nation, we Virginians hold our elected officials to a higher standard. We expect our leaders to guide the Commonwealth forward on a path of common sense governance and prudent fiscal responsibility. We expect our leaders to be able to hold a conversation on the pressing matters of the day without it devolving into name-calling and Washington-style politics. And we expect our leaders to know the difference between a principled fight and politics as usual. Unfortunately, the very real issue of whether or not to commit the Commonwealth to significant future financial constraints has shown that many of our leaders are unable to live up to our expectations.

As a member of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, I was the lone vote against our board's endorsement of Medicaid expansion in Virginia. I made that vote after I attempted to amend our endorsement to call for the passage of a clean budget bill; that Fairfax County and our public schools; a fact affirmed by our staff. I cannot begin to imagine the disastrous impacts to our Commonwealth's smaller jurisdictions should aid from Richmond be delayed. Everything would be affected from public safety to schools to the human services safety net provided by the Commonwealth and its localities.

Every spring, local governments around the Commonwealth advertise, debate, and adopt a budget. However, not a single local government in Virginia would be as reckless as Richmond and set out on a course of government shutdown because of an ideological difference of opinion. As elected officials we know how to move from the rough and tumble of political campaigning to leading and engaging in solutions for our constituent's best interests. Contrary to Governor McAuliffe's recent campaign promise to not play failed 2-7 with one abstention. In my comments, I pointed out that this Medicaid fight could directly jeopardize $500 million in state aid to politics with the budget, he and his fellow Senate Democrats have repeatedly threatened that they will shut down the not only the state government, but also many local governments who rely on significant funding from Richmond, if not given their way on Medicaid expansion. This is the sad state in which we find ourselves when just a few short months ago Governor McAuliffe used his inaugural address to call for Virginians to find "common ground" to solve our most pressing problem.

The Medicaid expansion issue has been thrust upon Virginians in an effort to sharply divide our leaders in Richmond. Clearly there are opinions on both sides but the sad reality is that the people of Virginia are pawns in this political game of brinkmanship. Governor McAuliffe should use his position as Virginia's chief executive officer to walk us back from this disaster, to settle the future for the coming year in our counties, cities and towns and take the Washington-style politics out of Virginia. Then we can find common ground.

Emergency Response Classes Begin in Springfield

This Saturday, April 26, Fire and Rescue Department is beginning a basic Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) class at the LDS Church in Springfield. There is still plenty of room if you'd like to attend. The class will meet on four Saturdays and run each day from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.; tentative class dates are April 26, May 3, May 10 and May 24.

Fire and Rescue also has added a new CERT Class at the Fire and Rescue Academy beginning Monday, May 5. This class will meet on every Monday from 7-10:30 p.m. (except for May 26) and will finish on June 23. To sign up for either class, you first must register as a volunteer at www.fairfaxcert.com to receive registration information on the classes.

If you have trouble registering, or have any questions, email fire.cert@fairfaxcounty.gov.

CERT helps train people to be better prepared to respond to emergency situations in their communities. When emergencies happen, CERT members can give critical support to first responders, provide immediate assistance to victims and organize spontaneous volunteers at a disaster site. CERT members also can help with non-emergency projects that help improve the preparedness and safety of the community.

For more information on CERT, visit www.fairfaxcounty.gov/fr.

AREA ROUNDUPS

Increased Tax Rate Approved In County Budget Markup

The FY 2015 budget markup passed 6-3 at the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors public hearing Tuesday.

Those who opposed it were Providence Supervisor Linda Q. Smyth, Springfield Supervisor Patrick Herrity and Braddock Supervisor John Cook.

The markup includes an increase in the tax rate. "The package increases the tax rate from $1.085 to $1.090, a relatively modest half-cent," said board chairman Sharon Bulova. "It represents a $25 annual increase in the average residential taxpayer's bill. This would be on top of a $332 average increase resulting from rising assessment bills."

The markup also proposed increasing the amount of money going into the School Transfer: $17 million. This is a 3 percent increase than the current year's transfer fund.

The budget will be adopted after a public comment period at the next FCBS meeting on Tuesday, April 29.

Entrants Sought for Anti-Alcohol Awards

A Vienna-based, alcohol-education group wants to honor local, high school groups for their efforts in fighting underage drinking.

