The same bank,
yet better.
All you had before,
yet more.

“The leaders you trust and more financial expertise...plus, the added strength to take you further.”

The community we share is the only community we focus on and support. As a local bank, growing includes growing our ability to serve you better. Growing by combining with a bank that has a similar culture and deep commitment to our community.

- A bank with strong, local leadership... leadership that sees eye-to-eye with each other when it comes to serving our valuable customers.
- A bank that ascertains your particular needs first—and then is able to offer customized solutions.
- A bank with a strong commitment to relationship-building and that shares our same core values.

Committed to great relationships.
Committed to your success.

Growing so you can grow.
Leadership to help
you succeed.

“Local, loyal, and listening...what your bank should be—and still is.”

Your business, financial success, and the health of our community are all critically important to us both. That is probably one of the main reasons you chose to bank with us. When it comes time to grow our bank—so that we can grow our menu of products, loan capabilities, and service to you—we take it very seriously. It must be a local community bank. Like ours.

- A bank that shares our same values and culture.
- A bank with our same focus on the health of our community and on providing superior customer service.
- A bank that offers strong leadership.
- A bank we would pick first because it is most like ours.

Nauck Community Celebrates 170th Birthday

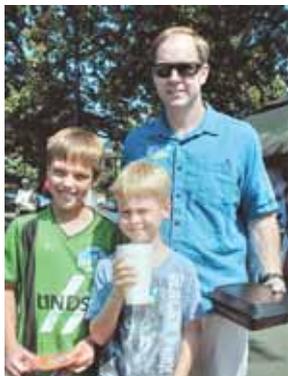

Residents and friends gathered at the Drew Model School and Community Center on Saturday, Sept. 20, to celebrate the Nauck community's 170th birthday with a day of civic and community pride. The Nauck community, bounded by the Army-Navy Country Club (east), South 16th Road (north), Four Mile Run (south), and South Walter Reed Drive (west), was initially settled in 1844 by a free black man, Levi Jones. Nauck began its gradual growth into an African American community when former residents of Freedman's Village began moving into the area after the Civil War. Student Awards were presented to the following winners:

- ❖ Robert Winkler Award for Public Service - Kirsten Pettiway.
- ❖ Jennie Davis Leadership Award - Kiana Carter.

❖ Gary Barbee Memorial Award - Layla Amarir. Other activities included health and nutrition presentations and Zumba classes held inside the Drew Community Center. Birthday cake was served at 3 p.m. The event was organized by Portia A. Clark.

New Law Protects Pets in Abusive Households

AWLA's Safekeeping program provides temporary shelter.

BY ASHLEY CLAIRE SIMPSON
THE CONNECTION

Due to a new law, as of July 1, a judge can make decisions regarding a pet's care and custody when they have been in abusive households.

The Animal Welfare League of Arlington (AWLA) has been helping pets in a variety of crises through its Safekeeping program since 2005. Safekeeping provides a free, temporary refuge for pets in compromising situations so that their owners can reassume responsibility when they are able. With the passage of the Virginia Pet Protection Act, AWLA expects to see more activity for its Safekeeping program in the coming months.

"Hardship can strike at any time and force less than desirable circumstances on a pet," said Neil Trent, president and CEO of AWLA. "In recent years, a strong connection has been documented linking animal abuse and domestic violence. Women often delay their decision to leave an abusive partner out of concern for the safety of their pets."

In a time of the financial crisis during the mid-2000s, when foreclosures were wider spread, Safekeeping was launched to provide a temporary shelter for pets whose owners planned to ultimately reunite with their animals. The AWLA recognized that there are a plethora of circumstances that strip loving pet owners of the financial and emotional faculties to care for their animals. As it has evolved, Safekeeping has seen its fair share of animals rescued from dangerous situations.

Although not specifically designed for animals who have been in domestically abusive households, Safekeeping is no stranger to helping out pets in need and is optimal for pets and owners affected by the recent law. It has helped pets in the midst of fore

Deadly Medicaid Debacle

Literally killing poor people who could have health care, while refusing to give Virginia's economy a boost.

