After the speeches, after the ribbon-cutting, there was a mad rush to board the first publicly open rail cars that rolled on the Silver Line heading towards Tysons Corner. “Step back. Doors closing.”

Those inside the eight new rail cars cheered. Those outside were visibly - and some vocally - disappointed.

After years of promises, history was being made. Local residents wanted to be a part of it.

THE SILVER LINE grand opening ceremony, attended by energetic local, state and national dignitaries, was held Saturday at the Wiehle-Reston East Station, a station that was only one part of the $2.9 billion project known as Phase I.

“Welcome aboard the Silver Line!” said Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority CEO Richard Sarles. “It’s time to ride.”

WMATA expects 37 percent of current rail riders will experience shorter wait times thanks to the new project.

“The Silver Line is not just a transportation project,” said Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova. “It’s a major transformative initiative.”

She and other officials, including Gov. Terry McAuliffe and U.S. Secretary of Transportation Anthony Foxx, rode the very first rail cars to the W-RE station before the ceremony.

“I just rode the car from Tysons,” said Gov. McAuliffe. “It was smooth, it was right on time, it was perfect and soon, we’ll all be on it.”

Tysons Welcomes Metrorail

BY RYAN DUNN

Five Silver Line Metro stations located in Reston and Tysons Corner opened to the public on Saturday, July 27. According to a report provided by the WMATA, approximately 32,147 people entered or exited at one of the five new Silver Line stations that day. The first phase of the Silver Line is a 1.7-mile extension from East Falls Church in Arlington to Wiehle Avenue in Reston. It includes five Metrorail stations: McLean, Tysons Corner, Greensboro, Spring Hill, and Wiehle-Reston East.

THE PHASE 1 of the Silver Line cost $2.9 billion to construct. The Metro line extension in Virginia is planned to expand an additional 11 miles by 2018, connecting the rail system to Dulles International Airport. Many riders seemed relieved the Silver Line is finally in operation. “I think the Silver Line will be transformative, it is great,” said Reston resident Roz Rakoff who rode the Silver Line out to the Spring Hill metro station in Tysons.

“I think the Silver Line will bring more corporate business to the area,” said Herndon resident and retiree Charles E. Walker. “My nephew bought a parking space at the Reston station garage.” The Reston garage was built as a public-private partnership by Comstock Partners and Fairfax County. The county owns the commuter garage, and Metro will collect parking fees. Rates will be the same as at other Metro garages in the county: $4.85 per day; $65 a month for reserved parking; and $75 a year for using the secure bike room.

Arrival of Silver Line to Tysons set to encourage residential development.

Ultimately the Silver Line will extend to the Dulles International Airport and into Loudoun County. Costs are expected to exceed $2.7 billion. “It is so exciting to finally see this critically-important rail link become a reality,” remarked U.S. Rep. Gerry Connolly (D-11). “You can sense the excitement in Reston and Tysons as residents and creative-thinkers look forward, envisioning bold projects incorporating smart growth and transit-oriented economic and housing development.”

“I think the Silver Line will make transportation issues easier for commuters,” said Alex Horwitz, a resident of Fairfax and middle school teacher. “Although the lack of parking at some of the metro locations is bit unusual.” There are no parking garages at the metro station in Tysons, but there are bike racks and bike lockers. Wiehle-Reston East is the only Silver Line station with a parking garage. “I think the Silver Line will bring a lot of great opportunities,” said Fairfax resident Steven Tricarico, an events coordinator with Comstock Partners.

First Train Arrives to McLean

Grand opening of the new metro line welcomed by residents.

BY EMMA HARRIS
THE CONNECTION

It was 12:23 p.m. Saturday, July 26 when for the first time, a full Silver Line metro train zoomed from Reston, through Tysons Corner and into the new McLean metro station.

The gates of the station opened at 11:30 a.m., letting in about 30 people who had been waiting to enter. At noon, riders were allowed onto the platform. Orange Line trains began heading to both Largo and Wiehle-Reston East almost immediately — a temporary move until the first Silver trains in both directions made their ways to the McLean station. Currently, the Orange and Silver lines split at East Falls Church.

A mix of train enthusiasts, police, reporters and area residents crowded the platform waiting for the first Silver Line train to arrive, though many came for different reasons. Throughout the stations were Metro representatives handing out free silver flags to commemorate the opening day.

“In the long run, this will bring some business and more residents,” said David Won of McLean. “I’m elated,” he said, “because this will change my life a little. I don’t need to go to West Falls Church now that this stop is so close to my house.” Not wanting to miss the first day, Won said he was happy because the metro is another way of connecting people in Northern Virginia to Washington, D.C.

