WELCOME TO THE WORLD GAMES AND FAIRFAX COUNTY, WHERE FELLOW POLICE, FIREFIGHTERS AND TEACHERS HAVE A TARGET ON THEIR BACKS

As a public servant, you understand the commitment of fellow police, fire and teachers to goodwill, community involvement and education.

But here in Fairfax County, local politicians don't share our commitment. Every year it's a fight for funding. Politicians let special interest groups, like the Chamber of Commerce and the Restaurant Association, use us for target practice. It seems like every year, public safety and education are the only ones to take the hit.

When politicians place the burden on schools and public safety with underfunding and stagnant salaries, we all lose.

While you're here at the games, recognize Fairfax County public safety officials with a high-five. It might be the only support they get this year.

Police Inspection Targets Commercial Trucks

Motor Carrier Safety Officers recently conducted a commercial-truck inspection at E.C. Lawrence Park in Centreville. Participating were police officers from Fairfax County and the Town of Herndon, Virginia State Police, the Loudoun and Spotsylvania sheriff's offices, plus law-enforcement officers from the City of Manassas, Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority and the DMV Police.

They checked items including brakes, licenses, lights and steering to make sure they were in proper working order. Officers checked 103 trucks and issued 153 citations for violations. Some 24 vehicles with serious safety infractions were taken out of service until repairs could be made.

Driver Albert Fay, with Wine Trucking, waits to receive his vehicle's inspection results. He was hauling bricks from Manassas to a subdivision construction site in Ashburn.

Driver David Rinker, of JK Enterprises of Centreville, opens his tractor-trailer's hood for inspection. He was hauling mulch, but it was falling out of the tailgate.

Motor Carrier Safety Officer Shawn Regan (in cab) and PFC B.P. Woehrle (outside the cab) inspect a roll-off truck hauling construction debris. They checked its gauges, low-air warning devices and signals and discovered some of its brakes were out of adjustment.

ROUNDUPS

Free Carseat Inspections

Certified technicians from the Sully District Police Station will perform free, child safety carseat inspections Thursday, July 16, from 5-8:30 p.m. at the station, 4900 Stonecroft Blvd. in Chantilly. No appointment is necessary. But residents should install the child safety seats themselves so technicians may properly inspect and adjust them, as needed. Because of time constraints, only the first 35 vehicles arriving on each date will be inspected. That way, inspectors may have enough time to properly instruct the caregiver on the correct use of the child seat. Call 703-814-7000, ext. 5140, to confirm dates and times.

And local residents who'd like to hire a worker from the CLRC may do so easily. Either call 703-543-6272 or go to www.centrevilleLRC.org and click on the "How to Hire" link. ## Parents Question Curriculum Change

School Board approves recommendations on health education from advisers, with amendments.

BY TIM PETERSON
THE CONNECTION

Though it was the second packed house in as many months, it may be early yet to call crowded Fairfax County School Board meetings a trend. On May 7, parents, community members and a handful of students came out to Luther Jackson Middle School in Merrifield as the board approved adding "gender identity" to the school system's nondiscrimination policy. No one disputed the need for protection from bullying or fostering a positive, healthy and safe learning environment for all. But many who spoke that night were critical of the process. There was confusion as to what the effects of the policy change would be, and anger that engagement with the public ahead of time was lacking.

At the board's regular meeting on June 25, the first and foremost action item was voting on recommended changes to the Family Life Education and health education curricula for grades Kindergarten through 10. The changes were proposed by the Family Life Education Curriculum Advisory Committee, an ad hoc group set up, according to the School Board, to align the school system's lessons with Virginia Department of Education health standards and evaluate new standards for opt-out-optional Family Life Education.

CHANGES included adding gender identity and sexual orientation to Family Life Education, beginning in seventh grade, as well as moving a portion of the curriculum from Family Life Education to students' health courses. Parents may opt their students out of any Family Life Education class, while the health lessons are mandatory for all students.

