Streetcar Proposal Ignites Debate

County Board seat debate centers on mass transit.

By Vernon Miles
The Connection

rlington County Board candidates John Vihstadt (Independent) and Alan Howze (Democrat) have similar stances on many of the city's issues. Both candidates have expressed strong support for Arlington's public schools, preserving public parks and maintaining Arlington's affordable housing, but the opinions diverged dramatically when a Sept. 29 debate between the two candidates at George Mason University's Arlington Campus brought up the Columbia Pike Streetcar proposal.

The planned 7.4 mile streetcar system would run between Skyline Towers Apartments in Fairfax to Crystal City, much of it along Columbia Pike in Arlington. According to a study commissioned by the Arlington County Board, the construction of the route would cost $250 million, though estimates by the Federal Transportation say that number could swell to nearly $400 million

Incumbent Vihstadt largely credits public sentiment against the project for his victory over Howze in the April special election. His election marked the first time a non-Democrat sat on the board since 1999, but the Howze campaign hopes the upcoming election can put the question of the streetcar to rest.

"For me, this campaign comes down to this: who has vision for Arlington?" said Chris Raleigh, campaign manager for Howze. "The streetcar is going to bring in $3 billion in growth and it's going to reduce Arlington's carbon footprint."

The streetcar proposal has sharply split public opinion, even within the ranks of the Democratic Party. Division over the streetcar has already resulted in the resignation of one county board member, Libby Garvey, from the Arlington Democratic Party. Many of the advocates at the debate from the anti-streetcar organization Arlingtonians for Sensible Transit identified themselves as Democrats.

"It's part of a discussion on priorities," said Peter Rousselot, former chairman of the Arlington County Democratic Committee and leader of Arlingtonians for Sensible Transit. "We need to focus on funding the core services like schools, roads, sewers, and core functions."

"It's not just about serving the needs of the community today. We need to be looking 10 or 30 years down the road on these investments.

According to Howze, many of the criticisms of the streetcar are short-sighted and misleading, particularly the allegation that the streetcar development is sapping funds from other core government functions. Up to half of the design and construction costs for the streetcar are paid by a state grant that must be applied towards transportation and infrastructure.

"It's not just about serving the needs of the community today. We need to be looking 10 or 30 years down the road on these investments. One half of the tax revenue for Arlington comes from businesses in the community that built up around the blue line," said Howze, adding that the streetcars will carry a higher passenger capacity and will be a cleaner transportation source for the city

In particular, Howze emphasized the positive effects of the blue metro line on Arlington business.

"We've been here before 50 years ago with the metro and 10 years ago with the silver line. The John Vihstadts of the time argued against it," said Howze. "They were wrong 50 years ago, they were wrong 10 years ago, and they are wrong today."

But according to Vihstadt, comparisons between the streetcar and metro are disingenuous.

"What is a 7.4 mile streetcar line from Fairfax that ends abruptly at Potomac Yard compared to the network of an interstate metro?" asked Vihstadt, referencing Alexandria's withdrawal from the streetcar development. "What other transport projects are sacrificed?"

Vihstadt insists he is not against mass transit and cites his daily commute on the metro as evidence. His alternative to the streetcar would involve modernizing Arlington's bus network, which would cost an estimated $73 million and would offer greater flexibility than the fixed rail streetcar and could offer more regional connectivity.

— John Vihstadt

A report by HR&A Advisors, commissioned by the Arlington County Board, said the areas around the streetcar's route could see a 65 percent increase in population growth and a 44 percent increase in job growth. Overall, HR&A projected $3.2 billion to $4.4 billion in growth over the next 30 years.

However, the conclusions of the HR&A's report are being challenged. In a presentation to the County Board, Garvey expressed concerns regarding the validity of the report's comparisons. The report used data on the efficiency of light rail systems with high speed dedicated lanes, while the Arlington streetcar would not have a dedicated lane. The HR&A report's claim of large economic development gains from the similar Portland streetcar system, but this claim is disputed by the National Academy of Sciences' National Transportation Board.

Following the debate, Vihstadt and Howze remained behind to speak with audience members about issues facing Arlington, each facing several questions from the opposition regarding mass transit.

