Commonwealth's Attorney Raymond F. Morrogh (center) speaks with reporters outside the Fairfax County Courthouse following the arraignment hearing for former Fairfax County Police officer Adam Torres. Judge Stephen Shannon denied Torres' counsel's request to set a bond; Torres was released to the custody of the Sheriff's Office. Both parties agreed to begin a jury trial on Dec. 14.

Torres Trial Date Set for December

Bond denied for former police officer charged with murdering John Geer.

By Tim Peterson
The Connection

hortly after 10 a.m. on Aug. 19, former Fairfax County Police officer Adam Torres entered the circuit courtroom for his arraignment, dressed in a baggy, blue-green prison jumpsuit. Torres was indicted the previous Monday by a special grand jury for killing Springfield resident John Geer in August, 2013.

He was still an officer at the time and one of several who responded to a call from Geer's longtime partner Maura Harrington that Geer was throwing her belongings out on to the lawn of their Springfield home.

After the indictment, Fairfax County Police said Torres surrendered himself that evening at the County Adult Detention Center.

Circuit Court judge
Judge Stephen C. Shannon placed Torres' arraignment first on his docket. The defendant's attorney John F. Carroll began by rebutting his client being held without bond until the trial. Murder qualifies as an offense for which bond is denied in Virginia, but it can be argued whether the person accused poses a flight risk or is a threat to the community. Carroll stated the case that Torres, 32, immediately turned himself in, has no prior criminal record and has a wife and two children. As Hayfield and George Mason University graduate, Carroll said he doesn't think "you can find anyone with greater ties to the community."

The attorney went on to summarize the Geer shooting incident, beginning to justify Torres by saying a handgun owned by Geer had been found on the scene "within reach, in our estimation," and that Geer had made "numerous erratic movements," prior to Torres firing.

And because the shooting in question was in Torres' performance of duties as a police officer, Carroll argued, "there's no reason for anyone to be fearful." Carroll then asked that a bond for Torres be set at $25,000.

Commonwealth's Attorney Raymond F. Morrogh spoke after Carroll in opposition to the bond motion. "Not only did he kill Mr. Geer," Morrogh said, "but did so with malice." Morrogh later malice." Morrogh later added that was the consensus of the special grand jury.

The prosecutor also referenced evidence that Torres had been in a "deteriorating mental state," saying the former police officer had fought with his supervisor and with his wife because he suspected her of infidelity.

Though Morrogh didn't disagree with Torres' connection to the community and lack of flight risk, "It's the first time I've seen a police officer shoot someone who had his hands up," he said. "I think that makes him dangerous."

Judge Shannon reminded that, "We're not here to decide the merits of the case today, solely the bond."

Citing "some indications at the time of the incident of a deteriorating mental state," Shannon denied Carroll's request for a bond to be set.

Torres and the attorneys were asked to stand while the details of his trial were negotiated. Carroll hoped to start early in 2016 while Morrogh was intent to begin as soon as possible.

The two parties settled on Dec. 14 to begin the trial, which Morrogh said he expected would last about a week. As the date was reached, Torres suddenly collapsed backward and fell to the ground.

Judge Shannon cleared the entire courtroom as the bailiffs rendered first aid and called a rescue team.

Torres was taken to a nearby hospital, Morrogh said afterwards, and his vitals were said to have returned to normal. The attorney said it's not unusual for individuals to faint or pass out in the courtroom.

Outside the courthouse, Morrogh commented to reporters that though he's prosecuted judges and lawyers in his career, "It's rare to see a case like this — there's certainly no joy in it."

As for Torres being the first Fairfax County Police officer in 75 years to be charged with such an offense, Morrogh said he thinks "it's a really good thing that we don't have many of those."

"It's just the length of time this case has taken, that's not right," Morrogh said. "We have to have a finality to this."

Fairfax County had withheld much of the information about the case, including Torres' name, until Geer's family filed a $12 million lawsuit against the Police Department

Torres had been taken out of field work but remained employed by Fairfax County until he was fired in July of this year.

The county justified not releasing the information previously due to ongoing investigations by Police Internal Affairs, the Commonwealth's Attorney's office and the U.S. Department of Justice.

Jeff Stewart, Geer's best friend who witnessed the shooting and became a member of the Fairfax County ad hoc commission to review police practices, sat directly behind Torres during the arraignment. He had never seen the man face to face prior to that morning, and expressed sympathy for Torres and members of his family who were present at the hearing.

