Celebrating Fourth in McLean

News, Page 3

Four Generations of Eagles in One Flock
News, Page 4

In Jail: Don’t Confuse Mental Health Services with Treatment
News, Page 10

People congregate on the grounds of Cooper Middle School for the fireworks celebration.
For Marta Sniezek, ranked one of the top basketball players in the country, her parents and her siblings are her motivators in a family where success is a blueprint.

"I credit all my success to my family who have supported me in everything that I wanted to pursue," the McLean resident said. "My father taught me that I could do anything my brothers can academically and athletically. My sisters and brothers taught me tough love."

Marta has won numerous awards on and off the court, maintained above a 3.0 GPA and is an Academic High School All-American in soccer and basketball, a member of the National Honor Society, a recipient of the Merit/Leadership Independent School Scholar, and a three-time Fairfax Stars "Outstanding Scholar Athlete Award" among other awards.

One person who particularly inspires Marta is her mother, Edwina Sniezek, who was diagnosed in 2008 with chronic myelogenous leukemia in 2008. She underwent bone marrow transplant in 2013.

"It had a big impact on our family, particularly Marta," according to Marta’s father, Dr. David Sniezek. "Because of my schedule, it has always been Edwina who took her to practices, games, and to tournaments that required travel. Their time together and shared experiences allowed them to develop an edge in sports and life because she knew that she was going to have a conversation with her mother about everything she did that day," he father said.

Going into her senior year Marta had already committed to Stanford for basketball. And she could have easily relaxed: she had planned to forgo her senior season of soccer to avoid added exposure to injuries.

"I only played soccer for NCS just to be with my friends. I never intended to play soccer senior year, but when I found out that one of the team’s standout players was leaving the area then I decided to play," she said. "I wanted the seniors to win a third DCSAA title so I decided to play."

Marta’s decision to play exemplified what many people highlight as some of her best unknown attributes as a person.

"Marta is a really caring and loving person. She values teammates, family, and all those around her," said one of her AAU coaches, Bob Dix. "She fierce competitor on the court, but also an extremely caring person."

Her decision turned out to be a good one, as she helped NCS win a third straight state title. Marta was named first team All-Met All-State. She also has volunteered for community service work, locally on behalf of the Haiti Relief Fund, for the So Others Might Eat organization, Jill’s House, and as a National Cathedral School volunteer for the Latino disabled community.

"I don’t think there is an athlete in the DMV that has the accolades that this young woman has on and off the court," said Dix. "She truly embodies that the phrase student athlete." Looking ahead, Marta looks to keep the success going at Stanford. And she is excited about what her future holds, something she knows can be accomplished with the strength and inspiration of her mother on her mind.

"My mother instilled self-reliance, hard work and compassion in me," she said.

Q&A: Marshall Grad Brooke Headed to Coastal Carolina Right-hander earned Conference 13 Pitcher of the Year.

Will Brooke spent three seasons helping transform the Marshall varsity baseball program into a state title contender.

As a senior this past spring, Brooke was the ace of the Marshall pitching staff and a slugger in the Statesmen lineup. He helped the team repeat as Conference 13 champion, and reach the 5A North region and state championship games.

Marshall lost to Stone Bridge in the region and state finals, but the Statesmen left their mark in 2015, helping the program return to a state championship game for the first time since 1987.

Brooke was named Conference 13 Pitcher of the Year, and earned first-team all-region and first-team all-state honors. The 2015 Marshall graduate will continue his baseball career as a pitcher at Coastal Carolina University in Conway, S.C. The Chanticleers compete at the Division I level in the Big South Conference.

Brooke recently participated in a Q&A via email with The Connection.

See Q&A, Page 7

Will Brooke, a 2015 Marshall High School graduate, will play baseball for Coastal Carolina University.
Celebrating Fourth in McLean

Despite the gloomy weather, around 1,000 people attended the annual fireworks celebration by the McLean Community Center on Saturday, July 4 at Cooper Middle School in McLean. The Master of Ceremonies was Sam Fanelli and MCC Chairman Paul Kohlenberger addressed the crowd before the fireworks during the 239th birthday of America.

— Steve Hibbard

Photos by Steve Hibbard/The Connection

Cassandra Gore, Olivia Gore, Ryan Campbell and Jack Rampy of McLean.

The Hensley family of McLean.
Four Generations of Eagles in One Flock

Boy Scout Troop 827 of McLean, sponsored by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, honored Parker Evans, 16, Justin Bridges, 18, Arnold Leigh, 18, and Adam Sensiba, 16, in a joint Court of Honor on May 9.

Josh Shepherd, 18, had his own Court of Honor in his family’s backyard on May 23, complete with a campfire and s’mores.

Each of the five troop members earned his Eagle Scout ranking earlier in May.

EVANS JOINS THREE other generations of Eagle Scouts from his family. His father Ryan Parker Evans earned the honor in 1991, his grandfather John Robinson Evans, is a 1960 Eagle Scout, and his great grandfather Frederick Read Evans achieved the rank in 1926.

Parker pinned his grandfather for being a mentor and his grandfather spoke at the Eagle Scout Court of Honor.

Del. Kathleen Murphy of McLean and Fairfax County Supervisor John Foust attended and spoke at the event about involvement in the community.

Bridges and Shepherd improved the courtyard area of Marshall High School.

Leigh and Sensiba combated invasive plants and improved drainage at Falstaff Park in McLean’s Hampton.

Evans enhanced drainage and added trail markers at Riverbend Park.

Bridges completed his Eagle project 10 days before his 18th birthday, the deadline for earning the rank. He said his favorite scouting experience was a 100-mile bike trip where he had adventures including several flat tires in a single day. Leigh’s favorite scouting memory was earning his archery and rifle shooting merit badges at his first year of scout camp.

Sensiba’s older sister Ellen, a vocal performance major at the University of Utah who sang the hymn, “I’ll Go Where You Want Me To Go” at the Court of Honor, was surprised when her brother honored her with his mentor pin.

“She’s been a constant example of the qualities that scouts aspire to,” Sensiba said.