The poor people of Virginia are so seriously harmed by the actions of the Virginia General Assembly in refusing to expand Medicaid at little additional cost to the Commonwealth that those harmed should have some legal recourse.

The damage will cost many lives and the productivity of many.

People who will needlessly die of cancer undetected until it is too late. People whose productive lives will be cut short because of untreated diabetes.

People who will finally qualify for Medicare and Medicaid because they are permanently disabled after stroke or heart attack that could have been prevented.

Examples of health harm beyond the poor: There are the extra flu cases because a working person who doesn't have health insurance so doesn't get a flu shot also can't afford to be off work and infects other by being at work while sick.

With whooping cough on the rise, people who will be around infants are advised to get a booster shot to protect the infants for whom the disease can be deadly, but if you don't have health coverage, you are unlikely to get the booster.

Vulnerable people, elderly, young children, people with chronic illness, people on chemotherapy, will get sick more than necessary even though they have insurance because of the 200,000-plus people integrated in all aspects of our communities who do not have access to basic health care.

Meanwhile, leaders lament the loss of federal dollars in Virginia due to the sequester and reduced spending on defense, homeland security and other programs.

Pass Medicaid Expansion Now

Our health care system is neither healthy nor accessible for many women, but Richmond lawmakers have an opportunity to make improvements. They need to stop playing politics with people's lives and begin to start governing.

In large swaths of Virginia, particularly in low-income neighborhoods, women are suffering. This suffering affects the well being of all of us, not just the children and communities that are directly affected.

You probably didn't know that childless uninsured women are not eligible for Medicaid in Virginia even if they are planning to have children. Moreover, for many mothers who are eligible, they lose their Medicaid coverage 60 days after giving birth because they exceed the very low-income requirements to qualify for Virginia's sparse Medicaid program. This exacerbates an already stressful period in a mother's life.

In fact, mothers in most parts of Virginia qualify for Medicaid only if they earn less than 40 percent of the federal poverty line. This means that a single mother in Richmond cannot receive Medicaid if she makes $6,100 a year or more. But if Virginia participated in Medicaid Expansion, a program for which we are already sending tax dollars ($5 million per day) to Washington, hard working individuals, including women, earning up to 138 percent of the federal poverty line would gain insurance coverage. Virginia's tax dollars are supporting Medicaid Expansion in 29 other states but not here at home.

Here is the one place where Virginia's economy could get a boost. Expanding Medicaid would create an estimated 30,000 jobs and pump hundreds of millions of dollars into Virginia's economy. Hospitals support expanding Medicaid which would offset many of the costs of caring for uninsured populations. So far, Virginia has lost out on about $1 billion that could be creating jobs and making our local economy healthier in addition to protecting health in our communities.

Business groups and chambers of commerce around Virginia, including the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, support the expansion of Medicaid in Virginia under the Affordable Care Act.

In Virginia, Medicaid eligibility for adults without disability is almost nonexistent, limited to parents with incomes below 51 percent of poverty, or about $11,900 a year for a family of four, according to the Kaiser Family Foundation. Adults without dependent children remain ineligible regardless of their income. Refusing to expand Medicaid is hurting all of us, but the most vulnerable are hurting the most.

Medicaid Expansion may not be perfect but the cost of not going forward is astronomical. We all know that maternal health is critically important for the healthy development of a child. This means that prospective moms can only achieve a healthy state if they have access to care before pregnancy as well as access to pre and post-natal care. Preventing low-birth weight babies and developmentally delayed babies is something we must embrace. Virginia cannot afford to wait; we must pass Medicaid Expansion now.