School Board Discusses Plans For More Elementary Seats

Arlington Public Schools staff update the School Board on Sept. 26 on the Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) and the alternative plans for elementary seats.

Community meetings to discuss elementary and secondary seat capacity are scheduled at various locations on Oct. 6, Oct. 16, Oct. 20 and Nov. 13. A complete schedule of meetings, with full details is available online at www.apsva.us/moreseats/calendar.

Although the Thomas Jefferson site is the School Board's preferred site for elementary capacity as noted in the CIP, the board requested an alternative elementary school plan for additions. Staff presented the alternative plan to provide additional seats through additions at other elementary schools in the southern part of the county if a new elementary school is not approved at the Thomas Jefferson site. Staff noted that the alternate locations should meet three requirements to be considered for an addition. Those requirements include:

- ❖ The additions must be located in areas of critical capacity need (in the southern part of County)
- ❖ The site must allow school capacity to increase by at least 225 seats without exceeding preferred maximum school capacity of 725 students.
- * The school should be a neighborhood school to have maximum impact for relieving overcrowding.

Chamber Supports Bond Referendum

The Arlington Chamber of Commerce's board of directors on Sept. 25 voted to support the transportation/Metro and school bonds on the Arlington ballot in November.

On Nov. 4, Arlington voters will be asked to approve $60.24 million in bond funding for a variety of transportation, road, transit and pedestrian projects, as well as $105.78 million for Arlington Public Schools projects.

The chamber's support for the bonds was conditioned on assurances from government leaders that the extra debt incurred would not imperil the county government's AAA/AAA/Aaa bond ratings.

The transportation and education bonds also won the support of the Arlington Chamber's Government Affairs and Economic-Development Committee, which recommended their approval to the board of directors.

Two other bond referendums will be on the Nov. 4 ballot, for parks/recreation and community infrastructure. Because these bond issues are not directly tied to economic development, the Arlington Chamber of Commerce's board of directors has not taken a position on them.

The transportation bond will not include funding for the Columbia Pike streetcar project. The chamber supports transit improvements in the region, but has not taken a position on the Columbia Pike project.

County Board Approves Conservation Funding

The Arlington County Board unanimously approved more than $2.5 million in funding for four Neighborhood Conservation projects on Sept. 20. The approved projects include street improvements, pedestrian safety and two park improvements. The projects, suggested by residents and endorsed by civic associations, are qualified by staff, then evaluated by the Neighborhood Conservation Advisory Committee (NCAC) before coming to the County Board for approval. The NCAC considered 26 projects at its June 12 meeting and recommended four of them to the County Board for funding.

The approved projects are funded by the voter-approved 2012 Neighborhood Conservation Bond. This is the fourth and final funding from the bond, which totaled $11 million. The four approved projects are:

Junior Committee: Work Horses

Young local equestriennes anchor Washington International Horse Show.

By Mary Elizabeth Cordia
WIHS Junior Committee chair

stablished in 1958, the Washington Interna tional Horse Show is the leading metropoli tan indoor horse show in the U.S. This sixday event is held annually in October at Verizon Center in Washington, DC.

This year's Washington International Horse Show will take place Oct. 21-26.

In 2009 WIHS introduced its Junior Committee and Youth Ambassador Program, which selects teens to represent the show's youth perspective and support Washington International Horse Show staff while gaining hands on experience. Applications are due in April. Those who have been selected have the opportunity to be considered for Youth Ambassador by submitting a more extensive application.

All applicants for the Washington International Horse Show Junior Committee and Youth Ambassador must be students between the ages of 14 and 18. Applicants must demonstrate they are well versed in the horse world and be able to articulate when asked questions about the Washington International Horse Show or classes at the horse show. They should demonstrate they are comfortable with special events, the press, TV, radio, print and be active in social media. In addition, applicants for Youth Ambassador should demonstrate leadership experience as he or she will serve as chairman of the WIHS Junior Committee, a group of approximately 20 students.

