NEWCOMERS & COMMUNITY GUIDE

Welcome to Fairfax County

BY SHARON BULOVA/CHAIRMAN
FAIRFAX COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Welcome to Fairfax County, the best place in the country to live, work and play. Fairfax County is home to a fantastic public school system, top tier business and shopping opportunities, compassionate human services, and some of the best parks and open spaces in the D.C. Metropolitan region. This summer featured the long-awaited opening of the WMATA Silver Line, which connects the Reston and the Tysons areas of the county to the entire Metrorail system.

Last June, I cut the ribbon to open a new segment of our Fairfax County Cross County Trail, named after former Chairman (now congressman) Gerry Connolly. It was his vision, while serving on our board, to build and connect trail sections to make it possible for someone to hike through all nine county magisterial districts. The northern end of the trail begins in Great Falls National Park at the breathtaking Potomac River and travels south to the historic Occoquan River.

The trail passes through stream valleys and meadows, then winds through fascinating Laurel Hill, site of the former Lorton Prison. In addition to parkland and a golf course, these grounds are now home to the Workhouse Arts Center where visitors can watch artists in action and enjoy plays, performances and community events such as Springfest every April.

Fairfax County has something for everyone. Northern Virginia Community College offers more than 160 degrees at the associate's level and numerous certificate programs. Its partnership with George Mason University provides families and students with a seamless, cost-effective path to a four-year degree.

George Mason University, recently named one of the top five "Up-and-Coming Universities" by U.S. News and World Report, is also recognized as one of America's Best College Buys by Forbes magazine. Under the presidency of Dr. Angel Cabrera, Mason is fast taking its place as a university for the world.

Fairfax County is known for its business-friendly climate. Time Magazine has described us as "the epicenter of the Washington region's job boom" and "one of the great economic success stories of our time." Although home to eight Fortune 500 company headquarters (corporate giants such as Northrop Grumman and Booz Allen Hamilton) about 97 percent of the companies in Fairfax County are small businesses with fewer than 100 employees. We are a great location for startups.

Of course, Fairfax County's greatest asset is a population that is welcoming and engaged. People from all over the globe have made Fairfax County their home, enriching our community with diverse cultures and entrepreneurship. Visit Fairfax County's website at www.fairfaxcounty.gov to learn more about what Fairfax has to offer.

As chairman of the Board of Supervisors, I am elected at-large by all registered voters. My office is here to serve you. If you have any questions or concerns, please email me at chairman@fairfaxcounty.gov or call me at 703-324-2321. I hope you will sign up to receive my monthly Bulova By-line newsletter that will keep you up-to-date on what is happening and how you can participate in all that Fairfax County has to offer you and your family.

Thanks for making Fairfax County your home.

Residents say improving Follin Lane will worsen speeding, destroy the tree canopy and endanger people's lives.

What's on the Horizon for Town of Vienna

BY BONNIE HOBBS
THE CONNECTION

Maple Avenue Corridor

On the horizon for local residents are a transportation project, a plan to help W&OD trail users and Church Street businesses, plus a major expansion and renovation of the Vienna Community Center.

The Vienna Town Council is considering the creation of the Maple Avenue Corridor (MAC) zoning district. It's been evaluated since 2001, and—so everyone's views would be represented—the late Mayor Jane Seeman and the Town Council appointed a broad variety of people to a 17-member steering committee involved in this project.

Proponents of the new zoning district point out the town's changing demographics, new businesses and mainly by-right development. And they say having new rules in place for this section of Vienna would give the Town more control over development and protect its small-town character.

The MAC's purpose is to guide and direct density, support local businesses and encourage economic development. It's also voluntary, so businesses don't have to join it. But they can ask to be rezoned in and the decision would be up to the Town Council. If they do become part of it, it's hoped that they'll use the MAC guidelines to create more walkable, mixed-use developments.

Maple Avenue currently carries 33,000 vehicles per day through the Corridor. So those in favor of the plan say that, with improved pedestrian connections, people could park once and go from business to business, instead of driving from parking lot to parking lot.

Furthermore, under by-right zoning, the Town has little ability to address traffic. But the new zoning would allow it to require traffic studies, proffers and multimodal traffic, as well as less driveway access to businesses from Maple Avenue. It could also mean less delay of other vehicles and reduced risk of crashes.

Under the MAC proposal, open space is promoted and businesses wishing to add outdoor tables or displays won't have to go through a public hearing. It would also decrease the amount of impervious area and allow businesses to go from three to four stories, but no higher than 54 feet.

However, a group called Citizens of Vienna is protesting the plan, saying it would permit four-story buildings close to the sidewalk and possibly add 1,000-plus parking spaces to the already-congested thoroughfare. They contend that the changes would be detrimental to Vienna's small-town charm and would prefer the Town Council instead provide tax subsidies to small businesses.

The Council held its second public hearing on the matter on Aug. 18 and will continue to receive comments until Sept. 8.

Follin Lane Project

For a couple years now, the Town of Vienna has planned to improve Follin Lane between Maple Avenue and Echols Street. But when project consultants held a June 26 meeting to share the details with nearby residents, it ended up alarming them, instead.

And at the July 7 Town Council meeting, neighbors Loretta Roby and Sean McClorey explained their objections. Both cited serious problems and asked the Council members to think twice before proceeding with this project.

"I live on the corner of Hine [Street] and Follin, and it's one of the most dangerous intersections in Vienna," said McClorey. "There have been many accidents there, and the most recent one destroyed part of my fence – and the auto's trajectory was heading right toward my house."

As part of the Follin Lane Project, he said, "The Town plans to level the grade of the road there and remove the brush. And that will mean a clear and present danger, not only to my property, but to my four children."

The $2 million road project consists of reconstructing Follin, widening it and installing sidewalks, storm drains, curbs and gutters. In November 2011, Vienna applied for $1 million in VDOT FY '13 Revenue Sharing Funds and was awarded the money on June 26, 2012.

A mother of two, Roby lives on Mashey Drive and her property backs up to Follin, so this project is upsetting to her, as well as her neighbors. "We have safety concerns, and we're worried about the traffic flow," she said. "We're also upset that the tree canopy along Follin – including a beautiful, healthy, 60-year-old tree – will be taken down and not replaced."