The committee briefed School Board members on its initial proposed changes at a work session on May

Student Bennett Shoop addresses the Fairfax School Board at its June 25 meeting in support of the Family Life Education proposed changes, saying, "Knowledge can become acceptance too."

11; the recommendations came up as business at the board's May 21 meeting with June 25 scheduled as the voting date.

Between May 21 and June 19, the recommendations were put online for community review. During that period, the School Board reports, staff received 561 emails, plus a petition signed by 116. It amounted to 225 pages of citizen comments, all of which can be viewed and read through the School Board's agenda notes for the June 25 meeting.

Among the breakdown of responses (also posted in the June 25 agenda notes) 435 were opposed to "inclusion of transgender instruction and references to gender-fluidity," while 54 supported "inclusion of sexual orientation and gender identity instruction."

The petition called for the board to:

1. Prevent the removal of family-centered lessons from parent oversight and opt-out.
2. Provide comprehensive cross-references to Virginia health standards of learning for certain [Family Life Education] lessons proposed to be transferred to "health education."
3. Refrain from approving the teaching of [Lesbian-Gay-Bisexual-Transgender] topics in [Family Life Education] (while acknowledging the importance of teaching respect for all people).

In response to the comments and prior to the June 25 meeting, several changes were made to the recommendations, including:

- ♦ Grade 8 – Removed – "The concept that sexuality is a broader spectrum will be introduced."
- ♦ Grade 10 – Removed – "Emphasis will be placed on an understanding that there is a broader, boundless and fluid spectrum of sexuality that is developed throughout a lifetime."

Angel Fund Receives $10,000

During the June 13 Remembrance Cabaret for Westfield High grad/Virginia Tech victim Reema Samaha, New York Life presented a $10,000 grant to Angel Fund. The nonprofit supports Actively Caring 4 People, a positive-reinforcement program in local schools. Hoping to prevent suicide, depression, anxiety and substance abuse, AC4P's goal is to foster an environment where young people feel respected, self-confident and tolerant towards others.

David Love, of Centreville's Sully Station community, works for New York Life and initiated the grant because he knew and cared about Reema and her family and saw the impact her death had on the local community. And he and his wife, Debbie, strongly believe in and support Angel Fund's mission of educating and advocating for youth mental health and student safety on college campuses.

Angel Fund President Lu Ann McNabb received the check, along with Shane McCarty. He's currently pursuing his Ph.D. at Virginia Tech after obtaining his undergraduate and master's degrees there and co-founding AC4P. He's now starting a new nonprofit, the Cor Foundation, which will absorb AC4P's work in Fairfax County schools under that umbrella. He and his team from Virginia Tech coach students at Woodson and Centreville high schools, and the grant will enable them to implement their program.

OPINION

Open Letter to Elected Officials and Candidates

Spend some of your campaign dollars in newspapers.

Here at the Connection, our email boxes are filling up with messages from people running for office. It's not surprising, since in November, virtually every state and local office in the commonwealth is on the ballot.

It's a good predictor for what will happen next in brick and mortar mailboxes of voters around the region.

What do candidates want from local newspapers?

Candidates, many of them incumbents, want to be quoted. They would like a reporter to come to their campaign announcements, to their kickoffs, to their forums. Candidates would like us to cover and print their statements on a variety of interesting and important issues. They would like to have their photos appear on the print and web pages of our newspapers

And for the most part, we will. We will cover the issues, the campaigns, the opinions, the fundraising, the political record.

While competition in local races is limited, money is not.

Current campaigns are on track to top the money spent in 2011 State Senate races. In 2011, Virginia State Senate candidates spent more than $42.5 million. They have already spent more than $20 million in 2015.

In Virginia state house races, in 2013 (members of the Virginia House of Delegate, like U.S. Congress, run for reelection every two years) candidates spent $35.9 million.