Promoting Expanded Health Coverage

Anita, a 4-year-old student at Northern Virginia Family Service's Head Start program in Arlington, presents Gov. Terry McAuliffe and his wife, Dorothy, with artwork to commemorate their visit on Friday, Sept. 19, to promote health coverage. The Governor stressed that Virginia children have fallen behind their neighbors such as West Virginia and Washington, D.C., in enrolling children in Medicaid or FAMIS (Family Access to Medical Insurance Security). Anita is supported by her teacher, Neelu Bawa, and NVFS President and CEO Mary Agee. Supporting the event were attendees from NVFS' partners in health access and multicultural programs, including Del Patrick Hope (D-47), the Virginia Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, Neighbors Keeper, United Community Ministries, Voices of Virginia Children, INOVA Health System - Partnership for Healthier Kids, First Focus, Neighborhood Health and Multicultural Family and Education Center.

'D.C. Daniel, Washington Superhero'

Sue Pyatt, author of "Call Me Madame President" and owner of Kinder Haus Toys, spins a tale for ages 4-9 in "D.C. Daniel, Washington Superhero." Her hero, 8-year-old Daniel, witnesses a candy-store robbery on Capitol Hill committed by a bad guy who slips and drops his bag of stolen money and candy. Quick-witted Daniel retrieves it and leads the robber on a chase through many Washington landmarks. Dana Saxerud adds her illustrations. Saxerud is also a long-time resident of Arlington. For many years, she has worked as an illustrator, muralist, and painter in the Washington, D.C. area.

Book events will take place Saturday, Sept. 27 from 1-3 p.m. at Kinder Haus Toys, 1220 N. Fillmore St. Pyatt and Saxerud will sign. Daniel will read. Call 703-527-5929.

Yorktown freshman outside hitter Catherine Vaccaro, an all-tournament team selection, goes up for a kill attempt during the 2014 Rebel Volleyball Invitational on Sept. 20 at Fairfax High School.

Yorktown senior setter Michelle Laker was named to the all-tournament team during the 2014 Rebel Volleyball Invitational on Saturday at Fairfax High School.

Yorktown Volleyball Competes at Rebel Invitational

Yorktown senior setter Michelle Laker and freshman outside hitter Catherine Vaccaro performed well on Saturday, earning places on the all-tournament team during the 2014 Rebel Volleyball Invitational at Fairfax High School.

As a team, however, head coach Sheena Eldred described the Patriots' performance as "not our best showing thus far."

The Yorktown volleyball team finished third in the three-team Pool B and lost to Islamic Saudi Academy in the silver-bracket semifinals. However, the performances of Laker and Vaccaro were bright spots.

"Michelle and Cat are awesome players and girls," Eldred wrote in an email. "Michelle, as a senior and captain helps run my offense and poses a big threat on the offensive end, as well. Cat is only a freshman and shows so much potential for being one of the best players in the region in years to come."

Yorktown hosted Edison on Monday, losing 3-2. Vaccaro finished with 13 kills and Laker had six kills and 25 assists. Isabel Zavada finished with six kills and 12 digs, and Rachael Osborne totaled 17 digs.

The Patriots (3-4) will host Fairfax at 7:15 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 29.

Wakefield Football 3-0 for First Time Since 1986

The Wakefield football team defeated Thomas Jefferson 49-14 on Sept. 19 at Wakefield High School, giving the Warriors a 3-0 record for the first time since 1986.

It was also the first time Wakefield won back-to-back home openers since the Warriors accomplished the feat in 1986 and 1987.

Bemnet Seyoum led the Wakefield rushing attack with 71 yards and two touchdowns. Kareem Hall carried four times for 15 yards and two scores. Riley Wilson completed 6 of 12 passes for 88 yards and two touchdowns. Leon Young had 12 carries for 67 yards and caught one pass for four yards and a touchdown. Wakefield started 2-0 last season, beating Marshall and George Mason, but lost its next seven games. This year, the Warriors again defeated the Statesmen and Mustangs, but this time added a third consecutive victory.