Shepherd is set to begin a two-year LDS mission in Las Vegas this month, just a couple weeks after he graduates.
Collection Continues for Annual Used Book Sale

McLean American Association of University Women (AAUW) 46th Annual Used Books, CDs, DVDs, and Software Collection is Saturday, July 18 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Vienna Sun Trust Bank, 515 Maple Avenue East. No encyclopedias, VHS, or audio tapes. Proceeds are used for scholarships for women, to promote their professional development and to encourage grade school and high school girls to engage in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. Questions: email aauwbookfair@gmail.com; call 703-527-4201; or visit McLean-va.aauw.net.

The final collection will be Aug. 8 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Vienna Sun Trust Bank. The sale will be Sept. 18, 19, and 20 at the McLean Community Center, 1234 Ingleside Avenue, McLean.

Area Students Receive Congressional Award

On June 17, more than 150 youth from across the nation received the Congressional Award, Congress’ highest honor for youth. Currently over 40,000 students from all 50 states are enrolled in the youth development program.

At the Recognition Dinner at the Ronald Reagan Building, more than 600 guests including members of the House and Senate along with business leaders honored the recipients and recognized retired Congressman John Dingell and Divisional Vice President of Walgreens Steve Pemberton for their work with American youth.

Since its inception in 1979, the Congressional Award has recognized thousands of young Americans committed to serving their country and improving themselves, representing over seven million hours of public service. Those honored include several students from our area.

Rep. Barbara Comstock (R-10): Rachel Bugge of Great Falls, Baylor University; Christina Flear, of Manassas, Osburn Park High School; Nikki Kothari, of Herndon, Thomas Jefferson High School for Science & Technology; and Austin Smith, of Great Falls, Cortona Academy.

Rep. Gerald Connolly (D-11): Tristana Giunta, of Falls Church, Yale Law School; Charlotte Heffelmire, of Vienna, McLean High School; Taylor Lane, of Dunn Loring, George C. Marshall High School, and Suhani Sanghavi, of Fairfax, Fairfax High School.

tranzon®

FORECLOSURE

McLean Home

- 2 Story Brick Colonial
- Garage, fireplace
- 2548+/-SF
- Pool, 3 Baths

July 21, 2pm
1806 Rupert St., McLean, VA

Tranzon Fox, VAAF423

TRANZON.COM 410-833-5343
Yes to Nonpartisan Redistricting

Politicians shouldn’t be choosing voters.

Virginia's Congressional map is unconstitutional because African American voters are packed in District 3, according to the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia. The problem will have to be remedied by drawing new boundaries. The issue could be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

In statewide elections, Virginia voters have chosen Democrats in the last two presidential elections, for U.S. Senate, for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General. Every single official elected statewide is a Democrat. Democrats won from a comfortably margin in most cases, but elections were close. In one single official elected statewide is a Democrat.

Virginia’s 11 Congressional districts should be split about evenly. You could understand a split five Dems and six Republicans; or five Republicans and six Democrats. A four and seven split would smack of some unusual circumstance. But three and eight? The problem is gerrymandering.

The solution, which the Supreme Court just OK’d, is allowing the lines to be drawn by a non-partisan commission.

Both political parties have been guilty of this in power, although new technology and better data have made the process more egregious, the effects more damaging. The problem is gerrymandering. Political parties should not control the drawing of political districts. Gerrymandering thwarts the will of the electorate. It is especially damaging in a Dillion rule state, like Virginia, where localities can only the power explicitly granted to them by the General Assembly.

This is particularly unfair to localities like Fairfax County, Arlington and Alexandria, where local officials have views that differ greatly from those of the majority of Virginia’s General Assembly.

The reason Virginia's Congressional map has been unconstitutional is about race: packing all the African American voters in one district and conceding that district to Democrats in order to reduce the power of African American voters in the adjacent districts. A similar challenge is in the works concerning districts in Virginia’s House of Delegates. It’s long past time to take these decisions out of the hands of the officials who use the redistricting process to choose their own voters and effectively grant themselves lifetime appointment.

— Mary Kimm

A Call to Save McLean Central Park

To the Editor:

I am writing with deep concern regarding Mr. Moore’s recent piece about Fairfax County’s proposed creek restoration project in McLean Central Park and the public meeting held on June 9 at the McLean Public Library (“Don’t Want to be Disturbed,” McLean Connection, June 17-23, 2015).

Mr. Moore took an unprofessional and condescending tone when referring to the reaction of the community, seemed to be excusing atrocious behavior on the part of the County, and failed to address a major focus of the meeting, essentially writing a support piece for the County project.

The community’s outrage over this highly impactful proposal as well as the County’s shocking lack of transparency and our legitimate concerns about the efficacy of restoration projects, especially this one, goes way beyond what Mr. Moore’s patronizing “ruffled a few feathers” and “Don’t want to be Disturbed” title suggests. The meeting on June 9 was called for and insisted upon by the community not the County. The County’s presentation was attended by a standing room only crowd and elicited astonished disbelief from start to finish.

The community at large has just begun to learn about this proposal only because the park’s adjacent neighborhood realized that the County was moving forward rap-dily and quietly with a project that would impact thousands of residents while making no visible effort to inform them. As a result, we had no choice but to draft a petition listing the impacts of the project and to begin notifying the community, doing the County’s job for them. Mr. Moore’s article completely failed to mention this petition and its central role in the meeting on June 9.

To date, Save McLean Central Park (https://www.change.org/p/supervisor-john-foust-kathleen-murphy-barbara-comstock-save-mclean-central-park) which has been minimally publicized, has over 300 hard and online signatures with the promise of many more to come. The County was so concerned about this petition that they designed their presentation around responding to its claims.

Much to our great disappointment, the County’s presentation completely failed to properly address or allay our concerns.

Specifically:

1. The County’s presentation has been unsuccessful in its attempt to address our concerns because from the beginning it has presented wildly conflicting and contradictory information at every turn (sometimes just days apart) including the evening of June 9. The community’s trust in the County has been severely tested.

