Welcome to Fairfax County

By Sharon Bulova/Chairman Fairfax County Board of Supervisors

elcome to Fairfax County, the best place in the country to live, work and play. Fairfax County is home to a fantastic public school system, top tier business and shopping opportunities, compassionate human services, and some of the best parks and open spaces in the D.C. Metropolitan region. This summer featured the long-awaited opening of the WMATA Silver Line, which connects the Reston and the Tysons areas of the county to the entire Metrorail system.

Last June, I cut the ribbon to open a new segment of our Fairfax County Cross County Trail, named after former Chairman (now congressman) Gerry Connolly. It was his vision, while serving on our board, to build and connect trail sections to make it possible for someone to hike through all nine county magisterial districts. The northern end of the trail begins in Great Falls National Park at the breathtaking Potomac River and travels south to the historic Occoquan River.

The trail passes through stream valleys and meadows, then winds through fascinating Laurel Hill, site of the former Lorton Prison. In addition to parkland and a golf course, these grounds are now home to the Workhouse Arts Center where visitors can watch artists in action and enjoy plays, performances and community events such as Thumbs up for Silver Line: The long-awaited opening of the WMATA Silver Line, which connects the Reston and the Tysons areas of the county to the Metrorail system.

Springfest every April.

Fairfax County has something for everyone. Northern Virginia Community College offers more than 160 degrees at the associate's level and numerous certificate programs. Its partnership with George Mason University provides families and students with a seamless, cost-effective path to a four-year degree.

George Mason University, recently named one of the top five "Up-and-Coming Universities" by U.S. News and World Report, is also recognized as one of America's Best College Buys by Forbes magazine. Under the presidency of Dr. Angel Cabrera, Mason is fast taking its place as a university for the world.

Fairfax County is known for its business-friendly climate. Time Magazine has described us as "the epicenter of the Washington region's job boom" and "one of the great economic success stories of our time." Although home to eight Fortune 500 company headquarters (corporate giants such as Northrop Grumman and Booz Allen Hamilton) about 97 percent of the companies in Fairfax County are small businesses with fewer than 100 employees. We are a great location for startups.

Of course, Fairfax County's greatest asset is a population that is welcoming and engaged. People from all over the globe have made Fairfax County their home, enriching our community with diverse cultures and entrepreneurship. Visit Fairfax County's website at www.fairfaxcounty.gov to learn more about what Fairfax has to offer.

As chairman of the Board of Supervisors, I am elected at-large by all registered voters. My office is here to serve you. If you have any questions or concerns, please email me at chairman@fairfaxcounty.gov or call me at 703-324-2321. I hope you will sign up to receive my monthly Bulova Byline newsletter that will keep you up-to-date on what is happening and how you can participate in all that Fairfax County has to offer you and your family.

Thanks for making Fairfax County your home.

A County of 186,785 Students

By Karen K. Garza Superintendent of Fairfax County Public Schools

elcome to the 2014-15 school year. The start of a new school year is always an exciting time for students, parents, and educators. Our dedicated staff has been working hard to prepare for another school year that builds on our tradition of excellence at Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS). Fairfax is a community that embraces its newest residents and the cultural diversity that makes our county such a desirable place to be. For many families and businesses, the decision to relocate to a new area is often dependent on the quality of the local public schools. FCPS has a well-deserved national reputation for excellence.

As we enter a new school year, we are projecting an enrollment of 186,785 making FCPS the nation's 10th largest school district. Fairfax County high schools are among the most academically rigorous in the U.S. and are cited every year as among the top high schools in the country. Our classrooms are led by teachers who inspire, motivate, and prepare students with the knowledge and skills they will need for the future. Our dedicated teachers promote the success of every student and create a caring learning environment where every student is valued and recognized as an active learner.

Karen K. Garza

Working closely with our school board, parents, teachers, and community stakeholders, we have made a number of positive and exciting changes for our system during my first year as superintendent. We developed the FCPS Portrait of a Graduate that will serve as a foundation on which to build a long-range strategic plan for the school system and will lessen the focus on standardized, high-stakes testing and place greater emphasis on engaged students, project-based learning, and authentic assessments of student learning. The Portrait of a Graduate will ensure that our students are collaborators, communicators, creative and critical thinkers, global citizens, and goal-directed and resilient individuals when they leave FCPS.

Other significant changes that we have made include:

❖ The launch of full-day Mondays for all elementary students. The change will increase instructional time for students and dedicated planning time for teachers. The change to full day Mondays received overwhelming support in our community and will benefit students, teachers, and our families.

❖ A new standard school calendar that eliminates the need to make up inclement weather days at the end of the school year if fewer than 13 days are missed while providing two full weeks for winter break.

The new Bailey's Upper Elementary School for the Arts and Sciences. A first of its kind for Fairfax County, this new school is being converted from a five-story office building at 6245 Leesburg Pike to provide enrollment relief for the overcrowded Bailey's Elementary School for the Arts and Sciences. The new campus will house grades 3-5, while the existing campus will house preschool to grade 2.