"Of course, it is nice to be a part of that accomplishment, but our team goals are to win much more than three games," Wakefield head coach Wayne Hogwood wrote in an email. "Last year we started 2-0 and then lost seven straight, so we can't afford to get caught up in records and history. ... The win against TJ was big for us for a few reasons. First, because we got to get a little revenge from last year. Secondly, they are a part of our new conference, so those wins are important. Lastly, TJ is always a smart football team and are coached well, so it's good to get a win against them."

Robertson, nose guard Anthony Tham and defensive tackle Maurice Gaskins as standouts. Wakefield will travel to face Edison at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 26.

W-L Football Improves to 2-1

The Washington-Lee football team defeated Stuart 41-16 on Friday, improving its record to 2-1.

The Generals will host Hayfield at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 26.

Yorktown Football Bounces Back

One week after suffering its first loss of the season, the Yorktown football team defeated Edison 27-15 on Sept. 19 at Yorktown High School, improving its record to 2-1.

The Patriots will travel to face Falls Church at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 26.

SCHOOL NOTES

Email announcements to arlington@connectionnewspapers.com. Deadline is Thursday at noon. Photos are welcome.

Alex Malchow, class of 2017, is a member of the Denison University football team. Denison is located in Granville, Ohio. Alex is a native of Arlington and a graduate of St. Johns College High School.

The Middle States Association Commissions on Elementary and Secondary Schools has selected Daniel L. Stabile, Ph.D., a college counselor at Bishop O'Connell High School, as the recipient of this year's F. Laird Evans Outstanding Volunteer Award. Stabile is the former Director of Navy Schools Overseas and Navy Impact Aid Schools and was the recipient of the 2009 NASA Outstanding Educator Award. He also serves as president of the National Council for the Promotion of the Italian Languages in American Schools. In 2011, he was awarded Commendatore in the Order of The Star of Italy, a title given by the President of Italy to Italians abroad and foreign who have promoted ties with Italy.

Presented annually, the award recognizes a dedicated volunteer who has advanced the mission of the Middle States Association to foster continuous school improvement through accreditation so all students receive the highest quality education possible. Volunteers serve on accreditation teams that evaluate schools based on an established set of protocols and standards designed to reflect best practices in education. F. Laird Evans is the former president of the Middle States Commission on Elementary Schools. The Middle States Association will formally present Stabile with the award at its bi-annual meeting in Philadelphia on Oct. 2.

Arlington Public Schools Superintendent Dr. Pat Murphy, School Board Vice Chair Dr. Emma Violand-Sanchez, APS administrators and principals were in Richmond on Tuesday to be presented with the U.S. Senate Productivity and Quality Awards for Virginia and the District of Columbia (SPQA) Medallion of Excellence Award.

Protecting Pets from Abuse

closure, catastrophic illness, owner's death, flood and fire in the nine years it has been running.

"At AWLA our steadfast mission is to improve the lives of animals and one way in which we accomplish this objective is through our Safekeeping program," Trent said. "During a crisis, pet owners just need a little short-term help until they are reestablished, but often times they have no one willing to take care of their animals and they can't afford boarding fees."

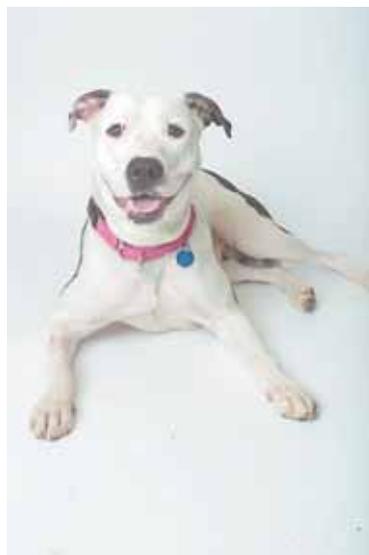

The Safekeeping program is designed to take pressure off pet owners for two weeks while they get the help they need. Knowing that these animals are in safe hands gives people in crises less to worry about.

"Having the animal cared for in a safe area is important," Trent said. "When the issue is resolved, there is going to be a pet to come back to the family. It's been very popular."