2. Make no mistake, the proposal, as currently designed, will have a devastating impact on the park for a full generation to come. As a newspaper organization dedicated to presenting a balanced story, I certainly hope and trust that you will inform the public of these issues and concerns which include:

   a. Proposed removal of approximately 250 trees from McLean Central Park, including as many as 100 of the largest-size trees (please see item #2 below).

   b. Significant widening of the creek and its banks resulting in the removal of virtually all growth in a wide swath extending out along both sides of the creek from Churchill Road to Ernestine Drive (including all trees 6” in diameter and under, none of which are included in the County’s tree count).

   c. No provisions made by the County to maintain or protect replacement plantings from failure or encroachment of invasive species. (NOTE: Replacement trees will be 2” diameter saplings).

   d. All trees with exposed roots along the banks will be removed and replaced with boulders.

3. Closure of large sections of the park and trail for extended periods during construction.

4. The County has been unsuccessful in its attempt to address our concerns because from the beginning it has presented wildly conflicting and contradictory information at every turn (sometimes just days apart) including the evening of June 9. The community’s trust in the County has been severely tested.

5. Insufficient evidence that this proposal will achieve the proposed goals of reducing erosion and the phosphate levels going into the Potomac.

6. Inadequate attention to the serious flash flood issue in the park and surrounding area. In addition, Dranesville District residents should be concerned about and aware of the following:

   a. County officials have stated in public meetings that the construction zone and surrounding area (the long section of the park from Churchill Road to Ernestine Drive) will look “very rough” for years and that the planned canopy will take 30 years, a full generation, to grow in…if the plantings survive.

   b. The efficacy of stream restoration projects which are being undertaken to reduce erosion into the Chesapeake watershed is being heavily debated and questioned at the highest levels. By no means is there a consensus that these projects are successful after five years. In the meantime, irreversible damage has been done.

3. Our community should ask why the County has failed to provide notification about this project and its short and long lasting impact on McLean Central Park. The County has only begun to discuss doing so now because its hand has been forced by members of the park neighborhood.

4. There is serious concern that the County’s proposed, previously named “Stream Team” will be a rubber-stamp group designed to give the County credit for making an in-name-only attempt to allow for community input regarding the future of McLean Central Park.

— Ken Moore
Q&A: Marshall Grad Brooke Headed to Coastal Carolina

From Page 2

Connection: You’ll be playing baseball for Coastal Carolina next season. What made CCU the right choice for you?
Brooke: I’ve always thought of them as having a very successful program and the coaches made me feel like I have a good chance of contributing next spring and in the next few years. Coastal is also very close to my grandparents and other family members so I don’t feel too out of place going to a school 7 hours from home.

Connection: What are you most looking forward to about going to college?
Brooke: The freedom of living without parents and just being able to play baseball at a higher level in front of bigger crowds

Connection: At what age did you start playing baseball?
Brooke: 4 years old.

Connection: When did you realize playing college baseball was an option for you?
Brooke: Freshman year of high school when I went down to [East Cobb, Ga.] for the first time. The realization of playing in college grew every year since then when more and more college coaches came to watch me pitch.

Connection: You were a key contributor to helping Marshall reach the state championship game for the first time in more than 20 years. What did it feel like to be part of that accomplishment?

Brooke: It was awesome being able to play in the state championship. I loved every moment of the season. Coach [Aaron] Tarr would always talk about how good Marshall baseball used to be and how special that team was that went to states. I just want our team to be talked about in 20 years like that team was.

Connection: What is your favorite memory of playing baseball at Marshall?
Brooke: Hitting two home runs in the state championship game.

Connection: What do you like to do when you’re not playing a sport?
Brooke: I like to hang out with my friends, which normally ends up being a pick-up basketball game, ping-pong tournament or a trip to the driving range.

Connection: What’s your favorite food?
Brooke: Lobster.

Connection: Who is your favorite music artist? Why?
Brooke: Kendrick Lamar. He’s my go-to artist from pregame music to just driving around in my car.

Connection: What is your favorite movie? Why?
Brooke: “Anchorman.” My favorite Will Ferrell movie. I use quotes from that movie all the time.

— Jon Roetman
Local REAL ESTATE

May, 2015 Top Sales in Great Falls and McLean

In May 2015, 29 Great Falls homes sold between $2,700,000-$523,000 and 96 homes sold between $3,100,000-$145,100 in the McLean and Falls Church area.

Great Falls

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Address</th>
<th>BR</th>
<th>FB</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>Sold Price</th>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Lot AC</th>
<th>Postal Code</th>
<th>Subdivision</th>
<th>Date Sold</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>916 Mackall Ave</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>McLean</td>
<td>$3,100,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.56</td>
<td>22101</td>
<td>Langley Forest</td>
<td>05/15/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>843 Centrillion Dr</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>McLean</td>
<td>$2,750,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.93</td>
<td>22102</td>
<td>Garfield Park</td>
<td>05/18/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>811 Leigh Mill Rd</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>Great Falls</td>
<td>$2,700,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>1.73</td>
<td>22066</td>
<td>Forestville</td>
<td>05/27/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1615 Forest Ln</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>McLean</td>
<td>$2,621,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.53</td>
<td>22101</td>
<td>Chesterbrook Woods</td>
<td>05/22/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>640 Deerfield Farm Ct</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>Great Falls</td>
<td>$2,575,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>1.77</td>
<td>22066</td>
<td>Deerfield Farm</td>
<td>05/26/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1007 Bryan Pond Court</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>McLean</td>
<td>$2,310,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>1.72</td>
<td>22102</td>
<td>Bryan Pond</td>
<td>05/08/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6239 Park Rd</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>McLean</td>
<td>$2,075,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.72</td>
<td>22101</td>
<td>Franklin Park</td>
<td>05/11/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1312 Daviswood Drive</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>McLean</td>
<td>$2,000,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.83</td>
<td>22102</td>
<td>Summerwood</td>
<td>05/29/15</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

McLean

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Address</th>
<th>BR</th>
<th>FB</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>Sold Price</th>
<th>Type</th>
<th>Lot AC</th>
<th>Postal Code</th>
<th>Subdivision</th>
<th>Date Sold</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>843 Centrillion, McLean</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>$2,750,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.56</td>
<td>22101</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1007 Bryan Pond Court, McLean</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>$2,310,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>1.72</td>
<td>22102</td>
<td>Bryan Pond</td>
<td>05/08/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6034 Franklin Park Road, McLean</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>$2,100,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.34</td>
<td>22101</td>
<td>Wrenna Wood</td>
<td>05/15/15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6154 Forest Ln</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>$2,621,000</td>
<td>Detached</td>
<td>0.53</td>
<td>22101</td>
<td>Chesterbrook Woods</td>
<td>05/22/15</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Photos by Connor Ortman/The Connection

This Chesapeake Bay vacation home with renovations by Doug Roberts and Jessica Parker Wachtel of GTM Architects has an abundance of windows that allow in sunlight and offer views of the water.