A new CrisisLink text messaging tool for students and parents needing mental health support and resources. Crisis line staff respond to the text messages 24 hours a day. The text number is 703-997-5444.

The future remains very bright for FCPS families, students, and employees. I look forward to welcoming your children to our schools on Sept. 2 and making this year an exciting and rewarding year for all of our students.

Fairfax County's Success Story

Economic success: 50 years in the making.

By Gerald L. Gordon, Ph.D.

f you are a newcomer to Fairfax County, allow me to welcome you to one of the most dynamic communities anywhere in the world to live and work. It was the vision of many people to create this kind of community, so please allow me to offer a quick his-

The Capital Beltway was completed in 1964. The same year the iconic highway opened, the Virginia General Assembly passed a law that created what is now called the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority. In the last 50 years, creation and growth of a companies on Black Enterprise magazine's diversified business community and local economy transformed a sleepy bedroom community in the shadow of the nation's capital into what Time magazine has called "one of the great economic success stories of our time."

How much of a success story? Fairfax County was home to no Fortune 500 companies in 1964, and today 10 of those businesses are based here. That's more than 30 states. Today more than

COMMENTARY 400 foreign-owned businesses have a presence here, as do four est Hispanic-owned companies, and top companies that are Asian-, woman- and veteran-owned.

Almost no matter where you live, you can see how the county continues to evolve as a business location. The first phase of Metro's Silver Line rail service further enhances the attractiveness of Tysons Corner and Reston, while the second phase will link Herndon and Washington Dulles International Airport to the rest of the Washington region in 2018.

Southeastern Fairfax County (Springfield Lorton and the Richmond Highway corridor) are becoming important office centers thanks to growth at Fort Belvoir. The Mosaic District in Merrifield is a popular destination, and the Springfield Town Center opening this fall promises to be a magnet for that area.

As I suggested earlier, this evolution of Fairfax County has been no accident. It has been a strategy driven by a consistent vision: A strong and consistent economic development program that attracts companies and helps them stay and grow here creates job opportunities, builds a strong commercial tax base that holds down residential taxes, and allows the Board of Supervisors to provide high-quality public services that enhance the quality of life here.

Yes, Fairfax County has changed tremendously since 1964. But, even with all the progress that has happened, we believe even better times lay ahead.

Gerald L. Gordon, Ph.D., is president and CEO of the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority.

What's on the Horizon for the City of Fairfax

By Bonnie Hobbs The Connection

n the horizon for local resi dents are some mixed-use projects, school-boundary changes, potential traffic shifts and the reopening of a historic and much-loved eating place.

Old Town Square

The highly anticipated, $4 million, Old Town Square project is now underway in the City of Fairfax on the block bounded by Main Street, University Drive, North Street and Old Lee Highway. It's seen as something that'll attract customers to the downtown businesses and provide a gathering place for friends and family to meet, as well as a site to hold special events.

The project includes two parking lots with permeable, brick-paver parking; ADA-compliant, brick, pedestrian walkways; a two-tiered plaza; storage sheds with a connecting pergola; an interactive water feature and a cascade water feature; a memorial garden area; preservation and enhancement of the existing Kitty-Pozer Garden; landscaping; lighting; and utility-infrastructure improvements.

In addition, a 90-foot, pedestrian safety barrier will be built along the north face of the Auld Shebeen restaurant where the sidewalk grade is lower than the adjacent North Street travel lanes. And the gravel Amoco parking lot at Main/East streets is being paved for better public parking. The pedestrian barrier costs about $230,000, and the parking-lot resurfacing, about $65,000. The remaining $3.7 million is for the park.

Revamped 29 Diner Reopening

A Fairfax icon and beloved, local hangout is reopening. Since 1947, the 29 Diner on Lee Highway in Fairfax attracted people looking for a good meal and a place to spend time with friends. However, the previous owners retired in May and closed the doors.

But local entrepreneur John K. Wood bought the place, revamped it and – with general manager Tom Lowe, a former Navy Seal – will reopen it on Patriot Day, Sept. 11

"It's one of four, historical landmarks in the City of Fairfax," said Billy Reilly, who's promoting the 29 Diner. "And we're looking forward to serving the community."

And they'll do it in more ways than one. Besides literally serving meals, the restaurant also plans to donate food and raise funds for FACETS, Our Daily Bread and the Lamb Center – all of which help people in need – all year 'round.

Wood obtained the lease in May and work began, the first week of June, to both fix and spruce up the old diner. The parking lot was repaved, new bathrooms were installed and the whole interior was renovated.

"The place is gorgeous now," said Reilly. "In 2015, there'll be a complete, historical renovation. But right now, it's been cleaned and repainted and the kitchen equipment revamped – while still keeping that same diner charm that's been there since 1947."

