The Importance of Including Everyone

Hundreds turn out as School Board votes to add “gender identity” to nondiscrimination policy.

BY TIM PETERSON
THE CONNECTION

Discrimination is bad, and every one should have a safe environment in which to learn. These sentiments were common to the Fairfax County School Board members and the hundreds of parents who packed the auditorium and front lobby of Luther Jackson Middle School for the board’s May 7 meeting.

But as the board convened to take action on adding the words “gender identity” to its nondiscrimination policy, there was significant, emotional discord in the audience and among several board members as to how the board had arrived at making this decision and what implementation of the policy update would ultimately look like.

Though signs and banners are typically allowed inside the school’s auditorium during School Board business meetings, additional security at the May 7 meeting prohibited those with signs from entering. Dozens of citizens therefore crowded around the open doors to the auditorium and periodically vocalized their opinions.

In November, the School Board voted to add sexual orientation to the list of categories for which a Fairfax County student, employee or applicant for employment should not be discriminated against. That list also includes age, race, color, sex, religion, national origin, marital status or disability.

At-large member Ryan McElveen introduced the gender identity update to the policy at a forum in March of this year. Then it came up as new business at the board’s April 23 regular meeting and was scheduled for a vote on May 7.

McElveen gave several reasons justifying the motion, beginning with a March opinion by Virginia Attorney General Mark Herring that local school boards do have authority under Virginia law to make such decisions.

Regarding the protection of transgender students and employees, he said, “The truth is we already do, but that protection has never been clearly outlined in our policies.”

Several public speakers at the beginning of the meeting voiced concerns that this policy change would make bathrooms and locker rooms unsafe by allowing members of one biological gender to use the opposite facility.

“Fears about this policy change are unfounded and need to be better understood,” McElveen said. “After we pass this policy tonight, nothing will change in how we handle cases of transgender and gender nonconforming students and employees.”

McElveen added that students and employees will continue to go through a thorough vetting process with regards to any gender-nonconformity, and that the board

Citizens were actively engaged in the discussion leading up to the Fairfax County School Board’s 10-1 vote in favor of adding gender identity to the district’s nondiscrimination policy.

has “never received a concern regarding a bathroom incident of this nature.”

Another justification raised by McElveen was the board is being compelled by the U.S. Department of Education office of civil rights to amend its policy as part of a national gender identity protection rollout. “In this light, amending is non-negotiable,” he said, “unless we want the government to come after our federal funding.”

The School Board’s counsel John E. Foster confirmed McElveen’s statements, saying “the federal government has been very clear they expect local school divisions to amend their policies to include gender identity.”

NOT ALL BOARD members agreed with that interpretation, however.

“That the government could compel individual local school boards around the country or risk losing federal education money like Title IX funds is unconscionable,” said Elizabeth Schultz, representing the Springfield District.

“Is my federal government really threatening me, as a duly elected local official who has sworn an oath to the constitution of Virginia to run this school system, to do their bidding by inserting ‘gender identity’ or face taking our children’s lunch money?” Schultz also voiced concerns that the board had not taken sufficient time to fully examine how it would implement the policy update and what the effects would be, both for staff workload and cost to the school system.

She motioned to postpone action on the policy until October, “so that the board can be provided the commensurate draft regulation and handbook language, and determine the overall impact of the proposed revision to Policy 1450.”

Patty Reed, representing Providence District, agreed with Schultz.

“This is about whether our board is being responsible or foolhardy,” she said. “Frankly the process we’ve used to get to this point is troubling and embarrassing — so many fundamental questions that remain unanswered.

The board members, Reed continued, “clearly have caught the public by surprise and not done justice to our established public engagement process.”

Ultimately, Schultz and Reed were outvoted and the action moved forward, amid spontaneous outbursts from an increasingly boisterous audience.

The board finally voted 10-1 in favor of updating the policy to include “gender identity.” Schultz was the only dissenting vote, with Reed abstaining.