A House by the Sea

By Marilyn Campbell

The Connection

As the sweaty days of summer slog on, many are dreaming about a home by the sea, a wistful retreat where cares flow as freely as an ocean breeze. A few local designers share seaside secrets for an idyllic hideaway. When a Bethesda, Md., family decided to update and expand their vacation home on the shores of the Chesapeake Bay, functionality and style were top priorities.

Doug Roberts and Jessica Parker Wachtel of GTM Architects in Bethesda added more than 1,400 square feet, but kept many of the existing features of the 3,792-square-foot beach house, which was built in 1985. "What was unique about this project is that the family's father had originally designed this home himself," said Roberts. "It's modern with lots of glass and cathedral ceilings. The family didn't want to change that. They just wanted to expand it."

The home now has an open floor plan, including a kitchen that flows into the family room, an exercise and recreation room, glass garage doors, an outdoor shower and a wet bar. The windowsills are lower, allowing in more light and expanded water views. The home's bathrooms and five bedrooms were updated, adding a balcony with views of the bay to a rear bedroom.

"The work was all consistently done, so you really can't tell that there was an addition," said Roberts. "We replaced all of the materials — flooring, tile, trim — and put down new materials throughout."

AN ALEXANDRIA COUPLE wanted their second home on the Eastern Shore to exude a calm serenity. They achieved that feel with white walls and furniture at the recommendation of interior designer Grace Nelson of Nelson Design Lab in Arlington.

"White exudes peace and quiet," said Nelson. "They wanted their beach house to be the opposite of the chaos of Washington, but they didn't want it to be too far removed. They still wanted their luxuries."

Among those amenities are a kitchen equipped with a Bosch dishwasher and a built-in Subzero refrigerator. The kitchen's white cabinetry is accented with natural pine knobs and pulls that match the pine flooring.

A bay window in the living room allows for majestic ocean views. That seascape can also be enjoyed from the clawfoot soaking tub in the master bathroom.

WHEN THE OWNER of a Rehoboth Beach, Del., condominium decided to rent her property to beachgoers, she wanted to marry casual elegance and durability. Designer Sallie Kjos of Grey Hunt Interiors in Chantilly helped the homeowner, whose primary residence is in Great Falls, choose furnishings that created a relaxed, modern look.

"When you're designing a beach property, especially if it's a rental," they created an office space "because a lot of people have to work even when they're on vacation," said Kjos.

A chandelier made of natural capiz shells, with an easy-to-clean lacquered finish, hangs over the wooden dining room table. The result is a beach feel, but with a modern twist, says Kjos.

"We tried to get away from the stereotypical beach décor with motifs like seagulls and driftwood," she said. "We wanted to use water-like colors because it makes for a relaxing environment, but we mixed the city with the ocean and created a flow throughout the house so that it connected visually."

IT'S THAT CONNECTION, to the sand, the surf, and surroundings that makes a vacation house feel like a home. When Potomac, Md., architect James Rill went looking for a Vero Beach, Fla., vacation home, he was inspired by his favorite sport: baseball. "It's very close to the Nationals spring training center," he said.

"It was a dump when we got it," he said.

"When my wife first saw it, she was ready to kill me, but we stripped it to the bone and cleaned it up."

When designing the space, Rill wanted to make sure the materials he and his wife chose could stand up to the sand and surf. When Potomac, Md., architect James Rill went looking for a Vero Beach, Fla., vacation home, he was inspired by his favorite sport: baseball. "It's very close to the Nationals spring training center," he said. "It was a dump when we got it," he said.

"When my wife first saw it, she was ready to kill me, but we stripped it to the bone and cleaned it up."
In Jail: Don’t Confuse Mental Health Services with Treatment

Fourteen mental health service staff at the disposal of 1060 inmates.

A young man with ruffled hair and tired eyes peers out through the rectangular window of his single cell door. His gaze drifts across the green-tiled dayroom of the acute mental health facility in the Fairfax Adult Detention Center.

The high ceiling of the dayroom reveals a second floor of single cells, the entire facility currently occupied by 45 incarcerated men. The young man’s eyes catch an observer’s and he nods in greeting. Besides this subtle gesture, the dayroom is quiet and still. The tiny cell windows above and below are brightly lit and faceless.

The women’s acute mental health facility is structurally similar yet compressed, holding 19 inmates. Both spaces contain central open spaces filled with metal tables and attached chairs. This is where supervisor Steve Weiss, the director of jail-based behavioral services within the ADC and his 14 team members of the Community Service Board sit down with each of the current 64 inmates to provide mental health services. But along with serving those in acute care, the 14 CSB team members provide mental health services to the jail’s general population, serving a total of 1073 inmates within the last six months, according to CSB Communications Director Belinda Buescher. During that time, the jail held an average of 1060 inmates.

“In a perfect world we would have a much larger staff and we would have presence 24/7. If we did that with the existing staff that we have now we would be spread so thin and services would be so dilute that we couldn’t respond effectively when we are here,” Weiss said.

Sheriff Deputy J. Perkins who works in the facilities explains the Sheriff Department’s involvement with the facility’s mental health care. He points to “Ob-Logs” short for “Observation Logs.” “These are 15 minute checks because it’s high observation...” Perkins said. “It’s just another piece of the puzzle in reference to their mental health status.” Some of the check ups documented in the logs include whether or not an inmate takes their medication, what meals they’re eating and when they’re sleeping. “This gives you a real good picture in reference to how well they’re doing or if they’re deteriorating.”