Roby said widening Follin from two to three lanes and making it flat will result in drivers going even faster than they do now through the Follin/Hine intersection to reach the Town's throughway, Maple Avenue.

"And with a sidewalk added, pedestrians who don't walk there now will walk there and get hit by a speeding car," she said. "So we implore the Town Council to reconsider this plan."

Fairfax County Animal Shelter

The Fairfax County Animal Shelter (FCAS) estimates that between 4,000 and 5,000 small animals come through its doors each year, according to its website. The shelter deals primarily with dogs and cats, but also other small animals like rabbits and birds. A foster program is available through FCAS for the care of dogs and cats, and families who wish to be part of the foster program must go through a training session before taking animals into their homes. Other volunteer opportunities with the shelter range from telephone assistant to pet groomer and bather to cat socializer. Potential volunteers may submit an online application at fairfaxcounty.gov/animalshelter, and must attend a volunteer orientation. For more information on volunteering or adopting a pet, visit the shelter's website, or call 703-830-1100.

NEWCOMERS & COMMUNITY GUIDE

About the Connection

As your local, weekly newspaper, the Connection's mission is to deliver the local news you need, to try to make sense of what is happening in your community, to gather information about the best things in and near your community, to advocate for community good, to provide a forum for dialogue on local concerns, and to celebrate and record achievements, milestones and events in the community and people's lives.

Here in our Newcomers and Community Guide, we've included an expanded and updated version of our award-winning Insider's Guide to the Parks, plus details of how to vote in the upcoming elections, information on local government, nonprofits and business organizations, plus tips and tidbits from the community.

We invite newcomers and long-time residents alike to let us know how we're doing and let us know what is going on in your part of the community. If you have questions or ideas, send us an e-mail or call us, contact us on Facebook or send us a tweet. We invite you to send letters to the editor or to send an email with feedback about our coverage.

We want to know if someone in your family or your community published a book, started a business, became an Eagle Scout, raised money for a good cause, accomplished some feat like running a marathon, supporting a cause or having art included in an art show. We publish photos and notes about personal milestones and community events, including births, engagements, weddings, anniversaries, awards and obituaries. We are also interested in events at your church, mosque, synagogue, community center, pool, school, club, etc. Email us a note about the event, being sure to include when and where the photo was taken and the names of all the people who are in a photo. We also publish notes about news and events from local businesses. Notes about openings, new employees and anniversaries are welcome. It is especially important to us to let people know about events ahead of time in our calendar of events. We appreciate getting notice at least

Vienna Stands Above the Rest

Year-round activities and events create small-town feel and sense of community.

BY DONNA MANZ
THE CONNECTION

Laurie DiRocco was voted in as Vienna's new mayor this year. Months before her death, former Mayor M. Jane Seeman had previously announced she would not run for re-election in 2014. The Connection chatted with Mayor DiRocco about Vienna, what makes it special and what issues confront the town.

How would you describe Vienna to a newcomer or visitor?

Mayor DiRocco: "We are a very active community, very community-focused and service-oriented. We're a unique, small town located in a metropolitan area.

Around the town, there are a diversity of events and activities. We have ViVa! Vienna!, the 4th of July celebration, Oktoberfest, the Halloween parade, Church Street holiday stroll and, now, First Night Vienna. Thousands of people from throughout the greater-Vienna area come in for these activities and events. Everything is family-focused.

There are concerts on the Town Green and other events there. Right in that cluster is the Freeman House, the caboose, Little Library, the W & OD trail.

Events are year-round and there's something for every age.

For a town just four and a half square miles, we have a lot of parks, a lot of green space. Northside Park, reached from the end of Mill Street, is a conservation area, not a recreational park. Meadow Lane Park is very popular with young children and there are tennis courts there, too. The Town Green is a park. Vienna maintains its small-town feel."

What enhancements, improvements or visions are either budgeted or planned?

Mayor DiRocco: The first phase of the community center renovation was budgeted under a 2013 bond. A new gymnasium will be added to the rear of the existing building. It will be a regulation high school gym with a two-lane track running around the sides.

The building will be gutted during this phase of the renovation which begins in summer of 2015. It is scheduled to be completed by the end of 2016. Classes will be moved to other locations.

Also budgeted is money for lots of infrastructure. The big thing to remember is that the Town is regularly investing in infrastructure. We're always thoughtful of interest rates. We keep our debt in check, keeping our AAA bond rating.

The Council recently formed two new safety committees that report directly to the Transportation Safety Commission — the Bicycle Advisory Committee and the Pedestrian Advisory Committee. They are tasked with identifying connections for bicyclists and pedestrians to move around town safely and make connections to crucial areas, such as schools, the library, Town Green and parks.

The BAC and PAC will make recommendations to the Transportation Safety Committee. Those recommendations will then be prioritized into the capital improvement plan."

Please, explain what the Maple Avenue Vision is.

Mayor DiRocco: "The focus of the Maple Avenue Corridor [MAC] Vision is to have a vibrant commercial district, making sure we have all the businesses and services our residents want.

A map [of the commercial district] was developed by a steering committee made up of residents, business owners, members of Town boards and commissions, property owners and a Town consultant to create the Maple Avenue Corridor Ordinance. Right now, the Council is having public hearings on this. We'll vote on the map in September."

What is the Town Council looking at over the next few years?

Mayor DiRocco: "We continually fund infrastructure. That includes pipes, sidewalks, roads ... A parking garage is not something that is currently planned, but, it's something the Council will definitely consider. Location is one of the things we have to evaluate.

Next year is the Town of Vienna's 125th anniversary. We're going to have a work session in November about various celebrations to commemorate it. We've got a lot of people who want to be involved ... HVI [Historic Vienna, Inc.], VBA [Vienna Business Association] and citizens."

Top Issues Facing Vienna

Community Center Renovation

If all goes well, the new and improved Vienna Community Center will make its debut on its 50th anniversary in April 2016.