To recognize high-school students for "doing the right thing," the nonprofit Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP) will present its 2014 GEICO Student Awards at a May 16 ceremony in Washington, D.C., and is accepting applications for the honors through Monday, April 28, at <http://www.wrap.org/files/youthOutreach.htm>. Entry is free.

The GEICO Student Awards, now in their 22nd year, are presented each year to high-school student groups promoting alcohol and drug-free lifestyles to their peers. The awards, including cash prizes up to $ 1,000, are judged by a panel of area substance-abuse prevention professionals including representatives from local traffic safety organizations and prevention coalitions.

Student groups are judged on their leadership, effectiveness, innovation and involvement of both the student body and community in their efforts to prevent underage drinking.

The winners will receive plaques and monetary awards.

Founded in 1982, WRAP is an award-winning, public private partnership working to prevent drunk driving and underage drinking in the Washington Metropolitan area. For more information, go to www.wrap.org.

Availability of Environmental Assessment (EA) and Draft Finding of No Significant Impact (FNSI) for Construction of Skills Training Facility U.S. Army Garrison Fort Belvoir, Virginia

The Army has prepared an EA that considers the proposed construction of a Skills Training Facility at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. This facility will enable consolidation of existing training activities at Fort Belvoir into a new 96,000 square foot building on a 10-acre parcel at the Davison Army Airfield area of the garrison. The proposed development activity includes surface parking for up to 180 vehicles and internal site improvements required to support 190 personnel at the facility. The EA considered the effects of the project on land use, plans, coastal zone management, natural resources, socio-economic factors, traffic and transportation, air quality, and utility systems and concluded that the project is not expected to result in significant adverse environmental impacts.

Therefore, in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act, preparation of an environmental impact statement is not required. The EA and FNSI may be viewed online at:

The Honey Bunch

Sweet Virginia partners with GMU to educate students about bees.

BY REENA SINGH
 THE CONNECTION

Educational outreach is sweet nectar for Sweet Virginia.

Executive Director Dan Price is using college students to promote honeybee sustainability to college students in the changing world.

"I thought someone needed to get the population of bees in Washington, D.C. back to what it used to be," said Price. "I made that my mission."

Price has put bees in the forefront of minds in D.C. by installing two hives on top of the National Geographic Museum.

His partnership with George Mason University is official in its first year. Unofficially, says New Century College professor German Perilla, Sweet Virginia has been working with the college for two years.

GMU currently has about 25 beehives provided by Sweet Virginia to research artificial and natural bee insemination and honeybee mortality.

"The reason we are studying them is because they are very special animals," said Perilla.

Price said they are special for many reasons. However, a big reason they are important is because they help control the prices for a lot of the food people eat on a regular basis. He said $15 billion of food production depends on bees.

"Without bees, food will be less expensive and plentiful," he said. "Unless the world is going to figure out the honeybee problem, the world's not going to fall apart, but those foods are going to be more of a luxury item."

He has noticed it is harder every year to keep his bees alive through the winter. Colony collapse is not a big problem in the state. The bigger problems are non-native pests and lack of nearby food sources.

"There were years that we lost half of them," he said about the bees. "This year was a pretty good year. I think we did a pretty good job preparing in the fall."

Bees can travel several miles to find a flower, but they prefer to stay closer to the hive. Price said his honey used to be better when he started Sweet Virginia in 2008 because of the acres of forests and wildflowers prevalent near the foundation's headquarters in Nokesville near Reston. However, the construction taking place off I-66 and a housing development near his property has destroyed that natural land.

"Seven years ago, that was the country," he said. "It's harder for them to make honey."

Local fields were torn up to make artificial turf fields - which the bees cannot use.

However, he feels that bees should be a part of the urban and suburban environment. In D.C., honeybees feast on the cherry blossoms and flowers that bloom alongside roads and in flower boxes.

In anticipation of Earth Day on April 22, he said homeowners can help bees by growing plants they are attracted to, like wildflower patches, anything in the mint family and herbs.

"There's all kinds of lessons you can get from bees," said Price. "This world isn't just random chaos. There's an order and beauty to it."

Alone on the Road

Study raises concerns about amount of time Northern Virginia drivers spend in single-occupancy vehicles.

By MICHAEL LEE POPE
THE CONNECTION

Despite the decades-long war against the single-occupancy vehicle, seven out of 10 workers in Northern Virginia drive to work alone every workday. And half of those drivers are alone in their cars for more than 30 minutes each day. These are some of the conclusions of the County Health Rankings, a collaboration between the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute.