Checking on these individuals frequently and extensively is a necessity when serving mental health issues, because a state of mind can alter drastically even over the course of a few minutes. Weiss explains that these circumstances mean that the inmates who are prioritized for care changes daily: “We come up with a list every day of who we must see based on the severity of need, and then what we do from that point on depends upon the urgency of the situation.”

“Steve has worked in the Fairfax Adult Detention Center for 11 years and before that, in other mental health facilities. When Weiss retires in a few weeks, no one will be hired to fill his position, reducing the CSB staff from a total of 14 to 13. Psychology textbooks, behavioral therapy manuals and other informational texts about the human mind line the shelves of his office. Despite Weiss’s knowledge and sensitivity toward mental health, he is adamant about referring to the services that his team provides as just that — services, not as treatment.

“I hate using the word treatment,” Weiss said. “People often believe, it’s surprising — lawyers, police, family members especially, think ‘Boy, I hate to see this person go to jail but at least they’ll get treatment over there.’ I don’t really like to leave the impression that there is any equivalency between what we do here and what the person should receive or what they might receive in a hospital or in proper mental health treatment…. we want to do as much as we can for as many people as possible, but our objective is really not to provide primary treatment, it’s rather to engage, stabilize, and to transition.”

The CSB staff consists of social workers, psychologists, or psychiatrists who engage inmates by providing therapeutic group and individual sessions. Some of these sessions include goal-specific outcomes, such as substance abuse therapy. Other sessions may begin with confronting the most basic and important of mental health issues — figuring out what’s wrong, and the needs of the individual. Weiss says that a benefit these services within the jail is that “There’s no such thing as a no-show in jail for an appointment. …there’s 100 percent show rate, that doesn’t mean that people are always cooperative. … There are instances where this is the first time when you’re (the CSB staff) able to get a clear picture of what’s going on. As crappy as life is in jail, it’s the most stable that somebody has been.”

Stabilization doesn’t always occur.

“One of the first” stumbling blocks is the fact that often when people have an illness, whether it involves substance use or mental illness or both, “the illness itself prevents them from understanding that they’re ill,” he said.

Weiss describes this condition as “anosognosia” or “lack of awareness” which according to the Treatment Advocacy Center, is a condition that affects 50 percent of individuals with schizophrenia and 40 percent of individuals with bipolar disorder. “Because of what’s wrong with you, you don’t see anything wrong with you,” Weiss said.

This among other untreated symptoms of mental illness may result in the inability to pursue treatment after being released from jail, despite the Jail Diversion programs in place for continuing care. This increases the chances of individuals with mental illness repeating offenses and being placed right back within the limits of the Adult Detention Center’s CSB services, to which Weiss describes as “a catch all.”

In Weiss’s perfect world, people with mental illness wouldn’t end up in jail. Yet besides the fact that there aren’t enough beds available in state hospitals, there are also civil liberties that prevent a person with mental illness to be placed forcibly within a mental treatment facility. For a lot of different reasons, people come to jail when the problem really isn’t criminal activity,” Weiss said.

He provides a hypothetical situation, “If I know that Sam can’t make good decisions for himself, and can’t care for himself, I can’t just say, ‘I’m putting Sam in a hospital.’ There are laws that protect people.” So when Sam starts to act out of control and the police are called, he can’t be taken to a hospital, but he can be taken to jail. “It is not about this chunk or that chunk, all of them are equally important, the chain is only as strong as it’s weakest link,” Weiss said. These “chunks” or services include the utilization of Crisis Intervention Training on behalf of the Fairfax County Police, availability of Jail Diversion options such as substance abuse treatment and outpatient programs, and increasing the support of post-incarceration options, such as housing, and placement within mental health treatment facilities.

“We need to do to is understand that this is a systemic issue… there needs to be a seamless movement,” Weiss said. “I am in favor of more service in the jail — but that is a reflection of the failure of everything else.”

He reiterates that the issue of mental health treatment within the community is, “A single problem with different pieces.” Weiss can only work to improve one.

WEISS SPENDS his days not only with the inmates, but with family members and friends who are also affected by this system. On the upside, these interactions make up his favorite part of the job. “It’s always being able to make something a little bit better for the person who is incarcerated or for the person that cares about them … always, there’s never any question about that.”

But with love comes heartbreak, as Weiss describes the difficulty in seeing individuals whose, “only crime really is being mentally ill.” He spoke to one such individual, a young man who was refusing therapy or medication “due to severe paranoia.”

Weiss was trying to convince him to apply to receive disability checks. After lots of time and persistence Weiss received, “the smallest sliver of a maybe” from the man “which I’m sure by today is going to be a no.” Weiss sighs, “But — it’s not always a no.”

Back in the lobby of the Adult Detention Center, a woman sits in one of the plastic chairs and bounces a baby on her knee. Besides thumping the heel of her clog, she holds her body stiff as she looks above the baby’s bobbing head and through the doors leading into the Detention Center. Weiss said, “When people come here, whether they’re in the lobby worrying about the person inside or whether it’s the person inside the jail — they’re at the worst point in their life, and sometimes the smallest thing can make a very big difference …. sometimes it’s saying to a mother — ‘I promise you your son is going to be OK, we’re watching him.’”
Among five University of Virginia computer Info Systems - BBA.

hours and earn a GPA of 3.90 or above.

ors must carry at least 12 graded credit

versity for the spring 2015 semester.

Great Falls, has been named to the Spring Semester.

daughter of Drs. Stephen and Judith

received this scholarship.

Chavez Choque and Benjamin

toward a NOVA degree.

assist students with the cost of tuition

year, which begins Aug. 24. The schol-

the start of the 2015-2016 academic

Exercises at the Simon School of Busi-

degree of Master of Business Adminis-

Walter of McLean, was awarded the

Mary Claire Mahaney and Herbert

school grad class of 2011, son of Mike

To highlight your Faith Community, call Karen at 703-778-9422

SUNDAY LITURGY SCHEDULE:

All Are Welcome!