The scope of the work involves renovating and enlarging the 48-year-old Community Center on Cherry Street S.E. The two-story building is 28,814 square feet and is used for classes, club meetings, craft fairs, sports and other events.

But it needs more parking, a gym large enough for league play, high-tech wiring for laptops, plus new electrical and HVAC (heating and air conditioning) systems. In addition, repairs must be made to the classroom floors and walls, and a new roof must be put on. So all these improvements will now be made, including construction of an 8,000-square-foot gym in the back.

The project is funded by the town's Capital Improvement budget, courtesy of a $4 million bond issue in December 2013. But Parks and Recreation Director Cathy Salgado anticipates another $1 million will be needed before it's all done.

However, since the larger gym will rest slightly on school property, the town will have to make a formal agreement with the school system for use of that land. The Park Authority wants an 18-foot trail, a 4-6-foot sidewalk and a 60-foot parking area as part of the project, so the site doesn't have any extra space on it.

The Town Council has also decided to seek LEED Silver certification for the revamped Community Center. LEED stands for Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design and is a "green" building-certification program recognizing best-in-class building strategies and practices. The Community Center will be Vienna's first building to have this special designation.

It means that as much of the facility as possible will be sustainable. And having a building with energy-efficient windows, heating and air conditioning will also make it cost less to operate – which will result in a financial savings to the Town in the long run.

The bidding process for the work will go from January until March 2015, with groundbreaking anticipated in April 2015 and expected completion of the project a year later.

Train Station Parking Expanded

After much discussion and public comment, The Town of Vienna has granted conservation and parking easements to the Northern Virginia Regional Park Authority.

As a result, the Vienna Train Station parking lot will be expanded and people using the W&OD Trail will no longer have to take up parking spaces on Church Street that can be used by customers.

Near the intersection of Dominion Road N.E. and Ayr Hill Avenue N.E., the train-station lot contains 23 parking spaces. But its use has been restricted to trail users and visitors to the train station.

But when there's a great deal of park use – especially on the weekends – the recreational users are parking on the streets, instead, much to the dismay of the business owners. Indeed, the merchants and businesses along Church, Mill Street and Dominion have long complained that there's not enough parking.

However, the Park Authority will now build 16 more spaces on the east side of the train-station lot and make that entire lot available for public parking, as well as for trail users. In return, Vienna will grant it a conservation easement on Town-owned, unimproved, wooded land near Ninovan Road, adjacent to the W&OD Trail. This easement will preserve the land in its natural state with only low-impact or educational activities allowed on it.

Expanding the train-station parking lot will also cause the children's Discovery Garden – which has been there for 10 years – to be moved. However, Parks and Recreation Director Cathy Salgado

NEWCOMERS & COMMUNITY GUIDE

New at Marshall, Oakton High

BY PATTY REED

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER/PROVIDENCE DISTRICT

Welcome to the 2014-2015 school year! As the 10th largest school system in the nation, Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS) continues to evolve and focus. We reorganized, created a Portrait of a Graduate (<http://www.fcps.edu/supt/portrait/index.shtml>), began to develop a strategic plan and multi-year budget. We are preparing students for life in a global economy, and are moving away from rote memorization to 21st century skills of communication, collaboration, creativity and critical thinking. We are taking steps to attract and retain the best teachers.

What is not new is a trend of increasing enrollment, poverty and non-English speakers, inadequate facilities, and strained budgets.

Each of our 196 schools is a unique shining star. Today, I am highlighting two schools in the Providence District: Marshall HS and Oakton HS.

Marshall High School

Marshall, aligned with Region 2, is led by Assistant Superintendent Dr. Fabio Zuluaga, Executive Principal Jay Pearson, and Executive Principal for School Improvement Terry Dade.

Marshall High School received national recognition for their new "Statesman Station" which provides students and staff with healthy menu options. Principal Jay Pearson was recognized as "FCPS Principal of the Year," and has since been promoted to Executive Principal, Region 2. We welcomed Mr. Jeffrey (Jeff) Litz as the new Principal for Marshall High School effective Aug. 18, 2014. Marshall continues to experience change through their building renovation which began in the summer of 2011 and is expected to be completed in December of 2014. This renovation will provide additional educational space, a complete refurbishment of the entire facility, including a new, high efficient mechanical and electrical system, additional parking, new kiss and ride and an underground cistern to collect rainwater for irrigation.

The Marshall Academy is a designated Governor's School for their science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) Academy. In July, Air Force Association CyberPatriot National Commissioner Bernie Skoch named FCPS a CyberPatriot Center of Excellence. Superintendent Dr. Karen Garza and I attended, along with industry professionals, CyberPatriot students, and representatives from Northrop Grumman, CyberPatriot's presenting sponsor. The Center of Excellence designation is awarded to communities and institutions that provide leadership and support to further the educational experiences of their students through the CyberPatriot program. Marshall Academy's cyber security club is a three-time national finalist in CyberPatriot competitions. CyberPatriot established the Centers of Excellence program in 2011, and thus far, only four other entities have been recognized nationally.

Oakton High School

Oakton, aligned with Region 1, is led by Assistant Superintendent Douglas Tyson and Executive Principal Evangeline Petrich.

PHOTO CONTRIBUTED

Charged with envisioning the Oakton High School graduate of the 21st century, an interdisciplinary team of ninth-grade teachers met in 2011 to discover and capitalize on cross-curricular connections. As a result, the team established

Freshman Learning Goals – real-world, interdisciplinary skills upon which students reflect throughout the year by maintaining portfolios and presenting their work to the community at an Exhibition of Learning and to faculty through a final Presentation of Learning. Oakton has designed a unified Portfolio Learning Program requiring critical thinking, communication, creativity, collaboration, and citizenship for all Oakton students. Through innovative leadership in best practices, including interdisciplinary collaboration and an emphasis on project-based learning (PBL), Oakton High School is a pioneer in changing the face of 21st century learning for FCPS.

Oakton High School continues to outgrow its current facility with projected student enrollment of more than 2,240 students for September, 2014. The school will house 13 temporary classrooms this fall to accommodate the student body.

The Oakton High School renovation will begin with the planning process this fall.

Based on current conditions, we expect that the construction funding for the project will be contained in the 2017 Bond Referendum with a construction start in 2018.