"It should be unacceptable to everybody," said Kitty Jerome, action center director at County Health Rankings. "This should be seen as too high a figure when we look at the rate of obesity in America, when we look at the air pollution in America, when we look at the lack of physical activity and we look at the outcome of social isolation and stress."

The good news for Northern Virginia is that most jurisdictions are below the state and national average for the use of single-occupancy vehicles, which is 76 percent nationwide and 77 percent in Virginia. The average in Northern Virginia is 69 percent. The bad news is that the drivers who are alone in their cars are in for a long commute. Of those who commute alone to work, 33 percent of Americans spend more than 30 minutes alone in their car, and 38 percent of Virginia single-occupancy vehicle operators have a commute that's longer than a half hour. The average for Northern Virginia is 47 percent.

"I've seen this phenomenon in some of my nationwide research on private-vehicle commuting where commuter rail absorbs some commuters and those who live beyond the reach of the Metro, in the case of D.C., have no other choice than to drive to work," said Ed Zolnik, assistant professor in the School of Public Policy at George Mason University. "This makes driving commutes longer on average the further away you get from the reach of the Metro."

Percent of the workforce that drives alone to work.

BECAUSE NORTHERN VIRGINIA has access to the Metro, rates of drivers who are alone in their cars during the daily commute are lower than other parts of Virginia or the country. Arlington County leads the region, with 53 percent of workers using a single-occupancy vehicle each day. Only Lexington County has a lower rate, which is 51 percent. Arlington's relative success in reducing single-occupancy vehicles is a function of decades of land-use decisions, although the county still has one out of every two workers driving alone to work each day.

"Alexandria and Fairfax County are struggling to catch up from the far-sighted efforts undertaken by Arlington," said Frank Shafroth, director of the Center for State and Local Leadership at George Mason University. "These efforts will matter more as the federal commitment to transportation infrastructure continues to remain bankrupt." Perhaps more vexing to people who live in the region is the length of the daily commute for people who are alone in their cars, which is far greater in Northern Virginia than the rest of the commonwealth or nation. According to the Bureau of the Census, the longest average commute times are all in Northern Virginia: Stafford County, Fauquier County and Prince William County all have average commutes near 40 minutes.

"We know that if you're driving alone for very long periods of time, that's costing you in the opportunity to be with other people," said Julie Willems Van Dijk, deputy director of the County Health Roadmaps program at the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute. "And we know that having good social support and good interaction with other folks is also very helpful to supporting good health."

THE DEBATE about single-occupancy vehicle use is slowly moving from a conversation about social behavior to a discussion about economic incentives. When the 95 Express Lanes open in Northern Virginia in early 2015, every vehicle using the HOV lanes will need an E-ZPass or E-Z pass Flex to use them lawfully. Drivers riding alone won't always be able to use Interstate 95's High Occupancy Vehicle lanes during off-peak hours the way they can now, a significant shift from the way the system works now.

"In Northern Virginia and in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area, we suffer from the worst congestion in the area," said John Townsend, manager of public and government affairs at AAA Mid-Atlantic's Washington office. "People are so exasperated and so fed up with congestion that they are willing to pay their way out of it."

The 95 Express Lanes begin in Stafford County and include a portion of I-395 between the Capital Beltway and Edsall Road in Fairfax County. Drivers who choose to use the HOV lanes between Edsall Road and D.C. will be subject to current HOV rules for peak hours. Experts say the shift is not only about using transportation policy to influence social behavior. It's also about raising money to build infrastructure, a trend that has grown in recent years as drivers are asking to pay for a premium services, sometimes known as "Lexus lanes" because of the cost associated with using them.

"There's a lot of capital expenditure that's going on that's being paid for by private investors, either lenders or equity investors," said Jonathan Gifford, director of the Center for Transportation Public-Private Partnership Policy at George Mason University. "These folks are interested in having their loans paid back or generating earnings on their investment, so why would you operate a road for free and say, 'Yeah, come and use our facility for free?' If you have the right to charge for it, you're going to charge for it."

Region Sees Lowest Number Of TB Cases in Decades

Outreach efforts get people in for tuberculosis treatment before it spreads.

BY SYDNEY KASHIWAGI
THE CONNECTION

When Dr. Barbara Andrino came to the Fairfax County Health Department in 2011, there were 137 cases of tuberculosis in Northern Virginia.

