The Fairfax Station Railroad Museum filled with N Trak gauge trains and rails.

All Aboard!

Nestled off Fairfax Station Road is a historic gem that combines the history of the Civil War with model trains.

On the third Sunday every month, the N Trak volunteers bring together their N gauge train sets and create a new configuration to delight the visitors of all ages. Jim Davis has the task of coordinating the layout and filling the main train station. Volunteers engage the visitors with personal stories and deep insights about the historical significance of this railroad station.

Originally built in the early 1850s this station served the residents of Fairfax Court House, now known as Fairfax City and was on the rail line running from Alexandria to Gordonsville. Eventually this line was extended to Charlottesville and then Lynchburg in 1860.

The Union Army destroyed the original train station in 1862 after the second battle of Manassas during their retreat. The Union Army returned after the Battle of Antietam in late 1862 to rebuild the station and serve as the Army's logistical supply base. Fairfax Station was the center of emergency treatment and transport for the wounded.

Up the hill, Clara Barton, "Angel of the Battlefield", a 40 year-old unmarried government clerk tended to the wounds of the soldiers at St. Mary's Church. The Confederate Army burned the train station again in 1862 and Clara Barton and her two aides barely escaped.

With the help of volunteers, and funding from the Fairfax Board of Supervisors, the Virginia chapter of Associated Builders, and Dale Lumber, the station was disassembled and re-created at its present site. The Fairfax Station Railroad Museum was dedicated in 1987 and opened in 1988.

The Burke School is turning 75. The building at the corner of Burke Lake and Lee Chapel Roads, dedicated in 1940, was built to accommodate the student population overflowing older three-room school-house that was first built in 1912. The new school project benefited from the Works Progress Administration under President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's "New Deal."

Burke native Suzanne "Suzy" Fowler Neal attended Burke School in the 1950s. Her grandparents W.J. Simpson and Nellie D. Simpson deeded four acres for the new Burke School to the Fairfax County School Board for $500 on Nov. 1, 1938. (Fairfax County Circuit Court Historical Records, Liber F-13, Folio 578.)

Fowler Neal will be among those speaking on April 23 at the Burke School in celebration of the institution's 75th anniversary. She'll be joined by Burke Historical Society president Jon Vrana as Silas Burke himself.

In addition to the talks there will be a video presentation and a fashion show with current students modeling clothing repreperformances, it's not just the kids who have enjoyed it."

Currently, the school is a special education center, serving around 130 sixth, seventh and eighth grade students from across the county, plus 30 elementary-age students in an Alternative Learning Center.

"I've seen how the school has changed people," said Principal Frank A. Tranfa, Jr. "The staff is family, the school is family. Just being here seven months, it's easy to see it's a special place."

The population is somewhat transient, said Tranfa, with students coming and going from their base schools as needed. The school supports persons with mental and or physical disabilities, language challenges or difficult family or economic situations.

Tranfa started at Burke School last September. He was previously a teacher and assistant principal at Chantilly High School.

The new principal said he's most looking forward to "seeing the community reconnect here. It's great for people to see what's going on here now."

The Burke School is located at 9645 Burke Lake Road in Burke. The historical program is scheduled to run from 10 to 11 a.m. on April 23, with a reception following until 12 p.m.

How to Detect Telephone Scam

There are many telephone scams going around at this time, it would be nearly impossible to list them all. However, here are some tips and tricks to figure out if it's really a scam or not:

*If your financial institution calls you claiming there is fraudulent activity on your account, hang up and call the number on the back of your credit/debit card to verify. Explain you received a call from them indicating there is suspicious activity on your account. You can now be sure you are talking to your bank and not a scammer.

❖ If you get an email from a credit card company and you do not have an account with that company, do not call the number in the email and do not click on any of the links in the email. Find the company's general customer service number via their website/internet search and call to verify the information.

❖ If you receive a phone call from the IRS, it's a scam. The IRS will only communicate with you via mail regarding taxes/past due accounts.

❖ If someone calls you claiming they are from a law enforcement agency saying you must pay a fee over the phone/wire money to avoid arrest, hang up and call the agency in question. Fairfax County Police Department does not collect fines/fees.

❖ Telephone scammers have been known to get hostile and rude on the phone. Another red flag the call you are on is most likely a scam.

❖ Before offering any money via telephone, phone a friend. Discussing things over with a friend may help you see the situation is in fact a scam.

❖ Never give anyone personal information over the phone unless you called the company you have an account with!

❖ Routinely check your credit/debit account statements. If you see any questionable transactions, call your financial institution immediately. Monitor your credit report.

❖ If it sounds too good to be true, it usually is.

❖ Register your phone numbers on the Do Not Call Registry! <https://www.donotcall.gov/> Be aware, it can take up to 30 days to add your number to the registry.

If you have any elderly friends or family, encourage them to reach out to you if they get a scam phone call. All too often our seniors are falling victim to these scams.

More Than 200 Attend First Budget Hearing

Schools, libraries, economic development authorities and others seek more funding while tax-hawks call for reductions.