In an example of the money these races can attract, here is an extreme example from two years ago. In the 2013 race for House of Delegates District 34, Barbara Comstock raised $1.4 million, narrowly defeating Kathleen Murphy (50.64 percent to 49.21 percent) who raised nearly $700,000. Comstock went on to win the U.S. House seat vacated by longtime Rep. Frank Wolf, and Murphy went on to win the District 34 seat in a special election.

Comstock to her credit spent more than $5,000 (about one-third of one percent) on newspaper ads (most in Korean publications), but more than $87,000 on mailers. More surprising in a race for Virginia House of Delegates was that Comstock spent more than $500,000 on TV and radio ads.

Murphy spent $29,570 on mailers, $950 on newspaper advertising and $161,200 on TV and radio ads. (SOURCE: VPAOrg)

EDITORIAL

In other contested House races in 2013, it was more common to see expenditures between $100,000 and $300,000 per candidate. Most candidates spent zero dollars in community newspapers. Nearly every candidate spent tens of thousands of dollars on filling up voters' mailboxes with glossy mailers.

Of course it makes sense for candidates to target individual voters by mailing directly to their homes.

But does it really make sense to do that to the exclusion of other methods of reaching voters? Consider that 91 percent of voters who contribute to campaigns read newspapers in print or online, according to an independent study in 2012.

The Connection will not be endorsing candidates in the November elections. We'll be covering the local races to the best of our ability no matter who spends money on advertising. Other local newspapers will also cover the races without regard to advertising dollars.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

As Fourth of July approaches, I wanted to share some important safety information.

Did you know sparklers cause more injuries to children under five than any other type of fireworks? If you or someone you know is planning on setting off fireworks, please visit <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/fr/prevention/fmfireworks.htm#permissible> for firework safety information as well as a list of permissible fireworks. Please review the fireworks safety tips as tragedy can strike within seconds when fireworks are not properly and safely used.

SoberRide is offering free cab rides starting Saturday, July 4 at 10 p.m.. until Sunday, July 5 at 4 a.m. You must be 21 or older to use this service. ### Celebrating Marriage Equality

To the Editor:

Today, we rejoice in the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court upholding the federal right of same sex partners to legal marriage in the cases of Obergefell v. Hodges, Tanco v. Haslam, DeBoer v. Snyder, Bourke v. Beshear. We give thanks for the discernment shown by the Justices on this issue and their standing on the side of love. We give thanks that today, for the first time in our nation's history, the marriages of same sex couples will be legally permitted and legally recognized in all 50 states.

As people of faith, we stand together in the belief that all persons, regardless of sexual orientation and gender identity, deserve the civil and human rights recognizing their marriage covenant. We stand together in love and support for the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer (LGBTQ) communities at this momentous time.

However, we must also acknowledge that the struggle for full rights under the law for LGBTQ

That's not why we do what we do.

But to put on my publisher's hat (and not my editor's hat) for a minute, if you have a big marketing budget, and you value coverage of local newspapers (not just ours), why wouldn't you spend a portion of that budget (any portion) supporting that platform? There is a cautionary tale in the recent and abrupt closure of the chain of local papers that served Montgomery and Prince George's counties in Maryland, as a recent and extreme example.

One California community in Los Angeles proposed legislation to let residents opt out of receiving election-related mail during a hotly contested mayoral election "where both campaigns and their supporters had flooded the mailboxes of registered voters with dozens of direct mail pieces," according to The Argonaut, a weekly newspaper there. Sound familiar?

But it's more than a charitable effort.

For the same reasons that the campaigns know they want local newspaper coverage, newspaper advertising is an effective way to reach voters.

According to an independent study during the last presidential campaign, cited by the National Newspaper Association: 86 percent of voters who cast ballots in the last local election read newspapers in print or online; 79 percent of voters ages 18 to 34 read newspapers in print or online; newspapers and their websites consistently outscore other media for being "reliable," "accurate" and "in-depth" about local civic and political issues; newspaper political advertising is the least "annoying" of any medium; 91 percent of voters who contribute to campaigns read newspapers in print or online.

