Fairfax County Supt. Karen Garza on the Board of Supervisors' failure to provide schools the funding needed to thrive.

“... the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors has failed to fully fund Fairfax County Public Schools. This is extremely disheartening - we entered this budget year making a good faith effort to work collaboratively ... and in the end they did not deliver. Supervisors are sending a clear message that they are unconcerned about the increasing challenges of our students, our teachers, and our schools ... we face a devastating shortfall ... due to years of chronic underfunding ... we will not be able to sustain the current quality nor the full range of academic programming we currently offer our students.”

Thank you, Dr. Garza

To Protect, Serve, Connect

Communities join public safety agencies for National Night Out.

THE CONNECTION

A well-known tunnel-bridge on Colchester Road connects an area of Fairfax Station with the rest of the county, both geographically and mythically. Its link to historic reports of a vandal in a bunny costume has gotten it plenty of attention, including actual acts of vandalism on and around the structure.

"We call [the police] all the time because of the bridge," said Fairfax Station resident Janet Jacobs. "It's a magnet for teenagers."

And though neighbors are familiar with their law enforcement professionals in that setting, they also enjoy the opportunity to interact with them and other neighbors when not discussing any tunnel-related issues.

Each year, that opportunity comes in the form of National Night Out, an event designed to develop relationships between community members and their respective protection and safety agencies.

"We have a small community — it's the one time each year we get everyone together," said Eric Baldino, who has hosted an event at his pre-1850 historic house with wife Kathleen for the last 15 years. "We interact a lot with the police because of the tunnel. This is our way of saying thanks."

Baldino masterminded a large buffet for the affair, including barbecue ribs smoked for six hours prior to the event. His daughter Allison liked that firefighters from the Clifton station also joined the party, driving their ambulance and engine up the driveway. It also gave her a chance to "meet all the new people" in the neighborhood.

"It's about making connections with the communities where we live and work in an environment where you don't usually get to meet," said Lt. Eli Cory, assistant commander of the West Springfield district police station. Cory has served as a Fairfax County officer for 17 years, but only recently joined the ranks at West Springfield.

"Often it's when something bad happens — you get pulled over, there's a crime," he said. "But to just talk over ice cream or a hot dog, you build these relationships. We get to know faces and names we can trust in communities." Across the Springfield district in Cardinal Estates, neighborhood watch captain Amanda Fox and family hosted a similar event to observe National Night Out. Traditionally theirs includes a movie for children screened in a neighborhood park, but this year rain canceled the show. The team was still satisfied with the turnout: an opportunity to meet with officers and share the message of being aware, safe and proactive. "It's great to get the community invested in preventing crime," Fox said. "If you see something, say something. This gets people more involved, participating and making calls." Supervisor Pat Herry (R-Springfield) appeared at several National Night Out events around the district, including Little Rocky Run community pool, Colchester Road, Fairfax Station, Orange Hunt Elementary School and Cardinal Estates. "This is a critical part of why crime is so low," Herry said, "events like this, that get police, fire and sheriff's departments out in the community."

"Crimes don't get solved without the help of our citizens," he added. "They play an important role."

Despite the heat, people turned out last Saturday for the Springfield Farmers Market. The market, held in the parking lot of the Springfield Town Center, is held every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the corner of Springfield Mall Road and Loisdale Road.

The Farmers Market returned to Springfield Town Center on May 2 this year, and will continue until Oct. 30. The stands at the market, in addition to a large selection of fresh produce, have a variety of products to offer from fresh barbecue to lobster. The selection of the market often attracts first timers and repeat customers alike.

“We got nectarines, pulled pork, and ice cream. It’s just nice to get out here and see the fresh vegetables and the different things people have,” said Brad Adams of Burke.

Pamela Sinclair of Fort Washington, Md., went to the Springfield Farmer’s Market for the first time on Saturday and said she appreciates the variety.

Fred Jackson of Herndon, at his barbecue stand, Uncle Fred’s BBQ Smoke Shack.