BY KEN MOORE
THE CONNECTION

More than 200 people packed the Fairfax County Government auditorium Tuesday, April 7, and 60 speakers were scheduled to testify before the Board of Supervisors on the advertised budget. The hearing began with a presentation by School Board Chairman Tamara Derenak Kaufax.

Members of the Fairfax County School Board sat in the front row, gave a standing ovation, and remained standing as Kaufax finished her testimony to begin the budget hearings.

“Budget reductions come with a price — the price should not be our children’s future. This budget does not meet all of the school system’s needs and it certainly does not adequately fund our shared vision of excellence for our schools and students,” said Kaufax.

The Fairfax County Public Schools requested $14 million more than is in the proposed budget.

Fairfax County Public Schools is the 10th largest school system in the country with more than 188,000 students.

Kaufax cited statistics and trends that challenge the school system. “We would be the sixth largest school division in Virginia, if you counted just our free-or-reduced-price meal population; or the ninth largest if you only counted our English for Speakers of Other Languages population,” she said.

NEARLY 53 PERCENT of the proposed $3.8 billion county budget is slated to be transferred to the schools.

Sharon Bulova, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said that while the schools didn’t ask for everything they needed or get everything they wanted, that the amount of the proposed transfer from the county to the schools was closer to the amount requested than anytime in memory.

“We appreciate that you rolled up your sleeves, and we rolled up our sleeves,” said Bulova.

Supervisor Jeff McKay called it “unconscionable” that the state doesn’t adequately fund the schools. “We will have the same conversations year after year after year,” he said, if the Board of Supervisors and School Board don’t advocate together in unity. “We need to march together,” he said.

Familiar faces advocated for a reduction in spending and taxes, such as James Parmalee of Centreville, and Arthur Purvis, of Vienna.

There were also advocates who encouraged an increase in taxes to ensure that funding will address the needs of all of Fairfax residents.

Steven Davis, chairman of the Economic Development Authority, said the county is experiencing record office vacancy rates, which pushes down commercial property values and, with it, the proportion of taxes paid by the commercial tax base, shifting more of the burden onto residential taxes.

Maintaining Fairfax County’s AAA bond rating is critical, Davis said. “You send a signal to businesses around the world that Fairfax County is one of the best managed jurisdictions in the world,” he said. “We all know it has taken decades to build a product that gets businesses here and keeps people here.”

Brian Engler, of the Fairfax Library Foundation, and Charles Fegan, of the Fairfax County Public Library Board of Trustees, addressed the cuts to the library system. Libraries are part of educating the county’s young people, and provide a myriad of other services to residents of all ages despite significant cuts in recent years, they said.

TWO ADDITIONAL HEARINGS were scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, April 8 and 9 with dozens more speakers ready to testify.

On April 28, the Board of Supervisors is scheduled to adopt its FY 2016 Budget and tax rate, including budget transfer to the school system. The School Board is scheduled to adopt its budget on May 21, 2015.

The FY 2016 Budget becomes effective July 1, 2015.

Virginia Department of Transportation estimates about 25,000 potholes have been repaired in Northern Virginia so far in 2015.

COURTESY OF VIRGINIA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

The Pothole Picture

Two “p”s become prominent and problematic this time of year: pollen and potholes. The Virginia Department of Transportation can at least do something about the latter, if not the former.

“One of the busiest times for filling is right as the winter ends,” Virginia Department of Transportation spokesperson Jennifer McCord said in an email. “The constant freeze and thaw throughout the winter usually results in a burst of potholes.”

According to McCord, state maintenance crews and contractors have already filled over 25,000 potholes in Northern Virginia; Virginia is on pace to match its total of around 146,000 filled last year statewide.

Repairing potholes fall under the $256 million Northern Virginia maintenance program, which also includes grass mowing, patching, paving and snow removal. That program covers most roads in Fairfax, Loudoun and Prince William Counties, as well as interstates and primary roads in Arlington.

Citizens can report an existing pothole or file a claim if their vehicle was damaged as a result of encountering one. The Virginia Department of Transportation customer service line, open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, is 800-367-7623 (ROAD), while the website for reporting a problem is www.virginiadot.org/travel/citizen.asp.

Claim-processing time can be lengthy, McCord said, as the claims department must examine factors such as whether or not the pothole in question was already scheduled for repair and if there was reasonable time for the repair to occur.

For more information about pothole repair, visit www.virginiadot.org/info/fq-potholes.asp.

‘Drive to Donate’ on Express Lanes Raises Nearly $80,000 for Fire and Rescue Departments

Transurban, operator of the I-95 and I-495 Express Lanes, designated March 21 for a “Drive to Donate” campaign. All tolls collected on that day from the nearly 40 miles of lanes stretching from the Dulles Toll Road to Stafford County would be donated to local Fire and Rescue departments.