SAINT ANN CATHOLIC CHURCH

1500 14TH ST, NE

703-588-2928

PARISH WEBSITE: www.stannchurch.org

To highlight your Faith Community, call Karen at 703-778-9422

Best Wiener Schnitzel

Outside of Vienna, Austria

Formerly Le Canard • Family Owned & Operated

MAPLEWOOD GRILL

Serving Our Neighbors and Friends for Over 30 Years

Lunch & Dinner Every Day

Live Entertainment

703-281-0070

132 Branch Road, S.E. • Vienna, VA

Visit www.maplewoodgrill.com for Specials

Brendan Mullen

at Northern Virginia Community College.

Victor Zheng, 21, of McLean, is

among five University of Virginia scholars who have received Critical Language Scholarships to assist them in pursuing their love of language. They will spend seven to 10 weeks in intensive language institutes this summer in one of 13 countries to study languages the U.S.

government has deemed “critical.”

Zheng will study Chinese in Italian,

China. He is a third-year history and

Chinese major who is learning Manda-ese.

“I applied out of a desire to have another opportunity to go back to China and be immersed in its environment,” he said. “I also just inherently love being abroad where I believe I learn the best and the most.” Zheng, who is a member of U.Va.’s Virginia Glee Club, plans to pursue a master’s degree in international relations.

Graham P. Lobel, the son of Doug and Betsy Lobel of McLean, received a Bachelor of Science degree cum laude,

from Haverford College, in Haverford,

Pa., at the school’s 177th Commencement on Sunday, May 17. Lobel graduated with High Honors in Chemistry. At Commencement, Lobel also received The George Peirce Prize in Chemistry, for excellence in undergraduate research. Lobel graduated from the Thomas Jefferson High School for Science and Technology in 2011.

Chun-Ming “Chris” Chen of

Vienna and Maria Vera Alvarez of South Riding have been awarded

Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Under-

dergraduate Transfer Scholarships. Both students attend

Northern Virginia Community College.

Chen and Vera Alvarez are among 90

students nationally to receive the prestigious award which provides up to $40,000 a year toward tuition, books, living expenses and required fees for the final two to three years needed to earn a bachelor’s degree.

SCHOOLS

Send school notes to mclean@ connectionnewspapers.com by Friday.

Kristen Wolaver, daughter of John and Barbara Wolaver of Great Falls, and a

2013 graduate of Langley High School, has been named to the Dean’s List for academic achievement for the spring semester at the University of Pittsburgh. Kristen is a neuroscience major with a minor in chemistry at the

Deiericht School of Arts and Sciences at

Pitt, where she will begin her junior year in August 2015.

Brendan Mullen, Langley High School grad class of 2011, son of Mike and Debbie Mullen of Great Falls, graduated Magna Cum Laude, with Distinction from the Pennoni Honors

College, Drexel University in Philadelphia, Pa. Brendan earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Biological Sciences and will be attending Drexel College of Medicine in the fall. While at Langley,

Brendan played goalie for the Langley

Saxons Ice Hockey team and at Drexel, played on two inline teams, one of which won the Philadelphia College

Roller Hockey League championship this spring.

George Mahaney-Walter, son of

Mary Claire Mahaney and Herbert

Walter of McLean, was awarded the

degree of Master of Business Administration in recent commencement

exercises at the Simon School of Business of the University of Rochester.

Northern Virginia Community

College is preparing to welcome 17

incoming Honors Program Scholars for

the start of the 2015-2016 academic

year, which begins Aug. 24. The scholarship provides $10,000 to be divided into fall and spring semesters for two years, at $2,500 per semester. It will assist students with the cost of tuition

toward a NOVA degree.

Natalia Chavez Choque and Benjamin

Atherton, of McLean High School,

received this scholarship.

Gabrielle Greco, of Vienna, dughter of Drs. Stephen and Judith Greco, was named to the Dean’s List at the College of William and Mary for the Spring Semester.

Dylan Maxwell Phillips, of

Great Falls, has been named to the president’s list at James Madison

University for the spring 2015 semester.

Students who earn president’s list honors must carry at least 12 graded credit

hours and earn a GPA of 3.90 or above.

Phillips is a senior whose major is Computer Info Systems - BBA.

Victor Zheng, 21, of McLean, is

among five University of Virginia schol-
World Police and Fire Games Come to a Close

The World Police and Fire Games ended July 5 with law enforcement winning 1,308 gold, 1,036 silver and 824 bronze medals, and firefighters bringing home 513 gold medals.

Law enforcement collected a total of 3,168 medals, including 1,036 silver and 824 bronze. Firefighters totaled 1,268 medals, including 417 silver and 338 bronze.

The United States held a large advantage in the medal count, winning 1,777, including 696 gold. Canada amassed the second-most medals with 429, including 126 gold. Spain brought home 193 (77 gold) and Brazil tallied 174 (58 gold).

Several local teams/athletes captured gold during the 10-day event, including a pair of first-place finishes in 5-on-5 basketball. Fairfax Finest won the women’s 5-on-5 competition at the World Police and Fire Games.

Fairfax County firefighter Monica Harding won gold in the women’s 30+ under 67.5 kg bench press at the World Police and Fire Games.

Wildthings Stem the (Rip) Tide with Win Over Virginia Run

The Langley Wildthings swam united against Virginia Run, and remain undefeated in Division 4. With five wins in the first six events, the Wildthings didn’t let the morning’s soggy start dampen their desire to win. The final tally was 244-176 on July 4, including four Wildthings’ sweeps.

Last week’s Langley double blue ribbon winners were: Colin Walter (boys’ 8&U for 25M freestyle, 25M butterfly); Tessa Jones (girls’ 8&U for 25M freestyle, 25M backstroke); Beckett Collins (boys’ 8&U for 25M breaststroke, 25M butterfly); Luke Watson (boys’ 9-10 for 50M freestyle, 25M butterfly); Sebastian Silvestro (boys’ 11-12 for 50M freestyle, 50M butterfly) and Isabel Schone (girls’ 11-12 for 50M freestyle, 50M butterfly).