“I got pears because of the sweetness and I’ve been sampling a few other things here. I would definitely come back,” said Sinclair.

In previous years, the farmers market had taken place in another part of the mall. According to some of the vendors, the change in location has been good for business.

“This is a better location on this side of the mall. Before, when we were on the other side, traffic was okay, but over here our numbers have doubled,” said Fred Jackson from Herndon, of Uncle Fred’s BBQ Smoke Shack.

The diverse, local fare and convenient location keeps people coming back for more.

“This is a good market, we have a lot of people who come by. We have a lot of repeat customers who have been coming,” said Jeff Glandow of Westminster, Md., a pickle vendor at the market.

Moped Rider Dies After Colliding with Camry

Peter Matthew Kester, 56, died at the scene where his moped collided with a Toyota Camry sedan in the 6400 block of Franconia Road. Fairfax County Police received a call about the incident around 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 3, according to the police release.

Kester was in the middle lane of Franconia road heading west, when the 23-year-old female driver of the Camry began making a U-turn near Thornhill Court and moved into his path, “apparently” not seeing him, police said.

The moped rider wasn’t able to stop in time and struck the rear passenger side of the car. First responders administering CPR failed to revive Kester, who was pronounced dead at the scene. The Camry driver wasn’t injured in the crash.

Police said neither speed nor alcohol appear to be factors, however the crash is still being investigated by crash reconstruction detectives.

No Foul Play Suspected in Huntsman Lake Death

The dead body of Leslie P. Brassfield, 22, of Fairfax, was found Sunday, June 14 in Huntsman Lake in the Springfield area.

Fairfax County Police initially reported a pair of kayakers spotted the body and contacted police around 10:30 in the morning.

As of going to print, the death is still being investigated by police, however spokesperson Lucy Caldwell said that no foul play is suspected.

The Office of the Medical Examiner hasn’t made a determination of the cause or manner of death and is still waiting for toxicology reports on the body to be completed.

Pohick Library Scheduled to Close for Renovation

The Pohick Regional Library, opened in 1987, is due for change. The building is scheduled to close for an expected 18 months of renovation on Sept. 5, according to a Fairfax County release.

Some of the new features planned for the library include a teen area, Wi-Fi bar, increased amount of seating, energy-saving technology and after-hours meeting room space.

“While I regret the inconvenience of the library’s temporary closing, the upgraded Pohick Regional Library will be worth waiting for,” said Edwin S. Clay III, the director of the Fairfax County Public Library. “The renovation will modernize the infrastructure of the library to meet current customer needs.”

To compensate for the closed library, the Kings Park Library and Burke Centre Library will have extended hours starting on Sunday, Sept. 13.

As of Aug. 22, readers won’t be able to pick up holds from the Pohick Library. Any books or other media borrowed from the library can be returned to other public libraries in the Fairfax County system.

The Pohick Regional Library is located at 6450 Sydenstricker Road in Burke. More information is available at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/library.

Time to Encourage Reading

By JOHN C. COOK
SUPERVISOR (R-BRADDOCK DISTRICT)

COMMENTARY

For many of us summer vacation provides a time for our families to enjoy time off from the school year grind, and allows children to participate in fun outdoor activities. However, during summer break, some children fall behind in their academic achievements, which can lead to steps backward in a child's education. This is especially true when it comes to reading.

According to the National Summer Learning Association, approximately 22 percent of the school year's instructional time is lost over summer vacation. In fact, teachers often spend at least one month re-teaching material that students have forgotten over the summer. Unfortunately, the time that teachers spend covering old material could be dedicated to new material that students are potentially missing out on all together. We may be more than halfway through this summer, but there is still plenty of time to encourage reading in your household before the kids get back to school. There are plenty of creative ways to help kids find time to read; children can combine reading with summer activities like going to the pool or traveling for a family vacation. You can also encourage reading by leading by example: reading together as a family, picking up your own book when your child sits down to read, and spending time together reading aloud are all ways to make reading a fun family activity.