IN CHAIRMAN Tammy Derenak Kaufax’s statement regarding the decision, she said, “No decisions have yet been made regarding accommodations that will be provided under the revised policy. Our next step will be to hire a consultant to assist in developing appropriate regulations that protect the rights of all students and comply with state and federal law.”

Following the vote, citizens began filing out of the auditorium and lingered in the lobby and covered area leading into the school.

Josh Israel of Fairfax was one of the public speakers before the School Board, in support of the update. “This policy sends an important signal to all our teachers, staff and students — particularly those who are transgender — that they need not be afraid,” he said in his remarks.

After the vote, Israel said, “They demonstrated they understand the importance of including everyone.”

In response to Schultz’s comments during the meeting that Fairfax County policy should instead simply read “Don’t discriminate,” Israel said, “It still has to mean something; until these are enumerated, there isn’t any enforcement. It’s encouraging that 10 School Board members recognized that tonight.”

Devon Flynn of Centreville is a junior at George Mason University. He came out

The New Policy

“No student, employee, or applicant for employment in the Fairfax County Public Schools shall, on the basis of age, race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, national origin, marital status, or disability, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity, as required by law. It is the express intent of the School Board that every policy, practice, and procedure shall conform to all applicable requirements of federal and state law.”

What Happens Next:

“No decisions have yet been made regarding accommodations that will be provided, under the new policy. FCPS will hire a consultant to assist in developing appropriate regulations that protect the rights of all students and to comply with state and federal law.”

SOURCE: WWW.FCPS.EDU/NEWS/POLICY1450.SHTML

against the proposition. “I was hoping with the majority here opposing it, the board would see and respond to our opinions,” he said.

One big issue for Flynn is the “federal one size fits all” aspect of the policy update. “They have no place to tell a county, a school district,” what to do, he said. Another concern for him is bathrooms and locker rooms: Flynn said he would move his future children to another county if students are allowed to use facilities designated for the opposite sex.

“I think it’s a shame,” he said.

Dalia Palchik, an Annandale resident and teacher at Sheridan School in Washington, D.C. supports the policy update. “As a teacher, I’ve seen kids struggle,” she said afterwards. “It’s time we do everything we can to help everyone, including the most vulnerable.” Palchik is also running to represent Providence District on the School Board.

John Thom of Fairfax came to the meeting to get a sense of what was happening and how the public was feeling. “I didn’t see a need to change the policy, and why this inexplicable rush to pass it without analysis?”

“Proper deliberation is what I hear people asking for — did they collect all the information and have a substantial debate?”

THESE QUESTIONS were answered by School Board vice chairman Ted Velkoff: “The reason we that haven’t had a full-blown community engagement about this policy is because, frankly, nothing is changing,” he said during the meeting.

“The notion that outside agitators promote, that this policy change will cause a sudden massive upheaval, is not true,” Velkoff continued. “The proof is that we have been dealing with transgender persons in FCPS and none of these catastrophic consequences has ever materialized.”

Student representative to the School Board Harris LaTeef refrained from weighing in on the motion, other than to say the majority of students he talked to supported changing the policy. The Langley High School senior did, however, implore the audience for something else:

“Come budget time next year I want to see this passion, this vigor, this community involvement when it comes to funding our schools,” he said. “That is a true threat to our children, our community, the underfunding of our schools.”

WHY IS IT SO HARD TO GET IN SUMMER SHAPE?

Every year it happens...

Spring and summertime roll around, and we panic about putting on our summer clothes. Arms seem too jiggy for short sleeves. Legs feel too lumpy for shorts or a bathing suit. And "abs"? Let's not go there.

It happens every year, and when we don't take action, it just gets worse over time. The fitness options out there can feel daunting. Some are too intimidating or intense. Some seem like they could never get the results you want quickly. Some are too expensive. And so, another year goes by without reaching your summertime fitness goals.

Why not make this year different?