Back then, the state of Virginia had more than 200 TB cases. But in 2013 Andrino saw the lowest number of TB cases both during her time at the county health department and over the past several years across the state and in Northern Virginia.

“Our goal is to try to reach people before they become ill,” said Andrino, who works at the Fairfax clinic as a full-time TB primary care physician.

Since 2007 the number of TB cases across the state has decreased by over 42 percent, and in Northern Virginia by over 45 percent.

According to statistics from the World Health Organization, TB is second behind HIV/AIDS in deaths from an infectious agent worldwide. And although it is a curable disease, TB still kills three people every minute.

Compared to other jurisdictions in Virginia, Fairfax County has the highest number of people infected by TB, followed by Prince William, Arlington, Alexandria, and Loudoun.

TB EXPERTS like Andrino attribute high numbers of the infection in Northern Virginia, especially in Fairfax County, to the high number of foreign-born residents in the region.

“The majority of our patients were born in other countries or born in countries that have a high prevalence of tuberculosis,” said Andrino.

According to a recent report from the University of Virginia, one in nine Virginians was foreign-born. And 70 percent of Virginia’s foreign-born population lives in the Northern Virginia Metropolitan Area. The Virginia Department of Health’s 2012 Annual Tuberculosis Surveillance Report revealed that over 70 percent of the state’s TB cases came from foreign-born Virginia residents.

Fairfax County Health Department’s primary care TB physician Dr. Barbara Andrino examines a patient’s X-ray who is latent for tuberculosis.

Andrino says that since TB is considered a taboo disease in many countries around the world, most people don’t realize that TB is curable and is only infectious when airborne.

TB SPREADS between people when the infection is in the air. Someone will only catch the infection if they inhale when those around them with TB in their lungs coughs, spits or sneezes.

The World Health Organization estimates that one-third of the over 9 million TB cases around the world have what is called latent TB, which is when the infection is not yet harming the person or contagious.

People can live with latent TB for years without knowing. Only once the person gets sick does the infection become active, and symptoms like the cough, fever, weight loss and night sweats over the course of months make it highly contagious.

“People don’t think about TB as something they might have and they don’t think to seek medical treatment,” said Jane Moore the Virginia Department of Health’s director of TB Control and Prevention. “They just think they have the flu or bronchitis.”

Although most of the TB cases in Virginia and around the world are latent and inactive, many wait until it’s too late because they are unaware that what appear to be common symptoms of the flu are actually deadly.

“People who have TB don’t think that they have it and don’t seek treatment,” said Moore. “Once they get there, people don’t think about TB as a condition and that way are not treated appropriately and they remain infectious and spread it longer.”

BUT BECAUSE TB is still prevalent in Northern Virginia, experts at the state and local level agree that until the misconceptions that surround the disease are gone, the best they can do is educate people, especially those from multiethnic backgrounds in the community.

Data from the Virginia Department of Health showed that the top five countries of origin with the highest rates of TB cases came from India, South Korea, Mexico, Vietnam and the Philippines.

More recently, local health departments have increased their outreach and education efforts to reach out to people in communities at risk across the state.

Jessica Werder, Fairfax County Health Department’s community outreach manager, says that through her direct work in educating communities with high rates of TB in Fairfax, she still sees that many people are afraid to seek care because of barriers in the community.

“People have fear of employer retaliation, fear of family retaliation, fear of being ostracized and isolated if people in their communities find out they’re infected with TB,” said Werder.

LOCAL NORTHERN VIRGINIA clinics offer educational pamphlets in different languages, and have partnered with key community leaders in hopes of raising awareness about TB treatment in com-

Spring Songbirds Arriving Now

Local bird groups and bird walks help beginning birders see colorful birds.

BY DONALD SWEIG

The birds are coming. The annual migration of often brightly colored songbirds from their winter homes in Central and South America, Mexico, the Caribbean Islands, and the southern United States is underway now. Millions and millions of avian migrants fly northward every night and the come down to rest or nest every morning. Some of the birds are enroute to nesting areas far to the north; some nest right here or nearby. Avian enthusiasts (birders/bird watchers) and general nature buffs have eagerly awaited the birds' arrival and are now out in force hoping to see some of their feathered friends.