Wood is also delighted with the diner's facelift and is pleased with the progress that's been made. "I'm blessed and humbled to be taking over a historical landmark in the City," he said. "And I'm looking forward to all the good things we can bring to the residents, the homeless, veterans and the needy through the Lord's work and the diner."

As for the menu, said Reilly, the restaurant will offer "some old, diner favorites, plus new and exciting fare. It'll really be something special."

One-Way or Two-Way?

When the City of Fairfax reconfigured Main and North Streets from one-way to two-way streets in 2006, it did so in hopes that the change would benefit the downtown area. Now, though, the City Council is revisiting that decision.

Making those streets two-way was seen as a way to create a more pedestrian-friendly environment, as envisioned in the City's plan to revitalize Old Town Fairfax. However, over the past few years, people have noted possibly less vehicles and pedestrians there than before.

So the Council members have authorized SEE TOP ISSUES, PAGE 9 an engineering study to review the current conditions and analyze the costs and benefits of reverting back to one-way traffic on those streets.

It'll cost about $15,000-$20,000 and will be totally funded by money the City receives from the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority for transportation-related purposes. The finished product will include cost estimates of any recommended changes.

Homes, Retail at Kamp Washington

It's still a work in progress, but Novus Fairfax Gateway LLC hopes to transform part of the Kamp Washington triangle between Fairfax Boulevard and Lee Highway into a modern, community-serving, mixeduse project.

Proposed on the 8.33-acre site are 423 multifamily apartments, 25,000 square feet of retail uses – including 12,000 square feet of first-floor retail and amenities for the residents, plus a 5,000-square-foot restaurant – and a 4,000-square-foot office space for use by a nonprofit.

The design includes a road network that could mesh with the future redevelopment of the rest of that triangle, while adding traffic-calming elements to reduce cut-through traffic in the nearby Fairchester Woods neighborhood.

The commercial space and three- and four-story buildings would front on Lee Highway and Fairfax Boulevard. Five-story buildings would be central to the site, and a seven-story parking garage would have a half-story on top for a pool.

However, Fairfax City Councilman Michael DeMarco would like to see more commercial office space there, plus shuttle buses to the Metro station provided for the residents. And Councilman Jeff Greenfield believes the project has too many housing units planned with too few retail attractions. He was also concerned that traffic there might increase.

Councilman David Meyer worried that the project has too high a density and he said associated traffic should be prevented from traveling through the Fairchester Woods and Westmore neighborhoods. And Councilwoman Janice Miller was concerned about the apartments' affordability, as well as accessibility for senior citizens or disabled veterans.

The applicant is now seeing how it may incorporate the Council's comments into its plans and is working with City staff on its proffers before bringing this project back before the Council.

School Boundary Changes

In May 2013, the Fairfax County School Board approved boundary changes to alleviate overcrowding at Fairfax High and Lanier Middle School. These changes are being phased in during the 2014-15 school year. This fall's rising eighth-grade students, juniors and seniors will be allowed to remain at their current schools.

Students living in the Penderbrook and Fairfax Farms areas of the Waples Mill Elementary attendance area were reassigned last year from Lanier to Franklin Middle in Chantilly. Starting in September, these students will also shift from Fairfax High to Oakton High.

Fairfax Circle Plaza

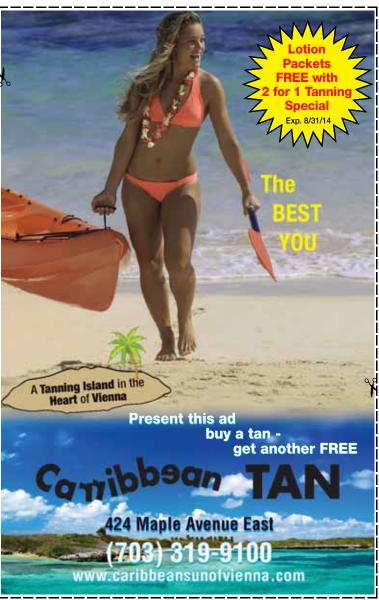

Fairfax Circle Plaza is a gateway into the City but, over the years, it turned into an aging strip shopping center. Now, though, a huge, new, mixed-use project will be built there, featuring a grocery store, retail businesses and multifamily housing.

Planned are modern, residential units in a walkable design, with structured parking, instead of surface spaces. The goal is to transform a 1960s shopping center into a world-class place where people may live, work and dine. Combined Properties Ltd. will redevelop the 9.8-acre site with a 54,000-square-foot grocery store, 34,000 square feet of retail and restaurants and 400 apartments. It also plans a signalized intersection at Fairfax Boulevard.

The project will be done in phases in quick succession, with residential building construction concurrent with a phased occupancy. The grocery-store site must be turned over to the store prior to any residents moving in. And it's anticipated that Harris Teeter will be the grocery store. Several members of the City Council would have preferred more retail in this project and the proposed rents to be more affordable. But in the end, they approved it so that this area could be revitalized and the City could benefit from new and more diverse sources of future revenue, while continuing to move forward.