As we continue moving towards later high school start times for 2015, we have worked closely with all stakeholders, including sports organizations, to minimize impacts to after-school activities. I am grateful for the cooperation of all involved as we focus on well-rounded students— stellar academic achievement, along with physical and emotional well-being.

I encourage you to get involved with your local schools—whether you are a parent, employed worker, retired individual or an empty nester. We recognize that we all have a stake and role in helping each child to reach his or her potential. I am proud to represent the Providence District and look forward to seeing you in the schools and communities!

A County of 186,785 Students

BY KAREN K. GARZA
SUPERINTENDENT OF FAIRFAX
COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Welcome to the 2014-15 school year. The start of a new school year is always an exciting time for students, parents, and educators. Our dedicated staff has been working hard to prepare for another school year that builds on our tradition of excellence at Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS). Fairfax is a community that embraces its newest residents and the cultural diversity that makes our county such a desirable place to be. For many families and businesses, the decision to relocate to a new area is often dependent on the quality of the local public schools. FCPS has a well-deserved national reputation for excellence.

As we enter a new school year, we are projecting an enrollment of 186,785 making FCPS the nation's 10th largest school district. Fairfax County high schools are among the most academically rigorous in the U.S. and are cited every year as among the top high schools in the country. Our classrooms are led by teachers who inspire, motivate, and prepare students with the knowledge and skills they will need for the future. Our dedicated teachers promote the success of every student and create a caring learning environment where every student is valued and recognized as an active learner.

Working closely with our school board, parents, teachers, and community stakeholders, we have made a number of positive and exciting changes for our system during my first year as superintendent. We developed the FCPS Portrait of a Graduate that will serve as a foundation on which to build a long-range strategic plan for the school system and will lessen the focus on standardized, high-stakes testing and place greater emphasis on engaged students, project-based learning, and authentic assessments of student learning. The Portrait of a Graduate will ensure that our students are collaborators, communicators, creative and critical thinkers, global citizens, and goal-directed and resilient individuals when they leave FCPS.

Other significant changes that we have made include:

- ❖ The launch of full-day Mondays for all elementary students. The change will increase instructional time for students and dedicated planning time for teachers. The change to full day Mondays received overwhelming support in our community and will benefit students, teachers, and our families.

- ❖ A new standard school calendar that eliminates the need to make up inclement weather days at the end of the school year if fewer than 13 days are missed while providing two full weeks for winter break.

- ❖ The new Bailey's Upper Elementary School for the Arts and Sciences. A first of its kind for Fairfax County, this new school is being converted from a five-story office building at 6245 Leesburg Pike to provide enrollment relief for the overcrowded Bailey's Elementary School for the Arts and Sciences. The new campus will house grades 3-5, while the existing campus will house preschool to grade 2.

- ❖ A new CrisisLink text messaging tool for students and parents needing mental health support and resources. Crisis line staff respond to the text messages 24 hours a day. The text number is 703-997-5444.

The future remains very bright for FCPS families, students, and employees. I look forward to welcoming your children to our schools on Sept. 2 and making this year an exciting and rewarding year for all of our students.

Located not too far from Vienna's downtown area, are 95 acres of natural beauty at Meadowlark Botanical Gardens. Vienna resident, Aniko Tottossy who works at the Gardens' visitor center, says that Meadowlark is "the best secret in Vienna. It's beautiful all year round, has a very reasonable admission fee."

Open Wednesday through Sunday from noon to 4 p.m., The Freeman Store and Museum is one of Virginia's historic landmarks. Built in 1859, first known as the Lydecker General Store, the building had also served as a post office used by both the Federal and Confederate armies during the American Civil War. Named after Leon Freeman, first president of Vienna's Volunteer Fire Department, the house was sold to and restored by the Town of Vienna in 1976 as a United State Bicentennial project. Since then, the Freeman Store and Museum has been open to the public and is a little piece of Civil War History

THE CONNECTION

From its community-oriented atmosphere to its historic downtown, the town of Vienna has much to offer its newcomers, residents and guests. While walking down Historic Church Street, one can stop at Freeman House and Museum, ride a bike along the Washington and Old Dominion trail, have a chili dog at the locals' favorite Vienna Inn or enjoy one of the numerous free events at the Vienna Town Green located in the heart of downtown.

With walking trails, gazebos, lakes and an abundant collection of tree and flower varieties, Meadowlark has something for everyone. Don't forget to come back in December for Meadowlark's Winter Walk of Lights.

Like to ride bikes? Why not take a trip to the Washington and Old Dominion Railroad trail that runs right through downtown Vienna. W&OD is a rail trail that runs from Shirlington to Purcellville, Va. - 45 miles of paved trail built on the roadbed of the former W&OD railroad, this trail weaves through Northern Virginia's countryside and urban life. W&OD park is great for walking, running, bicycling and more.

The Vienna Town Green is located in the heart of downtown at 144 Maple Avenue East. The Town Green frequently welcomes musical quests and hosts a Free Concert Series on the Green every summer. A little more than two acres in size, the Green features a formal lawn, plaza and an amphitheater.

Opened in 1960, the Vienna Inn has become not only a landmark but also a tradition in Vienna. Whether people return for another chili dog or the friendly and charming atmosphere, not much has changed since the day it opened. Frequent visitor, David Mansfield of Vienna, says he "comes here for the all-inclusive atmosphere. You run into all types of people here and they have a friendly staff." The Vienna Inn is located at 120 East Maple Avenue.

INSIDERS' TIPS

What is So Great About Living in Vienna?

— MACKENZIE REAGAN

Kathy Nickell, works in marketing

"[Vienna has] all the advantages of D.C. while still maintaining a small-town sense of community. [There are plenty of] events for all ages, libraries, churches and friendly businesses. I have a daughter at Madison [High School], one of the town's excellent schools."

Prudy Brown, 40-year resident

"What's the best community event in Vienna? When my children were young, [they enjoyed] the Halloween parade. Vienna has a nice small-town feel and a close-knit community." (Brown volunteers as a Master Gardener through the county's Green Spring Gardens Virginia Cooperative Extension program, giving gardening advice and troubleshooting tips.)