The six blue ribbon relay teams were: boys’ 8&U 25M freestyle (Beckett Collins, Wilson Butt, Alex Wick, Colin Walter); girls’ 8&U 100M freestyle (Margit Crittenberger, Marina Watson, Katie Alms, Tessa Jones); boys’ 9-10 100M medley (Brady Quinn, Kelly Crittenberger, Luke Watson, Troy Collins); girls’ 9-10 100M medley (Anna Derringer, Muriel Wallach, Maria Grazia Pavone, Campbell Collins); boys’ 11-12 100M medley (Danny Quinn, Vincent Watson, Sebastian Silvestro, Sean Mullery); and girls’ 11-12 100M medley (Isabel Schone, Liliana Schone, Audrey Wallach, Kate Walter).

Fairfax County Firefighter Monica Harding won gold in the 18+ individual full gear stair climb at the World Police and Fire Games.

18+ individual full gear stair climb. Fairfax County Fire and Rescue’s Holly Melendez finished first in the women’s 30+ under 67.5 kg bench press.

In cross country, Fairfax County Fire and Rescue’s Caldwell Clarke took gold in the 10,000 meters.

In police motorcycle competition, Richard Mattison of the Fairfax County Police Department placed first in the 18+ challenge and won gold in the 10,000 meters.

Fairfax County Firefighter Monica Harding won gold in the women’s 30+ under 67.5 kg bench press at the World Police and Fire Games.
Renowned contemporary impressionist Trisha Adams demonstrates her techniques for capturing light in acrylic paintings on July 9 at Vienna Art Center, 115 Pleasant St., NW, Vienna.

$38 per person. For more information, call 703-759-9018.

Ruthie & the Wranglers. 5 p.m. The Alden, 1224 Ingleside Avenue, McLean. D.C.-based, roots music group Ruthie and the Wranglers continue roping in new fans with their high-powered honkytonk, country and rockabilly music.

Monday/July 13

Tiny Tots. 10:30 a.m. Dolly Madison Library, 1244 Oak Ridge Avenue, McLean. An opportunity for kids to experience an exciting story time featuring stories, rhymes and songs. Ages 12-23 months with adult.

To Kill A Mockingbird Read-A-Thon. 10 a.m. 10 p.m. Barnes & Noble, 7851 L. Tysons Corner Center, McLean. To celebrate the release of Harper Lee’s new book “Go Set A Watchman,” Barnes & Noble will host a read-a-thon. Their goal is to read “To Kill A Mockingbird” from cover to cover. Local educators, students, authors, actors and book lovers of all kind will be guest readers. If you are interested in participating as a guest reader contact the store at crm2238@bn.com or call 703-506-6756.

Tuesday/July 14

Under the Sea. 2-3 p.m. Dolly Madison Library, 1244 Oak Ridge Avenue, McLean. Meet live sea creatures at the Under the Sea event. Ages 5-12.

Thursday/July 16

Friday/July 17

Minion Fun. 7 p.m. Barnes & Noble, 7851 L. Tysons Corner Center, McLean. Become a certified Minion lover of all kind will be guest Space is limited. You must be registered to attend. To register call the store at 703-506-2937.

Saturday/July 18

Model Trains and Thomas at Open House. 1-5 p.m. Historic Vienna Train Station, 231 Dominion Road NE, Vienna. See and hear model trains, including diesel and steam trolleys and steam and diesel trains plus Thomas and some of his friends. Free. www.vtm.org.

Star Wars Saturday. 2 p.m. Barnes & Noble, 7851 L. Tysons Corner Center, McLean. Fans of all ages join us for exclusive products, activities, cosplay, trivia and a chance to win a Star Wars character standee.
OBITUARY
Joseph E. Ellinger, 89, died June 19, 2015 in Greenwood, Indiana. He was born March 15, 1926 in Pittsburgh, PA. He was a long time resident of McLean, Virginia. He retired from the U.S. Department of Labor. He will be buried in Indianapolis, IN. Funeral Arrangements were provided by Little and Sons Funeral Home, Beech Grove, Indiana. www.LittleAndSonsBeechGrove.com

I Never think of the future. It comes soon enough.
- Albert Einstein

An expert is someone who knows some of the worst mistakes that can be made in his subject and how to avoid them.
- Werner Heisenberg

Educational Internships
Unusual opportunity to learn many aspects of the newspaper business. Internships available in reporting, photography, research, graphics. Opportunities for students, and for adults considering change of career. Unpaid. E-mail internship@connectionnewspapers.com

HDI COMPUTER SOLUTIONS
JENNIFER SMITH Serving the Area Since 1995
> Speed Up Slow Computers
> Virus Removal
> Computer Setup
> Help with Windows 8
571-265-2038
Jennifer@HDIComputerSolutions.com

SAVE $500
Foundation & Structural Repair • Concrete Lifting • Crawl Space Moisture Control • Basement Waterproofing
FREE INSPECTION & ESTIMATE
888-718-3712 www.jeswork.com

JES Foundation Repair Great Spaces • Happy Homeowners

CLASSIFIED
CHOOSE 1 TO 6 ZONES
E-mail classified@connectionnewspapers.com or call Andrea @ 703-778-9411

EMPLOYMENT
CHOOSE 1 TO 6 ZONES
E-mail classified@connectionnewspapers.com or call Andrea @ 703-778-9411

Chelsea Collective is a first-of-its kind women’s fitness boutique, delivering a curated, premium assortment of products that fuses fashion with fitness like never before. Chelsea Collective will feature premium and fashion-forward athletic lifestyle apparel, accessories, footwear and beauty products in an elevated, retail environment. Our team will have a passion for fitness and deep understanding of the local fitness and fashion culture.

NOW HIRING RETAIL SALES ASSOCIATES AT TYSORS CORNER MALL!