Just a suggestion ...

— MARY KIMM,

MKIMM@CONNECTIONNEWSPAPERS.COM

people is not over. While marriage is now legal for all, LGBTQ civil rights, property rights, and anti-discrimination protection especially for LGBT youth continue to be issues that deserve our attention and our prayers.

We remain together, a diverse community of people of faith, working for the continued progress towards full justice for the LGBTQ communities. And we will remain committed to stand together until our goal is achieved, witnessing each in our own way as we honor our belief that our creator made us in love and created us to love and to be loved. Blessed be. Toda elohim. Namaste. Thanks be to God. Amen.

Health Curriculum To More Closely Align with State

the June 25 meeting, clad in red for solidarity, that wasn't enough. Speakers before the board claimed many of the curriculum items coming out of Family Life Education and into health were not actually required as part of the state standards of learning. And the prospect of losing the opportunity to opt their children out of material not required by the state was infuriating for some. "This vote is not about bullying or hatred," said Laura Hanford. "The real point is process ... that culminated in outright deceit."

After the initial motion from board member Sandra Evans to approve the curriculum advisory committee's recommendations, members Patricia Reed and Elizabeth Schultz attempted a motion to postpone the vote until July. They cited a steady stream of clarifying information coming in from county staff answering numerous questions from the board, as well as the feedback from community members.

"To rush is not good public policy," said Reed, who added she was "receiving material as late as today."

Schultz questioned who gave the advisory committee its direction and was critical that none of the board members had served as a liaison.

Their motion to postpone was voted down 10-2, which drew an outburst of cat-calls and derogatory comments from the audience.

Next board member Patricia Hynes introduced an amendment that appeared to be a compromise. It would direct Superintendent Dr. Karen Garza to "retain in Family Life Education any objectives that are not required by the 2015 VDOE Health Standards of Learning."

Hynes commented the board had made a "mistake" in attempting to move some of the Family Life Education to health curriculum that wasn't required by the state. But a large part of the audience was vocally upset there were no details presented as to which Family Life Education curriculum items this amendment would impact.

Schultz then offered a sub-motion: directing Garza and her team to further review the recommendations and how they align with state standards. This would also defer consideration of the changes for implementation in the 2016-2017 school year. Schultz again commented that the board's preparation for the vote was lacking.

Schultz's sub-motion was defeated. Then board vice chairman Ted Velkoff offered an amendment to Hynes' original amendment that enumerated the 15 items originally from Family Life Education that would be returned. This would "make sure parents have the opportunity to opt out," Velkoff said. Twelve were not required by the state to be in the health standards and three were in response to the petition.

The list of numbers without corresponding policy descriptions drew more noise from the heavily anti-recommendations crowd.

ACCORDING TO AGENDA posted by Fairfax County Public Schools, those curriculum items that were part of Family Life Education, had been recommended to move to health and would be moved back under Velkoff and Hynes' amendments are as follows (the K or number refers to grade level):

- ❖ K.1 Student will recognize that everyone is a member of a family and identify members of their individual families
- ❖ K.2 Students will identify positive ways in which family members and friends show love, affection, respect, and appreciation for each other.

- ❖ 1.1 Students will describe a community as people living and working together and will understand that family members make up a community.

- ❖ 1.2 Students will identify responsibilities of different family members.

- ❖ 3.1 Students will identify positive personal characteristics and attributes.

- ❖ 4.3 Students will identify the need to assume greater responsibility for self as an individual, as well as responsibility within family, peer groups, and larger community.

- ❖ 4.7 Students will recognize the values and challenges of friendship.

- ❖ 5.2 The student will identify roles, duties, and responsibilities of family members

- ❖ 7.2 The student will explore changes in peer relationships during adolescence.