The spring breeding birds (50 or more species) are often boldly patterned and brightly colored. They exhibit in various patterns of black, white, yellow, red, blue, orange and myriad shades of brown and grey.

And they sing. Each species has a distinct song and call. Spring songbirds can be seen in many places in the area, from a tree in any yard, to "migrant traps," natural areas that attract migrating birds and regular nesting sites.

The Baltimore Oriole, the state bird of Maryland, was named by the original settlers of Maryland in the 17th century, when they saw the orange and black bird, the same colors as the coat-of-arms of Cecil Calvert, 2nd Lord Baltimore, the founder of Maryland. They declared that the oriole was "Lord Baltimore's bird." Baltimore Orioles are easily found in late April and early May as they breed in Maryland and Virginia. Look for them along the C&O Canal, in the Great Falls Parks on both sides of the Potomac.

It's a great opportunity to see the Spring wildflowers as well.

Any morning, especially with south or southwest winds, from mid-April until late May is likely to bring a new wave of birds.

The local nesters are especially vocal when the first arrive and are setting up breeding territories. Look for them on the top of trees, often singing loudly.

Go at sunrise, or shortly thereafter when the new migrants have just arrived; late afternoon (4 to 6 p.m.) is also often productive, though not as good as early morning. If you have binoculars, take them. Listen carefully and look toward any bird sound you hear.

Local bird clubs have lots of bird walks in the Spring and are usually delighted to have new folks

Indigo buntings are common breeders in both Maryland and Virginia. Look for the bright-blue males on tree tops, like cedars or snags, and utility wires throughout the area.

Disarming Musical

'The Fantasticks' comes to the Workhouse.

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

With over 20,000 performances in New York City since it opened in 1960 and countless numbers of regional, community and school-based productions, the melodic and oh, so mellow musical, "The Fantasticks" is coming to the Workhouse.

The production is by Northern Virginia's Pandemonium Theatrical Productions. Pandemonium has made the Workhouse its theatrical home for the past year. It is under the artistic direction of Mary Omohundro (Springfield) and Jeff Davis.

"The Fantasticks" is a funny, romantic musical about two neighboring families separated by a wall; a boy, a girl, two fathers. The narrator, El Gallo, asks the audience to use their imagination and follow him into a world of moonlight and magic. The boy and the girl fall in love, become disillusioned, grow apart, but find their way back to love's renewal after realizing that "without a hurt, the heart is hollow."

"The Fantasticks" is surrounded by a timeless score. Many will easily remember the songs since they grew up humming "Try to Remember" and later singing "Plant a Radish" to their children and grandchildren.

"We love the simplicity of the story," said Omohundro. "Falling in love, having life lead you in different adventurous directions, only to find that your true love was with you all along is a universal and always a current theme that everyone can identify with. This theme along with the beautiful music makes for a memorable evening of theatre for all ages," said Davis.

Both Jonathan Litalien and Mary Anne Furey described their roles as "dreamer roles." Litalien plays Matt, a lovesick 19- year-old boy, undone by his first love, Luisa. "As much as he thinks he is not, he is still an impressionable young man wanting to find out what the world has in store."

Furey plays Luisa. "She's a little crazy, wants to be special, and wants to have adventure. Everything about her is over the top and dramatic. She wants to experience all of life before she is too old."

John Hollinger is Louisa's father. He has a long relationship with "The Fantasticks." He performed the role of Matt as a student in the mid 1970s. Hollinger is now a father with his own daughter. He called "The Fantasticks" a "treat...there is a beautiful simplicity about it."

Kathleen McCormack, "The Mute," invited audiences to the show describing the music as "incredibly beautiful and witty and makes you want to fall in love."

munities where English is a second language. Now, they hope to give people the information they need to know about TB so that the community understands that it's curable, preventable and isn't something that people should be shameful of getting treated.

"The health department and the county at large are very aware at the fact that, with a diverse population comes the need to figure out how to engage residents who do come from diverse backgrounds," said Werder.

Although both state and local health department

TB representatives agree that the number of TB cases can be unpredictable each year, they hope that their efforts will continue to keep numbers as low as this year.

"We need to work with them [people in the community] saying 'no anyone can get it ... there's no reason to be ashamed,' said Glen Barbour of the Public Safety Information Office at the Fairfax County Health Department.

"Our bottom line message is: You have to know the symptoms so that if you experience them you know to go see a doctor."