With over 20,000 drivers using the lanes that Saturday, Transurban raised nearly $80,000 for the donation. On Friday April 3 at the Transurban Express Lanes Operations Center in Alexandria, Transurban Group General Manager North America Jennifer Aument presented checks of over $26,000 each to the Fairfax County, Prince William County and Stafford County Fire and Rescue Departments.

“As safety is the top priority on the Express Lanes, it was important to us to support our local fire and rescue organizations,” Aument said in a statement. “This donation is one way we can thank our local heroes for keeping the communities surrounding the Express Lanes corridor safe each and every day.”

Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department Chief Richard Bowers said their donation will help fund life-saving fire, rescue and emergency medical services equipment. “Thank you for the contributions that will make a difference in the lives of our residents and those that pass through our community on a daily basis,” he said in a statement.

Dinner and Show Support Dominican Republic Mission

Members of Burke United Methodist Church are finishing what they started three years ago in the Dominican Republic. A mission team from the church began working on a house for local clergyman in Sosúa, Pastor Jeremias. During construction, Jeremias died of complications from brain cancer. Funds for the house went to help with the pastor's medical bills so the building was never completed.

To raise funding for a return mission to the Dominican Republic to complete the house, members of the Burke Church are hosting a pasta dinner and live performance titled "Novel Ideas." The family-friendly musical entertainment is written and will be performed by members of the church choir.

The dinner and show is scheduled for April 18 at 6 p.m. at Burke United Methodist Church, located at 6200 Burke Centre Parkway in

A Big Election Year in Virginia

Register, research, vote. And vote again.

EDITORIAL

Sherwood Regional Library.

Every year is an election year in Virginia.

Here are a few examples that demonstrate that while elections are ubiquitous in Virginia, they are neither simple nor unimportant. Wade in, a lot depends on figuring this out and voting. This is not intended to be a comprehensive list of candidates.

The choices begin April 23.

Almost every state and local elected office in Virginia will be in play. Democrats will choose their candidates in the primary on June 9. Republicans will choose candidates for individual offices at caucuses, firehouse primaries and conventions, beginning April 23 and finishing by June 9.

For example, the Republican candidate for Sully District supervisor will be chosen in a firehouse primary on Saturday, April 25 at Westfield High School, with three candidates seeking the nomination to replace retiring Michael Frey. The three candidates are Brian Schoeneman, John Guevara and John Litzenberger, and the winner will likely face Democrat Cathy Smith on Nov. 3. Smith is vacating her Sully District School Board seat to run for Sully District supervisor.

This year's elections begin May 5 with elections in the Town of Vienna with three candidates vying for three positions on the Vienna Town Council. For more, see <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/elections/upcoming.htm>.

There are similar chains of musical chairs happening in the Mount Vernon district, with District Supervisor Gerry Hyland (D) retiring, and Democrats Jack Dobbyn, Dan Storck, Candace Bennett and Tim Sargeant seeking the Democratic nomination to replace him. Democrats will choose their candidate in a primary June 9 at usual polling places; Republicans have scheduled a canvass on May 16 at

IN FAIRFAX COUNTY, all 10 members of the Board of Supervisors are on the ballot including district members and the chairman. Also on the ballot: all members of the School Board including district members and three at-large members; Constitutional Officers Sheriff, Clerk of Court and Commonwealth's Attorney; and three members of the Northern Virginia Soil and Water Conservation District Board Directors.

Every seat in the Virginia General Assembly will be on the ballot, including all State Senate and House of Delegates seats. With several key retirements, including Del. Rob Krupicka (D), Del. Tom Rust (R) and Sen. Toddy Puller (D), it's clear that there will be some change. Del. Scott Surovell (D) will give up his seat to run for Puller's Senate seat, so the musical chairs continue.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Failing Those Most in Need

To the Editor:

My name is Maurine Houser and I am writing in response to your article ["Moving: From Institution to Community"] printed on April 2 regarding the Northern Virginia Training Center.

I am the younger sister and guardian of my 57-year-old brother Kim Houser. Until recently, he resided at the Northern Virginia Training Center. Kim is non-verbal, non-ambulatory without assistance, has the cognitive ability of a nine month old and is medically fragile.

Your article states that the state Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Services has provided a multitude of community placement options for family members. However, it has been my experience and others that the placements offered are inappropriate and do not have the skills or supports necessary for the medically disabled and behaviorally challenged population remaining at the Northern Virginia Training Center to survive. Not only are the placements unrealistic, they are not in Northern Virginia. My brother was offered placements in Williamsburg and Petersburg, Va., that were not in line with the standards of care suitable for him. My other alternative was to allow the State of Virginia to relocate Kim to the Central Virginia Training

CONTRIBUTED
Kim Houser

Center in Lynchburg, Va., which the state intends on closing in 2020 and ultimately start the process of discharge all over again.