And don't be afraid to make visiting the library a regular activity of your summer schedule! Fairfax County has an extensive public library system, which can be a fun, cool place to spend an afternoon when the summer weather isn't cooperating.

The library is also providing ways to encourage students to read during the summer. The Fairfax County Public Library Summer Reading Program runs until Sept. 5 and encourages children to read for pleasure during summer break. The program provides reading lists for those in need of ideas, and the program even offers prizes.

To be eligible for the coupon book prize, children from birth until sixth grade must read 15 books. They can also have books read to them. Seventh through twelfth grade students must read six books in order to be eligible for the prize. More information can be found at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/library/srp/>

Summer can be a fun and exciting time for our children, but while they are exercising their bodies with outdoor sports and activities, it is important that they exercise their minds as well. This is why I would encourage everyone to pick up a book this summer, and join the library programs that make reading fun and rewarding.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Morally Wrong and Counterproductive

To the Editor:

Thanks to Mary Kimm of the Connection (Editorial — "Backpacks for All," Connection, July 15-21, 2015) and Ronald Baker's letter to the Connection for highlighting the need for backpacks and the way to support this initiative. However, your readers also need to know about the "Virginia Back to School Supplies and Clothing Allowance" (aka: Backpacks for All) that was introduced in the Virginia General Assembly in 2014 and 2015.

The Connection article noted that we live in an affluent area with these needs, however, in other areas of the state, less affluent areas, the need is greater.

For example, the Richmond International Raceway, seating capacity of 107,097, could be filled more than twice with the number of Virginia Children living in poverty, most of which are in families experiencing the deepest poverty.

In addition to the Connection appeal to support the backpack program via charitable contributions, an approach that SALT also embraces, there is also need to advocate for efforts by the state to address the issue. The article calls for partnership, but the state is absent, not a part of the needed partnership. Funds are already available for government support of backpacks for impoverished students via the federally funded TANF Block Grant. What is missing is public awareness and support to tap these funds and use them for the intended purpose.

Support has come from students, with the leadership of Rae Moar, a freshman at Thomas Jefferson High School. In her seventh and eighth grade years of school and in her freshman year at Thomas Jefferson, she collected over 800 signatures from students at her school, her church and community to help give impoverished children a strong start in school and give them a learning boost. These signatures were sent to members of the General Assembly, and Del. Scott Lingamfelter and Sen. Chuck Colgan (now retired). The legislation requires support from your readers. Readers that do not know who represents them can go to this web site: <http://virginiageneralassembly.gov/>.

SALT is proud to have advocated for the "Virginia Back to School Supplies and Clothing Allowance" and promoted support for smart policies for kids and their families. Failing our children today is not only morally wrong; it is also counterproductive, ultimately leaving us less competitive in the global community.

Can't Afford to Lose Them

To the Editor:

Planned Parenthood provides critical health care and education to hundreds of thousands of women and men. My story is a prime example.

I was a Planned Parenthood patient off and on for 10 years. I first came to Planned Parenthood for my annual exams and birth control. I was always treated with compassion and respect, and I always received high-quality care.

When I became unexpectedly pregnant at 23, Planned Parenthood was there for me. The counselor I spoke with listened to me, and informed me that I could pursue adoption and other assistance should I choose to carry the pregnancy to term. I decided to abort, and that decision was supported, without judgement.

Several years later when I was married, but not yet ready to have a child, my doctor prescribed me a new low-dose birth control pill. The insurance I had through my employer would not cover it. I contacted Planned Parenthood and asked if they carried that specific pill. They did. Planned Parenthood was there for me again. Even though I was employed and had insurance through my company, it was Planned Parenthood that I turned to for the birth control that was right for me, at an affordable cost.

It's frightening that the attacks on Planned Parenthood seem to be getting worse lately. They've helped so many with nowhere else to go.

Our country can't afford to lose them.

Amtrak Offers Walk-up Bike Service to Richmond

Amtrak and the Virginia Department of Rail and Public Transportation (DRPT) will offer walk-up bike service at select stations for passengers traveling on the Northeast Regional from Philadelphia to Richmond. Tickets for this special service are now available for travel from Sept. 15-30; the walk-up bike feature is being offered in conjunction with the 2015 UCI Road World Championships.