Stewart described having "mixed emotions" since the indictment. "I feel good for the process, and bad for the man," he said.

Torres' wife and family members declined to comment after the hearing.

Mega Road Projects in Northern Virginia Keep Traffic Moving

n Northern Virginia, the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) is working to keep up with growth in the area with transportation projects at both ends of the spectrum. Whether it's a new highway overpass, intersection improvement, or high occupancy toll lanes, the goal at VDOT is to keep the traffic moving

On the Capital Beltway (I-495), the 495 Express Lanes opened in 2012 to give motorists an option when traveling through this busy corridor.

Two additional lanes were constructed on the beltway in each direction between the Springfield Interchange (where I-95, I-495 and I-395 meet south of Washington) and a point on the beltway just north of the Dulles Toll Road. These lanes are free to vehicles with three or more occupants, while vehicles with one or two occupants will be able to use the lanes by paying a toll electronically.

The express lanes use dynamic pricing to manage the flow of traffic and keep motorists moving, and roadside equipment monitors traffic, adjusting toll prices periodically to maintain free-flowing travel.

As traffic increases, the toll price goes up to manage demand.

IN DECEMBER 2014, VDOT opened a 29-mile stretch of express lanes on I-95/395 between a point just north of Edsall Road in Alexandria, to Garrisonville Road (Route 610) in the south. These express lanes are reversible: on weekday mornings, the lanes head north to cater to commuters heading to busy employment centers like Tysons Corner and Washington, D.C.; and in the afternoons, the lanes head south. Again, vehicles with three occupants can use the 95 Express Lanes for free, while cars with one or two occupants can choose to use the lanes by paying a toll, which varies depending on the number of cars in the lanes at that time. All vehicles using the 495 or 95 Express Lanes need an E-ZPass, or an E-ZPass Flex, which has a switch to engage the toll-free option when there are three or more occupants.

Another highway construction project is underway at Seminary Road and I-395 in Alexandria. There VDOT is building a multifaceted project that include a new 0.8-mile auxiliary lane on I-395

North between Duke Street and Seminary Road, as well as a new ramp from the HOV lanes to the Seminary Road bridge overpass, and a new pedestrian bridge over

These projects are intended to improve the flow of traffic associated with the Mark Center, a federal government building located in that area. The auxiliary lane opened in February with the HOV ramp and the stand-alone pedestrian bridge scheduled to open later this fall.

Other recently "Megaprojects" include the Fairfax County Parkway Extension, linking Springfield to Richmond Highway in southern Fairfax County; the fourth lane widening project, which added an extra lane on I-95 North and South between Springfield and Occoquan; the Telegraph Road interchange on the Capital Beltway in Alexandria; and the 495 Shoulder Lane project on the inner loop of I-495 between the 495 Express Lanes' northern endpoint and the George Washington Memorial Highway.

Similar to the shoulder lane on I-66, this shoulder lane is open during the morning and evening rush hours, with a red "X" or green arrow signaling its availability for travel

In Arlington, just west of I-395, VDOT is putting finishing touches this summer on a new bridge carrying Washington Boulevard over Columbia Pike. This new bridge replaces a 1940's-era bridge, and includes bike and pedestrian access along Columbia Pike plus room for a future streetcar if needed. The bridge was renamed the Freedmans Bridge after the historical "Freedmans Village," a community the Federal government established in 1863 for newly freed slaves, that once occupied this area of Arlington.

VDOT officials are now looking to transform Northern Virginia's Interstate 66 into a multi-modal corridor that moves traffic and people quicker and in a more reliable way.

The project, known as Transform 66, is a multi-modal proposal that will to incorporate transit, carpooling and express lanes.

The project is divided into a 25-mile stretch between Haymarket and the Capital Beltway, and a separate project inside the beltway with a toll option for travel through Falls Church and Arlington.

OPINION

Schools Need Support at All Levels

Tamara Derenak Kaufax LEE DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVE Fairfax County School Board

t is encouraging to read in a recent Connection commentary by Jim Corcoran, president and CEO Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce ("Now Is Time to Unite for Education"), that the chamber is taking seriously the funding crisis facing Fairfax County Public Schools. Mr. Corcoran is absolutely right that K-12 spending at the state level has not kept pace with rising enrollments and costs. In fact, Virginia now ranks in the top 10 nationally in measures of wealth, but in the bottom 10 in support for public schools. Virginia ranks 41st out of 50 states in K-12 funding.