In the months leading up to the Washington International Horse Show in October, the Junior Committee is encouraged to attend local horse shows, attend meetings and conference calls, and participate in other related activities. During the show, the Junior Committee helps manage Washington International Horse Show youth events such as Kids' Day

This is Kirsten "Kiki" Konopnicki's first year on the WIHS Junior Committee. Through her hard work, dedication and persistence, she earned her own way to riding lessons at age 11. She attributes her success to her parents and the guidance of several mentors at Madeira School. Recently she spent her summer working at the Arlington Food Assistance Center and was accepted to and attended the Virginia Governor's School for Agriculture. She is a 16-year-old senior at St. Stephen's and St. Agnes School from Arlington.

There are also opportunities to view and enjoy the show. During show week, the hours are very long and rather intense, but very exciting. School work and education are a priority for Junior Committee members and Washington International Horse Show is flexible of hours during the week days.

Linden Resources Marks 55 Years

inden Resources, Inc., an Arlington-based nonprofit organization that operates three commercial businesses and 15 federal contracts and provides work for more than 400 people with disabilities, held its 55th anniversary celebration on Sept. 23 at the Ft. Meyer Officers' Club.

After the Presentation of the Colors by the U.S. Army Color Guard from the 3rd U.S. Infantry Regiment, The Old Guard, and a performance of the National Anthem, sung by Maureen Jeffries, U.S. Air Force veteran and lead workforce specialist for Linden Resources, Barbara Harrison, NBC4 TV anchor, as emcee led the evening's festivities.

Presenters, awardees, and performers included U.S. Rep. Jim Moran, Dr. Jennifer Lee, deputy secretary of Health and Human Resources for the Commonwealth of Virginia, and Mary Margaret Whipple.

Silvestre "Ace" Acedillo, a 22-year Navy veteran, brought the program to a close as he recounted his journey as a proud member of the service, retiring to begin a new career, and then losing everything. Working with the Operation Renewed Hope Foundation and Linden's Vets Ready2Work program, he was able to get back on his feet and is now the creative director of Linden Resources' printing department

Following the last performance of the evening, which featured the String Ensemble of the American Youth Philharmonic Orchestra, Bob Cunningham, chair of the Linden Resources board of directors, gathered the crowd around a 55th anniversary cake.

Notice of Availability: Revised Programmatic Environmental Assessment and Draft Finding of No Significant Impact

Arlington National Cemetery Real Property Master Plan

Agency: Department of the Army, Arlington National Cemetery Public Comment Period: October 1 to October 31, 2014

Summary: The Department of the Army, Arlington National Cemetery (ANC) prepared a Real Property Master Plan (RPMP) for ANC. The RPMP outlines how the cemetery will accommodate future development and operational needs. The recommended projects add burial capacity, facilitate future cemetery operations, enhance family experiences during committal services, enhance visitor experiences, and promote sustainability.

In order to implement the projects in the RPMP, ANC must first comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA). NEPA requires the evaluation and consideration of the environmental impacts prior to taking federal actions. Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of NEPA, Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) Regulations (40 CFR Parts 1500-1508), and Environmental Analysis of Army Actions (32 CFR 651), ANC has prepared an Environmental Assessment (EA) to identify the potential environmental consequences of projects recommended in the ANC RPMP.

The EA is referred to as a Programmatic EA because it is a broad scale analysis of the RPMP recommendations. The RPMP recommendations included phased and conceptual projects. Limited information about these projects was available during the preparation of the EA. In some cases the information needed to determine specific effects was not available. Therefore, recommended projects were evaluated to the fullest extent possible in the Programmatic EA and ANC committed to prepare project-specific NEPA documentation as required prior to implementing the specific projects

Environmental impacts were evaluated to prepare the Programmatic EA. It was determined that the projects would not result in significant impacts. Therefore, a Draft Finding of No Significant Impact (FNSI) was also prepared.

Interested agencies and members of the public were afforded an opportunity to review the Programmatic EA and Draft FNSI between August 19 and October 21, 2013. Several agencies submitted comments. After reviewing these comments, ANC decided to revise the Programmatic EA and Draft FNSI.