The enhanced service provides passengers with a way to travel to Virginia's capital city with their bikes and without the hassles of driving and parking for the championships by allowing bikes to be handed to an Amtrak crew member and hung on a rack in the baggage cars. The service is being offered on travel from Philadelphia, Baltimore/Penn Station, Wilmington, Del., Washington, D.C., and Alexandria, Va., to Richmond's Staples Mill Road and Main Street Stations. There is a $25 bike handling fee.

Staffed stations that currently have boxed bike service will continue to offer this service. Standard bike policy and charges apply on trains where applicable.

Passengers must reserve their bikes by selecting "add bike" when they book their train travel. Reservations for the walk-up bike service can be made by visiting <http://www.amtrak.com/UCIBikes>. Reserve early as space is limited.

"We have facilitated this special walk-up bike service specifically for passengers who wish to attend the UCI Road World Championships in Richmond," said Jennifer Mitchell, Director of DRPT. "Passengers and their bikes can disembark at both Amtrak stations in Richmond and have convenient access to all the events related to races."

"Amtrak is excited to work with the Commonwealth to offer this new bike service, providing easy and convenient transportation to the UCI World Championship," said Jay McArthur, Amtrak Senior Manager for state corridor services.

America's Railroad is a convenient way for families and leisure travelers to visit Richmond and other areas of Virginia to take advantage of cultural activities and events without worrying about vehicle traffic or hassles.

WELLBEING

Helping Aging Parents

Event will highlight resources available for long-term care planning.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

Antonio M. Taguba says his life changed forever during a family reunion in 2006, starting with an announcement from his mother.

"She said she wanted to have a family meeting," said Taguba, a retired Army major general, who lives in Alexandria. "We thought she was healthy ... but all of a sudden she told us that she was dying of cancer."

The family, which also included seven children and a physically disabled father with dementia, had not thought about long-term care for the aging parents who lived in Hawaii. Suddenly Taguba and his sibling were thrust in the role of caregivers.

"My siblings and I were in constant arguments," he said. "I was going home to Hawaii every other month. Eventually I had to quit my job. Care giving is exhausting and can be very turbulent."

In an effort to raise awareness of the need for advanced long-term care planning and the resources available to assist both caregivers and the elderly, Taguba, who is an AARP community ambassador, is sharing his story. He will speak at an event sponsored by AARP, Inc. and the Philippine American Foundation for Charities (PAFC) called Navigating the Caregiver's Maze: Finding Support and Planning for Your Caregiving Journey on Aug. 29. The forum will bring together experts in geriatric care and representatives from organizations that serve the elderly and the disabled.

"The goal of this event is that participants will walk away with knowledge of all the resources that are available for them to help them on their care giving journey," said Amber Nightingale Sultane, associate state director of Community Outreach, AARP Virginia. "Whether it's support groups for caregivers or adult day care, this area is rich in resources."

Those in the field of geriatric care says that like Taguba, many caregivers can be unprepared for the undertaking and unsure of where to turn for help. "Sometimes you're dealing with a caregiver who doesn't know how to make an assessment of the needs of the person in their care," said Grace Lynch, communications manager for the Fairfax County Division of Adult and Aging Services. "Sometimes you know you need help but you don't know what you need, or you have a diagnosis but don't know how it translates into a specific service." Representatives from Fairfax County Division of Adult and Aging Services will be on hand at the Aug. 29 long-term care event.

Lynch says one tool that can help caregivers begin the task of sorting out needs is the county's Aging Disability and Caregiver Resource Line: 703-324-7948. "When you call, you're talking to a social worker who can help you assess the situation," she said.

Safety and health issues are often the first sign that a parent or loved one needs help with self-care. "When you see that they're losing weight or having trouble remembering things. When you see that the house is falling down around them. These are the basic symptoms," said Andrew Carle, executive-in-residence, Program in Senior Housing Administration at George Mason University. "The biggest factor I always start with is whether or not they are safe?"