Built in 1853 the Ford Building was originally the house of Antonia Ford, who was a spy during the Civil War.

Fairfax plaza is a great place to have a bite to eat and go shopping. With outdoor seating and a water fountain it is a beautiful place to have lunch.

The Fairfax Museum was originally built as a school house in 1873 and was the first public school in Fairfax.

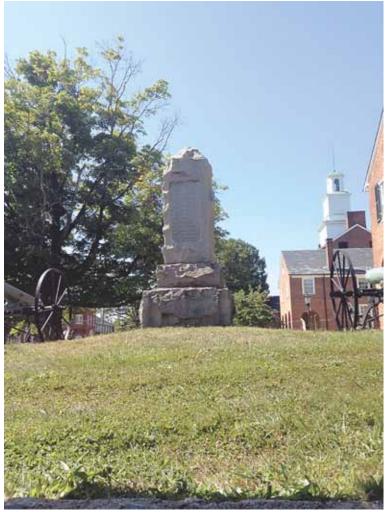

Van Dyke Park is one of the most popular parks in Fairfax City and offers a variety of activities. It has a playground, skate park, basketball, tennis and volleyball courts and a fitness trail that runs around the park.

The Fairfax City Hall building is located on Armstrong street and is the work place of the mayor and city council.

What's on the Ballot;

How to Vote
Election Day is Nov. 4, 2014, but you can vote
as early as Sept. 19.

very year is Election Year in Virginia. This year, every Virginia voter will choose one member of the U.S. Senate and their member of the U.S. House of Representatives. Two of Northern Virginia's three house seats are open seats with the retirement of two longstanding members, Jim Moran (D-8) and Frank Wolf (R-10).

This area has very high rates of voter registration, but voter turnout varies significantly from year to year. For example, two years ago in 2012, a presidential election year, 71.78 percent of Virginia registered voters turned out to vote. But in 2010, more comparable to this year, only 44.01 percent of Virginia registered voters turned out to vote.

In Fairfax County, with a population around 1,130,900, there are 713,025 registered voters as of July 1, 2014, up from 676,802 in 2012. (Population data from U.S. Census and voter data from Virginia Department of Elections.)

In Alexandria, with a population of about 148,900, there are 97,883 total registered voters as of July 1, 2014. That's down from 101,887 total registered voters as of July 2, 2012

In Arlington, with a population of about 224,900, there are 162,100 total registered voters as of July 1, 2014, up from 157, 236 on July 2, 2012.

REGISTER, CHANGE OF ADDRESS: In order to vote on Election Day, you must be registered at your current address no later than Oct. 13, 2014. You can check your registration status online by going to www.sbe.virginia.gov.

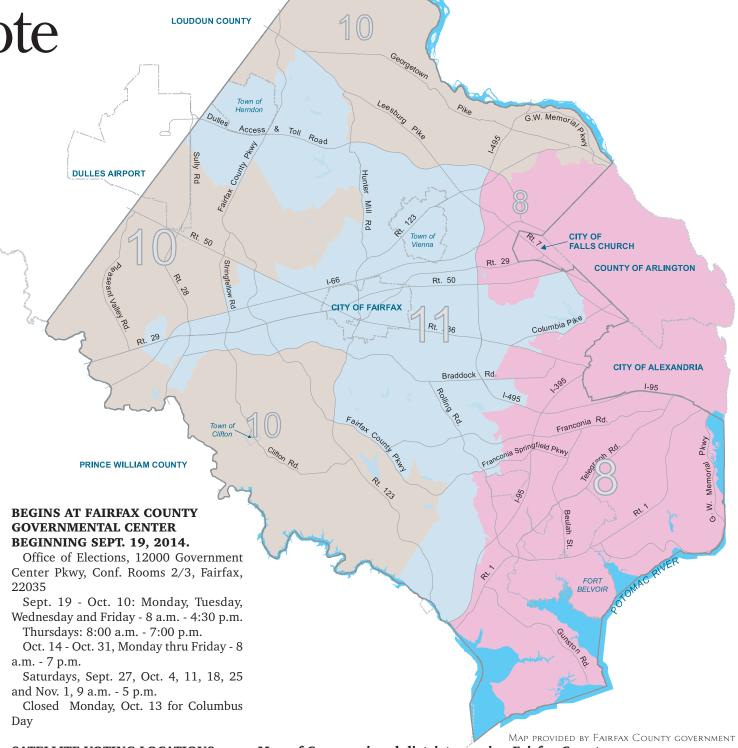

VOTING EARLY, ABSENTEE

Virtually every voter in Virginia is eligible to vote absentee, which includes voting inperson absentee at a variety of locations between Sept. 19 and Nov. 1.

There are many reasons that voters are allowed to vote absentee, but the most broad of these applies to almost anyone with a job: "Any person who, in the regular and orderly course of his business, profession, or occupation, will be at his place of work and commuting to and from his home to his place of work for eleven or more hours of the thirteen that the polls are open (6 a.m. to 7 p.m.).