After eight years of painful budget cuts, the deep deficit FCPS faces for FY 2017 - perhaps in the range of $100 million - is certainly due in part to chronic underfunding of public schools at the state level. However, the relative share of state and county contributions to the FCPS operating budget has not changed in that time. The annual transfer from the Fairfax County government to the schools has also not kept pace with growing enrollments and costs. FCPS is spending $1,000 less per child, in real dollars, than in 2008 - the state and county governments share this responsi-

Mr. Corcoran correctly points out that FCPS has received increased funding from the county over the years. It is important to note that during the last eight years, however, enrollment growth and rising costs have outpaced increased revenue by $500 million. In FY 2015, for example, the county increased the transfer to the school system by 3 percent resulting in an increase in revenue of $51.5 million. In that same year, FCPS experienced unavoidable cost increases totaling $78 million: a required increase to the Virginia Retirement System of $38.9 million; health rate increases of $19.9 million; and enrollment growth of $19.5 mil-

To balance the cumulative effects of inadequate budgets since 2008, FCPS has had to raise class size three times and forego regular teacher step increases four times, budget choices that are simply not sustainable. In that time the relative share of county and state funding has not changed, so both funding bodies are responsible for the very challenging position FCPS finds itself in today.

It is past time for school systems, local governments, PTAs, employee associations and businesses throughout Virginia to join forces and hold the General Assembly accountable for its responsibility to fully fund K-12 education in every corner of the Commonwealth. The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce has an opportunity to lead the business community in that fight.

I hope the chamber also takes a leading role in local advocacy for full funding of FCPS for FY 2017 and beyond. As Mr. Corcoran has often said, great public schools are the smartest investment we can make in our local economy. We are stronger together.

Some Recommendations To Improve Law Enforcement

BY CLAIRE GUTHRIE GASTAÑAGA EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ACLU of Virginia

The following open letter was addressed to Michael Hershman, chair of the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission.

e commend the members of the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission for their work to ensure that the Fairfax County Police Department encourages a culture of public trust in law enforcement. As you know, this trust is key to ensuring a safe community.

Ensuring public trust in the FCPD will require a shift in its culture and mindset and the reassertion of civilian authority over the policies that guide policing in the county. At the foundation of this shift are the concepts and values of constitutional policing and respect for the sanctity of human life — concepts and values that should be in the DNA of all law enforcement personnel. As such, these concepts and values should provide the foundation for the Commission's recommendations and should guide all policies and procedures adopted and implemented by the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and the FCPD.

We believe the following recommendations, if implemented, will help achieve the needed shift in the FCPD's culture and mindset. These recommendations, many of which outline policies that the supervisors should adopt as elected officials responsible to the residents they serve, include:

Understanding Policing in a Democratic Society – Law enforcement are the guardians of the U.S. Constitution, thus the FCPD should initiate department-wide training to ensure its personnel understand the mission and role of police in protecting constitutional rights and the sanctity of human life, prioritizing de-escalation, and ensuring a duty to intervene if another officer uses excessive force.

- Emphasizing Mental Health Training Embracing the sanctity of human life requires law enforcement to differentiate between a person who needs mental health care and a criminal offender who poses a serious threat. Training FCPD officers to distinguish between criminal offenders and individuals in need of mental health services will also better ensure that the Fairfax County Adult Detention Center does not also serve as a mental health fa-
- ❖ Establishing a Civilian Review Board The establishment of a civilian review board with investigatory and discipline authority can be an effective tool for enhancing trust between the FCPD and Fairfax residents. It does so by making the FCPD more transparent and accountable to the people.
- Funding and Mandating Police Body Worn Cameras – If, and only if, proper policies and procedures are in place for their use, body cams can be a win-win. They can both protect the public from police misconduct and protect the police from false allegations of abuse.
- ❖ Ending the War on Drugs Drug use is a public health issue, and the Commonwealth, the County Board, and FCPD should implement policies and procedures to deal with it as such. Drug policies must be evidence-based and incorporate prevention, treatment, and public safety elements. The end of the war on drugs deprioritizes enforcement of marijuana possession and includes supervisors' advocacy for decriminalization of possession by the Commonwealth.

