Cybersecurity Week at Marshall High

Marshall's Cybersecurity Camp opens for the fourth summer.

BY LESLIE DAVIS
THE CONNECTION

An advanced group of 20 high school students learned about sequel injections and cryptography as their white computer screens illuminated the classroom. The Governor's STEM Academy Cybersecurity Camp opened once again from Aug. 10 – 14 at Marshall High School.

Since its inception in 2012, the camp has grown into a group of 70 students from all across Fairfax County. These students range from rising freshmen to seniors and are divided into basic and advanced groups depending on prior experience.

The camp lays a foundation of defensive and offensive skills (depending on the group) for inquisitive high schools students. Camp leader Jeff Ennis described cybersecurity to be a multi-faceted subject, so the camp tries to compress a comprehensive amount of information for its students in just one week.

"If it [cybersecurity] were a pizza, it would be a 20 slice pizza," explains Ennis.

Therefore, the camp helps its students target their greater interest areas specifically, whether they are experienced or just beginning to find an interest in cybersecurity.

Instructor and alumni of Marshall High School Jonah Lazar (to the right of the board) teaches the advanced group as they follow along on their personal laptops at the Marshall's Cybersecurity Camp.

The students say they share a common curiosity for cybersecurity and enthusiasm for the week at Marshall.

"I'm enthusiastic about how enthusiastic they are," says Ennis with a smile.

Devina Choksi, of Marshall High School, even described that on the first day, the students of the advanced group attempted to hack each other's computers as an activity. However, Choksi said none of the students succeeded.

Many of the students see their futures in cybersecurity. Jared Zell, of Marshall High School, said that the camp was the "icing on the cake" in deciding cybersecurity for his future career path.

VIEWPOINTS

What do you enjoy most about the cybersecurity camp at Marshall?

Devina Choksi, of Marshall High School, said she enjoyed that the camp allowed her to feel powerful, as she can now find the vulnerabilities in her network and in others around her.

Risabhi Krishman, of Thomas Jefferson High School, said he enjoyed how applicable the topics were to both today's cyber world and to his upcoming computer science classes.

Jared Zell, of Marshall High School, said that he enjoyed the students at the camp most because cybersecurity is a big part of their lives. He also liked that in cybersecurity "there is always more to learn."

Vietnamese Heritage Festival Held on Tysons Plaza

Yellow ribboned Vietnamese-style leaf hats speckled the crowded Tysons Corner Center Plaza at the fifth annual VietFest, a celebration of Vietnamese culture featuring live performances, traditional and modern Vietnamese music, pageants, pho and much more.

Vietfest had free admission, lasted for three days and attracted the most visitors in its four-year history. VietFest is for Vietnamese Americans and anyone who joined in on the celebration.

Vietnamese American artists displayed and sold works such as photos and paintings.

While VietFest featured delicious Vietnamese foods, it also included American-style eating competitions during which contestants chowed down on crawfish and pho.

Women who were "at least 50 percent

Asian and 25 percent Vietnamese" competed in the Miss VietFest Pageant for a prize of $1,500 and entry into D.C., Virginia, or Maryland Miss World America and Miss United States pageants. There was also a pageant for male contestants.

In addition to musically oriented acts, one performance featured the East Coast Chapter of the Compassionate Service Society (CSS), an organization of volunteers who provide services including teaching tai chi to the community. CSS tai chi instructors taught the audience basic tai chi moves.

VietFest was sponsored by the National Organization for Vietnamese American Leadership (NOVAL-DC), which works to celebrate Vietnamese cultural heritage and foster leadership among Vietnamese Americans.

Sea Changes in Policing?

Report offers blueprint for transforming aspects of policing, jail and services for people with mental illness.

Yesterday, for the first time in the history of Fairfax County Police Department, a Fairfax County Police officer was charged in a shooting death.

On Monday, Aug. 17, former Fairfax County Police officer Adam Torres was charged with the second-degree murder of John Geer, following an indictment returned by a special grand jury convened by Fairfax County Commonwealth's Attorney Ray Morrogh. It appears to be only the second time in history that the Commonwealth's Attorney has convened a grand jury in an officer-involved shooting.

