NEWCOMERS & COMMUNITY GUIDE

About the Centre View

As your local, weekly newspaper, the Centre View's mission is to deliver the local news you need, to try to make sense of what is happening in your community, to gather information about the best things in and around your community, to advocate for community good, to provide a forum for dialogue on local concerns, and to celebrate and record achievements, milestones and events in the community and people's lives.

Here in our Newcomers and Community Guide, we've included an expanded and updated version of our award-winning Insider's Guide to the Parks, plus information on high school sports and views about living here.

We invite newcomers and long-time residents alike to let us know how we're doing and let us know what is going on in your part of the community. If you have questions or ideas, send us an e-mail or call us, contact us on Facebook or send us a tweet. We invite you to send letters to the editor or to send an email with feedback about our coverage.

We want to know if someone in your family or your community published a book, started a business, became an Eagle Scout, raised money for a good cause, accomplished some feat like running a marathon, supporting a cause or having art included in an art show. We publish photos and notes about personal milestones and community events, including births, engagements, weddings, anniversaries, awards and obituaries.

We are also interested in events at your church, mosque, synagogue, community center, pool, school, club, etc. Email us a note about the event, being sure to include when and where the photo was taken and the names of all the people who are in a photo. We also publish notes about news and events from local businesses. Notes about openings, new employees and anniversaries are welcome. It is especially important to us to let people know about events ahead of time in our calendar of events. We appreciate getting notice at least two weeks ahead of the event, and we encourage photos.

A Glimpse of the Horizon

NEIGHBORHOOD
OUTLOOK

Homes, shops, restaurants, and a Wegmans are proposed.

BY BONNIE HOBBS

With the downturn in the office market, developers are looking at vacant parcels of land in the Westfields area of Chantilly as a place for residential and other uses, instead. Below are two of the proposals, plus plans for a memory-care facility off of Route 50 west.

Preserve at Westfields

There's a plan to transform 50 acres of vacant land along Route 28 and Stonecroft and Westfields boulevards in Chantilly. Being proposed for what would be called The Preserve at Westfields are 155 townhouses, 650 apartments, plus retail and other amenities.

Fairfax County recently approved a rezoning for that site and also amended its Comprehensive Plan for that area so that high-density, residential uses may be built there. Akridge owns the land and would build the apartment and retail components; Elm Street Development would construct the townhouses.

Included would be an amenity area with walking paths, a pavilion/performing and gathering area, plus a lake that's currently not accessible. Proffer highlights include almost $6 million in recreation improvements and more than $5.5 million in road improvements.

Dignitaries and stakeholders officially break ground for Residences at the Government Center.

"If we do this right, we're ultimately making the Route 28 Corridor stronger by providing amenities and a live, work and play environment," said attorney Greg Riegle, representing the developer. "And that's the philosophy the Westfields Business Owners Association has endorsed."

Wegmans

The Commonwealth Centre is along Westfields Boulevard, across Route 28 and just northeast of the Akridge site. And there, plans are afoot to bring a Wegmans grocery store to Chantilly.

It would go inside the Newbrook Drive loop road and would be part of a commercial complex including shops and a restaurant. First, though, Fairfax County must approve a Comprehensive Plan amendment for that 21-acre site. Doing so would enable the developer, Regency Centers, to replace the currently approved 338,400 square feet of hotel, office and retail uses with 183,000 square feet of retail.

The centerpiece would be a 140,000-square-foot Wegmans similar to the one in Fair Oaks and containing the same amenities, but not the parking garage. It would, instead, have surface parking. Also planned are 32,500 square feet of retail shops, plus a 10,500-square-foot sit-down, full-service restaurant.

But that's not all. It would come with walking trails, an exercise park near the Flatlick stream valley, outdoor seating outside the Wegmans café and a slew of preferred pedestrian and road improvements for safety plus better traffic flow.

Residences at Government Center

With an eye toward providing workforce housing in the local area, Fairfax County dignitaries broke ground May 5 on a 270-unit apartment complex in Fair Oaks. The apartments are being built on county-owned land off Monument Drive, on the Government Center's perimeter, so they're named Residences at the Government Center.

On some 9 acres across from the Fairfax Corner shopping center, they'll offer a 5,800-square-foot amenity space including an outdoor pool, fenced playground, two courtyards and connections to walking trails. The apartments will be chocked full of green and energy-saving features and will be available to people making up to 60 percent of the area median income (AMI).

In addition, at least 20 percent of the units are geared for households at or below 50 percent AMI. Paradigm Construction Co. is the general contractor and will build studio, plus one-, two- and three-bedroom apartments. Site work began in April, and the first apartment is expected to be available for occupancy by October 2016.