Starting October 1, 2014, the revised Programmatic EA and Draft FNSI will be available for review on the ANC Web site at http://www.arlingtoncemetery.mil/About/Policies-and-Public-Notices/Public-Notices and at the following locations:

Columbia Pike Branch 816 South Walter Reed Dr Arlington, VA 22204

Comments: The comment period begins on October 1, 2014 and closes on October 31, 2014. Comments submitted by the close of the comment period will be considered prior to signing the Final FNSI. Please submit written comments by October 31, 2014 to:

Does Change in Voter ID Laws Matter?

More than 22,000 active voters in Northern Virginia are without the required ID.

or the current election, new, more stringent voter identification laws are in effect. Taken together, more than 22,000 of Northern Virginia's closein voters right now do not have the photo identification now required to vote in the coming election. While there are simple ways to get an identification card for Elec-EDITORIAL tion Day, so far, only a handful of voters have done so.

In Fairfax County, 13,247 of the county's 672,756 active voters do not have the photo identification they will need to vote on Election Day.

In Alexandria, 2,729 of the City's 85,671 active voters do not have the photo identification they will need to vote on Election Day.

In Arlington, 6,348 of the 140,255 active voters do not have the photo identification they will need to vote on Election Day.

These numbers are analysed by the State Board of Elections, and include voters who do not have a match in the DMV data, and also are not designated as military, overseas or federal only voters, who do not have an active Federal Postcard Application or Annual Absentee application, and who have voted or registered since and including the last presidential election.

Across the Commonwealth, 93,117 active voters also lack photo ID from DMV or the other likely sources.

When you consider that in the last election, Virginia's Attorney General was elected by a > margin of 165 votes out of more than 2 million votes cast, these numbers are staggering. There is no evidence of voter identification fraud on any scale that requires potentially disenfranchising tens of thousands of voters. Because Northern Virginia is the most populous part of the state, the impact is also greatest in our area.

Here are the "acceptable" forms of identification. "Valid" is defined as a genuine document, bearing the photograph of the voter, and is not expired for more than 12 months: Valid Virginia Driver's License or Identification Card; Valid Virginia DMV issued Veteran's ID card; Valid United States Passport; Other government-issued photo identification cards; Valid college or university student photo identification card, must be from an institution of higher education located in Virginia; Employee identification card containing a photograph of the voter and issued by an employer of the voter in the ordinary course of the employer's busi-sional ballot.

tal signature pad. Once the application is processed, the card will be mailed directly to the voter.

Provisional Ballot Process

A voter who arrives at the polling place without an acceptable form of photo identification will be given the opportunity to vote a provisional ballot. After completing the provisional ballot, the individual voting will be given written instructions from the election officials on how to submit a copy of his/her identification so that his/her vote can be counted.

A voter will have until noon on the Friday following the election to deliver a copy of the identification to the local electoral board. Voters may submit a copy of their ID via fax, email, in-person submission, or through USPS or commercial delivery service. Note that the copy of the ID must be delivered to the electoral board by noon on Friday, or the provisional ballot cannot be counted. A Friday postmark will not be sufficient. Written notice given to the voter will provide the necessary information, including email, fax, and address of where the ID should be delivered.

If you vote a provisional ballot but don't have an "acceptable ID," you can appear inperson in the office of the general registrar in the locality in which the provisional ballot was cast by noon on Friday following the election and apply for a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card. At the completion of the application process, the voter may request a Temporary Identification Document. This document can be provided to the electoral board as acceptable identification and the voter's provisional ballot will be counted.

October is FREE WINDOWS MONTH at Renewal by Andersen.¹

Why is October one of the best times to replace your windows?

Because if you call us now, you can get your more energy-efficient windows installed before the really cold weather is here.

Our exclusive High-Performance Low E-4® SmartSun™ glass is up to 70% more energy efficient[†]. It's engineered to make your home more comfortable in the colder months.

Why have our customers chosen us over another window company?

1. Fibrex® Material

Our exclusive Fibrex material was researched by Andersen for 30 years before it was installed in even one home. Our Fibrex material is twice as strong as vinyl.

2. Unique Look

Our window has the elegant look and strength of a wood window, but our Fibrex material doesn't demand the same maintenance of wood.

3. Accountability

There's no frustrating "middle man" to deal with. We sell, build, install and warrant both our windows and installation.