I came to realize unless I was proactive on behalf of my brother, his future would be severely compromised. Through my own research and efforts, I connected with Good Neighbor Community Services who are now caring for my brother in Spotsylvania, Va. The discharge process was extensive, cumbersome and extremely emotional. None of the professionals could predict the future of the Medicaid Waiver, which is now my brother's source of funding, nor anticipate how he would react to a new home, staff and routine. The discharge process encompassed a seven-month period; including but not limited to 20 state employees.

I feel fortunate I have found a provider that will take good care of my brother. However, I fear that the remaining residents will not be so lucky. How can moving someone's severely disabled child hundreds of miles away not be in violation of the American with Disabilities Act? The populations at the training centers are aging and many individuals have elderly parents who will be unable to see their children due to travel constraints. Similarly, Virginia remains glaringly non-compliant with the U.S. Department of Justice's findings as highlighted by the increase of individuals waiting for Medicaid Waiver funds and services. The process of deinstitutionalization in theory may work for most individuals but for those who are the 1 percent a hasty, underfunded, unsupported process will result in catastrophe as did the rapid deinstitutionalization and nonexistent funding for the mentally ill.

Consider Taxpayers

To the Editor:

The following open letter was addressed to Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova and Sully District Supervisor Michael Frey.

We want to protest the increase in the projected total rate of $1.1135 (includes storm water tax and infestation prevention tax). We believe that this projected rate should be no more than the inflation rate. We have had increases in our real estate taxes that have more than doubled the inflation rate for the last eight years.

In the past eight years, our real estate taxes have increased from $5,752 to a projected $7,774 for 2015 for a whopping 32 percent increase. For the same period of time, inflation increased 15.4 percent as reported by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Their figures show a projected rate for 2015 as 2 percent, 1.6 percent for 2014, 1.5 percent for 2013, 2.1 percent for 2012, 3.2 percent for 2011, 1.6 percent for 2010, minus 0.4 percent in 2009, and 3.8 percent in 2008. These statistics show that our real estate taxes have increased twice the inflation rate for that eight year period. This is outrageous. Our current assessment is projected to increase by 3.99 percent while the inflation rate is projected to increase by 2 percent for this year.

According to the Fairfax County Taxpayers Alliance (FCTA), the residential real estate taxes increased $3,359 between FY2000 and FY2016. This simply means that, during this period, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, inflation increased almost 40 percent during this 16-year period while the residential real estate increased 140 percent or more than three times the inflation rate. How can you really justify increasing real estate taxes more than three times the rate of inflation? For decades, the County Board has been raising the budget and taxes more than two to three times the inflation rate. Isn't it time to give the county taxpayers a break?

In conclusion, we feel that the real estate tax rate should be rolled back to the current rate of inflation. We look forward to your comments. Thank you for your attention.

OPINION

Register to Be an Organ Donor

BY JOHN C. COOK
SUPERVISOR (R-BRADDOCK DISTRICT)

More than 123,000 people across the country are in need of an organ transplant, and more than 41,000 blood donations are needed every day. Every ten minutes someone is added to the organ donor waiting list. Every two seconds someone is in need of blood. In the time it will take to read this, another person will be added to the waiting list and another 300 will be in need of blood.

Tragically, 18 people die each day waiting for a life-saving organ transplant. And while more than a third of the U.S. population is eligible to donate, less than 10 percent actually do so.

April is National Donate Life Month and I would like to encourage you to participate — 120 million Americans are registered organ donors, and you can help save lives by registering to join them.

To help increase the number of registered donors throughout Virginia, a coalition of more than 16 organizations from around the Commonwealth—including Fairfax County's very own Inova Transplant Center and Washington Regional Transplant Community—formed Donate Life Virginia. At its website, DonateLifeVirginia.org, you can sign up for Virginia's organ donor registry, find more information about organ donations, and also read stories of those who have donated organs as well as those whose lives have benefitted from organ transplants. Remember that you can also register through the DMV when applying for or renewing your driver's license.

You can also donate blood to those in need through a simple, safe process. Typically, the entire process takes 15 minutes, and includes registration, a briefing on your medical history, a mini-physical, the donation itself, and refreshments. In matter of 15 minutes, you could be saving the lives of three people. Several blood drives are held throughout the community every month, and I encourage you to use this month to consider making a donation. To find a blood drive near you, please visit RedCrossBlood.org.

Donate Life Month will be the focus of the Braddock Neighborhood News this month, which airs on Channel 16 on Sundays at 5:00 p.m., Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m., and Fridays at 5:00 p.m.

During National Donate Life Month this April, we remember those who have received or continue to wait for lifesaving donations. This is also a time to celebrate the strength that organ recipients inspire in us. And we should also take this time to honor and commemorate those donors who have saved so many lives. I am hoping to encourage you to attend one of the several blood drives in our community and to consider registering as an organ donor. It is this kind of selflessness and generosity that makes Fairfax County such a great community, and this is yet another way for us to continue in that tradition.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Robinson Lacrosse Deserves a Better Headline

To the Editor:

Jon Roetman should have titled his front page article ("Confident or Cocky"? - The Connection, March 26, 2015) "Hard Work Plus Perfect Practice Equals Champions." There is no arguing that cocky teammates can be the downfall of a successful sports season. However, training tirelessly to become so good you have the right to become cocky...that's another matter.