“I’m here today because why not,” said William Varona of McLean. “I’m kind of impressed, too. This is a solid, well-thought out station.”

Emy Dillon of McLean said she likes the convenience of the new metro line, even not for commuting. “The metro line is wonderful, and the view is beautiful from here,” she said. And though the metro will “definitely change” Tysons, Dillon said it is a nice travel option to have available.

Amongst the growing crowd were many parents with their young children, most very excited to see a train arrive.

“This is my train aficionado,” said Lynn Stein, gesturing to her young son wearing a conductor’s hat and clutching a miniature train. “It’s been a five year wait, and he is so excited.”

Metro riders walk on and off of the first Silver Line metro train at the McLean station, Saturday, July 26.

Jeehang Lee and his son Nathaniel stood by the tracks waiting for a train, too. “I’m only here for him,” Lee said as Nathaniel eagerly asked when a train would arrive. “But hopefully the traffic won’t be that bad after this station gets busy,” he added.

Next weekend is expected to bring a “packed” silver line, said Metro Transit Police officer J. Anderson.

“Metro has changed the character of the area,” said Darren Ewing of McLean. “Even if you don’t commute, having it here to go into DC for events is nice,” added Andy Marshall of Great Falls. For Saturday, they both were there for the same reason: “the inaugural ride.”

Other residents doubted that the full impact of the metro on the McLean community would be seen for another few years. “As exciting as it is to have the Silver Line opening, I don’t think we will get the full effect until it connects to Dulles airport in a few years,” said Nancy Eveleigh of McLean. “Then the major transport needs of the metro area will be met by not just those of some commuters and shoppers.”

After the first train from Wiehle-Reston East left for East Falls Church, there was still one more first — at 12:30 p.m., the first Silver Line train headed through Tyson’s to Wiehle-Reston East pulled into the station. “All aboard,” the Metro train operator called as passengers walked into the cars.

shopping malls and the corporate headquarters of numerous companies, Tysons currently has more stores and jobs than residents. Tysons is effectively Fairfax County’s central business district and a commercial center with a population of 19,627 as of the 2010 census. In June 2010, the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors adopted a Comprehensive Plan for a Metro-accessible, urban Tysons with 100,000 residents. The Plan is designed to take advantage of the new Metro stations and by the year 2050 transform Tysons into a walkable urban center.

In April, The Ascent, a 25-story high-rise on 8421 Broad Street welcomed its first tenants. A second building designed by R2L Architects of Georgetown will be constructed by the Spring Hill Metro Station.

This location will add another 400 housing units. The project is one of seven planned towers which will be part of the 7.8 million-square-foot Spring Hill Station development.

Finally, Marriage Rights Protected in Virginia

On July 28, 2014, in affirming that Virginia's ban on same-sex marriage is unconstitutional, Circuit Judge Henry F. Floyd writes:

"We recognize that same-sex marriage makes some people deeply uncomfortable. However, inertia and apprehension are not legitimate bases for denying same-sex couples due process and equal protection of the laws. Civil marriage is one of the cornerstones of our way of life. It allows individuals to celebrate and publicly declare their intentions to form lifelong partnerships, which provide unparalleled intimacy, companionship, emotional support, and security. The choice of whether and whom to marry is an intensely personal decision that alters the course of an individual's life. Denying same-sex couples this choice prohibits them from participating fully in our society, which is precisely the type of segregation that the Fourteenth Amendment cannot countenance."

Judge Arenda Wright Allen, on Valentine's Day, 2014, ruled that Virginia's ban on same-sex marriage is unconstitutional, writing:

"A spirited and controversial debate is underway regarding who may enjoy the right to marry in the United States of America. America has pursued a journey to make and keep our citizens free. This journey has never been easy, and at times has been painful and poignant. The ultimate exercise of our freedom is choice. Our Declaration of Independence recognizes that 'all men' are created equal. Surely this means all of us. While ever-vigilant for the wisdom that can come from the voices of our voting public, our courts have never long tolerated the perpetuation of laws rooted in unlawful prejudice. One of the judiciary's noblest endeavors is to scrutinize laws that emerge from such roots.

EDITORIAL

"Plaintiffs assert that the restriction on their freedom to choose to marry the person they love infringes on the rights to due process and equal protection guaranteed to them under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution. These challenges are well-taken..."