Gary Moonan, works in IT; 17-year resident

"Vienna is great because it's a welcoming and friendly community. [There's] the W&OD Trail," where Moonan rides his bike, and historic places like Church Street's Freeman Store, originally built in 1859. "The history is what makes it unique." Other downtown Vienna highlights include "shops like Caffè Amouri," a locally-owned coffee shop.

Annette Lane, acupuncturist; 20-year resident

"The small-town feel combined with big-city amenities is what makes Vienna special. There's a variety of restaurants and a nice mix of cultures in the downtown area. Additionally, the schools are good, and the people are super nice."

Marilyn Parks, government employee, resident for 20 years

"One highlight of the city? It has a lot of community spirit. People seem to come together here. Another is Waters Field, home to local youth sports teams. [Vienna is] a nice place to live."

has assured both the Council and the members of the Ayr Hill Garden Club, who maintain the garden, that it can be shifted to the caboose site in the nearby Centennial Park area.

She said the Town would partner with the garden club to construct a raised bed there and install a walkway around its perimeter. The Town will provide the materials for the raised bed and will work with the club to help with the move.

Vienna Mayor Jane Seeman when she announced her retirement in January.

Memorial to Seeman

After serving on the Vienna Town Council, M. Jane Seeman was Vienna's mayor for 14 years until her death from lung cancer on Feb. 23.

She was beloved by family, friends and colleagues and Town residents. So now, the Town Council members are considering the best way to honor her memory.

During a June work session of the Town Council, Mayor Laurie DiRocco said the Council could work together on it with the businesses, residents, civic organizations and churches who want to participate.

Carole Wolfand, chairman of the Vienna Business Assn. Board of Directors, said the business she owns, Vienna Paint & Decorating, ran a promotion to raise money to enhance something within the Town that everyone could enjoy. The effort yielded $8,600.

"As Jane became more ill, I gave her the check so that, if we decided to do something, the money's already there," said Wolfand. "Jane, her daughter [Linda Colbert] and I talked about doing a memorial to her in the town. A group of us chatted about public art and Jane's visions of the Town green. I think the best idea is to involve the Town and its residents."

Postnet owner James Cudney said he'd like "to build an identity in Vienna and come up with initiatives and projects to create public art in the Town." And Councilwoman Edythe Kelleher noted that "Linda Sullivan of the Fairfax County Arts Council spoke with people about it and has their ideas."

DiRocco said the Town will have to decide what kind of memorial it wants and if it'll be art or something else. Cudney suggested that businesses could make donations specifically for the memorial to the Town. And DiRocco said a committee should be created "to look at the [memorial] options and vet the artists."

Wolfand said it should be a combination of the Town, businesses and residents, and Councilman Howard Springsteen said this committee could then come back with a recommendation regarding the memorial.

What's on the Ballot; How to Vote

Election Day is Nov. 4, 2014, but you can vote as early as Sept. 19.

Every year is Election Year in Virginia. This year, every Virginia voter will choose one member of the U.S. Senate and their member of the U.S. House of Representatives. Two of Northern Virginia's three house seats are open seats with the retirement of two longstanding members, Jim Moran (D-8) and Frank Wolf (R-10).

This area has very high rates of voter registration, but voter turnout varies significantly from year to year. For example, two years ago in 2012, a presidential election year, 71.78 percent of Virginia registered voters turned out to vote. But in 2010, more comparable to this year, only 44.01 percent of Virginia registered voters turned out to vote.

In Fairfax County, with a population around 1,130,900, there are 713,025 registered voters as of July 1, 2014, up from 676,802 in 2012. (Population data from U.S. Census and voter data from Virginia Department of Elections.)

In Alexandria, with a population of about 148,900, there are 97,883 total registered voters as of July 1, 2014. That's down from 101,887 total registered voters as of July 2, 2012.