As the mother of an elite softball player, I know the innumerable hours of repetitious practice, the personal training to stay in top physical condition for the sport she loves, and the mental fortitude it takes to be a fearless champion....all that plus handling intense high school course work and being a part of family obligations...that is what is missing from Jon Roetman's article.

The Robinson lacrosse team deserves to have a better headline.

In Northern Virginia, the pressure on high school students to be the best, work the hardest, aim for elite college scholarships, and make a name for themselves amongst the thousands of students here is very high. Whether it's an added sport, band, debate or theater, there is outside training involved that is intense and time consuming. These students achieve their goals through sweat, tears, and life lessons beyond their years. It is amazing to me that when a team reaches their goal both as individual athletes and incredibly successful teammates, they are referred to as perhaps "cocky"? What a negative word to use on young men who have handled everything so well and found success on the field they love. The word should have been "congratulations" for a team who has found the right members, the right coach, and the right chemistry to have a season to remember for the rest of their lives.

D.C. Design House

McLean showcase home opens to the public April 12.

By MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

Local interior design enthusiasts will have an opportunity to tour a much-anticipated unveiling this weekend when the 2015 Design House opens in McLean on Sunday, April 12 at noon, with ticket sales benefiting the Children's National Health System.

The 8,869-square-foot home was built by Artisan Builders and designed by Harrison Design to look like an old American farmhouse. Then, 24 local designers were chosen to design a room in the home — the eighth annual design house — using inspiration that ran the gamut from American art to the home's natural surroundings. Organizers hope the varied styles will make the home's design appear to have evolved over many years.

THE KITCHEN was designed by Paul Lobkovich and Emily Neifeld, of Lobkovich Kitchen Designs in Tysons Corner. Antique white walls accented by a custom hood in both black and stainless steel create a simple, but elegant gathering space.

If this kitchen is the hub of a home's activities, then the butler's pantry is where the preparation for those celebrations begins. That notion was the inspiration for Margery Wedderburn's design. "This butler's pantry is the celebration of a good life," said Wedderburn, of Margery Wedderburn Interiors, LLC in Vienna. "One enters the heart of the home, the kitchen and family room, through this butler's pantry, so the room is casually elegant, but doesn't take itself too seriously. It is happy, bright and fun.

"This home was designed to have a country farmhouse feeling, and we were inspired by the architecture plus the Virginia countryside," she said, explaining that nature was also a big inspiration. "We have the casual green leaf wallpaper, plus we designed a custom, faux-wallpaper on the ceiling which looks just like repurposed wood. We bring the outdoors in with the green and blue tones of the space, including the fun peacock color, which ties in with our peacock feathers in the umbrella stand."

Even the chandelier is peacock, and the Sisal rug features blue stenciling, while green and blue stripes on the back of the closet tie everything together. Meanwhile, accessories give the space a contemporary feel. "Because this area of McLean is so cosmopolitan, we wanted to give a nod with stylish, hip vases, barware and details that move the space forward into the next decade while complimenting the past," said Wedderburn.

Another active hub of the home is the back stair hallway, which connects all three floors. Although it's windowless, designer David Benton's goal was to create a warm, welcoming and stylish space. "Using furniture, lighting and accents, we visually divided the hall into two zones," said Benton of RA Spaces, the interior division of Rill Architects in Potomac, Md. Benton even created a "virtual window" with a commissioned painting, "Old Dominion Sky."

The first-floor space is accented with a custom, tufted bench and unexpected pops of color to create a formal space between the butler's pantry and dining room. "The hall space that connects the garage, mudroom and kitchen is anchored by a console table and wool rug," said Benton.

The 2015 D.C. Design House opens to the public on Sunday, April 12.

Open shelving and a built-in desk offer additional display areas. Benton finished the space with a chandelier by Circa Lighting and photo art. Those accessories "deliver fresh takes on period furnishing," said Benton. "The classic Eames bright blue fiberglass shell chair introduces an unexpected Americana twist."

One of the design challenges Benton faced on the second floor was creating an aesthetically appealing area rather than a simple connection between two spaces. He decided to transform the walls into a dramatic backdrop using wallpaper by Cole and Son that features silhouetted stems of cow parsley against an etched background.

"Like the house, which feels like it has been added to over time, we wanted the interior to feel like an acquired collection of pieces," said Benton. "The useful storage bench and custom sweater rug give the space warmth and style. The fun and inexpensive swag light is another way we added flair and utility."

INSPIRED BY A SAILING TRIP through the fjords of New Zealand and by the bright oil-on-canvas painting, "Mountains and Sea," designer Lisa Tureson, of 956 Mackall Farm Lane, McLean, Va., will be open to the public starting Sunday, April 12, noon-5 p.m.