John Geer was shot dead in the doorway to his own home on Aug. 29, 2013 after police were called in a domestic dispute. Torres was fired in July 2015, almost two years later.

FCPD began by releasing almost no information. It took a year-and-a-half, a judge's order, a U.S. senator's probing, and public outrage (the most important of these being the court order) to get information about the investigation.

But the public outrage led the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors to form the Fairfax County Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission, which has been meeting since April both as a commission and five subcommittees involving thousands of hours of work by about 70 people. Areas of focus by committee include Use of Force; Communications; Mental Health; Recruitment, Diversity and Vetting; and Independent Investigations and Oversight.

Communications recommendations came out last month, well worth reading on the commission website.

Police and county officials recognize that the world is changing around them, and have engaged in the process. The kind of changes needed represent a massive change in culture and approach, and none of it will happen overnight, but the process has started.

Several developments, beyond the indictment of Torres, mark progress and opportunity for change.

Last week, FCPD Chief Edwin Roessler posted a website summary of all officer involved shootings, a major step and a work in progress. The department is wrestling with communications initiatives on many levels.

This week, the report released from the Mental Health and Crisis Intervention Training Committee marks a remarkable opportunity for Fairfax County to transform the way it provides services to people with mental illness. Recommendations reach beyond the police department to the county jail and the Community Services Board, which provides mental health services in the county.

Police are often the first responders in a mental health crisis. The jail is the county's largest facility for people with mental illness. The costs, financial and human, of dealing with mental health in this way are enormous. The 26 recommendations of the Mental Health Subcommittee, presented by committee chair and state delegate Marcus Simon, offer the county a path to getting it right.

Recommendations including fully implementing the "Memphis model" of crisis intervention, which provides for response teams including officers specially trained in de-escalating situations with people in mental health crisis; creating a system of getting treatment rather than incarceration for people with mental illness; creating a mental health docket in the courts; funding a second Mobile Crisis Unit under the Community Services Board; establish strategically located, 24-hour crisis intervention sites where police can safely transfer custody of person in crisis without taking them to jail.

How much will it cost? It will require upfront money, but it costs $50,000 annually to house someone in the Fairfax County Detention Center. To provide intensive therapy in the community costs $7,500 a year.

Now Is Time To Unite for Education

By JIM CORCORAN
PRESIDENT AND CEO

FAIRFAX COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Recently, the Fairfax County Federation of Teachers ran advertisements in the Connection newspapers questioning the dedication of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and the business community to the county's education system.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

The Fairfax Board of Supervisors has worked tirelessly to support Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS). In fact, approximately 70 percent of FCPS' budget is unfairly shouldered by the county, which comes directly from residential and commercial taxes. From FY 1996-2014, contributions from the county quadrupled that of student growth. And this past April, the Board of Supervisors, in its FY2016 adopted budget, increased funding for FCPS for the fifth consecutive year, funding our schools at 99.8 percent of their advertised budget; bringing the total increase from FY2012 to FY2016 to $240 million.

All the while, residents and businesses are being taxed by lawmakers in Richmond, with little return in education dollars coming directly from the state to show for it.

The Fairfax Chamber has, for decades, supported the full funding of K-12 education throughout the entire Commonwealth. The Chamber believes that the future growth of the Northern Virginia economy, and consequently Virginia's economy, depends on a significant investment in K-12 education. The Chamber has been a leading voice in Richmond, working hand in hand with the county, to thwart any attempt to cut the state's contributions to FCPS.

Our work on behalf of FCPS extends beyond advocacy. Since 2010, the Fairfax Chamber has partnered with FCPS to establish the Education Foundation, a 501(c)(3) charitable organization allied with, but independent of, the county's public school system.

Every two years, the Fairfax Chamber spearheads the School Bond Referendum committee ensuring there are appropriate dollars for the county's education infrastructure to meet the needs of our growingly diverse community.

Additionally, the Fairfax Chamber has been recognized by the School Board for its years of dedicated partnership with Fairfax County Public Schools.

And we promise that will not stop. We will continue to advocate for the needs of our schools. However, the Fairfax County Federation of Teachers is wrong to direct their frustration at the Board of Supervisors and the business community. The problem rests with Richmond.