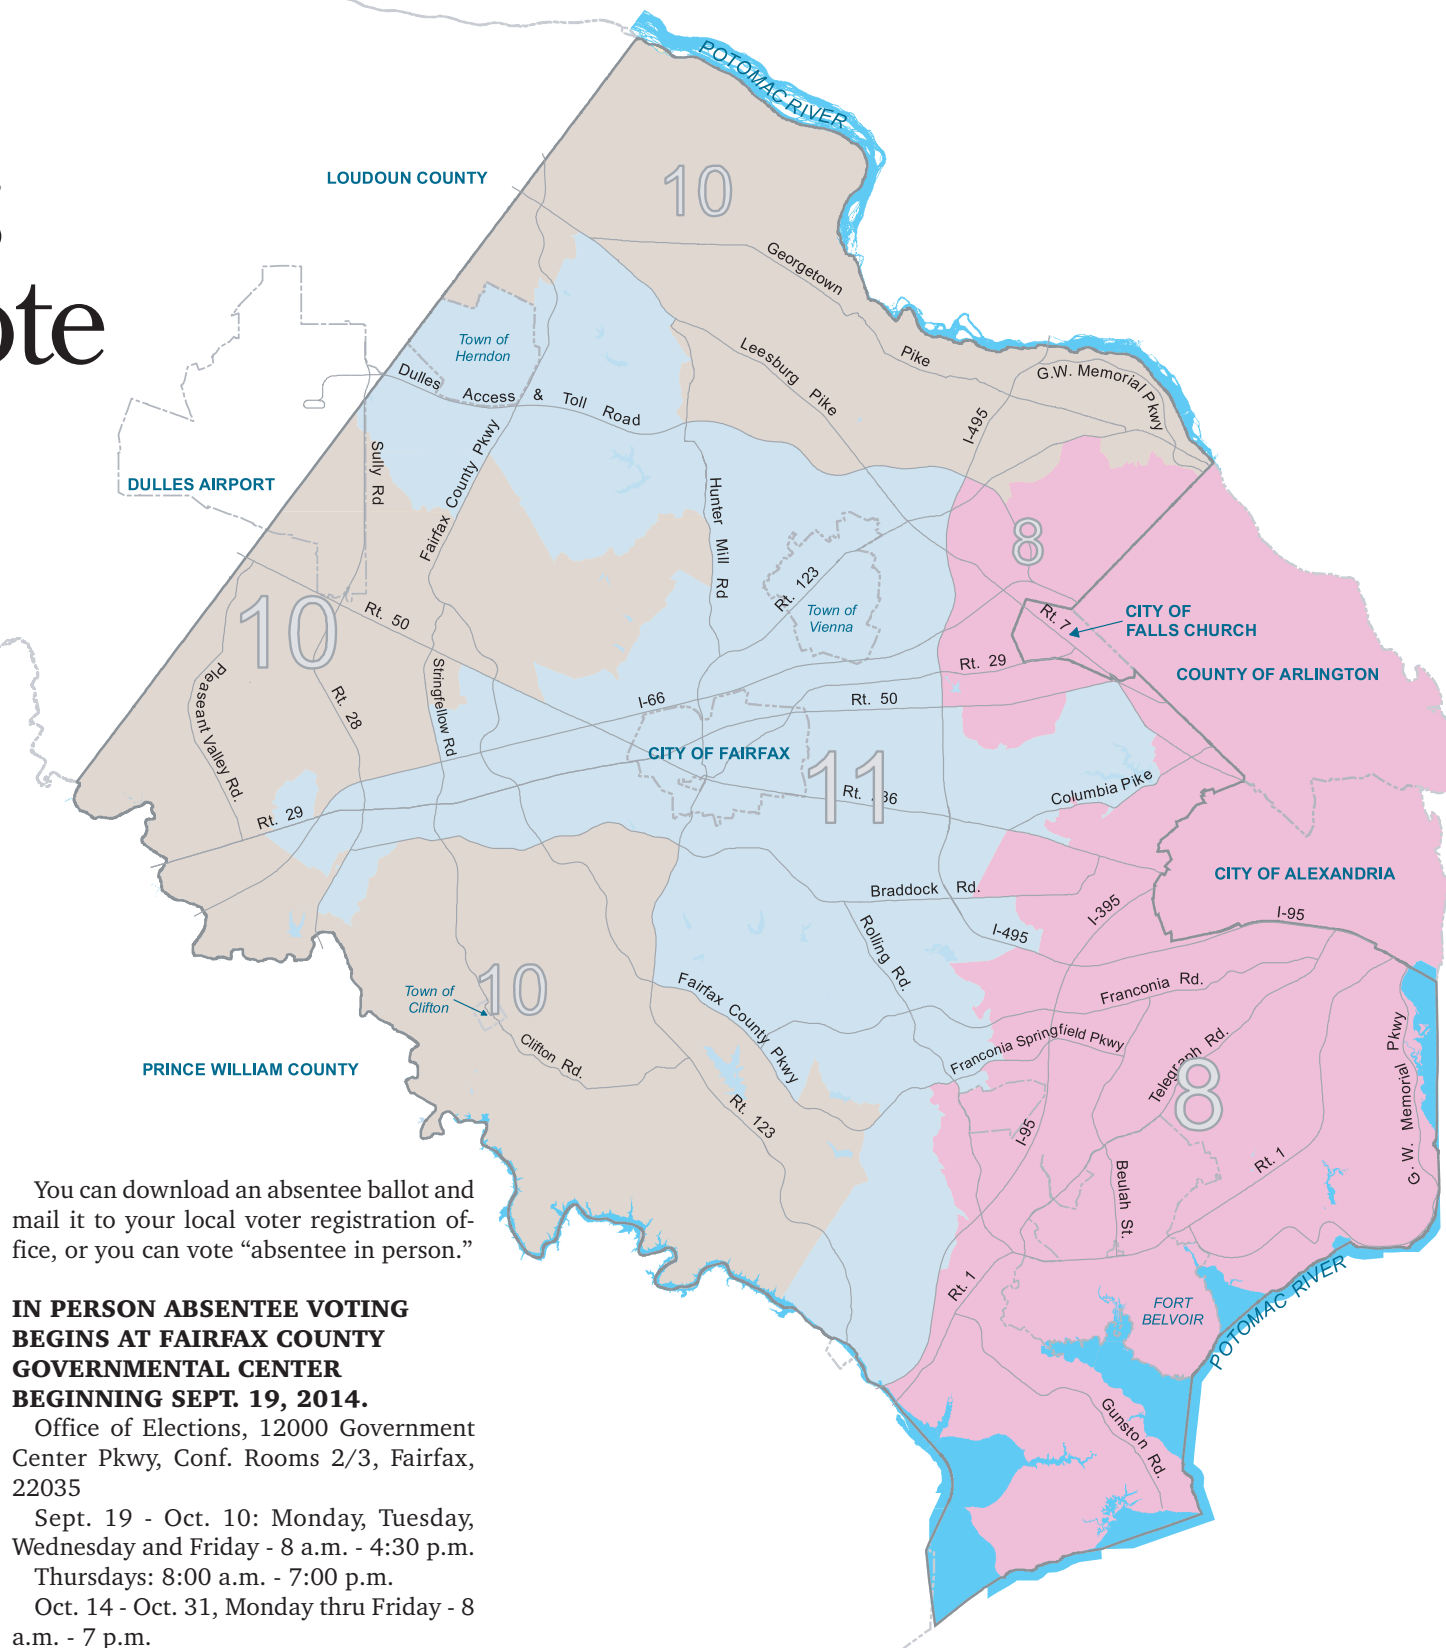

In Arlington, with a population of about 224,900, there are 162,100 total registered voters as of July 1, 2014, up from 157,236 on July 2, 2012.

REGISTER, CHANGE OF ADDRESS: In order to vote on Election Day, you must be registered at your current address no later than Oct. 13, 2014. You can check your registration status online by going to www.sbe.virginia.gov.

VOTING EARLY, ABSENTEE

Virtually every voter in Virginia is eligible to vote absentee, which includes voting in-person absentee at a variety of locations between Sept. 19 and Nov. 1.

There are many reasons that voters are allowed to vote absentee, but the most broad of these applies to almost anyone with a job: "Any person who, in the regular and orderly course of his business, profession, or occupation, will be at his place of work and commuting to and from his home to his place of work for eleven or more hours of the thirteen that the polls are open (6 a.m. to 7 p.m.)."