- ❖ Mandating Data Collection To ensure that the FCPD is not engaged in racially biased policing, the supervisors should adopt a policy requiring the FCPD to collect, analyze, and publish an annual statistical report covering all FCPD stops, frisks, citations, arrests, and use-of-force incidents.
- ❖ Restricting the Use of SWAT The supervisors should adopt a policy limiting use of SWAT to scenarios in which there is a likelihood that the situation for which the FCPD deploys a SWAT team presents an imminent threat to the lives of civilians and/or police personnel.
- * Reforming Civil Asset Forfeiture Policing should be based on public safety, not supplementing the FCPD's budget. The supervisors should determine as a matter of policy that the FCPD should use asset forfeiture only when: 1) a person has been found guilty of a crime; 2) the convicted person is the owner of the property; and 3) the government has proved by clear and convincing evidence that the owner/offender either used the property in the commission of the crime or received the property as a result of the crime.
- Enhancing Existing Policies, Practices, and Laws Regarding Police-involved Incidents -Law enforcement should focus on de-escalation techniques and ensure that any use of force tool used is the least severe for the situation at hand, including a recognition that some lesslethal force options are less severe than others

While there is no silver bullet to ensuring a safe and effective police force, with restorashould begin with a policing policy that tion of effective civilian oversight the recommendations we have made will help restore public trust by making the FCPD a model for what policing in a democratic society should look like. We urge their adoption.

Carter Murray (left) works with volunteers he organized to shore up trails along the Long Branch Stream Valley public path.

The Path to Eagle

Boy Scouts team up with Friends group to improve public trails.

> BY TIM PETERSON The Connection

n the morning of his service project, Carter Murray of Fairfax realized he'd forgotten a small but vital detail: Food.

It took two months to develop the project: shoring up sunken, well-worn trails of the Long Branch Stream Valley with special gravel provided by the Fairfax County Park Authority. Murray had to get the plans approved by the leadership of his Burke-based Boy Scout Troop 1965, the Boy Scouts of America Patriot District representative, as well as the

"I had to make sure all the aspects were covered," he said. "I didn't plan for lunch.'

At 7:30 a.m. on Aug. 22, the rising W.T. Woodson High School senior compiled a shopping list and "hit the Giant" grocery store. By the time volunteers arrived for a 9 a.m. kickoff at the Woodland Way entrance to the trail, he and his mother Aimee Murray had all the necessary supplies ready to feed the work force.

"He learned a lot in the last 24 hours," said Aimee, whose family moved to the area a year and a half ago. The day before the project was complicated by a Woodson football practice which was postponed and extended into the evening. Carter lined up as an inside slot wide receiver in the Cavaliers' spread offense.

Though her son had maturely made arrangements with the Friends of Long Branch Stream Dennis Hosken (left) of Springfield and Casey French (right) of Burke are members of Burke-based Boy Scout Troop 1965. They helped spread gravel to improve the trail that's part of the Long Branch Stream Valley path.

Valley nonprofit service organization and local civic and homeowners associations to drum up manpower, seeing it all pull together was still an experience.

"It's been great," Carter said.

"I'm really impressed with the community," Aimee said, "and the amount of people who came from different areas and said, 'We're here to help.' And all the people out on the trail on bikes and walking who've said thanks, or said where there's another low spot."

Alex Buchanan, of Annandale, was among local residents who came out to help with the project. His mother heard about it through the Stone Haven Civic Association, one of several Carter contacted. "We use the trail a lot," Buchanan

When the Eagle Scout-hopeful was trying to conceive of a service project, one of the requirements to obtain the highest full rank in Boy Scouts, he got connected with Scott Thaxton of Annadale. Thaxton is vice president of the Friends of Long Branch Stream Valley, a nonprofit organization like several others in the area dedicated to maintaining and cleaning specific public trails, streams and the surrounding environment.

"We help support what the Park Authority can't do, be a stopgap for them," said Thaxton, who suggested the trail maintenance idea to Murray. Earlier this summer the Friends group received the Best of Braddock award for Club or Organization Making a Difference.

"They'll dump the gravel," Murray said, "but they have no manpower to spread the trail and maintain it." The volunteers Murray organized worked on several stretches of trail, roughly 200 feet each.