"The Court is compelled to conclude that Virginia's Marriage Laws unconstitutionally deny Virginia's gay and lesbian citizens the fundamental freedom to choose to marry."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Checking the Letters

To the Editor:

I have read both letters to the editor in the July 16, 2014, McLean edition, in which Anne C. Gruner and Macy Anderson, as residents of McLean, enthusiastically endorse Barbara Comstock for Congress.

Five minutes on the Internet revealed that Ms. Gruner is, with Ms. Comstock, a member of the Republican National Lawyers Association, and that Ms. Anderson worked for the Comstock for Delegate organization in the last election and has worked for the Fairfax County Republican Committee. At the very least the Connection could have asked the authors for their political affiliations and, perhaps, whether the Comstock campaign wrote the letters for them.

The race for the congressional seat from Virginia's Tenth District this fall promises to be hotly contested. I hope that, in fairness to its readers, the Connection is more diligent about doing its homework as the campaign continues.

Tom Brock
McLean

P.S. For the record, I am not affiliated with Supervisor Foust's campaign and I am a member of but not actively involved in the Democratic Party. I have had little contact with Supervisor Foust other than working with him in a non-partisan community organization a dozen years ago, before he was elected to the Board of Supervisors, and three or four meetings with him in his capacity as a supervisor.

Choosing Wisely In November

To the Editor:

Franklin Roosevelt stated, "Democracy cannot succeed unless those who express their choice are prepared to do so wisely." I recommend we choose Barbara Comstock instead of John Foust in the November election for our representative to the U. S. House of Representatives from the Virginia 10th District.

Whether you are a Democrat or Republican, the record shows that Barbara Comstock is the more qualified candidate, by virtue of her wide range of experience, as a successful mother and business professional, as a senior staff member for outgoing Congressman Frank Wolf, as a professional in the Justice Department handling public affairs, and currently as our very successful and highly respected delegate to the Virginia House of Delegates.

John Foust has been a fairly effective member of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and has helped citizens of Great Falls with some but not all issues. Somewhat problematic, he has consistently supported higher taxes. He has recently accepted massive campaign funding from National Democrats including Nancy Pelosi, and in exchange has pledged support for Obamacare and other issues. We should much prefer someone beholding only to his conscience and his constituents.

Gerry Connolly, Tim Kaine, and Mark Warner have been consistent followers of the Democratic answer to problems, and have not been leaders in the Congress. Electing John Foust would not make the House more effective.

John Kennedy once said, "Let us not seek the Republican answer or the Democratic answer, but the right answer." Barbara Comstock was clearly the first choice from six Republican primary candidates. Because of her leadership, she will quickly become a leader in the House of Representatives, and work with her peers in both parties to find the right answers to the continuing problems of health care, economy, and defense of our Nation. She is well known at all levels, District, State and National. She has a high degree of respect of military service personnel, and has been endorsed by numerous business organizations.

Barbara Comstock is a highly principled legislative leader. She has sponsored a wide range of important legislation that has become law in Virginia, including improved diagnosis of Lyme disease, congenital defects, improving the business climate important to creating high tech jobs in Northern Virginia and saving tax money during Metro contracting.

She also created a Young Women's leadership Organization to teach motivated young people on solving problems of today, and become leaders for tomorrow. She clearly is sensitive to issues affecting women, including workplace, family, and medical issues.

Her constituent service is exemplary. She is always accessible to hear an issue, and always responsive. She listens carefully as people describe a problem, and then works across party lines, to prepare legislation if needed. Barbara Comstock advocates a conservative approach to limiting Federal Government involvement in our lives. She believes in low taxes, and protection of our Constitutional Bill of Rights.

Therefore, I highly recommend we all support Barbara Comstock to become our Representative to the U. S. House of Representatives. She is a winner and the wise choice in November!

Government In Bedrooms

To the Editor:

For a moment there, when I read that Delegate Barbara Comstock "spearheaded the effort to ... end birth control politics by making birth control pills available over the counter," ["Foust, Comstock Battle Women's Issues," Connection, July 16, 2014] I was impressed. Maybe she really did want to help wives and husbands plan their families. Maybe she realized her vote for the Personhood Amendment, which would give politicians the power to decide which forms of birth control women are allowed to use, was unnecessary government interference in our bedrooms. But no, turns out that the "effort" she "spearheaded" amounted to a letter to Kathleen Sibelius, then Director of the Department of Health and Human Services. She was not working to help Virginia families at all. Instead, we need Supervisor John Foust to represent us in Congress, a public servant who listens to his constituents and fights for their causes.