At Koko FitClub, we believe there's a better way to get fit. We are a unique training gym, combining patented fitness technology with the latest in exercise science and training methodologies to get you the results you really want.

And at Koko, we know that COACHING is the key to success. (In fact, Koko is a Japanese word that means "one to one.") WE CHANGE LIVES

"One word for me that describes the Koko experience – transformative. At the age of 46 and after not working out for 16 years, I joined the 30-day [trial] this past summer to try something new. I had no energy, I was overweight, and saw a pretty bleak future physically for the path I was on. After a couple of weeks I was hooked... The whole program is arranged for me, taking into account my strengths/weaknesses and ensuring that I continue to progress. I'm now wearing the same size pants as my college days. It really is true that lean muscle and fitness is the fountain of youth. My girls are appreciating a MUCH more active dad. If every gym in the country had this system, I think we'd have a lot more happy people who have transformed their lives as well."

~ Michael James, Member,
Koko FitClub, Herndon

"I have always been active: skied and golfed for years... As I aged, I noticed that muscle tone and balance were not what they used to be. Koko meets all my needs: the option to work out on my schedule, the ability to work at my own pace and intensity because of the individualized program, and enough competitive spirit to keep me motivated. If I can do it at my age, then I encourage anyone of any age to do it. My balance, blood pressure and weight have all improved with Koko. I LOVE it!"

Public Comment at Police Commission

Come out to testify before the commission on Monday, May 18.

John Geer was shot dead by Fairfax County Police Officer Adam Torres on Aug. 29, 2013, and the outrage over the quality and timing of the release of information about the shooting led to the formation of the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission, which will hold a public forum next Monday, May 18.

Geer was standing unarmed with his hands up inside the doorway to his home in Springfield when he was killed. Police had been called to the scene because of a domestic argument, and while Geer was a legal gun owner, as are one-third of all Virginia residents, no crime had been committed. Aside from the officer who shot Geer, four other officers on the scene told investigators that same day that they were shocked by the shot that killed Geer and thought the shooting was unnecessary. (One officer described his first reaction: "WTF.") Geer made great effort to be predictable in his actions, asking permission to scratch his nose, otherwise keeping his hands up on the doorframe.

Still it took a year and a half and a court order before police officials released the name of the officer who fired the shot and about 11,000 pages of documents related to the investigation. Reading the details of the investigation, it was easy to feel that the meager police statements in the meantime had been deliberately misleading.

In January 2015, just before the statements of the other officers were released because of the court order, Police Chief Edwin Roessler released this update with the name of the officer: "Geer was reported as having multiple firearms inside the home, displaying a firearm that he threatened to use against the police, and refused the officers' requests that he remain outside and speak to them. Officers, including a trained negotiator, attempted to peaceably resolve the situation. They spoke with Geer for more than 30 minutes as he stood in the doorway of his home. When Geer began lowering his hands at one point during the negotiations, PFC Adam Torres fired a single shot that struck Geer."

It was public concern about the huge delay in any information released, and the inconsistencies between police releases and the investigative record that resulted in the Board of Supervisors forming the police review commission. The commission has undertaken a broad review of police policies and practices but will not report on the Geer shooting itself.

The Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission is holding a public forum on Monday, May 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fairfax County Government Center Board Auditorium. Members of the public may sign up to speak by filling out the online form, or by calling the Clerk to the Board's office at 703-324-3151. See www.fairfaxcounty.gov/bosclerk/speaker_bos.htm

Rebuttal on School Funding

BY SHARON BULOVA
CHAIRMAN
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

On April 28 the Board of Supervisors adopted the FY2016 Budget. Our board approved a total transfer to the schools of $2.01 billion, an increase of $66.7 million (an increase of 3.43 percent) over FY2015 and nearly two-thirds of all new revenue associated with increased property values. The total school budget, which is comprised of the county transfer, plus state and some federal funding, totals $2.6 billion.