Richard Russell of Burke is the assistant scoutmaster for Troop 1965. "You'll be able to notice there's a trail now with this," he said. "It's an exciting, good project, and lots of exercise.'

Younger scouts from Troop 1965 Dennis Hosken of Springfield and Casey French of Burke were also part of the effort. "We're here for the service hours towards a rank," Hosken said while the pair used rakes to spread gravel, "and to help with the community too."

Roman Lowery, seen during the 2014 season, is one of three Robinson starting running backs whose listed weight is at least 200 pounds.

Robinson Football to Lean on Physical Running Back Trio

Vossler returns for second

By Jon Roetman The Connection

njuries and the rigors of a Conference 5 schedule derailed a promising start to Scott Vossler's head-coaching career.

Vossler became the Robinson football program's third head coach in as many years and fourth in five seasons in 2014. He led the Rams to six straight victories to open the campaign, including a 19-17 win over rival Lake Braddock on the Bruins' home field. But as schedule difficulty increased and injuries took a toll, the Rams closed the regular season with a four-game losing streak before ending the year with a 50-23 loss to South County in the opening round of the 6A North region playoffs.

Nine months later, Vossler is back as Robinson head coach — the first time since 2012 a Rams head coach returned for a second season.

"Coach Vossler is just a great coach to be around," rising senior running back Dajon Lee said. "[He] coaches well; [he] takes care of us [and] that's why I like him even better. It was a great transition [when he was hired]. They picked a great head coach."

Vossler said he learned from his inaugural season as Robinson head coach. And thanks in part to a trio of big, sturdy running backs, he is hopeful the Rams will be the ones dishing out physical punishment in 2015, rather than succumbing to it.

Rising seniors Lee (6 feet 2, 220 pounds) and Sean Foncha (5-11, 205) and rising junior Roman Lowery (6-0, 205) have the size and ability to accumulate rushing yards while wearing down a defense. Lee and Lowery are halfbacks in Robinson's wing-T offense and Foncha is a fullback.

"They're all big, strong boys and they're not slow," Vossler said. "We really think that's going to be an asset for us. We think we can run them at people and hopefully this year we can put some damage on the defense instead of our backs getting dinged up. season as Rams head coach. We think that's the strength of our offense. We feel good about our offensive line, but with those three horses in the backfield, we feel like we should be able to go toe-to-toe with people."

> Helping set a physical tone are returning offensive linemen Nick Bernacchi (6-3, 265), Lars Stevenson (6-1, 200) and Mason Velasquez (6-2, 225). Bernacchi, a rising junior, is the Rams' right tackle. Stevenson, a rising senior, is the left guard. Velasquez, a rising senior, has moved to tight end. Rising senior Wes Richmond (6-1, 185) is a pass-catching tight end.

> Rising junior quarterback Alex Miller (6-0, 185), who started Robinson's final five games last season, is the likely starter this year. Rising junior Matt Oakley (6-0, 185), a starter in the secondary, could also see time at quarterback.

> On defense, the Rams will run a base 3-4 scheme. Donnie Warter (5-11, 185) is Robinson's top returning linebacker. The rising junior makes the move from outside backer to inside.

> "Warter's been fantastic throughout the summer and early in camp," Vossler said. "He was a great player for us last year as a sophomore. ... He's making plays all over the field."

> Warter said he feels more confident on the field. "Last year, I was a little unsure about myself," he said, "so this year I have more confidence and more knowledge about the varsity level."

> Rising senior defensive end Ieuan Israel (6-1, 220) figures to be a difference-maker on the line.

> Robinson faces a daunting 2015 schedule that includes eight opponents that qualified for the 2014 postseason, seven of which won at least one playoff game. The Rams will open on the road against West Springfield at 7 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 4. Robinson's first home game is Sept. 11 against Woodson.

> "We feel like we're several weeks ahead of where we were at this time last year," Vossler said, "just because It's our second year going through and we just think we're a lot better at it."

During fish relocation, workers discovered invasive Grass Harp fish and Gizzard Shad, a species not normally found in lakes.

Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) visiting the Children's Science Center Lab: "A fantastic museum."