South County Boys' Lax Beats State Champion Chantilly

Stallions have sights set on competing for state title.

BY JON ROETMAN
THE CONNECTION

The South County boys' lacrosse team still has plenty of work to do in order to fulfill its hopes of winning a state championship. On Tuesday evening, however, the Stallions proved they deserve to be mentioned as a title contender.

South County jumped out to a 4-0 lead and never trailed during an 8-6 victory over defending state champion Chantilly on April 22 at South County High School. Both teams entered the contest undefeated, but it was the Stallions who took control early.

"It means a lot, but you can't let it get to your head," senior midfielder David Symmes said. "... It's just a statement win. It shows we're contenders."

Junior midfielder Kevin Quigley scored with 2:40 remaining in the third quarter, giving South County an 8-4 lead. Chantilly answered with a goal by sophomore attackman Colin Zimmerman late in the third and another by senior midfielder/attackman Conor Kelly with 5:49 remaining in the fourth, but the Chargers got no closer.

SOUTH COUNTY handed Chantilly its first loss since the Chargers fell to Madison in last season's AAA Northern Region championship game on May 24, 2013.

"I think it just puts us in the conversation right now as one of the best teams in the region," said first-year South County head coach Dale Nalls, who spent last year away from coaching after leading the Mount Vernon boys' program from 1994-2012. "That's where we want to be; we want to be in the conversation as a team that's going to be a tough out, hopefully, when we get to the playoffs."

Players on both teams struggled with footing after first-half rain-fall left the grass playing surface slick. South County managed to build an early lead, however, starting with Symmes' first goal less than 2 minutes into the contest. Sophomore midfielder Nate Cho and junior attackman Austin

South County senior attackman David Krein shoots against the Chantilly defense during the teams' April 22 contest at South County High School.

Fitzmaurice also scored in the first quarter, giving the Stallions a 3-0 advantage.

Quigley scored in the opening minute of the second quarter, extending the Stallions' lead to 4-0.

"With our physical abilities, we use it to our advantage," Symmes said. "I think we have a faster tempo than any team out there, in my opinion. We really beat people into the ground. We're relentless."

Chantilly junior midfielder Colin Meehan got the Chargers on the board with a goal at the 9:08 mark of the second quarter and senior attackman Jonathan Popham added a goal with 6:33 remaining in the first half, cutting the South County lead in half. Fitzmaurice responded with his second goal in the final minute of the second quarter, giving South County a 5-2 halftime lead.

SYMMES' SECOND GOAL gave South County a 6-2 advantage with 8:21 remaining in the third.

Symmes, who will play college lacrosse at West Point, broke the shaft of his stick while contacting a Chantilly player in the second quarter. Symmes used the shaft of a teammates' stick to fix his own and returned to the field to score his second goal.

"He's vital to our offensive success," Nalls said. "He draws shutoffs — they were shutting him off for a lot of the game. Other teams have to game plan for him so that sometimes throws their own players out of sync a little bit."

When that happens, then other players on our offense benefit and reap the rewards. ... It wasn't just David, but David creates mismatches for other guys and that opens things up for Nate Cho and Kevin Quigley and Austin Fitzmaurice and David Krein and

Tyler Alexander."

Goals by Chantilly's Zach Gilbert and Nick Jung cut the South County lead to 6-4 in the third, but the Stallions extended the lead back to four with goals by Krein and Quigley.

With the win, South County improved to 9-0. The Stallions hosted Osbourn Park on Wednesday, after The Connection's deadline, and will host Lake Braddock at 7:15 p.m. on Friday, April 25.

South County won the Patriot District championship last season. This year, Symmes said the Stallions have their sights set on greater accomplishments.

"Really, the district is sort of looking at the small picture to us," he said. "We're looking for something bigger — state championship. If you're going to go to the state championship, you have to compete with teams like Chantilly."

Chantilly dropped to 9-1. The Chargers faced Yorktown on Wednesday, after The Connection's deadline, and will travel to face Woodson at 7:15 p.m. on Friday, April 25.

Real estate agent Joan Caton Cromwell says she lost a home bidding war last week in Falls Church even though her client was a strong contestant.

"We were one of five contracts and we even waived the appraisal," said Cromwell of McEneaney Associates. "Any house that is close-in [to Washington, D.C.] and that is in nice condition, is going to attract a lot of attention."