You can download an absentee ballot and mail it to your local voter registration office, or you can vote "absentee in person."

Transportation Improvements Bond Question: Shall the Board of Supervisors contract a debt, borrow money and issue bonds of Fairfax County, Virginia, in addition to bonds previously authorized for transportation improvements and facilities, in the maximum aggregate principal amount of $100,000,000 for the purpose of providing funds to finance the cost of constructing, reconstructing, improving and acquiring transportation facilities, including improvements to primary and secondary State highways, improvements related to transit, improvements for pedestrians and bicycles, and ancillary related improvements and facilities?

IN THE CITY OF FAIRFAX, voters will also vote on an advisory Referendum regarding length of term for Offices of Mayor, City Council and School Board, and whether the term of office should be increased from two years to four years.

New Voter Identification Requirements

As of this summer, there are new requirements for voter identification that voters must bring with them to the polling place.

Virginia law requires all voters to provide an acceptable form of photo identification at the polls. Voters arriving to the polls without photo ID will be allowed to vote a provisional ballot and will have until noon on the Friday after the election to deliver a copy of identification to their locality's electoral board in order for their provisional ballot to be counted.

Virginia's photo ID requirements also apply to absentee voters who vote in-person in all elections.

Here are the "acceptable" forms of identification:

- ❖ Valid Virginia Driver's License or Identification Card
- ♦ Valid Virginia DMV issued
- Veteran's ID card

 ❖ Valid United States Passport

 ❖ Other government issued photography
- ❖ Other government-issued photo identification cards (must be issued by US Government, the Commonwealth of Virginia, or a political subdivision of the Commonwealth
- ❖ Valid college or university student photo identification card, must be from an institution of higher education located in Virginia.
- * Employee identification card containing a photograph of the voter and issued by an employer of the voter in the ordinary course of the employer's business
- ♦ or a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card obtained through any local general registrar's office

"Valid" is defined as a genuine document, bearing the photograph of the voter, and is not expired for more than 12 months.

A voter who does not bring an acceptable photo ID to the polls will be offered a provisional ballot.

DON'T HAVE ONE OF THESE?

PROVISIONAL BALLOT PROCESS

A voter who arrives at the polling place without an acceptable form of photo identification will be given the opportunity to vote a provisional ballot. After completing the provisional ballot, the individual voting will be given written instructions from the election officials on how to submit a copy of his/her identification so that his/her vote can be counted.

A voter will have until noon on the Friday following the election to deliver a copy of the identification to the local electoral board. Voters may submit a copy of their ID via fax, email, in-person submission, or through USPS or commercial delivery service. Please note that the copy of the ID must be delivered to the electoral board by noon on Friday, or the provisional ballot cannot be counted. A Friday postmark will not be sufficient. Written notice given to the voter will provide the necessary information, including email, fax, and address of where the ID should be delivered.

IF YOU VOTE A PROVISIONAL

BALLOT but don't have an "acceptable ID," you can appear in-person in the office of the general registrar in the locality in which the provisional ballot was cast by noon on Friday following the election and apply for a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card. At the completion of the application process, the voter may request a Temporary Identification Document. This document can be provided to the electoral board as acceptable identification and the voter's provisional ballot will be counted.

Insiders to Newcomers: What Do You Love About Living in Fairfax?

Michael DeMarco, Exxon Mobil Global Strategic Alignment Manager and member of Fairfax City Council, resident for 14 years:

"My wife and I wanted to move to Fairfax City, one - because it's a city so it had kind of an urban feel to it, but still with neighborhoods that we could raise our kids in. We were also very interested in education and we liked the different opportunities in area for us to send our kids to Catholic school or a public school. I also like the direction this area is going, I think it has grown a lot in the 14 years I have been here. There are a lot of opportunities for young people and young families to do a lot of things and stay in Fairfax if they want to."

Karla Eaton, English teacher at Woodson High School, resident for 40 years:

"I love the opportunities and diversity. I love that I can go to Great Falls and hike and then the next day go down to D.C. and a Vermeer exhibit. I also like that I can go to Thai food or Indian food or Ben's Chili Bowl as opposed to an area that is smaller and more limited. I think it's easy to get grumpy about Northern Virginia. We have a lot of traffic and it's expensive to live here, but you don't have to be gone for too long or travel too far to realize there are so many good things about living here. The worst part is people take the area for granted and don't take advantage of all it has to offer."

Janice Miller, part-time travel agent and member of Fairfax City Council, resident for 44 years:

"Basically I like everything about Fairfax City. The reason I like it so much is because it's really a small town in the middle of a big area. I like the fact that we have our own identity and that people coalesce around the fact that we are a small community rather than just being Chantilly or Annandale, we have our own identity separate from Fairfax County. I also love all the great services we offer to our community. We have wonderful schools and a great park system, a really outstanding police and fire department, and overall good government services. The people here are also great neighbors and are always interested in helping each other out."