Springfield Supervisor's Top Five Places

Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) recommends top places to visit in his district.

here are so many quality places to visit in the Springfield District, it is hard to pick five. Here is my attempt:

1. Burke Lake Park: Burke Lake Park is the most visited park in Fairfax County's Park system, and after going there you will see why. The park contains a trail that goes around the lake and is great for walking (with or without your dog), running and cycling. There is also fishing, boat rentals, camping, disc golf, mini-golf, an 18 hole golf course, a driving range, volleyball courts and a miniature train ride. There's something for everyone.

2. Clifton: Clifton is a beautiful town that feels like you're a million miles from the hustle and bustle of Fairfax County. It is tucked away in the southwestern portion of the Springfield district. There are regular events such as Clifton Day, the Labor Day Car Show and the Clifton Wine Festival that attract visitors from all over Northern Virginia, but I personally like going there when it feels like I can have the whole place to myself and I can enjoy the excellent restaurants there and get a "Pat Herrity Root Beer Float" from Peterson's Ice Cream to finish the day.

3. Friday Night Lights: The Springfield District has some of the best high schools both academically and athletically in the country. As a West Springfield High School alumnus there's few things I enjoy more than getting to a football game in the fall where there's a buzz in the air and a little snap of cold from the changing seasons. So cheer on your local high school team at West Springfield, Lake Braddock, Fairfax, Chantilly, South County, Robinson or Centreville (nationally ranked in 2015).

4. WSHS Job Fair: On March 12, 2016, I will be hosting a job fair for teens and recent graduates at West Springfield High School. The last one I hosted was a great success with over 35 local companies looking for employees. Many students got jobs right at the job fair, and others were given opportunities to interview at a company. This is a great way to connect our youngsters with our business community, so if your child is looking for full time or part time employment mark your calendar for March 12 and sign up to my email list where I will publish more details by emailing springfield@fairfaxcounty.gov. I am planning a second job fair in the western part

5. The Children's Science Center Lab: The newly opened Children's Science Center Lab in Fair Oaks Mall is a fantastic museum that allows children (and their parents) to get hands on experience with STEM concepts (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math). Education is so important, and this museum which is designed for kids between 2 and 12 years old does an excellent job of challenging and shaping young minds. Be sure to stay and shop and/or eat at one of the best malls in the area.

INSIDER TIPS FOR NEWCOMERS

Your favorite events, places in Clifton?

PHOTOS BY TABITHA TIMM/THE CONNECTION

Sarah Heaton, student at George Mason University, resident for 17 years:

"Halloween is my favorite holiday. I used to love going door-to-door collecting candy and then counting it all at the end of the night with my friends. However, this activity wasn't nearly as fun as what would come next: The Haunted Trail. The Haunted Trail in Clifton takes place at Buckley Park, it turns an ordinary field into a scary and creepy walkthrough, where terrifying creatures and characters will put on a show, and even follow you through the path. The community works very hard to put on a show—you won't want to miss it."

Catherine Timm, administrative patent judge, resident for 17 years:

"My favorite place in Clifton to eat is the Villagio. It's Italian food – they serve very nice salads and small plates. They have a beautiful outdoor seating area with umbrellas and a waterfall, it's very relaxing."

"One of the reasons you want to come is it's a national historic district and it's a turn of the century railroad town. But, it's living history - you can come and see a national historic district, but it's alive. You can get coffee, you can go to a pub, you can get cupcakes, get brick oven pizza, go to the shops, other restaurants, bars, ice cream, it's all there. That's what makes it such a great place."

Phyllis Lovett, works for Fairfax County Public Schools, resident for 23 years:

"I think people would enjoy coming because what's interesting about the town of Clifton, besides the history, is that there are a lot of businesses in town; we have restaurants, shops, and all sorts of businesses. And a lot of the people that own the businesses actually live in the town of Clifton; you can learn a lot about the color of the community by talking to the owners who are also residents."

Margo Khosravi, works at the Clifton General Store, resident for 40 years:

"The Main Street Pub is one of my favorite places for the wonderful ambiance and the music on Wednesday nights and because they feed me so well. My other favorite thing is just wandering around the woods and the trails, like our Eight-Acre Park in Clifton, looking for wildlife and walking my dogs."