Historically, the Local Composite Index (LCI) places Fairfax County at a disadvantage by not taking into account important factors such as the differential between county and city taxing authority, the impact of cost of living on a locality's ability to pay staff, and the increased costs associated with providing services to growing limited English proficiency and special education populations.

For years, the Board of Supervisors, FCPS, and the Fairfax Chamber have called upon the General Assembly to provide FCPS their fair share of state education dollars. Our schools, our children, and our economy depend on it.

We must come together and work united towards a common good. A failure to address the problem of inadequate state funding for education will leave our schools and our children behind.

WEEK IN VIENNA

Freeman Store and Museum to Participate in Afternoon on Church Street

Historic Vienna, (the Freeman Store and Museum), 131 Church Street, NE will participate in the next Town of Vienna Afternoons on Church Street, Sunday, Aug. 30, from 1 to 5 p.m. The theme of the Town event will be "Wheely Fun Time," with a variety of events including kids crafts provided by Abrakadoodle; Girl Scouts will be doing balloon animals and face painting; a Moon Bounce and Corn Hole; kids' band from Herndon America's Music School; antique and muscle cars on display, and numerous local businesses offering food and beverages for sale. The event will end with a band playing on the town Green at 5 p.m.

Consistent with the theme, Historic Vienna plans a Bike Parade and Best Decorated Bike Contest open to anyone wishing to participate. No registration is necessary. There will be a designated bike "parking" area so competing bikes may be viewed prior to the parade and contest at 4 p.m. Riders will follow the parade route past the judging stand to the judging area for their age group. An award ceremony will follow with prizes for the winners in each category: ages 5 and under; 6 to 8; 9 to 12, and Judge's Choice in which any age may compete (multiple awards may be given).

Contest Rules are simple: bikes must have decorations of some sort and they must be ridden with all decorations intact. Riders may also be "decorated" to match their bike decorations, or wear a costume. Decorations that make noise are allowed; however, nothing that uses flames or sparks will be permitted.

Bring your children, play the games, enjoy the presentations and demonstrations, and, of course, peruse Historic Vienna's vintage items and used books for sale every time you come to the store, as well as a brand new assortment of gifts and a terrific selection of old-fashioned candies.

Checking the Back-to-School Healthcare Blocks

Local governments, clinics offer free immunizations for all and physical exams for the uninsured.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

As the lazy days of summer wind down, beach trips, lemonade stands and lax bedtimes give way to alarm clocks, textbooks and backpacks. Public health officials say that a back-to-school list should include more than pencils and paper. For many, the first order of business is a well-child physical, a dental exam and required immunizations.

During a physical exam, parents should double check that immunizations are up to date, ask if their child's growth is on target and what normal developmental changes they should expect during the next year. Parents should also be prepared to answer questions about their child's sleep patterns and eating habits.

"Vision checks are an important part of a routine school entry physical so make sure to ask for one," said Caroline Sutter, a family nurse practitioner, DNP-BC, co-director of Mason and Partners (MAP) clinics and an assistant professor of nursing at George Mason University in Fairfax. "Dental exams are important to maintain health. Ask for a referral for a dental visit."

George Mason University's College of Health and Human Services runs MAP clinics, which offers school entry physicals at no cost.

The Fairfax County Health Department provides free school-required immunizations at five locations in the county. "We are offering some special extended hours in August and September to accommodate the back-to-school rush, but we recommend that parents make the appointment now," said John Silcox, public safety information officer, Fairfax County Health Department.

In conjunction with Inova Health System's Partnership for Healthier Kids, the Fairfax County health department also offers free physicals for school entry to uninsured children. The health department also operates three dental clinics that provide services to children based on eligibility.

"We operate three health centers in Falls Church, Alexandria and Reston that provide primary health services for low income, uninsured residents who cannot afford primary medical care services for themselves and their families," said Silcox.

Dental services are available for eligible children in Arlington through high school age. Vaccines required by Arlington County Public Schools are also available free of charge.

In Alexandria, the Child Health Clinic provides preventative health services for infants and children through age 5, and physicals for daycare and school entrance through age 11. The Alexandria Health Department offers routine immunizations for infants, teens and adults.