For seniors who have cognitive or physical impairments and cannot be left alone during the day, adult day care centers might be an option. Representatives from Fairfax County's Adult Day Health Care will be available during the Aug. 29 forum.

"Adult day health care offers a lot of socialization which is so important to stave off some of the decline we see in the elderly," said Jennifer Robinson of the Fairfax County Adult Day Health Care program. "The centers are full of activities to keep them stimulated. The therapists get to know the participants, their interests and abilities and plan programs accordingly. People do better when they're not depressed."

Denial and resistance, among both the caregivers and the person in need of care, are common hindrances in the creation and implementation of a long-term care plan. "The biggest thing we see and what takes the biggest emotional toll is the parent/child role reversal that takes place. This can be difficult to cope with," said Amy E. Coren, Ph.D., J.D., assistant professor of psychology at Northern Virginia Community College in Alexandria. "What we really stress is understanding that the old relationship is finished and a new relationship must be established, where the previous parent is now an individual under your care."

Coren underscores the fact that this is not tantamount to becoming a parent for the person who is in one's care. "But rather, [it] creates a unique relationship where the caregiver is responsible for emotional, financial, and even physical support of the former parent ... It's a subtle distinction, but important to make."

Taguba believes that dynamic is one reason why the issue of long-term care is avoided, often until it is too late. "It's a topic that we don't want to touch because we think our parents are going to live forever," he said. "But it's part of a family cycle. Its never a good time to have to conversation, but it starts with a four letter word: love."

"Adult children often rationalize [a parent's situation] before they're ready to accept that a parent needs help," said Jackie Barnaby, a geriatric social worker in Bethesda, Md. "The danger in waiting too long is that you reach a point where you have to have an intervention."

Another roadblock to long-term care planning is communication. "It should be done early and often, not left until the last moment or following a crisis," said Coren. "Many families do not have great lines of communication and this can be difficult, but it is still important."

"There's a wide availability of resources," said Taguba. "But it's about having the motivation to use them and not waiting until the last minute."

A healthy body starts with a healthy mouth!

At Peter K. Cocolis, Jr. and Associates, we believe optimum oral health is key to total body health and well-being. These days, going to the dentist is not just about taking good care of your teeth; it is about taking good care of your health. Problems in your mouth can be signs of trouble elsewhere in your body. Your oral exam reveals important early warning signs for many total-body conditions including diabetes, oral cancer and high blood pressure.

Whether your family seeks general preventive maintenance, cosmetic, or advanced restorative and implant dentistry to transform your smile's function and appearance, Drs. Cocolis and DaSilva are renowned by peers and patients alike for exceptional personalized care in a friendly, safe and state-of-the-art environment.

Consistently named "Top Dentist" in Northern Virginia magazine and among the "Best Dentists in the Metropolitan Area" in Washingtonian magazine, Drs. Cocolis and DaSilva exceed industry standards in the time they dedicate to continuing education and service. Members of The Netcasters relaxed outside one of the meeting houses after providing music to support Olivet Episcopal Church's annual retreat to Shrine Mont the weekend of May 3-4. The Netcasters bring gospel music, folk tunes and songs of yesteryear to retirement centers in Northern Virginia once or twice each month.

The Netcasters on the Move

The ecumenical music group from the Springfield-Burke area brings music to retirement centers in Northern Virginia.

BY LIZ MILNER AND SUSIE NUÑEZ

What's next – a tour bus and T-shirts? With the performance schedule that The Netcasters have been on lately, that might just be appropriate since they are now doing benefit concerts.

The ecumenical music ministry group's most recent stop was a trek to West Virginia to perform on behalf of the Romney Christian Ministerial Association (RCMA) on Saturday evening, June 20. This nonprofit organization provides help to Romney residents in need of food, clothing and short term shelter.

"We also coordinate the efforts of the local churches for things such as the Community Thanksgiving Service and Romney's Christmas event," said Rick Hillenbrand, a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Romney, who assists with RCMA as a member of the community.