Education is our board's highest priority; it is not, however our only priority. The school transfer amounts to almost 53 percent of our General Fund Budget. Public safety, human services, parks and libraries all receive a fraction of what FCPS does and these services are also critical to making Fairfax County one of the best places in the country to live, work, raise a family and grow older comfortably. It is also important that real estate taxes are affordable to our residents, many of whom are still struggling to get back on their feet following the recent recession.

Fairfax County's Direct General Fund Budget, services and programs, excluding the School Transfer is $1.81 billion. This year the General County disbursements increased by only 2.06 percent, less than the increase in the School Transfer.

Fairfax County worked hard this year to advocate for a larger share of state funding for our schools, getting $9.9 million more than anticipated through the state budget. With these funds, FCPS is within $4.1 million of their total $2.6 billion Advertised Budget proposal; a gap of just 0.16 percent (sixteen hundredths of a percent).

The superintendent of Fairfax County Public Schools Karen Garza increased her request for a transfer after the state budget increase was announced and shortly before our budget adoption.

In her April 28 release, the superintendent indicated this figure is now $7.6 million or 0.297 percent of FCPS Proposed Operating Budget. Enrollment estimates, and the associated costs, can and do change as the school year approaches and FCPS staff refines their estimates. The gap, therefore, is somewhat of a moving target.

Our Board of Supervisors continues to be supportive of the school system and our partners on the School Board. When the Board of Supervisors adopted the FY2016 Budget, we also gave county staff Budget Guidance for FY2017 which provides a planning target for an additional increase of 3 percent next year.

As we look ahead at the fiscal outlook for next year, we know that we will continue to be affected by a sluggish economy and the effects of federal cutbacks and sequestration. Like the schools, the General County side of the ledger is projecting a budget shortfall for the next (2017) Fiscal Year. This will have to be resolved, as Fairfax

Schools have been county's top priority, receiving $2 billion.

Sharon Bulova

County is required to adopt and maintain a balanced budget.

This spring, the Board of Supervisors will lead the community in a Lines of Business review. This process will be a comprehensive review of all the programs and services the county provides. It will help the board to identify redundancies, establish further efficiencies, consider strategic changes to reach intended outcomes and make sure that the investments we make conform to the community's expectations. In our Budget Guidance, we invited our counterparts on the School Board to participate and we hope they will undertake a similar process for FCPS.

I also hope that the School Board is able to fill the vacant Auditor to the School Board position they created in October of 2014. The Board of Supervisors has had an Auditor to the Board since the 1990s. This independent, critical perspective on the budget and county programs can help elected leaders identify efficiencies and cost avoidance opportunities and has saved taxpayers millions of dollars.

BY WALT LAWRENCE

In addition to my photographic work of the Great Falls area, I also volunteer as a docent at the Smithsonian Air and Space Museum both downtown and at the Udvar-Hazy Center at Dulles Airport. A few months ago when I learned that there was going to be a flyover of World War II aircraft to celebrate the 70th anniversary of VE Day, I immediately tried to think about where I might position myself to capture photographs of the event.

I knew the aircraft were to follow the Potomac starting out near Leesburg and to fly 1,000 feet over the Lincoln Memorial about 12:10 p.m. My first thoughts were places along the Mall, the Iwo Jima Memorial, and the bridges crossing the Potomac. I then started to think about how I might position myself in the Great Falls area to try to get shots that would feature some Great Falls landmark along with the aircraft. I even considered going out in a boat off of Riverbend Park and setting up on one of the islands; but the only landmarks in that area would be unrecognizable islands in that part of the river.

I finally decided upon the third overlook at Great Falls Park and two other early arriving photographers who had the same idea. As we talked about the situation, we were concerned about the altitude and that it might be too high to capture the planes and the falls in the same image. We were also concerned that their flight path might just take them on a straight vector over the beltway and down the river and that they might not even come near the falls.