MAP PROVIDED BY FAIRFAX COUNTY GOVERNMENT

You can download an absentee ballot and mail it to your local voter registration office, or you can vote "absentee in person."

IN PERSON ABSENTEE VOTING BEGINS AT FAIRFAX COUNTY GOVERNMENTAL CENTER BEGINNING SEPT. 19, 2014.

WHAT'S ON THE BALLOT?

Every voter in Virginia will vote for U.S. Senator and their member in the U.S. House of Representatives.

One constitutional question will appear on all Virginia ballots, Proposed Constitutional Amendment - Question: Shall the Constitution of Virginia be amended to allow the General Assembly to exempt from taxation the real property of the surviving spouse of any member of the armed forces of the United States who was killed in action, where the surviving spouse occupies the real property as his or her principal place of residence and has not remarried?

IN FAIRFAX COUNTY, all voters will vote yes or no for more money for transportation projects. Transportation Improvements Bond Question: Shall the Board of Supervisors contract a debt, borrow money and issue bonds of Fairfax County, Virginia, in addition to bonds previously authorized for transportation improvements and facilities, in the maximum aggregate principal amount of $100,000,000 for the purpose of providing funds to finance the cost of constructing, reconstructing, improving and acquiring transportation facilities, including improvements to primary and secondary State highways, improvements related to transit, improvements for pedestrians and bicycles, and ancillary related improvements and facilities?

IN THE CITY OF FAIRFAX, voters will also vote on an advisory Referendum regarding length of term for Offices of Mayor, City Council and School Board, and whether the term of office should be increased from two years to four years.

New Voter Identification Requirements

As of this summer, there are new requirements for voter identification that voters must bring with them to the polling place.

Virginia law requires all voters to provide an acceptable form of photo identification at the polls. Voters arriving to the polls without photo ID will be allowed to vote a provisional ballot and will have until noon on the Friday after the election to deliver a copy of identification to their locality's electoral board in order for their provisional ballot to be counted.

Virginia's photo ID requirements also apply to absentee voters who vote in-person in all elections.

Here are the "acceptable" forms of identification:

◊ Valid Virginia Driver's License or Identification Card

◊ Valid Virginia DMV issued Veteran's ID card

◊ Valid United States Passport

◊ Other government-issued photo identification cards (must be issued by US Government, the Commonwealth of Virginia, or a political subdivision of the Commonwealth

◊ Valid college or university student photo identification card, must be from an institution of higher education located in Virginia.

◊ Employee identification card containing a photograph of the voter and issued by an employer of the voter in the ordinary course of the employer's business

◊ or a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card obtained through any local general registrar's office

"Valid" is defined as a genuine document, bearing the photograph of the voter, and is not expired for more than 12 months.

A voter who does not bring an acceptable photo ID to the polls will be offered a provisional ballot.

DON'T HAVE ONE OF THESE?

Provisional Ballot Process

A voter who arrives at the polling place without an acceptable form of photo identification will be given the opportunity to vote a provisional ballot. After completing the provisional ballot, the individual voting will be given written instructions from the election officials on how to submit a copy of his/her identification so that his/her vote can be counted.

A voter will have until noon on the Friday following the election to deliver a copy of the identification to the local electoral board. Voters may submit a copy of their ID via fax, email, in-person submission, or through USPS or commercial delivery service. Please note that the copy of the ID must be delivered to the electoral board by noon on Friday, or the provisional ballot cannot be counted. A Friday postmark will not be sufficient. Written notice given to the voter will provide the necessary information, including email, fax, and address of where the ID should be delivered.

IF YOU VOTE A PROVISIONAL BALLOT but don't have an "acceptable ID," you can appear in-person in the office of the general registrar in the locality in which the provisional ballot was cast by noon on Friday following the election and apply for a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card. At the completion of the application process, the voter may request a Temporary Identification Document. This document can be provided to the electoral board as acceptable identification and the voter's provisional ballot will be counted.

Fairfax's Success Story

50 Years in the Making

BY GERALD L. GORDON, PH.D.

If you are a newcomer to Fairfax County, allow me to welcome you to one of the most dynamic communities anywhere in the world to live and work. It was the vision of many people to create this kind of community, so please allow me to offer a quick history lesson.

The Capital Beltway was completed in 1964. The same year the iconic highway opened, the Virginia General Assembly passed a law that created what is now called the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority. In the last 50 years, creation and growth of a diversified business community and local economy transformed a sleepy bedroom community in the shadow of the nation's capital into what Time magazine has called "one of the great economic success stories of our time."

How much of a success story? Fairfax County was home to no Fortune 500 companies in 1964, and today 10 of those businesses are based here. That's more than 30 states. Today more than 400 foreign-owned businesses have a presence here, as do four companies on Black Enterprise magazine's list of the 100 largest African American-owned companies, three companies on HispanicBusiness.com's list of the 100 largest Hispanic-owned companies, and top companies that are Asian-, woman- and veteran-owned.

Today Fairfax County is the second-largest suburban office market in the United States. Almost no matter where you live, you can see how the county continues to evolve as a business location. The first phase of Metro's Silver Line rail service further enhances the attractiveness of Tysons Corner and Reston, while the second phase will link Herndon and Washington Dulles International Airport to the rest of the Washington region in 2018.

Southeastern Fairfax County (Springfield, Lorton and the Richmond Highway corridor) are becoming important office centers thanks to growth at Fort Belvoir. The Mosaic District in Merrifield is a popular destination, and the Springfield Town Center opening this fall promises to be a magnet for that area.

As I suggested earlier, this evolution of Fairfax County has been no accident. It has been a strategy driven by a consistent vision: A strong and consistent economic development program that attracts companies and helps them stay and grow here creates job opportunities, builds a strong commercial tax base that holds down residential taxes, and allows the Board of Supervisors to provide high-quality public services that enhance the quality of life here.

Yes, Fairfax County has changed tremendously since 1964. But, even with all the progress that has happened, we believe even better times lay ahead.