The Montgomery County Maryland, Health and Human Services Department offers an Immunization Program with walk-in immupediatric health care picture and should not be overlooked. Transitioning from a summer of sleeping late to a school year of early wake-up calls can be challenging if children are not prepared. "Establish a sleep schedule now," said Sutter. "With summer coming to an end, it is important to get kids on a regular sleep schedule before school starts."

"Stress the importance of routine physical activity with your child," she continued. "Talk about sports they might be interested in during the school year or other ways to stay physically fit but most important set a good example. Exercise regularly yourself or with your children."

For those experiencing anxiety about returning to school, Sutter suggests addressing the issue before the first day of school. "Come up with a good plan to address them," she said. "Talk to your children about kindness and what to do if he or she is a victim of bullying and how to ask for help if needed."

The Madison football team opens the season at Oakton on Sept. 4.

Madison Football Focused on Beating Rival Oakton

Warhawks look to snap seven-year losing streak to Cougars.

BY BONNIE SCHIPPER
FOR THE CONNECTION

Oakton and Madison high schools are located less than two miles apart from each other, and the annual football games between these “cross-town rivals” have drawn enormous crowds. For the last seven years, the Cougars have come out on top, but this year the Warhawks are determined to break the streak.

Having gone 5-5 in 2014 and missed the playoffs, coach Lenny Schultz and the Warhawks are focusing solely on their opening game against their Vienna rival.

“Oakton is always a challenge,” Schultz said. “We haven’t done anything until we start the season with a win. ... [S]o that is our first challenge and we aren’t looking really past that until it’s done.”

The Warhawks will begin their season at Oakton on Sept. 4.

Hoping to improve from last year, Madison put extra emphasis on the importance of strength and conditioning during the offseason, with three players breaking the school’s previous squat record. Offensive lineman John Bingham (6 feet 4, 215 pounds) holds the new school record with a 475-pound squat.

“Our offseason conditioning was really challenging and tested us physically and mentally,” Bingham said. “We did a lot of intense, cross-fit-type stuff and it really works and gets us in shape. We came back this year bigger and faster.”

Running Madison’s offense is fourth-year varsity team member and three-year starting quarterback Jason Gastrock, who threw for 2,000 yards in 2014.

enced returning quarterback because we all already know his strengths and his weaknesses,” Bingham said. “[Gastrock’s] strong, he’s smart with the ball, and he makes good choices. He’s a good leader on offense.”

Also returning to the offense are receiver Jordan Ebersole and linemen Ryan Partridge and Drew Smith. Schultz hopes to see an improvement in the team’s running game, and suspects that the offensive line will be the muscle of the team.

“We have a veteran offensive line and we really feel that they could be the strength of our team this year,” Schultz said. “They committed to getting stronger in the weight room and it shows on the field.”

Defensively, returners include safety Sam Kidd, who had seven interceptions last season, cornerback Kullen Kritsky, and linebacker Paul Gerdon.

“We run a lot of zone coverage,” Kritsky said. “We’ve run the same thing for a long time and it’s worked. Our defensive backs have played well for the past few years.”

With low turnout numbers for tryouts, some inexperienced players will step into starting roles. Jimmy Goldsmith, after missing last season, will fill one of the linebacker positions.

“I have a lot of confident kids this year because of working out and being stronger. We are prepared to do whatever it takes to win,” Schultz said. “If we need to beat people with our skill game, we’re ready to pound it at them and play a hard-nosed, driven game. We can do a variety of things offensively to control the game. We haven’t beat Oakton in eight years, so if we beat them, great, on to week two with another strong team.”

“Oakton is always a challenge. We haven’t done anything until we start the season with a win. ... [S]o that is our first challenge and we aren’t looking really past that until it’s done.”

A bidder's deposit of $250,000.00 (the "Deposit") by certified or cashier's check shall be required by the Substitute Trustees for such bid to be accepted. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to prequalify any bidder prior to the sale and/or waive the requirement of the Deposit. Immediately after the sale, the successful bidder shall execute and deliver a memorandum of sale with the Substitute Trustees, copies of which shall be available for inspection immediately prior to the sale, and shall deliver to the Substitute Trustees the Deposit and the memorandum of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid by the Purchaser. Settlement shall occur within thirty (30) days after the sale date, TIME BEING OF THE ESSENCE with regard to the Purchaser's obligation.