At about 11:55 a.m. we could hear the rumble of aircraft engines over the pounding of water going over the falls but could not see any planes. After several minutes we finally spotted the early formation of eight training aircraft but they were way over on the Maryland side of the river and east of the Mather Gorge, too far away for any photography. The crowd on the overlook of about 200 people began to give up on the idea of seeing any aircraft up close and some began to leave.

Then, the same aircraft we had spotted earlier were flying in a westerly direction over Maryland at which point they turned and

B-17 Flying Fortress

The B-17 is probably the most well known bomber of the Eighth Air force in Europe and had a reputation for being able to sustain a great deal of damage and keep on flying. While there were two B-17s in the floyver, I read somewhere that six are still flying today. I do know we built 12,731 of them and lost 4,754, which is even more staggering when you consider that the aircraft had a crew of 10.

F-4U Corsair

This was a Navy and Marine Corps fighter that is very recognizable by its distinctive gull-wing. It took a while to work the bugs out of the aircraft but eventually it went on to become a very effective aircraft late in the war. We even flew them in the early days of the Korean War.

came directly over the falls. They apparently were in a holding pattern and flew directly over us about five times in this manner and were then released to fly down the river to the Lincoln Memorial.

So after this very confused beginning, the show got underway and other aircraft formations did fly down the river and either flew directly past the overlooks or over our heads.

P-38 Lightning

The P-38 is a large twin engine WWII fighter that is well known for the downing of Admiral Yamamoto's plane in the South Pacific. America's two leading aces of the war flew P-38s.

B-25 Liberator

This long range heavy bomber flew both in Europe and the Pacific but is perhaps best known for the missions it flew in Europe to attack the Ploesti Oilfields in Rumania. We built about 18,000 of these, the most of any U.S. military aircraft.

Fairfax County Firefighters came to the same overlook location and held the American flag as the planes went over.

However, the 1,000 foot altitude for the aircraft was really too high

B-25 Mitchells

The B-25s are medium bombers that were well known as the aircraft used in the Doolittle Raid in which 16 of these planes flew one way missions from the carrier USS Hornet to attack Japan in April 1942 just 4 months after the attack on Pearl Harbor. Once the aircraft completed their missions the pilots were briefed to fly onto China.

P-51 Mustangs

The Mustang was originally developed by the United States for Britain but the aircraft lacked high altitude performance with its original Allison engine. It was not until a decision was made to try the Rolls Royce Merlin Engine that was used in the British Spitfire that the Mustang really took flight. It was arguably the best fighter of the war and finally gave the United States the ability to escort bombers deep into Germany. The Mustang was flown in Korea and now is covered by many aircraft collectors.

find it quite ironic that while the B-29 was not used in the European War I was able to capture a shot of the last flyable B-29 over the "Eagle's Nest" which is located at the end of Conn Island in the

The new space plan to the Napolitano home called for a family entertainment zone in a newly formed great room that incorporates the kitchen, an informal dining area and a computer work station.

Adding On

BY JOHN BYRD

At what point does a house become “old”, which is to say — no longer a good fit for its usually adaptive occupants?

Michael and Kim Napolitano of Reston pondered this question recently, deciding to investigate options for adding living space to their 33-year-old, 2,000-square-foot colonial.

“When we moved in 12 years ago,” Michael Napolitano said, “the kids were in grade school, Kim was working in an outside office, and our home’s first floor plan supported all our daily requirements. Also, we’ve always loved the beautiful setting — which is about an acre with many mature trees.”

Gradually, the Napolitanos began to notice that their once ideal home was no longer meeting their changing needs. In fact, the entire first level plan — about 1,200 square feet in all — seemed positively crowded when the family was entertaining.

“When we reviewed the Napolitano’s preferred improvements “wish list,” it was clear that the existing first floor footprint was really only about 400 feet short of a plan that would satisfy all the current requirements — including relocating Kim’s office to the first floor,” designer Suzanne Glatz said. Glatz, of Foster Remodeling Solutions, was hired last year by the Napolitanos to develop and supervise a budget-sensitive makeover.