- ❖ 7.3 The student will describe how adolescent development affects family relationships and practice effective strategies for communicating with family members.

- ❖ 8.2 The student will practice applying the decision-making process to situations related to adolescent development.

- ❖ 8.7 The student will identify family and personal expectations of dating relationships and investigate the influence of mass media messages on dating and sexual behavior.

- ❖ 8.8 The student will demonstrate strategies for resolving conflicts that arise in families and peer groups.

egies for resolving conflicts that arise in families and peer groups.

- ❖ 9.1 The student will identify the family as a basic unit of society and his or her responsibility as a member of the family.

- ❖ 10.9 Student will describe his or her attitudes toward dating while examining values, morals, and ethics essential to positive dating relationships.

Those two amendments passed, after which Schultz made one final attempt to stay the vote by tabling the discussion. After that was voted down, the board voted 10-2 in favor of the recommended changes with Reed and Schultz as the dissenting votes.

Where the May 7 vote drew lengthy and numerous comments from the majority of the board members, the group was largely quiet aside from the champions of the motions and amendments.

"It is important to note that all [Family Life Education] designated lessons will continue to have the opt out provision," School Board chairman Tammy Derenak-Kaufax said in a statement after the meeting. "Our parents' role in determining if their child will receive [Family Life Education] lessons has not changed."

We respect parents' rights to make the choices they believe are in the best interest of their families."

WELLBEING

Ensuring a Safe Fourth of July

From swimming to fireworks, safety precautions for a festive Independence Day.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL

It was a near accident at camp last summer that sparked action by one parent. Elementary school-aged campers splashed in the pool. Everyone was having fun. Then tragedy almost struck.

Jackie Wheeler says one second her 7-year-old son was frolicking on top of the water and the next he was bobbing just below the surface, gasping for air.

"One of the counselors took his eyes off of Noah for one second, and he started to struggle," said Lee. "Ultimately, the lifeguard had to jump in and save him."

Wheeler didn't witness the incident, but its recounting was difficult for her to hear. That brush with danger became a defining moment for her family. She enrolled her son, who is now 8, and her daughter Ava, who is 4, in private swimming lessons at the YMCA in Bethesda, Md.

"I want them to be safe around the water, and I want them to be able to save themselves or someone else if necessary," said Wheeler.

She's not the only one thinking about safety. As Independence Day approaches and time spent at the pool, outside in sweltering temperatures and at fireworks shows increases, public health and safety officials are working to raise awareness about potential hazards.

WATER SAFETY

Ensuring that children learn to swim and keeping a close watch on them at the pool or beach are two ways that officials encourage water safety.

Parents and caregivers should also be mindful of recreational water illnesses, which are caused by swallowing or coming in contact with contaminated water in swimming pools and other bodies of water. Help reduce the risk of recreational water illnesses by showering with soap and water before entering a pool, taking frequent bathroom breaks and conducting regular diaper checks followed by washing hands with soap and water, say local health officials.

HEAT SAFETY

Sunburn is another health concern when swimming outdoors.

"Protect your skin and eyes from the sun's damage."

ing rays [by] wearing protective clothing and sunglasses," said Kenya Fluellen, associate professor of nursing at Northern Virginia Community College in Alexandria, Virginia. "Always use sunscreen with a minimum SPF of 30."

Heatstroke is the number two killer of children after car crashes, and Fairfax County has joined with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to remind parents and caregivers about the dangers of leaving children unattended in a car, particularly during the summer, which can lead to heatstroke and even death.

"You should never leave a child alone in the car, and that is certainly true in the summer when the temperatures are on the rise and cars get hot very quickly," said John Silcox, public safety information officer, Fairfax County Health Department.

Fairfax County officials say there were 30 heatstroke deaths of children left in vehicles in 2014. Most parents simply forgot their children were with them. "Put something in the back of your car, such as a bag or a cell phone, so you'd be certain to check before leaving the car," said Silcox.