The Netcasters are noted for their ability to get audiences clapping, singing along and even dancing as they perform their repertoire of gospel, "songs of yesteryear," and folk music favorites. This fundraising concert was also a celebration of West Virginia Day, which marked the anniversary that the state was admitted into the Union in 1863. To commemorate the occasion, "Battle Cry of Freedom" and John Denver's "Country Roads" were added to the group's presentation, as well as the Civil War lament "Lorena."

The Netcasters also presented the music for St. Stephen's Sunday morning service, which was held at a chapel at Peterkin Camp, the spiritual center of the Episcopal Diocese of West Virginia, instead of at the church itself in order to accommodate the number of attendees that the group usually draws. Known for creative and bluesy arrangements by Ether Smith, one of the musical directors, pieces such as "Surely I Will, Lord" had the congregation swaying and clapping along.

This was the group's fifth performance weekend in this small mountain town and its second trip to the Appalachian region in the past three months. In early May, The Netcasters provided a weekend of gathering, celebration, and service music on behalf of Olivet Episcopal Church at Shrine Mont, the comparable retreat center managed by the Diocese of Virginia.

The group has a 30-year history at the Orkney Springs, Va. site. This year's trip with six new members (including both men and women vocalists, as well as Bart Macmillan, who provided versatility as a second keyboardist) was a chance to introduce the tranquil location to the new generation of Netcasters.

"Shrine Mont is a very special place for us," said co-director Kathryn Boudreau. "Many of us had been there before, and we were happy to return to share this beautiful retreat with our new members."

Locally, the musical group has had performances each month this year at retirement homes and rehabilitation centers in the area, including Afternoon With The Netcasters sessions at Tall Oaks Assisted Living in Reston and the Aarondale Retirement Community in Springfield.

They also presented a set at Messiah United Methodist Church on Rolling Road as part of a concert by that church's youth praise band. Messiah provides rehearsal space to The Netcasters on a weekly basis during the school year.

The ensemble is looking forward to yet another road trip back to the Charlottesville area in October. At the request of Christopher Garcia, the rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Greenwood, Va., The Netcasters will be offering the service music for a Sunday service. While in that area, the group will also do an afternoon session at Mountainside Senior Living to entertain the residents.

Garcia's wife, Cheryl, had served as one of The Netcasters' musical directors for years while they lived in Springfield. She is expected to rejoin the group to conduct and play flute during these performances in October.

With all this mileage, maybe that tour bus is a good idea after all.

"Shrine Mont is a very special place for us ... Many of us had been there before, and we were happy to return to share this beautiful retreat with our new members."

After losing 4-1 to Lumber River in the third game of the double-elimination Southeast Regional tournament, the SYA Greater Fairfax Senior Babe Ruth baseball team knew they had to fight back in order to avoid being sent home by a second loss.

"In regionals, we knew the best competition we would face would be Northern Fairfax and Lumber River. On the third day we faced Lumber River . . . We ended up losing and made a bunch of errors," Centreville graduate and pitcher/second baseman Nate Nguyen said. "Our coach kept reminding us that the only team that could beat us was ourselves . . . The next day we had to play Northern Fairfax in an elimination game."

With a home run from Roanoke College pitcher/first baseman Joe Larimer, Greater Fairfax went on to beat Northern Fairfax 2-1, bringing them to once again face Lumber River in a win-or-go-home game. Larimer got the start on the mound, and hit a 3-run home run to help lift the team to a 5-4 win, allowing them to advance to the championship game against Lumber River. After jumping to an early lead, Greater Fairfax won 5-2, earning a berth to the 2015 Babe Ruth League World Series in Klamath Falls, Ore.

"This is the first SYA team in recent memory that has advanced to a World Series," coach Brian Seeley said.

The SYA 13-15 year-old tournament team nearly advanced to their age group's World Series as well, but fell just short, losing in the Southeast Regional final to Florida 2-0 on Saturday.