A Different Picture

To the Editor:

A recent letter to the editor about Delegate Barbara Comstock claims that she's focused on job creation and helping struggling college students. Unfortunately, her voting record paints a very different picture.

For example, last year Comstock

Sixth-graders Leave the Gift for School

On Friday, June 20, the sixth-grade graduation class of Chesterbrook Elementary School in McLean presented an historic plaque and a planted dogwood tree to their school. The students, school and state officials, parents and members of McLean & Great Falls Celebrate Virginia were present for the dedication of the historic marker commemorating the route that President James Madison may have taken from Minor's Hill to Salona in McLean to escape the Aug. 24, 1814 burning of Washington.

voted against the historic bipartisan transportation bill passed by the Virginia General Assembly. The measure keeps local tax dollars in northern Virginia to address traffic congestion and, in the process, creates thousands of good jobs that strengthen our local economy, but Comstock voted "No."

When it comes to Virginia's colleges and universities, Comstock repeatedly voted for cuts in funding for higher education so that Virginia recently ranked 40th among the states in the support provided to our public institutions. As a result of these cuts in state funding, tuition costs for Virginia students and their families have risen higher and higher throughout Comstock's time in the General Assembly.

This is the record that Delegate Comstock brings to her campaign for Congress.

In contrast, Supervisor John

Foust, the Democratic nominee for the 10th District seat, has a long record of pragmatic problem solving, helping Fairfax County chart a responsible path through the Great Recession and beyond by cutting unnecessary spending while protecting our priorities on transportation, such as widening Route 7, and education, like universal all-day kindergarten.

Foust's vision for an efficient, fair, and transparent Congress is best suited for finding the common ground essential for the sort of pragmatic problem solving we need to move beyond the gridlock in Richmond and Washington, D.C. That's the approach we need to actually create jobs and make college more affordable for Virginia families.

Arielle Mewou Receives Regirer Nurse Scholarship

The Commonwealth Long Term Care Foundation announced Arielle Mewou as the recipient of this year's Regirer Nurse Scholarship. Mewou is a certified nursing assistant at Vinson Hall Retirement Community.

The Regirer Nurse Scholarship Program was started to promote and support the education of nurses working in Virginia Health Care Association facilities. The Program's aim "is to inspire, teach, and empower nurse managers seeking to grow as leaders and become catalysts for change." The Commonwealth Long Term Care Foundation awarded 36 recipients $1,500 towards furthering their nursing education.

Mewou's application for the scholarship was a lengthy process. She was interviewed by a member of the foundation's committee before being selected. To qualify for a scholarship Mewou says that, "Besides working with Vinson Hall Retirement Community [a VHCA facility] for more than a year, candidates have to prove, during an interview, their capacity to handle the possible positions after they get their education." Mewou works as a certified nursing assistant at Arleigh Burke Pavilion, the assisted living facility of Vinson Hall Retirement Community. Since 2008, four Vinson Hall nursing assistants have received the Regirer Nursing Scholarship.

arship funds right away. "I have plans to go further in education because I am already in school and my main goal is to be a Medical Surgical Nurse." Mewou is currently enrolled in the nursing program at Northern Virginia Community College. Receiving this award allows nursing assistants working in long-term healthcare to continue their education towards full nursing certifications. "This scholarship gives me more motivation and confidence, and my patients benefit from my skills and from the quality of care that I am learning." Each recipient agrees to continue working in long-term care after graduation.

Another Tysons plaza was unveiled, but not in the usual manner. Confetti cannons, people blowing bubbles, acrobats inside of balloons and many more eye catching celebratory notes were a part of the Tysons Corner Center Plaza opening on July 24.

The plaza connects the metro station to Tysons Corner Center Mall as well as residential areas.

"We're hoping it will be popular and be somewhere people want to hang out," said

Macerich Assistant Vice President Cory Scott. "It's great."

More than 100 people came to the opening ceremony, which unveiled the Cox Discovery Cove play area, a giant chess set and the art piece Early Bird, which are statues of life size birds scattered around the 55,000 square foot plaza. The art was commissioned by George Mason University.

"As a part of the program, we gave them a check for $25,000 today that will go towards an endowment for a scholarship there," said Scott.

Outdoor concerts are planned every Friday night and movies will play on the green frequently, he said. Additionally, Shake Shack will open in the plaza in August. To counter the milkshakes and burgers, fitness programs sponsored by Crunch Fitness will be held there as well.

"There will be all kinds of free activities," said Scott.

Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova said the plaza dedication was an exciting event.

"There was an incredible vibrancy," she said. "It was a beautiful way to kick off the Silver Line and the redevelopment of Tysons."

She liked that the plaza, which is at the same level as the Tysons Corner Metro station, is a level above traffic, which lends an interesting perspective of the urban center. "Once you arrived and were on that plaza, it was a different world," she said. "And that was exciting."

Scott said he hopes more people will get excited about the space like he is.

"People are used to the mall," he said. "Now, all of a sudden, there is a new corridor. Everyone is really excited. It's fun to come out and see that space for the first time."

Visitors can locate the plaza by going through the Tysons Corner Metro station or Lord & Taylor at the mall.

McLean Graduate Sullivan to Pitch for Virginia Tech

Q&A: Former Highlander hurler enjoys Zac Brown Band.

Joeey Sullivan's performance on the mound during the 2014 postseason was one of the primary reasons the McLean baseball team made its first trip to the state tournament in program history.

Sullivan's three-hit shutout against South Lakes in the Conference 6 quarterfinals secured the Highlanders a berth in the region tournament. The McLean right-hander tossed a one-hit shutout against Conference 5 champion Oakton in the opening round of regionals, and limited Madison to one run in the region semifinals, helping the Highlanders punch their ticket to states with a 5-1 victory.

Sullivan was also a standout for the McLean basketball team, earning Conference 6 Co-Defensive Player of the Year honors as a senior. Sullivan will stick to baseball at the next level, however, as the 2014 McLean graduate will pitch for Virginia Tech.

Sullivan, who also played shortstop for the Highlanders, recently participated in a Q&A via email with The Connection.

Connection: What made Virginia Tech the right fit for you?

Sullivan: Virginia Tech was right for me because it is pretty close to home and I will be playing in a great program while getting an awesome education.

Connection: What will your major be? What position will you play?

Sullivan: I will be pitching and majoring in business.

Connection: At what age did you start playing baseball? Have you always been a pitcher/shortstop? When did you realize playing college baseball was a possibility for you?

Sullivan: I started playing tee-ball when I was 5 and it's been my favorite sport since. Growing up, I did always pitch and play middle infield. Ever since middle school, I had wanted to play in college and when I got to high school, it became a reality.

Connection: You played for three different head coaches during your time on the McLean baseball team. What was it like playing for a program with so much change in leadership?

Sullivan: Playing under so many different coaches wasn't easy. Each coach had a pretty unique style that was different than the other. It took a lot of getting used to and figuring out how practices are run and whatnot.

Connection: Did you play a fall sport?

Sullivan: I played freshman football, but I also swim in the summer. Swimming might actually be the sport at which I am most talented. I have a league record as well as many pool records for my swim team. I just never pursued winter swim seriously.

Connection: What is your favorite memory of playing high school baseball? What is your favorite basketball memory?

Sullivan: My favorite baseball memory was probably beating Madison this year in the regional semis. It was a great all-around team win and I had a great game on the bump. Not to mention we knocked out Madison. For basketball, my favorite memory is beating Langley this year at Langley. I had 17 points and we won the game in overtime and our fans stormed the court at the end. I will never forget that game.

Connection: If you could go back and change one thing about your high school athletic career, what would it be?

Sullivan: If I could change anything about my high school athletic career it would be that I wish I started my pitching program with Rob Reilly and Dan Olds earlier. They are great guys and coaches who really helped elevate my game.

Connection: How would you describe the McLean-Langley rivalry?

Sullivan: The McLean-Langley rivalry might be the coolest thing about high school sports. I grew up playing against and with one of my buddies from Langley. I'm really good friends with Jake McSteen, who was Langley's stud [pitcher] this year. We love playing against each other because on the field neither of us wants to lose, but we both have a huge amount of respect for each other. As far as the basketball games go, there is absolutely no other high school sports experience like it. I used to dream about the Langley game over and over again.

Connection: What are you most looking forward to about the transition from high school to college?

Sullivan: I'm excited to have more freedom and to meet new kids. College should be a lot of work but a lot of fun, too.

Connection: Who is your favorite music artist? Why?

Sullivan: My favorite artist is the Zac Brown Band. They have so many good songs that I listen to and so many of them put a smile on my face.

Connection: What location is the farthest you have traveled from the Washington, D.C. metro area?

Sullivan: I have traveled to London and Ireland before. That was awesome.

Connection: Are you a pro sports fan? If so, who are your favorite teams?