Arlington's Bowen McCauley Dance Kicks off New Season

Bowen McCauley Dance celebrates its 19th anniversary season with new creative partnerships and collaborations with a host of accomplished musicians and performing artists. This season's lineup features the world premiere of "Victory Road," inspired by the life and music of Jason Ringenberg and country rock legends Jason and The Scorchers. BMD's 2014/2015 Season is set to include new choreography and partnerships with The Washington Ballet Studio Company, the National Chamber Ensemble, and Dance Kaleidoscope; and a tour schedule that includes both regional performances and a road trip through Southern Virginia.

BMD kicks off its season on Oct. 9 at 6:30 p.m. with the Velocity DC Dance Festival at Sidney Harman Hall in Washington, D.C. Lucy joins RAMP! for a showcase of "Time and Clouds," a BMD favorite with original music by Austrian composer Wolfgang Seierl inspired by the poetry of Ferdinand Schmat, and offers an exclusive audience discussion on the artistic process. RAMP! is a free event on a first-come first-seated basis with tickets to any Velocity performance.

The following weekend, BMD teams up with the Cantate Chamber Singers at St. Columba's Episcopal Church in Washington, D.C. on Oct. 18 at 5 p.m. for a family-friendly performance of "A Fable and the Flood" featuring composer Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Unicorn, the Gorgan, and the Manticore." The Chorus performs Benjamin Britten's Noye Fludde with choreography by Lucy Bowen McCauley for the "Raven" and "Dove" solos.

The Washington Ballet Studio Company performs the world premiere of McCauley's new octet created especially for them. This commissioned performance features a piano trio composed by BMD's Music Director. See performances on Oct. 30 at 6:30 p.m. at THEARC Theater and Nov. 1 at 7 p.m. at The Washington Ballet's England Studio Theater in Washington, D.C. With the New Year comes a host of spring performances. In January, McCauley will return to her hometown of Indianapolis to set "Tableaux de Provence" on Dance Kaleidoscope's company of professional dancers. McCauley has been invited to join three other choreographers who are changing the dance world to remount their works.

BMD premieres a new creation for the National Chamber Ensemble set to one of J.S. Bach's greatest works, the Chaconne in D minor on March 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Spectrum Theatre at Artisphere in Arlington.

One week later, BMD hosts the 6th Annual Move Me Festival on March 21, 1-5 p.m. at Kenmore Middle School in Arlington. Move Me is a free, family-friendly celebration of arts and culture featuring performances and activities

BMD returns to The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts Terrace Theater for "Victory Road – The World Premiere" on April 10 and 11 at 7:30 p.m. Jason and the Scorchers joins BMD onstage for an electrifying performance about a boy who leaves his hometown with the dream of becoming a music star in the 1980s.

Following the weekend premiere, BMD and Jason and The Scorchers will take Victory Road, quite literally, "on the road" for a tour through Southern Virginia.

Bowen McGauley Dance is an Arlington non-profit organization with a mission to introduce people of all ages to the joy of dance. The award-winning company is known for its spirited dancers, use of live music, and outreach programs for socio-economically diverse communities. Visit www.bmdc.org.

Reconstruction of Boulevard Interchanges Complete

The Virginia Department of Transportation and Arlington County have completed reconstruction of two 1950s-era interchanges along Route 50 at 10th Street and Courthouse Road.

Crews rebuilt the two bridges over Route 50, separated local and turning motorists from through traffic, and made a number of bicycle and pedestrian improvements.

News

Voting Early, Absentee

irtually every voter in Virginia is eligible to vote absentee, which includes voting in-per son absentee at a variety of locations between Sept. 19 and Nov. 1.

There are many reasons that voters are allowed to vote absentee, but the most broad of these applies to almost anyone with a job: "Any person who, in the regular and orderly course of his business, profession, or occupation, will be at his place of work and commuting to and from his home to his place of work for 11 or more hours of the 13 that the polls are open (6 a.m. to 7 p.m.)."

You can download an absentee ballot and mail it to your local voter registration office, or you can vote "absentee in person."