Real estate agents say spring is one of the busiest times of the year for home sales and there is dearth of available homes in popular neighborhoods. "The lack of inventory in sought-after communities like Arlington and McLean has already ushered in the return of bidding wars for move-in ready properties," said John Eric, Vice President TTR Sotheby's International Realty in Arlington. "I expect all sectors of the market to see price gains and demand to remain high."

HOME PRICES are on the rise. "If you put a home on the market and it gets multiple offers, the eight other people who didn't get the house will bid on another house," said Cromwell. "In a market where there are multiple offers it definitely drives the prices up and it drives them up quickly."

"We see a new trend in all price ranges where buyers want to buy where they can walk to amenities, restaurants and shops. Buyers are satisfied with smaller houses that are conveniently located."

Washington Fine Properties

Anthony B. Sanders, Ph.D., Distinguished Professor of Real Estate Finance at George Mason University said, "Very simply, this is still an area that is growing, so housing home sales will continue to rise, but more slowly than during the real estate bubble."

Still, agents are optimistic as they enter the spring buying season. "The state of the real estate market is great," said Marsha Schuman of the Washington Fine Properties' Schuman Team. "The weather is behind us and there is a momentum going into the spring market that feels very positive."

The spring market in the Washington, D.C., area is aligned with academic calendars. "It starts in April and May in the suburbs," says Cromwell. "Those in the military or who work for the World Bank for example, put their homes on the market in spring to prepare to relocate during the summer."

Proximity to public transportation increases desirability. "For example, Reston

Tips from the pros on boosting a home's curb appeal.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

When Realtors Marsha Schuman and Betsy Schuman Dodek drive up to a home to show it to a prospective buyer, they know that they have only one chance to make a good first impression. Potomac-based Dodek and Schuman of the Schuman Team of Washington Fine Properties say a home's curb appeal matters.

"When we think of curb appeal we think of the lawn and landscaping, front door, windows, roof and how it all looks," said Dodek. "Buyers want to buy from someone who has taken really good care of their home and that translates in to curb appeal."

Realtors say this Oakton home exemplifies ideal curb appeal, a critical factor when selling a home.

Schuman added, "If things are not nice on the outside, then [potential buyers] wonder what the house will be like on the inside."

REAL ESTATE AGENTS SAY buyers want to purchase a well-cared for home, and the exterior aesthetic of a home creates that impression. Whether you're planning to put your house on the market or would just like a clean and fresh exterior to welcome you home each day, local real estate experts offer advice on enhancing a home's exterior.

McLean-based realtor Chris Pritchard of McEneaney Associates suggests starting by critiquing your own home. "Stand in front of your house and take a look," she said. "Walk up the driveway, ask yourself what you would want to see if you were shopping for a house."

The yard should be pristine and vibrant. "Trimming, mulching and planting some colorful plants are key," said Pritchard.

"Add color with flowers, pots with plants, choosing things like geraniums and pansies," said Dodek. "Adding color just makes such a difference. It makes the yard pop."

Consider safety. "Is the yard hazard-free?" asks Dodek. "It needs to be freshly mowed and mulched with dark mulch because that makes the greenery pop. Make sure your bushes are trimmed and proportionate. Look at trees to make sure they aren't blocking the size of the house."

"One of the next areas we look at are patios, walkways and fences," continued Dodek. "Do they need repairs? Is there loose mortar?"

McLean Realtor Ann McClure of McEneaney Associates says that a home's exterior should be well-lit. "You need good looking and functional lighting which should be on in the evening."

Examine the entrance. "Take a look at the front door," said Dodek. "Does it need painting? We had a recent listing and we painted the door red and added new hardware and a kick plate and that made it stand out. That is something that is very cost effective to do."

A clean appearance is critical. "There should be no algae stains on the roof," said McClure. "The homeowner should make sure that if they have siding that it doesn't

Local Designers Help Unveil Design House

Area tastemakers dream home, currently on the market for $3.85 million.

By MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

Local designers showed off their master work when the 2014 DC Design House was unveiled recently. From Arlington to Burke, and Alexandria to Potomac, Md., the area's top designers competed for an opportunity to donate their talent to transform a local, grand home into a showcase home.

The home, which is on the market for $3.85 million, is now open to the public for tours. It features six-bedrooms, five full-and two half-baths. Built in 1929, the home features a three-car garage and a pool. The stone house offers three levels and nearly 8,000 square feet of living space, which local designers transformed.