With games starting Aug. 8, the SYA Greater Fairfax Senior Babe Ruth team will compete in four pool play games, with the top three teams in the pool advancing to a single-elimination tournament.

"The team will continue to focus on the fundamentals and our approach will be the same. One game at a time," Seeley said.

Pitcher/outfielder Matthew Blaise is one of several team members for whom this will be their first trip to the West Coast.

"I love traveling. It will be fun!" Blaise said. "[The teams on the West Coast] will be competitive but we won't really know [what to expect] until we get there."

For many of the players, though the trip will be full of "firsts," it is also a significant "last."

"A bunch of [my teammates] were on my All-Star and travel teams [through Little League]," Nguyen said. "With us going off to different colleges, this would be the last time we would get to play on the same team . . . I am excited and a little anxious to play on a big stage like the World Series."

ESPN 93.3 FM will provide complete radio coverage of the Babe Ruth World Series from Aug. 8-15.

"It means a lot to be on a team that is really special. We are all really excited for the opportunity to play and represent Virginia," Nguyen said. "We know the competition will be tough and more experienced, but we believe in our abilities and hope to bring a championship to Virginia."

Instilling Toughness in Cavaliers

Woodson football team hosts "midnight madness" practice.

THE CONNECTION

Mike Dougherty stood on the Woodson High School football field in the early hours of Aug. 3 and shared some of the more troubling observations from his first season coaching the Cavaliers.

He talked about the team's lack of toughness on defense during the 2014 campaign: "We were by far the worst tackling team I ever saw in my life last year. I felt like we were in positions to make plays on defense, we just lacked the toughness to tackle when we needed it most."

Second-year Woodson head football coach Mike Dougherty is trying to instill toughness in a program that finished 2-8 last season.

He mentioned the Cavaliers were intimidated by certain opponents: "Last year, I felt like [when we played] certain teams we'd just tuck tail and run, and that was something totally new to me."

The end result for the Cavaliers was a 2-8 record. Woodson closed the season with a five-game losing streak, surrendered an average of 53 points during its final four contests and was outscored 138-15 in its last three games.

DOUGHERTY wasn't afraid to discuss the Cavaliers' shortcomings. However, the timing and location of this particular conversation revealed steps he was

Crime Solvers Host 5K Race

More than 400 runners take part in race and fun run at Government Center.

More than 400 runners took part in the third annual Fairfax County Crime Solvers' 5K: A Race Against Crime and Fun Run, sponsored by Investigation Discovery, on Saturday, Aug. 1, at the Fairfax County Government Center. The race supports their nonprofit program that works to aid law enforcement by providing a means for the public to report criminal information anonymously and protected under state law.

The first-place male finisher was James "Doug" Smith, with a time of 15:15; second place male, Thomas Rammelkamp, with a time of 16:04; and third place male, Bennett Stackhouse, with a time of 16:43.

The first-place female finisher was Laurel LeMoigne, with a time of 18:38; second place female, Sarah Spalding, with a time of 19:02; and third place female, Linda Bruhn-Cherry, with a time of 19:51.

On hand for the event was "Homicide Hunter" Lt. Joe Kenda from the Discovery Television show. For more information, visit www.FairfaxCrimeSolvers.org.

Fairfax County Crime Solvers is a community nonprofit program that uses the public's Crime Solving anonymous tips to help solve crime. Those tips are eligible for a cash reward ($100 to $1,000) if the anonymous tip leads to an arrest, case closure or recovery of stolen property or seizure of illegal drugs.

The first-place female finisher was Laurel LeMoigne of Springfield with a time of 18:38.

Anonymous tips can be sent in by one of four ways: By phone at 1-866-411-TIPS (866-411-8477); by text — "TIP187" plus your message to CRIMES (274637), by web-based encrypted email or by downloading the Mobile Web App.

Members of the Woodson football team participate in a “midnight madness” practice on Aug. 3.

taking to fix some of the problems that plagued Woodson last fall.