Arlington In-person absentee voting is underway and ends on Saturday, Nov. 1, 5 p.m., at Courthouse Plaza, 2100 Clarendon Blvd., Suite 320, Arlington, VA 22201. Hours: Monday – Friday: 8 a.m.-5 p.m. except Thursdays, Oct. 23 and 30 hours are 8 a.m.-7 p.m. and Saturdays, Oct. 25 and Nov. 1 hours are 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. More at http://vote.arlingtonva.us/absentee/

What's on the Ballot in Arlington?

Every voter in Virginia will vote for one U.S senator and their member in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Washington-Lee receiver Gene Jones fights for yardage against Hayfield on Sept. 26.

Washington-Lee quarterback Ronnie Fecso threw for 198 yards and two touchdowns against Hayfield on Sept. 26.

ashington-Lee football coach
Josh Shapiro sat in his office
following Friday's game against Hayfield and discussed why the Generals fell short.

The primary reasons for the Generals' despise: a lack of physicality and too much Hayfield athleticism.

"When you've got a better athlete running in space and our kids weren't as physical as they needed to be to disrupt their timing, it's a recipe for [failure]," Shapiro said. "... When it comes down to it, we didn't have an answer for 35 and 4. The quarterback threw the ball well, we didn't put him on the ground [and] they kept a clean pocket."

No. 35 is 6-foot-2, 210-pound Hayfield senior Tyler Hodge. No. 4 is 6-foot, 190-pound senior Frank Pannell. Together, they lit up the Washington-Lee defense, catching passes from quarterback Sheldon Isaac as the Hayfield offense marched up and down the field.

After starting 0-3 against a brutal early-season schedule, the Hayfield football team produced a season-high point total and earned Eric Henderson his first win as head coach of the Hawks, beating W-L 49-20 on Sept. 26 in Arlington.

Isaac completed 22 of 30 passes for 351 yards and three touchdowns against the Generals. He also scored a rushing touchdown.

"It feels good," Isaac said. "We've been working for a long time so it feels good to get the first win."

Hodge caught seven passes for 164 yards and two touchdowns, while Pannell finished with seven receptions for 99 yards and a score.

"Wasn't a big mystery [that] 35 and 4 are their best two receivers," Shapiro said. "It's hard to simulate their speed [in practice]."

Midway through the fourth quarter, Isaac slipped a pass between a pair of W-L defenders and into the hands of receiver Hodge for a 21-yard touchdown, putting the finishing touch on another stellar offensive performance for the Hawks. This time, however, big-time statistics translated to victory for the Hawks.

Isaac had passed for 947 yards in Hayfield's previous three games, but the Hawks went 0-3, losing to South County (Stallions are 5-0), Westfield (2013 6A)

North region runner-up) and Centreville (2013 6A state champ). On Friday night, Hayfield scored on its first play from scrimmage, an 8-yard run by Isaac, and led for the remainder of the game.

"We knew we were playing very [good] teams, but we knew we could also play better," Isaac said. "It was something to put on our shoulders to say we could play better. Going into the next seven games, we knew we can turn it on, we can turn it up."

Henderson said Hayfield benefitted from early-seasons tests.

"I've told the kids all week, we've run the crucible," Henderson said. "[The] three games that we played, it just tempers you and hardens you and gets you more focused. To the kids' credit, they kept their heads up and they kept plugging along and they did a great job this week. They could have laid down and died at any point. I thought they kept fighting against Centreville, I thought they kept fighting against Westfield and I thought they fought against South County, so it's not like they gave up. We're just not there yet, but we will be."

Hayfield twice took a 21-point lead in the first half, but each time W-L showed resiliency and cut the lead to two scores.

Isaac hit Pannell with a 10-yard scoring strike with 3:34 remaining in the first half, giving the Hawks a 21-0 advantage. W-L freshman Owen Carey returned the ensuing kickoff 77 yards for a touchdown, cutting the Hayfield lead to 21-7.

Later, Hayfield running back Myles Ross scored on a 1-yard run, building the Hawks' lead to 28-7 with 1:34 remaining in the first half. The Generals wouldn't quit, however, driving 45 yards in seven plays. Quarterback Ronnie Fecso lofted a pass to Gene Jones, who made a juggling catch for a 19-yard touchdown, cutting the Hayfield lead to 28-13 at halftime.