FIREWORKS SAFETY

While fireworks are synonymous with July 4th celebrations, creating a fireworks display at home is illegal in some local jurisdictions. In both Alexandria and Montgomery County, Md., for example, all fireworks are illegal to possess or discharge, including gold label sparklers. In Fairfax County, any firework that explodes, emits a flame, sparks higher than 12 feet, or performs as a projectile is prohibited. Arlington County has similar prohibitions.

"We always remind people that the best and safest way to enjoy July 4th is to go to a professional show and let the professionals handle it and just enjoy the show," said Lieutenant Sarah-Maria Marchegiani, spokeswoman for the Arlington County Fire Department. "Some people don't know that sparklers are dangerous for kids. They burn hot enough to cause third degree burns. We recommend that adults be the only ones to ignite fireworks."

If you do want to put on your own backyard Independence Day illumination show, check local regulations, allow fireworks to cool completely and douse them with water before discarding them, advises Marchegiani.

Quality of Life

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Throughout my nearly six and a half years of cancer treatment, starting at the initial Team Lourie meeting on February 27, 2009, when my oncologist suggested I take that vacation I've always dreamed of (to which I exclaimed "WHAT!?!"), my quality of life has always been important to him. Whenever there has been a treatment blip on my radar, and changes had to be considered/made to my protocol, my oncologist has regularly asked if I wanted to continue treatment, take a break from treatment or stop it altogether and enjoy, if possible, whatever above-average good health I was experiencing while I could, because I might not experience it again and if I did, it might not last too long. Ergo my quality of life. Diagnosis-to-date however, I have always opted to continue to damn the torpedoes and infuse full speed. Oddly enough, continuing to infuse has worried me less than not infusing at all.

As I progress through year seven, I am wondering yet again about quality of life. Though we are not at any kind of crossroads – treatment or otherwise, and my lab work continues to indicate that my body is able to tolerate my every-three-week infusions of Alimta, I do have my less-than-stellar moments. This is particularly so for the seven to ten days immediately following my infusion. It is during this time when a certain predictable side effect occurs, having first manifested itself about six months ago, to make me less pleasant than I'd prefer to be. What happens is I don't eat, not too much anyway. Because I can't. Because I won't. Because something somewhere – internally, psychologically, physically – is preventing me from doing so. In general, the whole idea of eating is a total turn off. And given my nature/proclivities, I need it to be a turn on. As a result, I'm always hungry. And then I get tired from not eating (no energy). Then I take a nap. Then at bedtime, I'm unable to fall asleep because I've slept some already. Eventually, I do get some sleep, but I end up having a restless, interrupted, short, REM-less sleep and wake up tired the next day when the routine starts all over again; except now I'm tired to begin the day and don't have any interest in breakfast, so I get no boost to start. The marijuana pills I wrote about don't help. Consequently, I seem to be stuck in this cycle of depressing miserableness (is there any other kind?). Not gaining any pleasure from one of the staples of my existence is an extremely discouraging set of circumstances and is making Kenny a very dull boy, or at least duller than I usually am.

But, and it's a HUGE but, the treatment is so-far-so-good, working; the tumors have not grown or moved – and I'm alive and reasonably well.

Still, one week of every three, I'm not a happy camper (and if I were actually camping – out of doors – I'd be even less happy, since I don't camp). The question becomes, sort of: is camping all that important (euphemistically speaking)? Obviously, to me, living hungry is more important than dying satiated. But I don't like being depressed and miserable one third of my time. That is an in-e-quality of life with which I'm not particularly pleased. Life goes on though, and for that, I'm over-the-top grateful – and amazingly, maybe even randomly, lucky. I just wish I could savor my next meal as much as I savor my survival. As my Auntie Irene used to say: "This too shall pass," until two weeks from now, that is.