D.C. Design House

❖ Regular Hours: Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m.-3 p.m.; Thursday evenings 5-8 p.m.; Saturday-Sunday, noon-5 p.m. Closed Mondays. (Visitors must arrive one-half hour before closing time to take the tour.)

❖ Last day: Sunday, May 10, noon-5 p.m.

❖ Admission: $30. Purchase tickets at www.dcdesignhouse.com or at the door.

Studio Artistica in Oak Hill, created a powder room that she said resembles "a little art gallery."

Tureson hung a custom, hand-etched mirror and eight paintings in the space. "My goal was to create a pictorial space since I'm an artist and painter," she said. "The subtle sparkle on the walls ... adds pizzazz."

When designing the room known as the gentleman's retreat, Scott Cooke, of Scott Cooke Design in Alexandria, wanted to "honor the architecture of the house itself, with a room that's rustic in nature, and that feels in sync with the time period the house evokes," he said.

From the wooden poster bed and canopy to the rug and art, Cooke used neutral hues throughout the room. He drew inspiration from the home of the late fashion designer Bill Blass, which was, "done in a monochromatic color story ranging from white and parchment, to caramel, chocolate, espresso and black," said Cooke.

Transforming this grand house into a home was a mammoth undertaking, but one designers say was well worth the effort.

"It is an honor to be a part of this amazing group of designers," said Wedderburn. "The great thing about the group is that everyone is wonderful and helpful to each other. There is a special camaraderie here and we are all drawing inspiration off each other."

With eight paintings adorning the walls, the powder room looks like an art gallery. Lisa Tureson of Studio Artistica in Oak Hill wanted the space to be both practical and functional.

Regards from Broadway at GMU

“Classic Broadway” at Mason stage April 12.

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

Broadway’s classic tunes are headed to Northern Virginia as Todd Ellison and friends take center stage at the Center for the Arts with a tribute to “Classic Broadway.” He has put together a gem of a performance that will be like a “cocktail party full of great songs, great music, and a great time for the audience” said the pianist and entertainer.

Ellison has a major list of credits from his work on Broadway including Tony Award-winning productions of “Spamalot,” “La Cage aux Folles” and “42nd Street.” He is the music supervisor for “An American in Paris,” opening soon on Broadway. He has also conducted for many Broadway cast albums.

Joining Ellison for the “Classic Broadway” concert will be a number “of Broadway’s finest vocalists.” Together they want to give the audience not only the opportunity to listen to wonderful music, but “to have the time to come to know each of the performers” who not only sing, but chat along the way.

Each of the four performers joining Ellison has selected songs that “they really love and want to share with the audience.” The music will range from composers such as Gershwin, Irving Berlin, Rogers and Hammerstein and Stephen Schwartz. There will be songs from “Hello Dolly,” “The King and I,” “Wicked” and more.

The performers joining Ellison will include Jose Llana, who grew up in Springfield, Va., and graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School for Science and Technology. Llana has performed in “Rent” and the original “25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee.”

In a recent interview, Llana paid great tribute to his choir teacher, Laura Edelbrock at TJHS. Edelbrock helped Llana lay the foundation for his start in the performing arts.

The upcoming performance at the Center for the Arts is a “celebration of all things Broadway and the wonderful work of great writers and composers,” said Llana. He was happy that he will also be able to spend some time in the local area where he grew up.

Where and When

Todd Ellison and Friends perform “Classic Broadway” at the George Mason University Center for the Arts, 4400 University Drive, Fairfax. Performance: Saturday, April 12 at 4 p.m. Tickets: $28- $46. Call 888-948-2468 or visit cfa.gmu.edu. Note: This is a family-friendly event. Youth discount tickets are available.

Performers in “Classic Broadway” will also be Erin Mackey from Broadway’s “Wicked,” Clea Blackhurst with a voice that may remind many of Ethel Merman, and Gavin Lodge recently in Broadway’s revival of “Annie,” who will sing and tap dance.

Film Fest Comes to the Mosaic

Northern Virginia Film Fest, April 13-19.

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

“Creating a slice of Hollywood in Northern Virginia” is what the inaugural Northern Virginia International Film Festival is setting out to become for local and independent filmmakers and audiences, according to Fernando A. Mico, festival director.

“We’re bringing a corner of the arts and entertainment world that is, in our opinion, underrepresented in Northern Virginia,” Mico said, “And we’re bringing it here in a big way!”

The nearly week-long festival will be held at the Angelika Film Center in the Mosaic district of Fairfax County.

It will feature movies and screenplays of every size, genre and budget from filmmakers from Northern Virginia and around the world. Festival director Mico has a clear goal. He wants to provide an opportunity for filmmakers and screenwriters to have their cinema work available and screened before audiences who would not have the opportunity to view them without the Northern Virginia festival.

The Film Festival will have screenings from early afternoon to late evening with Question & Answer sessions with filmmakers. For attending filmmakers there will be panels and forums from professionals in the fields of entertainment law, movie distribution, crowdfunding, film production and cinematography.