Scott Silverthorne, Mayor of the City of Fairfax, lifelong resident:

"What I really love about the city is the sense of community. The population of Fairfax city is about 24,000 and we are surrounded by a county of 1.1 million, so we definitely have a feel of a small town but all the attractions and amenities of a large metropolitan area. Outside of the city we have access to good transportation, tourist sites, and museums and Washington D.C. Here in the city we also have our own share of these things, arts and culture, historic sites, parks and events. That is what makes Fairfax City such a great place to live. I think the city is on the cusp of some major excitement and change that is currently underway. As Mayor one of the things I take great pride in all of the events we put on in the city. There is a special event in the City of Fairfax almost every other month and I think that is what sets us apart from the county."

Mandy McCarthy, retired, resident for 40 years:

"I love it here, the neighbors, the neighborhood, the pools and the schools, I love all of it. It's all very convenient, nothing is too far away and there is so much to do. Over the 40 years I have been here the area has become much more diverse, the variety of restaurants and attractions are fantastic. I also love all of the Nail Salons that have opened in the area. Fairfax is located in a great place, we can go see a Nationals game or a Wizards game and only travel about 30 minutes. At the same time you can drive south for less than an hour and be in the mountains. Fairfax also offers very good services for the disabled and I think that is why a lot of people stay here. Most of all this has been a great place to raise my nine children. The area is extremely safe and my children all loved growing up here. They have enjoyed it so much that eight of them have come back to raise their families

Ruth Dimon, Northern Virginia Community College student, resident for 19 years:

One of the best things of Fairfax is all of the different people I have met here. The diversity of the area has exposed me to different kinds of people and cultures that I have had the pleasure of learning from and interacting with. As a student it has been a lot easier for me to meet different people and I think that diversity in schools is really important. There are a lot of really great schools in the area too, I especially think we have good elementary schools. The elementary schools do a good job at exposing kids to different things and encouraging creativity at a young age."

VIEWPOINTS

What is the Best Thing About Living in Fairfax and Why?

Cody Kendall, Box Office supervisor, resident for 23 years:

"My favorite thing about living in Fairfax would be being relatively central to D.C. You're not too far from the greatest city in the United States. But, as far as Fairfax in general, it's a great place for families. It's a nice and safe environment. I had no problems whatsoever growing up here. There are a lot of things to do around Fairfax."

Dennis Scott, retired, resident for 30 years:

"It's kind of difficult to answer my favorite thing about Fairfax. I guess we like the county so much because there are so many different things to do here. I guess the unique experience would be that it's so closely located to the District itself, which has everything you could want. We used to enjoy going over to the Smithsonian and other sites. We'd always take family members that came up, and everyone that's ever come to this area have always said how much they enjoy it and how much they themselves wished they lived here. It's centrally located for one thing. The community here is extremely nice, the crime isn't that high, the people who live here are open and friendly, and we just enjoy everything about it."

Paula Izadpanah, registered dietician, resident for 16 years:

"We like this area because it's very multicultural and very diverse. There are a lot of things besides going into D.C. to do around here, such as community activities, parks and recreation. We really like Fairfax County Parks & Recreation and Burke Lake Park, and all of those things that are available in those locations. There's Frisbee golf, walking around the lake, bicycle trails, and a lot of other things to do around those facilities."

Kimberly Sanders, preschool teacher, resident for 39 years:

"It's been a unique opportunity to grow up in the same house where I'm raising my own family. I've seen Fairfax change from a fairly small area, when Braddock Road was one lane going each way to the West, and Chantilly was going out into the boonies, and nobody went to Manassas because there was nothing out there. Now, the community, this area has just grown exponentially. Fairfax has great schools, great things for families, and its proximity to Washington, D.C. allows us to have some really great opportunities that you don't get elsewhere. The Smithsonian Institutions, all of the national parks like Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts, even the county parks, the Fairfax County Park Authorities, parks like Burke Lake, Wakefield, South Run; all of those make it a really rich community for families and children. In my neighborhood community, Kings Park West, I love the local schools, Laurel Ridge and Robinson, with their outstanding teaching staff."

Girls' Lacrosse Coach: Patrick Mahler.

What Happened Last Year: The field hockey team qualified for regionals. The boys' basketball team repeated as region champion. The girls' lacrosse team won the Conference 7 championship. The boys' lacrosse team reached the region quarterfinals.

After stops at Duke (assistant), Seton Hall (head coach) and Michigan (head coach), Amaker became the head coach at Harvard.

From Mirza Kurspahic's 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Teamwork and defensive brilliance defined the high school and college basketball careers of Tommy Amaker, a 1983 Woodson grad. His basketball mind took him from Woodson to Duke as a player, and from Duke to Seton Hall to the University of Michigan as a coach.

'Tommy Amaker is the best pure point guard to ever play in Northern Virginia,' said Red Jenkins, the former Woodson coach, and one of the winningest coaches in high school basketball with more than 600 wins."