Gerald L. Gordon, Ph.D., is president and CEO of the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority.

From BJ Koubaroulis' 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Pete Schourek gained national notoriety in 1995 when he finished second to Major League Baseball pitching sensation Greg Maddux in the race for the National League Cy Young Award — awarded to baseball's top pitchers each year. Schourek nailed down 18 wins that season and picked up the Game 1 victory for the Cincinnati Reds in their eventual five-game series victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League Division Series.

"... Schourek dominated his way through his high school days and was an all-state selection by the time he was drafted by the New York Mets in the second round of the 1987 Major League Baseball amateur draft. He signed a contract on June 11, 1987 and made his major league debut in April of 1991. ... Schourek's 11-year major league career included time with the New York Mets, Cincinnati Reds, Houston Astros, Boston Red Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates. In time spent with those teams, Schourek compiled a career 4.59 earned run average, 66-77 record in 176 starts and 288 games in 1,149 innings. After four surgeries on his elbow (1986, 1996, 1997, 2000), Schourek walked away from the majors, telling the Connection in a 2004 article that his arm could not withstand the constant pounding required to pitch in the big leagues after all of his surgeries. But that was not before he had his time to shine in 1995 when he finished second in the National League Cy Young voting after posting an 18-7 record in 29 starts (190.3 innings pitched) while giving up 68 earned runs and striking out 160 batters."

Madison: Girls' basketball one win shy of the state tournament.

What Happened Last Year: The girls' basketball team finished Conference 6 runner-up and reached the region semifinals. The softball team finished 19-6 and reached the region quarterfinals.

From The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: 11. Bob Brower, a 1978 graduate, excelled in four sports for the Warhawks. In his best season, 1987, Brower batted .261 with 14 home runs and 46 RBIs in 127 games.

From BJ Koubaroulis' 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Bob Brower, a 1978 graduate and the only athlete ever to letter in four sports in one year at James Madison High School, is one of those legendary figures. The type of figure whose name has grown in local sports lore. The plaque on Madison's wall of fame just outside the gymnasium in which Brower's No. 10 jersey was retired, reads: 'One of the greatest athletes ever at JM.' ...

Brower was an all-region selection in all four of his sports: baseball, basketball, football and track.

'He crushed the ball. It went over the fence and into the parking lot,' remembered former NFL and Clemson football player Billy Davis, who was a sophomore at Mt. Vernon in the spring of 1978 when he watched Brower's towering home run sail nearly 420 feet. 'He was a stud.'"

18. Katie Smrcka-Duffy, a 1996 graduate, was a basketball star at the high school and college levels. She helped the Warhawks win the 1996 region title before playing collegiately at North Carolina State and Georgetown. She was selected in the fourth round of the 2001 WNBA draft by the Sacramento Monarchs.

From Koubaroulis' 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Smrcka-Duffy averaged 28.8 points per game, eight rebounds, 4.7 steals, 3.7 assists and shot 52.4-percent from the field and 34.4-percent from the three-point line as a senior en route to being named the Washington Post's All-Met Player of the Year. In her time at Madison, she led the Warhawks to a 104-12 overall record. Smrcka-Duffy remains one of the greatest girls basketball players ever to emerge from the Northern Region. She left high school in 1996 with her name printed seven times in the Virginia High School League record books including a second place finish in career points (2,463) and points in a single season (950). She was sixth all-time for most three-pointers made in a career (179) — an accomplishment that Deegan finds more interesting than any of Smrcka-Duffy's other accomplishments."

25. Jay Franklin, a 1971 graduate, was a baseball star for the Warhawks. The San Diego Padres selected him with the No. 2 overall pick in the 1971 draft, but his career was cut short by injuries.

Oakton: The girls' cross country team won the 2013 6A state title

What Happened Last Year: The girls' cross country team won the 6A state championship. John Stoney won the boys' individual state cross country title. The girls' basketball team won the Conference 5 championship. The baseball team repeated as conference/district champion.

From The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: *42. Eugene Chung, a 1987 graduate, was a two-way lineman for the Oakton football team who went on to play at Virginia Tech and was selected by the Buffalo Bills in the first round of the 1992 NFL Draft.

From BJ Koubaroulis' 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes: "Chung, who eventually grew to 6-feet 4-inches tall and 295-pounds, was an offensive and defensive lineman who sculpted his body into that of a Div. 1 collegiate prospect and an eventual NFL draft pick. He bought in to former Oakton coach Bob Herb's weight room regiment — a new school of thought in the Northern Region. ... But before Chung could go on to find success at Virginia Tech and in the NFL, he would suffer through trying times at Oakton, at least before his senior year. Chung's mother died when he was young and his father passed away days before the New England Patriots made him the 13th overall pick in the 1992 NFL draft (first Asian player to be selected in the first round.) He championed a defense that helped Oakton fight back from a winless streak that spanned both the 1985 and in 1986 seasons. Oakton finished in last place in the Northern District with an 0-9-1 record in 1986.

"... Chung went on to become a selection for the Football Writers Association

All-America team following his senior season at Virginia Tech. He was the first offensive lineman to win first-team All-America honors. He started every game at tackle for the Hokies in 1991, allowing just one sack in 730 plays. He was honored as the National Lineman of the Year by the Washington Gridiron Club. He played with the New England Patriots in the NFL from 1992-1994 before playing brief stints with Jacksonville, Indianapolis, and Kansas City."

*83. Jasmine Thomas, a 2007 graduate, was a basketball star for the Cougars. She played collegiately at Duke University before starting her WNBA career. She has played for the Washington Mystics and the Atlanta Dream.

From Koubaroulis' 2006 profile for The Connection's Top 100 Athletes, when Thomas had yet to graduate: "Jasmine Thomas is only a rising senior in high school. The career statistics for Thomas, arguably one of the greatest — if not the greatest — Northern Region girls' basketball player, have not been finalized. But it is the Oakton guard's accomplishments, coupled with her potential, that has, at such a young age, already catapulted her into Northern Region lore.

'I think Jasmine is going to surpass all of them,' said Oakton girls basketball coach Fred Priester after naming some of the region's greatest girls basketball players."