Opening night will showcase local Northern Virginia talent. The festival will conclude with awards decided by a panel of judges.

Kraskouskas will screen “The Last Song before the War,” a feature-length documentary that included her road trip to the legendary Timbuktu, Mali, with her co-producers to record Grammy-award winning musicians playing in the dunes of the Sahara. The Timbuktu festival was silenced after 2012 with the destabilized conditions in that part of the world. The film has received funding from crowdsourcing and the National Endowment for the Arts. Kraskouskas will also lead a panel discussion about crowdsourcing “which has revolutionized the funding landscape and access to capital for everyone” said Kraskouskas. “It has democratized funding opportunities.”

The Film Festival is working in conjunction with the Los Angeles-based Action on Film International Festival with its producer Del Weston.

Robinson Junior Nominated to Join Future Medical Leaders

Natalie Hessler, a junior at Robinson Secondary School, has been nominated to attend the Congress of Future Medical Leaders in Boston, on June 24-26.

The Congress is an honors-only program for high school students who want to become physicians or go into medical research fields. The purpose of this event is to honor, inspire, motivate and direct the top students in the country who aspire to be physicians or medical scientists, to stay true to their dream and, after the event, to provide a path, plan and resources to help them reach their goal.

Hessler was nominated by Dr. Connie Mariano, the medical director of the National Academy of Future Physicians and Medical Scientists to represent Robinson Secondary School based on her academic achievement, leadership potential and determination to serve humanity in the field of medicine.

During the three-day Congress, Hessler will join students from across the country and hear Nobel Laureates and National Medal of Science Winners talk about leading medical research; be given advice from Ivy League and top medical school deans on what is to expect in medical school; witness stories told by patients who are living medical miracles; be inspired by fellow teen medical science prodigies; and learn about cutting-edge advances and the future in medicine and medical technology.

The Academy offers free services and programs to students who want to be physicians or go into medical science. Some of the services and programs the Academy offers are online social networks through which future doctors and medical scientists can communicate; opportunities for students to be guided and mentored by physicians and medical students; and communications for parents and students on college acceptance and finances, skills acquisition, internships, career guidance and much more. The National Academy of Future Physicians and Medical Scientists was founded on the belief that we must identify prospective medical talent at the earliest possible age and help these students acquire the necessary experience and skills to take them to the doorstep of this vital career. Based in Washington, D.C. and with offices in Boston, Mass., the Academy was chartered as a nonpartisan, taxpaying institution to help address this crisis by working to identify, encourage and mentor students who wish to devote their lives to the service of humanity as physicians, medical scientists.

Taking Apart Bikes for a Good Cause

THE CONNECTION

On Thursday, April 2, Volunteer Fairfax's Volunteers for Change Program and young people from AmeriCorps helped take apart used bicycles. These bikes will go toward helping low-income people and communities in the country and around the world. This effort is made possible through Bikes for the World (BFW), an Arlington-based nonprofit that collects the bikes. Their latest set of bikes will go to Morocco to benefit an organization called Darna.

The bikes are shipped in containers that are 40 feet long and can hold approximately 500 bicycles as well as new and used spare parts.

"This is our first container loading to Morocco," said Yvette Hess, BFW's outreach coordinator.

Darna, a shelter located in Tangier, Morocco, provides a safe place for women, young girls and boys whose lives are at risk. Bike recipients are trained on how to maintain the bike. The boys will learn how to assemble the bikes and distribute them there as well.

"People are trained not just in bike mechanics, but also in business," said Hess.

BFW's mission is to make it possible for low-income people and communities in the country and around the world to have access to quality used bikes. The idea is that these bikes will improve the quality of life by providing transportation, and enable recipients to gain skills in bike maintenance.

Since its inception, BFW has donated over 100,000 bikes to domestic projects like Kristi's Christmas in Fairfax and Phoenix Bikes in Arlington, and to international projects in the Philippines, El Salvador, Kenya, Barbados and Costa Rica. The impact of the effort includes job creation since the bikes have to be reassembled and reconditioned in the recipient country, and educational opportunities since the bikes can be used for transport to and from school.

"It's pretty cool volunteering," said AmeriCorps Volunteer Jessica Abrams of the project. "This is a unique project outside of our normal nine to five work schedule."

Sometimes donated bikes cannot be used, but still have functioning parts, like pedals. Rather than discard the entire bike, the functioning pieces are shipped in the containers along with the partially disassembled bikes, and used to benefit communities in the recipient country.

In the summer, the number of bikes in BFW's warehouse increases, but still, they are always looking for more bikes to be distributed.

"We're trying to reach out to apartment buildings to get their abandoned bikes," said Hess about efforts to increase the numbers of bikes they have.

Lake Braddock Baseball Motivated by Sub-Par 2014 Season

Bruins beat defending Conference 7 champion West Springfield.

BY JON ROETMAN
THE CONNECTION

The decorated history of the Lake Braddock baseball program is chronicled on three banners hanging on the outfield fence.