Sullivan: I watch SportsCenter all the time. I love the Nats, Skins, Wizards, and Caps. Love D.C. sports.

Metrorail Seen As 'Game Changer'

Several of the speakers following him commented on the governor's energy about the project.

"Virginia, sir," he said. "50 states. It's only the Commonwealth that matters. Nowhere else are they doing what we're doing today in Virginia."

Laughing, he ordered that Phase II of the Silver Line would be completed the day before his term of office is over.

After Phase II is completed, WMATA does not expect there will be another major project until a new strategic plan is drawn up in 2025.

"We are committed to unlocking the region," said Gov. McAuliffe. "That's why we've been so involved with making sure this comes to fruition."

U.S. Rep. Gerry Connolly (D-11) said the road to the Silver Line has not been easy, however.

"There were not many believers," he said. "We were sued. Some of the people who sued us are in this room."

A couple of people in the audience laughed and raised their hands.

"This is going to transform our corridor," he said.

U.S. Secretary of Transportation Anthony Foxx spoke similarly. He likened the road to the Silver Line like building a cathedral during the medieval era. While the builders did not know what the cathedral would look like by the end, they finished their work.

"The work of transportation is really the work of generations," he said. "Today is the day to celebrate the voice of yes being stronger than the voice of no."

SUPERVISOR Catherine Hudgins (D-Hunter Mill) spoke as a WMATA board member and as a longtime resident of Reston.

"When many of us moved to Reston, we were told that rail was coming," she said. "We didn't think it would take 48 years to come." She said that Reston's motto of live, work and play will be taken beyond the town boundaries with the new Metro line.

"These five stations really make a game changer for the county," she said.

But a ribbon cutting and a train ride is just the beginning, said Supervisor John Foust (D-Dranesville). Foust was not a speaker at the event, but also had the opportunity to ride the Metro line on the way to the event.

"This will really affect the quality of life and jobs here," he said. "It will create the opportunity to develop new communities around the metro stops that will become vibrant places to live, to work and to play."

"CanSir"

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

When it comes to being a cancer patient, even more so a multi-year cancer survivor, I have always erred on the side of caution. And by caution, I mean being respectful to the disease, courteous of its comings and goings, mindful of its potential damage and afraid of its intangibles. And by intangibles, I mean the unexplained and the inexplicable, and most fearfully, its power and unpredictability. Therefore, my behavior toward it has been intended to be as polite as possible; never to be perceived – in any way imaginable – as arrogant, presumptuous, in control, all-knowing and most especially, victorious.

My philosophy has been to remain as positive as I could, never buying into the generally unfavorable statistical models, while taking any success I've had as much in stride as humanly possible. Moreover, to the extent these successes have prolonged my life – and of course they have, considering the original "13 month to 2 year" prognosis I was given back in late February, 2009 – I still want to maintain a low profile and never boast or speak loudly, and never confidently, about the amazing good fortune I've experienced since I was diagnosed as "terminal" five years and exactly five-months-to-the-day ago (27th of the month). I've always worried that the reason I've survived is that somebody (some entity) somewhere made a mistake in their accounting and skipped over my name, sort of like a reverse typo. Irrational I suppose; nevertheless, I see no advantage in rocking the boat and/or bringing any attention to the fact that yours truly is still very much alive; flying under the radar is my preferred route.

Granted, I do write about this fact and I do bring attention to it, but not out of any need for self-aggrandizement. I do it because if I didn't, I'd probably be much less able to endure under my circumstances. Apparently, the need to express myself publicly is too overwhelming to deny. And thanks to my Publisher, Mary Kimm, I have had and continue to have the means, motivation and opportunity to do so/share my feelings about life as a cancer patient/survivor; hardly a crime. But never have I written any words because I matter in the discussion; rather because the subject (cancer) matters. And since I've been able to do so in a relatively quiet, honest and positive manner – never intending to be the story, only the storyteller – my life, my pursuit has continued.

Certainly I realize, as an originally-characterized-as-terminal cancer patient, that I'm up against an immovable object, generally speaking; still, statistics do have a margin of error, and human beings do have an immeasurable desire to live. Yet living to one's ripe old age is hardly guaranteed, as I've learned all too well. Accordingly, as you regular readers know, I've made many changes in my life, incorporating a variety of anti-cancer remedies into my daily routine, and so far, so great. What you may not have known, however, is how I've actually lived my life while changing. I have done so by always being grateful for the gift of life I have received and reverential to the powers that be. What I've done, I could not have done alone and elevating myself would seem to be the definition of counter-productive.