THE HOME'S FRONT FAÇADE was designed by David Benton and Jim Rill of Potomac's Rill Architects. Inspired by the stately stone home, the duo decided to add a bit of detail and interest in the form of "style appropriate light fixtures, shutters, furniture and accent colors." When choosing a paint color for the front door, they wanted a hue that was traditional, but unexpected. Their choice: a "high-gloss verdigris green-blue [that] immediately catches your eye from the street. They replaced the existing solid wood single door with a glass-paned French door that "pulls outside views and daylight into the entry hall."

Victoria Sanchez of Victoria At Home in Old Town, Alexandria, designed the family breakfast room. "I wanted to create a room with a casual and cozy feel," she said. The room, which has large picture windows that offer uninterrupted views of nature, connects the kitchen with butler's pantry/wine tasting room. Sanchez choose woven rattan furniture to fill the space.

Jeff Akseizer and Jamie Brown of Akseizer Design Group in Alexandria designed the family room, which overlooks the pool and patio. The design duo created a room with French doors that open to the pool area when the weather is mild, but added a linear, modern fireplace to create a warm and cozy space during cooler months. The room is filled with organic textures, tone-on-tone colors and "nods to both a mid-century flair and modernism."

One of the home's guest bathrooms was created by Arlington-based Allie Mann of Case Design/Remodeling Inc. Mann describes the small space as "chic, classic and timeless ... a jewel box bath." The room features Calcutta marble flooring in a herringbone pattern and the acoustic "Moxie" showering system that allows one to listen to music while bathing. Mann includes the home's original iron bathtub.

Susan Donelson and Sharon Bubenhofer, of Cleveland Hall Design in Burke, created a guest bedroom in the home. In an effort to create a light and airy space, the duo selected wall paper in a pink floral pattern.

Now in its seventh year, the annual event is a fundraiser for Children's National Health System, formerly Children's National Medical Center. The D.C. Design House has raised more than $1 million and attracted more than 55,000 visitors over the past six years.

is popular because of the Silver Line,” said Cromwell. “North Arlington and Falls Church are popular. Anything that offers a decent commuting experience for someone who can’t afford what they want in the city will be sought after.”

Schuman said, “We see a new trend in all price ranges where buyers want to buy where they can walk to amenities, restaurants and shops. Buyers are satisfied with smaller houses that are conveniently located. They want an easier life. Convenience is the new real estate buzzword. Property becomes compelling when buyers see value.”

Sanders said some communities are especially competitive. “Virginia has two of the wealthiest counties in the country, Loudoun and Fairfax counties, so those communities should see a fairly short turn over.”

NOT EVERYONE IS KEEPING with the trend. “We’re not seeing middle class families buying homes through the mortgage market,” said Sanders, the GMU professor. “Their income was devastated during the housing bubble burst due to foreclosures. Real household income has fallen since 2007. So the American middle class is worse off than it was in 2007. It’s more high-income families with cash or investors who are buying homes.”

Schuman says that homes priced below $1.3 million “are being snapped off the market if they are well conditioned and fairly priced. The ultra-luxury market, homes over $2 million, is a little bit slower paced at present, but there are signs that these buyers are out there and wanting to buy.”

Cromwell agrees, “The 600-900K price point is very busy for a house in good condition.”

“The lack of inventory in sought-after communities ... has already ushered in the return of bidding wars for move-in ready properties.”

need power washing.”

“Power wash driveways, walkways and even the house sometimes,” said Pritchard. “The house should be washed before it is painted. Do any kind of painting or touch up painting of siding trim and doors that needs to be done. Sometimes you don’t have to paint at all if you do power washing. All homes get dusty. Sometimes paint fades and needs repainting.”

“Another easy thing is the windows,” said Dodek. “Remove screens and wash the windows. You want your house to sparkle inside and out.”

Pritchard said, “Curb appeal also goes to having a fence in good shape: washed and painted or washed and sealed. The home’s deck should be in good shape. More often than not a deck should be power washed and painted or stained or sealed or whatever the appropriate finish is.”

Minor touches can make a major impact. “Take a look at your mailbox,” said Dodek. “Is it upright? Is it tilted? Does it need to be painted?”

Don’t hide your amenities. “If you have a swimming pool, we get them to remove the cover,” said Dodek. “There’s nothing more beautiful than a beautiful blue swimming pool.”