Settlement shall take place at the offices of Venable LLP, 8010 Towers Crescent Drive, Suite 300, Tysons Corner, Virginia 22182 or other mutually agreed location. Purchaser shall also pay all past due real estate taxes, rollback taxes, water rents, water permit renewal fees (if any) or other municipal liens, charges and assessments, together with penalties and interest due thereon. The Purchaser shall also pay all settlement fees, title examination charges, title charges and title insurance premiums, all recording costs (including the state grantor's tax and all state and county recordation fees, clerk's filing fees, congestion relief fees and transfer fees and taxes), auctioneer's fees and/or bid premiums, and reasonable attorneys' fees and disbursements incurred in the preparation of the deed of conveyance and other settlement documentation.

The Purchaser shall be required to sign an agreement at settlement waiving any cause of action Purchaser may have against the Substitute Trustees, and/or the Beneficiary for any condition with respect to the property that may not be in compliance with any federal, state or local law, regulation or ruling including, without limitation, any law, regulation and ruling relating to environmental contamination or hazardous wastes. Such agreement shall also provide that if notwithstanding such agreement, a court of competent jurisdiction should permit such a claim to be made, such agreement shall serve as the overwhelming primary factor in any equitable apportionment of response costs or other liability. Nothing herein shall release, waive or preclude any claims the Purchaser may have against any person in possession or control of the property.

If any Purchaser fails for any reason to complete settlement as provided above, the Deposit shall be forfeited and applied to the costs of the sale, including Trustees' fees, and the balance, if any, shall be delivered to the Beneficiary to be applied by the Beneficiary against the indebtedness secured by and other amounts due under the Deed of Trust in accordance with the Deed of Trust or applicable law or otherwise as the Beneficiary shall elect. There shall be no refunds. Such forfeiture shall not limit any rights or remedies of the Substitute Trustees or the Beneficiary with respect to any such default. If the property is resold, such re-sale shall be at the risk and the cost of the defaulting bidder, and the defaulting bidder shall be liable for any deficiency between its bid and the successful bid at the re-sale as well as the costs of conducting such re-sale. Immediately upon conveyance by the Substitute Trustees of the Property, all duties, liabilities and obligations of the Substitute Trustees, if any, with respect to the Property so conveyed shall be extinguished, except as otherwise provided by applicable law.

Music Attracts Residents to Vienna Town Green

Classic and Contemporary Folk Band Shenandoah Run performed on Sunday.

A nine-piece American folk band occupied the Vienna Town Green this Sunday at 6:30 p.m. Families with picnic materials, couples with lawn chairs and even local bikers hopped off nearby trails to gather on the green to enjoy the concert at the shady town park. Founded in 2011 by vocalist, 6-and-12 string guitarist and banjo player Bob Melissinos, the band serenaded the crowd with its toe-tapping tunes. Shenandoah Run played covers such as “Hallelujah” by Leonard Cohen, Steve Goodman’s “City of New Orleans,” “Sound of Silence” by Simon & Garfunkel and “The Weight” by The Band. Due to popular demand, the band also performed “Take Me Home, Country Roads,” a song originally performed by John Denver, as its encore. “I actually grew up every weekend going to the countryside listening to Bluegrass music, so I have a great appreciation for this type of music,” said audience member Christopher Stolze. Stolze added that the band had “nice harmonization with good instrumentalists and great vocals.” Mother and daughter Joana and Sophia Gribko said, “We like seeing our friends here and the music is really great. It’s a great band with lots of different instruments.” Audience member Bob Richey said the concert “could have used a bit more volume.” However, Richey still enjoyed the concert and said he attends concerts on the green once or sometimes twice a week. Richey said he enjoys the concert series because “There is a big variety of music and they are all really good performers.” Find the 2015 concert schedule on viennava.gov for future performances hosted on the Green.

Sell-out Performances

With the final performance of Vienna Youth Players’ production of the Tony award-winning “Fiddler on the Roof,” cast and crew gathered for a wrap party after Sunday’s matinee. Each of VYP’s performances was a sell-out, some waiting in line for an hour for doors to open. Vienna Youth Players is the baby of musical theatre director Babs Dyer, who has directed the group for more than 20 years in Vienna. Her former actors return to see its current productions.