Washington-Lee would get no closer, however, as Hayfield continued its high-powered offensive attack in the second half.

Ross carried 21 times for 115 yards and three touchdowns for Hayfield.

Washington-Lee quarterback Fecso completed 17 of 33 passes for 198 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted once.

Generals running back Daquay Harris carried 22 times for 73 yards and caught a 7-yard touchdown pass. Henry Casey finished with six receptions for 91 yards, and Jones caught four passes for 39 yards and a score.

W-L (2-2) will travel to face Falls Church (4-0) at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

Best Start In Wakefield History

The Wakefield football team defeated Edison 21-6 on Sept. 26 at Edison High School, improving to 4-0 for the first time in program history.

It's the first time the Warriors have had four wins in a season since 1998, when current head coach Wayne Hogwood was a quarterback on the Wakefield football team. It was just the second time in program history Wakefield won at Edison High School.

Leon Young carried 24 times for 178 yards and two touchdowns for Wakefield. Chris Robertson scored on a 12-yard run.

Riley Wilson completed 12 of 21 passes for 148 yards. He was intercepted once.

Wakefield will travel to face Hayfield (1-3) at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 2. The Warriors' next home game is Oct. 10 against Falls Church. Wakefield will host Arlington foe Yorktown on Oct. 17.

Yorktown Loses to Falls Church

The Yorktown football team dropped to 2-2 with a 28-14 loss to Falls Church on Sept. 26.

The Patriots will host Stuart at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 2.

WELLBEING

Running Safely

RunSafer workshop focuses on staying safe while keeping fit.

By Marilyn Campbell
The Connection

arin Usrey is an avid runner who lost a friend to assault during college. Now when she is out running for exercise, she is on heightened alert about potential dangers that could pose a threat to those on a fast-paced run or leisurely walk for exercise.

"I think it is so important to educate college students, especially females, about ways that they can defend themselves and escape safely in an assault situation," said Usrey, study abroad coordinator at Marymount University in Arlington.

When the Marymount Wellness Task Force held its Field Day recently and included workshops on staying safe while running, Usrey made sure to attend. The 40-minute workshop, called RunSafer, was led by two-time U.S. Olympic distance runner and Brazilian Jiu Jitsu black belt Todd Williams. Participants learned basic self-defense techniques and safety awareness tips.

"It is easy to distance yourself from assault until it hits close to home, but workshops like these need to be proactive, not reactive," said Usrey. "I was very happy that Todd Williams' RunSafer workshop was hosted on our campus and feel that those who attended, myself included, really got a lot of valuable information and clear, actionable tips on how to protect themselves if ever confronted."

The workshops were part of a collaboration between Potomac River Running and the Marymount Wellness Task Force. Potomac River Running has hosted a variety of events on campus around running-related topics, such as injury reduction.

"When Potomac River Running presented the opportunity to have Todd Williams come to campus, the task force was thrilled," said Natalie Mitchell, director of the university's Counseling Center and co-chair of the University Wellness Committee. She also holds a doctorate in psychology. "The topic of safety is particularly important for the student population, who often feel invulnerable, particularly when they have felt safe and secure in their own life experiences to date."

Williams incorporated humor and real-life situations into his RunSafer workshop to engage and educate the audience. "He brought practical knowledge and safety strategies, as well as self-defense techniques specifically designed to help people defend themselves against larger, more powerful attackers," said Mitchell. "I learned a lot myself and the enthusiasm of the audience was fantastic."

The workshop was a part of an effort by Marymount to bring wellness opportunities to the community. "We have several trails that are very close to campus, and with students coming from all over the United States and different countries, it's important for them to learn about being safe where they choose to run and walk," said Kelly L. DeSenti, dean of student development and engagement.

Williams, who competed for the United States in the 10,000-meter course in the 1992 and 1996 Summer Olympics, spent 11 years studying Jiu Jitsu before receiving his black belt in 2011. He combined his two passions by founding RunSafer, a program sponsored by the athletic equipment company ASICS. He has taught workshops across the country focusing on running safely.