 $\ensuremath{\textit{v}}\xspace 20$. Andy Heck, a 1985 graduate, was a two-way football standout for the Cavaliers. He went on to play tight end and offensive tackle for Notre Dame, winning a national championship with the Fighting Irish after the 1988 season. Gymnast Rachel Barborek won the Conference 6 all-around champion. The softball team finished 15-8 and reached the region quarterfinals.

From The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: $\uppsi 45$. Billy Pulsipher, a 1991 graduate, was a baseball star for the Rebels.

The New York Mets selected Pulsipher in the second round of the 1991 MLB Draft and he joined fellow young pitchers Paul Wilson and Jason Isringhausen to compose the trio known as "Generation K." Injuries, however, would slow Pulsipher's career. From 1995 to 2005, he pitched in parts of six seasons at the MLB level, producing a 13-19 record with a 5.15 ERA.

From Mirza Kurspahic's 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "He gave up a full scholarship to Old Dominion University in order to sign with the Mets. While in high school, the left hander was contacted by every one of the 26 Major League teams. His father said it was not difficult for Pulsipher to make the decision to go to the pros instead of college. He said teams made lucrative offers, and promised to secure Pulsipher's education as well."

v66. Larry Fones, a 1948 graduate, was a three-sport start for the Rebels. He played football, basketball and baseball at Fairfax, and went on to play football collegiately at William & Mary.

v86. John Curtis, a 1988 graduate, was a standout wrestler for the Rebels. He competed collegiately at the University of Virginia.

vBrandon Royster, a 2000 graduate, was a star running back for the Rebels. He played collegiately at Stanford University.

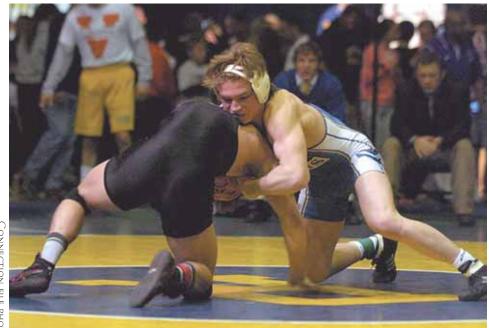

From Mirza Kurspahic's 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Royster certainly found success at Fairfax.

During his junior and senior years, the Rebels went undefeated in the regular season.

During his four years at the varsity level, Royster rushed for more than 5,300 yards and scored 60 touchdowns."

Then-junior AJ Alexander and the Lake Braddock boys' basketball team reached the 2014 state tournament.

Then-senior Jack Bass won the 2014 152-pound state championship, helping the Robinson wrestling team win its third state title in four years.

The boys' basketball team repeated as district/conference champion, finished region runner-up and qualified for the state tournament. The boys' tennis team went undefeated, winning the state title. The girls' soccer team won the Conference 7 championship and reached the region semifinals, where the Bruins lost in penalty kicks to eventual state champion Battlefield. The softball team won the conference title, finished region runner-up and qualified for the state tournament.

From The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: 3. Allen Johnson, a 1989 graduate, was a state-champion track athlete for the Bruins. He went on to win NCAA titles and an Olympic gold medal.

From Mirza Kurspahic's 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Not to say that Johnson lacked standout track athlete status at Lake Braddock, and not that three individual state titles won in high school are an easy feat to accomplish, but they pale in comparison to what he went on to do afterwards. Johnson went on to win college titles at the University of North Carolina and Olympic gold in Atlanta in 1996.

He was a seven-time U.S. outdoor champion, a four-time world outdoor champion, a four-time U.S. indoor champion and a three-time world indoor champion."

4. Mia Hamm, a 1989 graduate, is one of the greatest women's soccer players of all time. She played at Lake Braddock for one season after transferring from a high school in Texas, and helped the Bruins win the 1989 state championship. What Happened Last Year: The wrestling team won its third state championship in four years.

The gymnastics team won the Conference 5 championship. The boys' lacrosse team won the state title.

From The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: v7. Rob Muzzio, a 1982 graduate, was a track and football standout for the Rams. He attended George Mason University and became the first decathlete to win back-to-back national championships.

From Mirza Kurspahic's 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Muzzio took interest in track and field in eighth grade gym class. He said he had fun throwing the discus and the shot put. However, when he began his high school competition, Muzzio said it did not appear he would get big enough to really compete in those events. He said his coach at Robinson, Maynard Heins, saw the potential in Muzzio, so he began to teach him proper technique for different events. He said Muzzio would have to do all of the events, not just one.

However, Muzzio went on to win state and other titles as a discus thrower. He won the Virginia State Outdoor discus titles in 1981 and 1982. In 1981 he became a National Junior Olympic Discus Champion and in 1982 he won the Dogwood Relays Discus Championship.