It was a little after 1 a.m. Monday and the lights above Pat Cunningham Stadium illuminated the football field. The Cavaliers had finished a “midnight madness” practice and players were on the way to the locker room to shower. The Cavaliers were spending the night (and the following night) at the high school, and faced a 5:30 a.m. wake-up call to go jogging.

Dougherty had utilized midnight practices earlier in his coaching career when he was at Dominion High School in Loudoun County. The desired effect Monday was to instill toughness in the Cavaliers while building camaraderie and confidence.

“We were just trying to put them through the worst possible scenario so that everything else seemed a little bit easier when it came to competing and playing in the games,” Dougherty recalled of his time at Dominion. “And the team bond that you get out of something like this, you can’t replace it. These guys are going to be talking about tonight 20 years from now. As much as we want to win games and put trophies on shelves, we’re about creating memories, building a team bond and teaching these guys push through something tough and usually you end up on a good note.”

Offensively, Woodson will once again run an up-tempo spread scheme with a goal of running 80 plays per game. Dougherty said the team averaged 75 last season, including a 107-play output during a 72-56 loss to Annandale.

Rising junior Jojo Heisley is the front-runner to start at quarterback. Heisley started two games at the end of his sophomore season.

“I’m excited for [the season],” Heisley said. “Odds are stacked against us. We were ranked seventh in our conference [by VHSL-Reference]. ... I’m ready to prove them wrong show them what we can do.”

Heisley’s top target figures to be rising senior Jack Caldwell. Dougherty said he expects Caldwell to catch 60 passes this season and play defense, as well.

“He just goes up high and gets the ball,” Dougherty said. “He’s real long. Through the 7-on-7s this spring, if there was a ball up and it was him and another guy, he was getting most of them. He’s doing a much better job of route running and understanding the concepts of stemming and getting into the spaces we need him to get. Now we’ve got to get the quarterbacks clicking with him.”

“I think he’ll be a top receiver in the area. We’re going to target him 15 times a game.”

Rising senior Chris Gardner and rising sophomore Daequan Williams will see time at running back.

Rising senior guards Mike Fox and Don Stedham anchor the offensive line.

Defensively, Woodson operates from a base 4-3 alignment. Linebackers Torin Shanahan, a rising junior, and Nolan Brahmey, a rising senior, are two of the Cavaliers’ best defenders.

WOODSON will scrimmage Marshall (home, Aug. 20) and South Lakes (road, Aug. 27) before opening the season at home against Chantilly on Sept. 4. The Cavaliers will travel to face Robinson on Sept. 11 and will host Fairfax on Sept. 18 before opening Conference 7 play on the road against Annandale on Sept. 25.

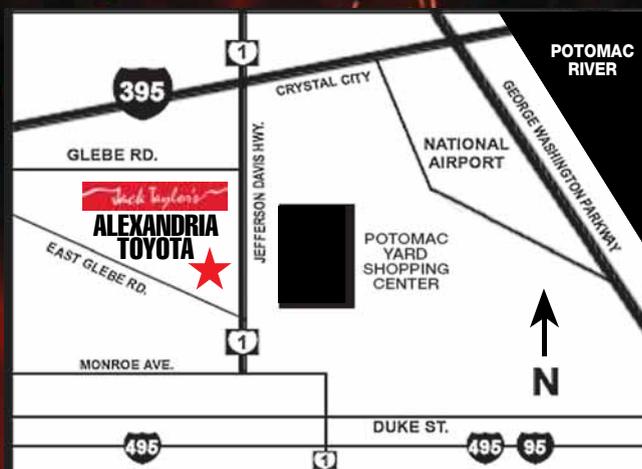

“We’ve got to focus on pushing through the entire season,” Caldwell said. “Last season, toward the end, we all lost heart and ended up losing the last several [games] pretty bad. That’s a big part of it; is not giving up the same way we did last season.”

Dougherty said the Cavaliers have a goal of making the playoffs in 2015.

“[We need to] get these kids believing that they can compete with these teams around here because they can,” Dougherty said. “Obviously, we’ve got to do a lot of things right, but just because Robinson comes over here doesn’t mean we should run and hide.”