Although not designed to be a long-term solution, Safekeeping is an option for people and pets who are in need of rescue from domestic upheaval.

The program is free and available for pets of residents of Arlington County and the City of Falls Church. Pets can stay at the Safekeeping shelter for up to two weeks and the pet's owner has to contact AWLA once a week to check on their pets. People can also visit their animals staying with Safekeeping during AWLA's regular business hours.

One Arlington resident, Sandra Danford-Blackledge, placed her white Pit Bull, Buddy, in Safekeeping's hands last January as a last resort. Her husband had to live outside with Buddy because their Arlington winter shelter could not accept canines. When she and her husband were both hospitalized and unable to be adequate caretakers, they turned to Safekeeping.

"It was traumatizing to put him somewhere, but we had nowhere else," Danford-Blackledge said. "We were so concerned he thought we were just abandoning him. But, I think the people that work there are really caring and they like their jobs and are good with the animals, so I felt confident. They were just so loving and so caring." She noted the people at Safekeeping even accommodated Buddy's picky taste when he was not eating the regular food they served.

Since its inception, Safekeeping has cared for more than 200 animals before reuniting them with their owners.

"We try to be as supportive as we possibly can," Trent said. "We will work with families. The situation is meant to be temporary, but we will work with families."

To learn more about community services, like the Safekeeping program or adoptable animals, visit www.awla.org or call 703/931-9241. AWLA's diverse selection of companion animals including cats, dogs, rabbits, birds and hamsters can also be viewed by downloading the free Arlington Pets App.

Post-Chemo Weak

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

For the past year, every three weeks I have been infused with a chemotherapy drug called Alimta, "the last miracle drug," to quote my oncologist, and a drug with which I hadn't previously been infused. The fear then and now is that once this drug stops working – and for the last 12 months the results have been extremely encouraging – my alternatives, given my underlying kidney issues, are grim. The reason being, if I understand correctly, (and there's an excellent chance that I don't) is that cancer cells don't respond nearly as well to repeated exposure to the same drug. They sort of become accustomed to it and subsequent treatment is much less effective, if at all, so some other drug has to be prescribed with the chance of continuing success hardly guaranteed. My current treatment is working so well that when I asked my oncologist if perhaps we could spread out my infusions an extra week to allow my body to recuperate a bit, his answer was an emphatic "No." Because it is working so well, and because I have so few alternatives if change were truly necessary, the status should remain quo (which is no problem, really).

However, within the last six months or so of this treatment, I have experienced a change in my post-chemo week symptoms. Food, uncharacteristically, has no appeal to me. Psychologically, the prospect of eating food with which I am exceedingly familiar is a complete turnoff. Complicated by the extremely-less-than-satisfying aftertaste, the combination presents food challenges all day long. The result is that I lose my appetite, lose the enjoyment I derive from eating, lose energy/fuel to maintain my normal routine, upset my sleep, then become tired and depressed about the whole cycle of gloom I've just described. And so far, there seems to be nothing I can do, nothing I can eat, nothing I can change to affect this pattern. I just have to wait it out. It takes a week or so to pass.

Granted, in the scheme of cancer things, considering I am alive and reasonably well 67 months post-diagnosis, this blip is certainly manageable and nothing really to complain about; more something to write about as I so regularly do, sharing in sometimes excruciating details the ups and downs and all-arounds of living in the cancer lane. And therein lies the key word: "living" with cancer, as in, I'm still writing (wink, wink). And though I would prefer to not have been originally diagnosed back in February, 2009, I have made the most of it nonetheless, and shared "the most of it" with you regular readers. What I think I have learned in this entire cancer experience (hardly could one call it an adventure) is a type of patience; where context, perspective and controlling expectations, both good and bad – are fundamental to surviving. Fortunately, I've experienced more good than bad, but the fact that now I regularly experience a bad week shouldn't cloud my judgment. I'm still incredibly lucky during that week, just hungry and tired, and not in a very good mood. It's not perfect by any means, but perfect left the building on February 27, 2009.