“Basically, Suzanne invited us to think about the floor plan differently,” Michael Napolitano said.

The first consideration: repurposing the 12-foot-by-35-foot family room and adding 160-square-feet of newly enclosed space as an open family entertainment zone within a 500-square-foot L-shaped “great room” that would incorporate the kitchen, breakfast room and a new computer work station.

The new enclosure’s remaining square footage would extend the former family room, which would now be converted into a first-level master bedroom suite. The resulting accommodation features a 58-square-foot walk-in closet (more than triple the size of its predecessor), and a luxury bath complete with glass-encased walk-in shower, soaking tub, and a his-and-her vanity.

The Perils of the College Drinking Culture

Much has been in the news this past year in Virginia and across the country about the very real dangers and consequences of alcohol and binge drinking on college campuses – alcohol poisoning, sexual assault, injury, and even death.

The Unified Prevention Coalition of Fairfax County invites you to join us for an award-winning film and discussion with an emergency room physician, the chief deputy for the Commonwealth's Attorney for Fairfax County, a police officer, the GMU student wellness office director, a parent whose son died after drinking at a college party, and a college student. Information will be provided to help future college students make sound choices that will lead to positive academic experiences and enjoyment of college life without endangering themselves.

The HAZE documentary film contains graphic imagery but is a must-see for all parents, their college-bound teens, and anyone who is concerned about the dangers of underage and high-risk drinking.

McLean senior Erin Calpin launches a walk-off home run against Madison on May 8. The Highlanders won 1-0 on senior night.

Madison pitcher Katie Vannicola held McLean scoreless for six innings before surrendering a seventh-inning home run to McLean's Erin Calpin during a 1-0 loss on May 8.

Erin Calpin stood with a softball in her hand and described her moment of glory as "absolutely amazing."

But before she clutched that ball during a joyful postgame interview Friday night, McLean's senior third baseman crushed it.

Calpin's solo home run in the bottom of the seventh inning gave the McLean softball team a 1-0 victory over Madison on May 8 during senior night at McLean High School.

Facing an 0-2 count, Calpin ripped her walk-off homer over the center-field fence, ending a pitcher's duel between Madison junior Katie Vannicola and McLean freshman Julia Longo while creating an ever-lasting memory.

McLean freshman Julia Longo threw a two-hit shutout against Madison on May 8, striking out 11.

After the game, Calpin held her home run ball and said she planned to frame it.

"I've been dreaming of this since my freshman year," Calpin said. "One of our seniors when I was a freshman, she hit a grand slam on senior night and I've just admired that so much and to have it actually happen for me is absolutely amazing."

Calpin said she momentarily considered trying to lay down a bunt, which could have helped set the stage for one of her teammates to drive in the winning run if Calpin had reached base. Instead, No. 6 ended the game with one swing of her bat.

"That was such a perfect way to end the game for her," Longo said, "especially being her senior night."

McLean head coach Maurice Tawil said he was surprised by the location of the pitch Calpin saw after falling behind in the count.

"I'm surprised that the pitch was where it was," Tawil said. "It might have been a mistake. I don't think anybody on the Madison side wanted the pitch quite there, not the pitcher, as well. [Vannicola] did a really good job all night long. She made one mistake and unfortunately it cost them the game."

Vannicola allowed the one run on five hits over 6 1/3 innings. She walked one and struck out five.

While Vannicola performed well in the pitcher's circle, McLean's Longo was even better. The freshman tossed a two-hit shutout and did not allow a runner to reach second base. Longo walked one and struck out 11.

"Julia killed it," Calpin said. "... I'm beyond proud of her."

McLean second baseman Olivia Bravo had two hits. Shortstop Zoe Dobson and catcher Bella Norton each had one.

Madison catcher Cat Arase and right fielder Kristy Williams each had a hit.

The victory improved McLean's record to 18-1. The Highlanders finished the regular season with a road game against Fairfax on Tuesday, after The Connection's deadline.