Father Michael Weaver, Rector

The Church of the Ascension is a parish of the Diocese of the Mid-Atlantic States of the Anglican Catholic Church. Our mission is to bring the Word of God and the seven sacraments: Baptism, Holy Communion, Confirmation, Penance, Unction, Marriage and Holy Orders to our neighborhood and to offer the Gospel of the forgiveness of sins through Jesus Christ. We are a Bible-believing local church that worships the Lord in the beauty of holiness using the King James (Authorized) Version of the Bible (with Apocrypha), the 1928 Book of Common Prayer, and the 1940 Hymnal. Our building, built in 1854, is also known as the Old Stone Church. It is a beautiful and historic place of worship that has served many throughout its eventful existence. Burnette Scarboro for School Board

Hello,

My name is Burnette Scarboro and I am seeking an at-large seat on the Fairfax County School Board in November. I am running because the school board needs new members who have been embedded in the FCPS education system through parenting, employment and citizenry. I am that person.

Further, I am an advocate for public education and have three children who are examples of the success of Fairfax County Public Schools educational system. All three are college graduates and they each credit their success to parental involvement and engagement; and, excellence in instruction and curriculum.

Gunston Hall: Lorton

Virginia is a state prominently known for its rich American history. About 240 years ago, in the lands that are now filled with suburban houses, cities and highways, was a place in which the founding fathers discovered ways to run a country. To appreciate this unique time period, people from all over the world travel to the homes of James Madison, George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. However, many people often forget the home of George Mason, a man who played a significant role in the creation of America's democracy. Gunston Hall is the 18th century plantation home of George Mason, located in Lorton.

"It [Gunston Hall] has so much to offer," said tour guide, Dawn Callaway.

"You learn about architecture, agriculture and history."

Gunston Hall provides a variety of museum programs and tours that exemplify the beauty of colonial architecture and display a typical day in colonial America. It is located 20 miles south of Washington, D.C. on the Potomac River at 10709 Gunston Road, Mason Neck, and is open from 9:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily. Don't miss out on the opportunity to see an incredible piece of history. For more information on programs and events, visit www.gunstonhall.org.

Workhouse Arts Center: Lorton

After years of living in an unsanitary and overcrowded prison, D.C. prisoners gained hope for a better life as they transferred to the Workhouse building in the 20th century. The new prison taught prisoners skills such as making bricks, blacksmithing and agricultural work. The labor was eventually supposed to help prisoners become self-sufficient and healthy as they enter back into the real world. Opportunities at the Workhouse still exist today. However not for prisoners. In 2002, the building and 2324 acres was sold to Fairfax County. Later that year, the Lorton Arts Foundation established the building as a cultural arts center.

Today, hundreds of events, programs and classes are offered at what is now called the Workhouse Arts Center, located in Lorton. Every Saturday at 7 p.m., families go to enjoy live music, delicious food and beautiful artwork. Dance, yoga, Pilates, and various forms of art classes are offered as well at the Workhouse Arts Center. For more information on programs, events, and classes visit http:// www.workhousearts.org/. The Workhouse Arts Center is located in 9518 Workhouse Way, Lorton.

Mason Neck State Park: Lorton

In 1969, an audacious young woman named Elizabeth Hartwell showed men and women all over the country that a housewife can make a tremendous difference. One day, as Hartwell was exploring the land, which is now known as Mason Neck

State Park, she spotted an eagle's nest in a tree and found it to be quite interesting. Unfortunately, she had also found out that the government had planned to build a community and airport in that same area. Through diligent advocacy and dedication, Hartwell managed to prove to the government that the land was necessary for eagle nesting and feeding. As a result, the Mason Neck State Park became the first eagle preservation park in America and encouraged other states to take action as well.

Now it stands as an educational program facility for kids all ages and a stable environment for eagles and other wildlife. Family and friends also visit the park to experience boating and hiking adventures. For more information on the various programs, summer camps, and events at Mason Neck State Park, visit http://www.fws.gov/refuge/mason neck/. It is located in High Point Road, Lorton.

Town of Clifton

Not only is it the home to 294 people in the southwest of Virginia, but the Town of Clifton also remains a great piece of history. During the civil war, two engagements between the Union army and the Confederate army took place at Sangster's station, a train station located about one mile from the town. Almost every house in the area also holds a unique piece of history. As you walk around from house to house, signs are kept outside that describe who built it, what it was built for and the architectural purpose behind it. The Town of Clifton is also known for its quaint and picturesque looks. Adults enjoy visiting the old-fashioned antique and wine shops, while kids usually go to visit the famous Peterson's Ice Cream shop. The Town of Clifton is located in Main Street, Clifton.