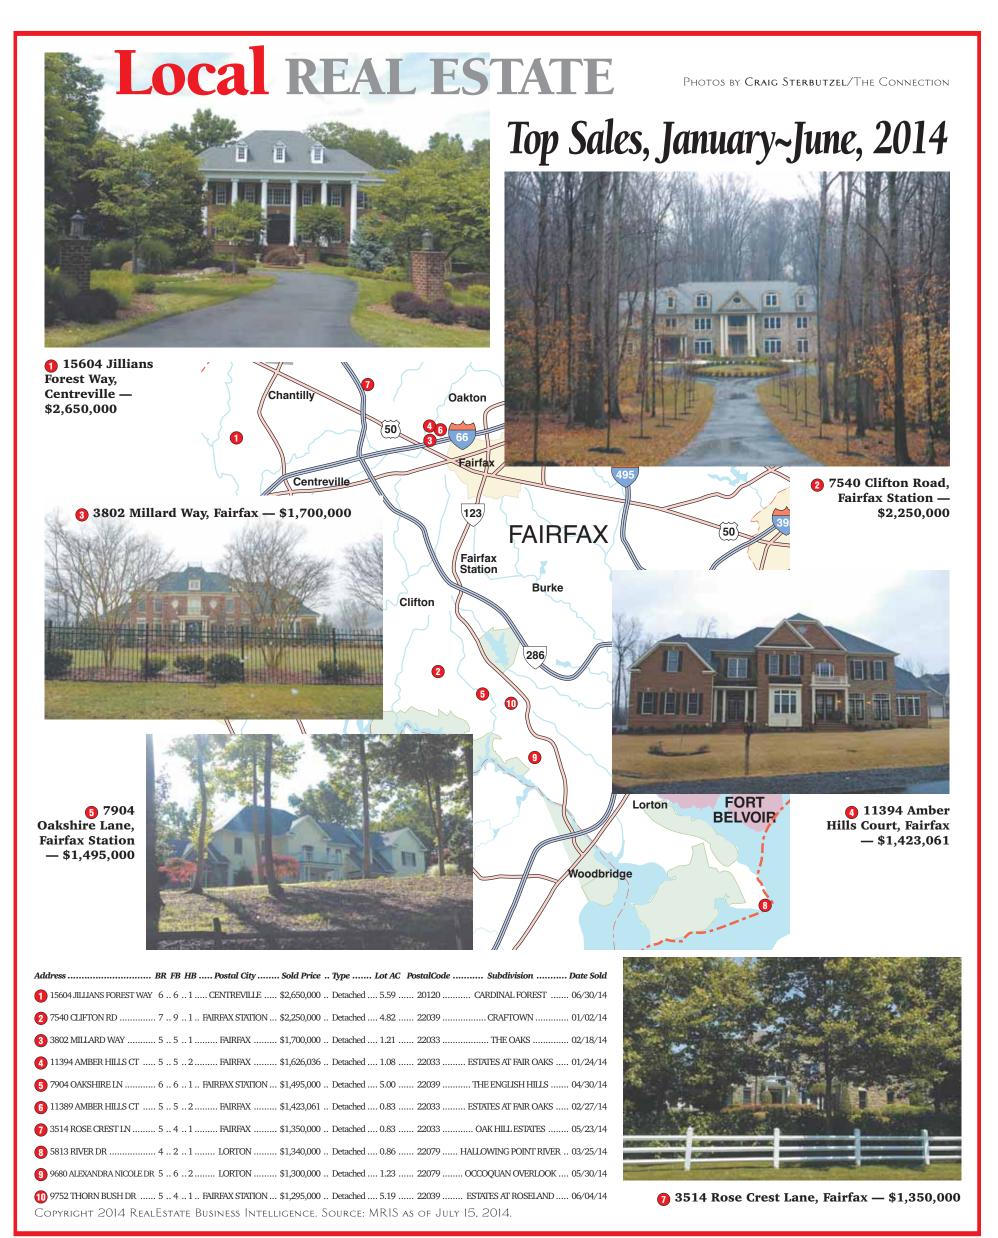

That same year, Muzzio became the U.S. Junior National Decathlon Champion in Indiana, and then a Junior Pan American Games Decathlon Champion - setting the new record for the championship - in Venezuela

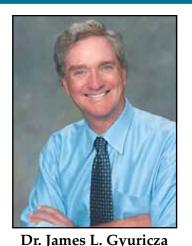

v9. Chris Warren, a 1985 graduate, was a standout running back for the Rams. He played collegiately at the University of Virginia and Ferrum College before the Seattle Seahawks selected him in the fourth round of the 1990 NFL Draft. He played 11 seasons with the Seahawks, Dallas Cowboys and Philadelphia Eagles, earning three trips to the Pro Bowl. In 1994, he rushed for 1,545 yards and nine touchdowns with Seattle. The following season, he ran for 1,346 yards and 15 touchdowns.

v38. Mike Imoh, a 2002 graduate, was a standout running back for the Rams. He rushed for 2,077 yards and 28 touchdowns as a senior and helped Robinson capture the 2001 state championship. He played collegiately at Virginia Tech.

v65. Bob DeProspero, a 1981 graduate, was a three-time state champion wrestler for the Rams.