I’m looking for associates who are passionate about fitness; who have made fitness part of their everyday lifestyle; associates who want to share their passion with others.
• Associates at Chelsea Collective will be on the cutting edge of the latest fitness and fashion trends, willing to try new classes, new types of fitness, and new styles.
• Associates will have a comfort level with helping customers try new types of fitness and new pieces that will expand their health and wellness efforts.
• Ideal associates will also have a pulse on the community and share the latest stories, fitness events and classes with customers in a personal way.

Interested? Send your resume to: careers@chelseacollective.com

Chelsea Collective is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Applicants must be at least 19 years old.

JES Foundation Repair
Great Spaces • Happy Homeowners

Call NOW 1-703-468-4858

LeakGuard
100% Leak Protection Guaranteed

FREE Service Coupon when you mention this ad
888-718-3712 www.jeswork.com

FREE Gift Card with estimate!
One redemption may apply per household in the U.S.
Call or email your estimate to jesfoundationrepair@comcast.net

Connection Classifieds
Classified or Home • Lawn • Garden:
703-917-6400
Employment: 703-917-6464
E-mail: classified@connectionnewspapers.com
My Manifesto
Sort Of

By KENNETH B. LOUIE

Being diagnosed with a terminal form of cancer (no, they’re not all “terminal”) is “a heck of a thing,” to extrapolate a bit from Jim Volano’s memorable 1993 ESPY Awards speech given a few months before he succumbed to his cancer. It’s not as if there’s anything you can do except, before-hand, to prepare for a cancer diagnosis; and there’s even less you can do to prepare for a “terminal” diagnosis, as in my case, when my oncologist – whom I had met 10 minutes earlier – first told me that “he could treat me but he couldn’t cure me,” followed by a “13-month to two-year prognosis.” Surreal is the word I used to describe then what I heard/what I felt, and it is also a word I’ve often heard other cancer patients use in recounting the details of the moment when their lives charged forever. When the diagnosis of cancer is confirmed by the oncologist sitting directly across from them. Perhaps you think (hope) that age, experience, education, etc. will get you through that appointment and the many other cancer-related appointments to follow; the reality is, at least it was for me, you’ll never know how you’re going to react until after you’ve reacted.

With respect to “beating” the cancer; anticipating success, expressing confidence, taking control, hoping and praying, laughing and crying; how it all plays out is somewhere between anybody’s guess and why not? Unbridled optimism may be a great start, but accepting your new reality and reacting/planning accordingly is often a road far less traveled. Having to travel that road because of an unexpected cancer diagnosis was a lifelong non-smoker, basically asymptomatic with no family history of cancer is a trip fraught with danger and unimaginable hurdles: mentally, physically, emotionally and spiritually. You really don’t know what’s around the next corner, and what’s worse, you really won’t know you are there – and then it might be too late. Let me summarize it this way: it won’t be a walk in the park unless you derive pleasure from doing so, and if you do, walk a lot. Finding calm (“serenity now”) in the midst of a cancer diagnosis, and likewise attempting to eliminate stress and anxiety is much easier said and written about than actually done. Managing that stress (and anxiety) is the challenge. And if one can somehow traverse, navigate, manipulate even, this path of least resistance; at least it was for me, you’ll never know how you’re going to react until after you’ve reacted.

Anticipating success, expressing confidence, taking control, hoping and praying, laughing and crying; how it all plays out is somewhere between anybody’s guess and why not? Unbridled optimism may be a great start, but accepting your new reality and reacting/planning accordingly is often a road far less traveled. Having to travel that road because of an unexpected cancer diagnosis was a lifelong non-smoker, basically asymptomatic with no family history of cancer is a trip fraught with danger and unimaginable hurdles: mentally, physically, emotionally and spiritually. You really don’t know what’s around the next corner, and what’s worse, you really won’t know you are there – and then it might be too late. Let me summarize it this way: it won’t be a walk in the park unless you derive pleasure from doing so, and if you do, walk a lot. Finding calm (“serenity now”) in the midst of a cancer diagnosis, and likewise attempting to eliminate stress and anxiety is much easier said and written about than actually done. Managing that stress (and anxiety) is the challenge. And if one can somehow traverse, navigate, manipulate even, this path of least resistance; at least it was for me, you’ll never know how you’re going to react until after you’ve reacted.
I am never too busy for your referrals!

1428 Ironwood Drive  McLean, VA  $899,000
Stunning 3 BR/3 full BA, home set upon .38 acres in sought-after Chesterbrook Woods! Elegant & spacious living room with built-in shelves/bookcases, chair railing & detailed crown molding. Lower level rec room with fireplace, wet bar, track lighting & plush carpeting; as well as an office/den & full bath. Amazing backyard views from bright kitchen with sliding glass door overlooking large patio & level fenced-in rear yard. Chesterbrook, Longfellow, & McLean schools!

OPEN SUNDAY 2-4!

1701 Albermarle Street  McLean, VA  $1,049,000
Beautiful 4 bedroom/3 bath home in Chesterbrook Woods. Gourmet kitchen w/ granite countertops. Library with built-ins, rear deck from sun-filled family room, 3 fireplaces; 2 car garage. Fenced-in & beautifully landscaped yard with garden. Walk-out rec room, slate patio, lower level bedroom and bath. Updates include roof, windows, HVAC, washer/dryer, water heater, hardwood floors, fresh paint & new front porch! Chesterbrook, Longfellow and McLean Schools!

OPEN SUNDAY 2-4!

6522 Old Chesterbrook Road  McLean, VA  $1,349,000
Abundance of natural light planned by architect Travis Price is balanced with dramatic features, palatial windows, doors, angles and designs set around the focal point of the incredible indoor lap pool! This home creates excitement at first glance. Enormous style, special touches, appealing space all uniquely crafted. 4 bedrooms and 4 baths! Energy efficient passive solar design! Chesterbrook, Longfellow and McLean schools!

OPEN SUNDAY 2-4!

1537 Forest Lane  McLean 22101
Chesterbrook, Longfellow, McLean!

OPEN SUNDAY 2-4!

1621 Hunting Avenue  McLean 22101  $875,000

OPEN SUNDAY 2-4!

2131 Grayson Place  Falls Church 22043  $1,029,000

NAVIGATE THE MARKET WITH JD CALLANDER!