To the left is a display of district championships. To the right is a list of region titles. In the middle is recognition of the Bruins' lone state championship, captured in 2012.

Lake Braddock enters every season with expectations of adding to its ledger of accomplishments. Last year, however, not only did the Bruins fall short of adding "2014" to any of their banners, Lake Braddock failed to qualify for the region tournament.

The defending 6A North region champions were one-and-done in the Conference 7 tournament, ending their season with a 3-2 loss to Annandale in the opening round. The Bruins lost twice to West Springfield, West Potomac and South County during the season and finished with a 12-9 record.

One week later, head coach Jody Rutherford and new pitching coach John Thomas had the Bruins in the weight room, working to assure such a shortcoming didn't occur again.

The loss to Annandale "made me hungry," Rutherford said. "You take some things for granted. I think we underachieved a little bit last year and we weren't going to let that happen again this year."

Nearly 11 months after Lake Braddock failed to qualify for the 2014 region tournament, the Bruins are back to playing like contenders. On Tuesday, they thumped defending Conference 7 champion West Springfield 7-1 at Lake Braddock Secondary School. The Bruins improved their record to 7-1 in 2015, including 2-0 in the conference.

Oakton, 7-5, on March 30. The Bruins responded by beating defending 6A North region champion Chantilly (8-1), Freedom (6-2), and the rival Spartans.

"I feel like the chemistry with this group is way better," Rutherford said. "Really, man for man, starting with me, I told the guys I didn't do a good job last year. I could have done a lot of things better. I didn't handle the adversity well and I took ownership in that and I said they needed to take ownership in things that they needed to do better."

The pitching staff has been a strong point early in the season, led by juniors Wade Strain, Ryan Mullins and Andy Shreves.

Strain got the start against West Springfield on April 7 and earned the win. The right-hander allowed six hits and one unearned run while striking out six in six innings. He did not walk a batter.

Strain surrendered just two hits in his final four innings on the mound.

"[West Springfield] squared up some balls in the first inning and [Strain] just competed," Rutherford said. "After they got on him, he competed. Last year, same situation. He started against them. He got hit hard and he didn't battle through it. Today, he battled through it."

"After that, he was really pretty dominant."

Lake Braddock pitcher Wade Strain earned the win against West Springfield on Tuesday, allowing one unearned run in six innings.

Senior shortstop Nick Neville said he appreciates Strain's strike-throwing approach.

"It makes it 10 times easier," Neville said. "If you get a guy throwing balls out there, you kind of get on your heels sometimes [and] that's when you get an error and a big inning happens. But Wade works really quick. He always pounds the zone. You know what's coming."

While Strain's approach helps Neville stay focused in the field, Neville returned the favor by giving his pitcher an early lead against the Spartans.

Leading off the bottom of the first inning, Neville cranked a 2-1 pitch over the fence in right-center field for his first home run of the season and a 1-0 lead.

"I was just kind of looking for a fastball on that count, 2-1, and I got a pitch that I could Fairfax United Methodist Church, 10300 Stratford Avenue, Fairfax.

Recycle for AFH. 12-4 p.m. Petco Chantilly, 13053 Lee Jackson Memorial Highway, Fairfax. In case you're not aware, it's not a good idea to simply "throw away" your old technology. Most technology devices are full of things that are really bad for the environment: arsenic, heavy metals, and all sorts of exotic toxins that will leech into the ground if disposed of in the landfill. By recycling to benefit with AFH, you'll be working with a knowledgeable company who will ensure that your "dirty laundry" gets disposed of properly. If you bring anything with a hard drive, you can erase it first, or the recycling company can wipe it back at their facility. They can also remove it for you while you wait, and you can dispose of it yourself. This is a great opportunity to get rid of that old VCR, 8-track player, 10 year old computer, old cell phones, etc. The items don't have to be working either! See more at: <http://www.aforeverhome.org/event/recycle-for-afh/#sthash.Z6ixaNld.dpuf> drive," Neville said, "and I didn't miss it."

How does missing the region tournament last year affect this team?

"Obviously, last year is last year," said Neville, a three-year varsity player, "but at the same time we feel like we have something to prove this year and we feel like we can surprise some people."

Senior center fielder Colin Brechwald went 3-for-4 with a double against West Springfield. Senior right fielder Evan Eschenburg was 1-for-3 with three RBIs and sophomore second baseman Ethan Rolland finished 2-for-4.

Supko, a four-year varsity player who underwent Tommy John surgery following his sophomore season, pitched a scoreless seventh inning, striking out two.

"It's hard to forget about [missing the region tournament]," Supko said. "We definitely think back to the games — we lost to West Springfield twice last year. The top three teams in our district we lost to twice. We definitely use that as motivation."

Lake Braddock returns to action at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, April 10 with a road game against West Potomac. The Bruins are then scheduled for three straight home games against Woodson (April 14), St. John's (April 15) and Annandale (April 17).

"Every year, we're trying to win a state championship," Neville said. "I think I've got 20 guys behind me that believe the same thing."