Because the developer was able to lease land from the county, and federal low-income, tax credits were obtained, said Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Artist's rendition of the Residences at the Government Center. It's an apartment complex that'll provide homes for firefighters, police, teachers and other workers who currently can't afford to live in Fairfax County.

Bulova, "This is being done at no cost to the county. By providing workforce housing, many young people, low-income families and those having long commutes to jobs here will be able to live here."

Trinity Centre

Once envisioned as the heart of Centreville – a place where people would gather for various events and special occasions – Trinity Centre was originally planned for 1.8 million square feet of office space.

Also there would be 250,000 square feet of retail uses, plus 336 homes.

But what's actually been built there are three restaurants, a hotel, Life Time Fitness, the 336 homes and three office buildings totaling just 587,000 square feet – or one-third of the approved office space.

Now, though, JLB Partners would like to instead construct a residential project of 355 apartments there. Also included would be a six-story parking structure in the middle. The units would be within a building that's four stories in front and five stories in back, because of the topography of the site.

The building would be constructed adjacent to the existing lake and would have two internal courtyards. There'd be an outdoor pool, and the lower-level units would be walk-outs. In addition, the builder would seek LEED certification, and the lake would be an integral part of the project.

Amenities by the lake would include a fenced-in, off-leash, dog area; benches, chairs and an area where young children could climb. Planned, as well, is an outdoor area for senior citizens to use for games such as chess and bocce ball. Trails would connect it to the office development, and the developer would also improve pedestrian connections to this area.

JLB's rezoning application goes before the Planning Commission on Sept. 16.

build The Arbors of Chantilly at 13622 Lee Jackson Memorial Highway, off Downs Drive. The six-and-one-half-acre site, zoned residential, is currently a vacant lot. Planned is a one-story, 37,000-square-foot, 48-unit, residential-looking building facing Route 50.

Considered a "memory-care home," the 35,000-square-foot facility will be architecturally compatible with the surrounding land uses, plus the abutting residential area. It'll also have a large rain garden and fencing all around the property. Groundbreaking is anticipated by this fall, with construction expected to take about 10 months.

Step into History

Sully Plantation, restored in 1975, is celebrating 40 years.

BY ASHLEY CLAIRE SIMPSON

For a walk through 19th century plantation life in Northern Virginia, area residents can visit Chantilly's Sully Historic Site for guided tours and other programming.

Sully Historic site, a plantation home built in the 1790s, is on the National Register for Historic Places and accredited by the American Association of Museums. Richard Bland Lee, Northern Virginia's first congressional representative and the uncle of Civil War General Robert E. Lee, and his family were the first inhabitants of the plantation, complete with outbuildings slave quarters.

"We are the only remnant of Fairfax County from the 1790s and early 19th century," Noreen McCann, visitor services manager, said. "With Dulles Airport down the road and apartments, buildings and all this technology around us, this is a little sea of green that represents what Fairfax County was like in the past."

Sully Historic Site, also referred to as Sully Plantation, has been run by Fairfax County Park Authority since 1959. Rich in history, the sprawling home's last owner and resident was Frederick Nolting, the U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam from 1961 to 1963.

McCann said Sully Plantation was completely restored in 1975, so the site is celebrating its 40 years this year.

"We are having a major celebration this year," McCann said. "On Sept. 6, all tours and activities are free in honor of our milestone."

Sully Plantation sprawls 65 acres and was once home to slaves and tenant farmers in addition to Richard Bland Lee and his family. The outbuildings include a kitchen, representative slave quarters, a stone dairy and a smoke house. There are guided tours of both the main house and of the outbuildings and of the representative slave quarters. Visitors will learn about life in Northern Virginia during the colonial and federal periods of history.

Tours for adults are $7 each, but if you take both tours on the same day, the total amount is just $9, according to McCann. Museum hours are seasonal, and currently they are open every week day except Tuesday, from 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

A taste of history isn't the only thing you can come away with. Another activity that Sully Plantation offers is ice cream and butter making classes, available to children and adults alike.

Perhaps Fairfax County's oldest attraction, Sully Historic Site is a popular field trip destination for area schools, beyond Fairfax County.

"When schools start back up," McCann said, "we'll have lots of tours. We get classes from Fairfax County, Loudoun County, Fauquier County, and even schools in Maryland and West Virginia."

She added that the historic site has about 24,000 visitors on average per year.

Amid a technology community sits a landmark from the days of Northern Virginia before the internet, or even electricity.

"I think the coolest thing about Sully Historic Site is learning about the people of the past, and how they managed everything before technology," McCann said. "This was a very complex period with lots of different components, with slavery and other politics. It has gotten my interest in genealogy.
