AREA ROUNDUPS

One Dead, $100,000 in Damage from Fairfax Station House Fire

An unnamed elderly woman died after she sustained injuries from a house fire on Sylvan Glen Lane in Fairfax Station. The fire took place early in the morning on Saturday, Nov. 21. Firefighting units responded around 4:25 a.m. Fire investigators believe the fire was accidental and resulted from an electric heating pad in the single-story home's family room. During the fire, a hallway smoke alarm failed to activate, the Fairfax County Fire Department said in a release. Firefighters contained the blaze to the family room and extinguished it, then rescued the elderly woman as well as a dog. The woman died after she was transported to Inova Fairfax Hospital.

Though the fire didn't spread beyond the one room, damage to the home is estimated to be $100,000.

Accotink Unitarian Universalist Church, 10125 Lakehaven Court in Burke.

Guests: Del. Dave Albo (R-)42 and Del. Rip Sullivan (D-48).

Offered as a Service by The Accotink Unitarian Universalist Church and The Unitarian Universalist Legislative Ministry of Virginia.

The forum provides the public an opportunity to discuss many sides of issues important to the communities in a spirit of respect and service and to learn from two Virginia delegates about legislation that is likely to come up before the Virginia House of Delegates in the January 2016 legislative session.

Refreshments will be provided during and after the program

Child care at no cost will be provided, but reservations requested (703-503-4579).

"The Conway Forum" is named for Rev. Moncure Daniel Conway. Born in 1832 to a slaveholding family, Moncure Conway was inspired by divine reflection to reject slavery.

He gave up his family fortune and a chance to be among the ruling class of Stafford County, Va., choosing instead to serve the world as a Unitarian Minister and Abolitionist. Conway famously whisked 30 former slaves out of Baltimore during a Civil War era race riot and set them up on a farm in Ohio at his own expense.

Jennifer Weiner’s wristband read 11,188 steps. That’s how many it took the Springfield resident to complete the 3.7-mile Burke CROP Hunger Walk on Nov. 22. Weiner is Rabbi Educator for Congregation Adat Reyim, which sent more than a dozen volunteers to the fundraiser for the 14th straight year.

The Jewish congregation was one of more than two dozen faith organizations from around Fairfax County supplying roughly 250 walkers in total.

The route started at Living Savior Lutheran Church in Fairfax Station. Walkers then trekked north along Ox Road with traffic assistance from Fairfax County Police officers out of the West Springfield precinct station, took a water break at One God Ministry in Fairfax (where they were handed off to Fairfax City Police for escorts) and ended at Fairfax Presbyterian Church.

NOW IN ITS 23RD YEAR, the walk raised money for international support agency Church World Service, as well as donations for ECHO, the Springfield-based Ecumenical Community Helping Others outreach organization. Last year, the walk raised more than $38,000, according to organizer Janet Smith of West Springfield.

Smith has organized the Burke CROP Hunger Walk for the last 20 years and is a member of Burke Presbyterian Church, which turned out roughly 40 members. Smith said they were shooting for $40,000 in donations this year, 25 percent of which will stay local while the rest goes to Church World Service.

Rev. Scott Sammler-Michael of Accotink Unitarian Universalist Church in Burke acknowledges the walkers about to participate in the 23rd annual Burke CROP Hunger Walk on Nov. 22.

“They do amazing work getting people to be self-sustaining,” Smith said.

“All the people walking realize how blessed we are to have so much,” she added. “It’s great to see the community come together like this.” The first year Smith worked on the walk, there were eight churches involved and they raised just $1,000.

Rev. Scott Sammler-Michael of Accotink Unitarian Universalist Church in Burke kicked off the walk with reminders that the 3.7 miles of the walk is the average distance women in parts of Africa must travel to collect water — a four-hour journey that includes about 44 pounds of water on the return trip.

He also noted that hunger is not a distant problem, adding that there are 73,000 people living in poverty in Fairfax County — food insecure households with limited access to safe water.

“All the numbers have a face attached,” Sammler-Michael said, “people like those we love. There has been a reduction in hunger since 1990. Your donations and witness are part of that good news. What we do is no small deed.”

Another objective of the walk is uniting various faith organizations in the community. Jarrett McLaughlin, co-pastor of Burke Presbyterian Church, invited friends and leaders of Ezher Bloom Mosque in Fairfax to join.

“This is a great interfaith community event,” McLaughlin said. “It’s bringing us together for a common good, we need more of that in this world.”

Bilal Ankaya is the Imam at Ezher Bloom and a leader with the Institute of Islamic and Turkish Studies. “It’s our first time walking,” Ankaya said. “It feels great and it’s a good cause, ending hunger. This is the least we could do.”

Rev. Patrick Walker, Senior Community Engagement specialist with Church World Service, said there are 1,300 such walks taking place nationwide. CROP walks are the oldest national walk for hunger in the United States, beginning in 1969.

“Thank you for all you do,” he told the walkers as they warmed themselves and ate snacks at the finish line, Fairfax Presbyterian Church. “You are saving lives.”

DR. MARY SAMBA of Springfield, representing Lorton-based Future Children International, completed the walk with her grandchildren Amirah and Amare Acheampong. With their members hailing from Sierra Leone, Liberia and Guinea, they’ve seen chronic hunger firsthand in Africa. “We just want to help out,” she said.

Samba said four-year-old grandson fully comprehended the mission of the event and refused to ride in his stroller. “I want to walk for hunger,” she said the boy told her. “He wanted to reach the finish line.”

THANKFUL FOR ADOPTION

Consider adopting a child from foster care. In Virginia, there are more than 860 children waiting and hoping to be adopted. Many of those children are listed on the Adopt US Kids website which you can find at: adoptuskids.org/states/va/index.aspx

Creating Families with Adoption

Adoptive parents described: 'Grateful. Generous. Awesome.'

BY JOAN BRADY

November is National Adoption Awareness Month. With that in mind, meet two families expanded through adoption; two families whose kids describe their family as "awesome."

The Hagens of Vienna are a family of two parents, Kelly and Scott; three boys, two adopted and one biological; and two family dogs. Appreciative is the word that comes to mind listening to the Hagens talk about their family.

Lewis, 17, describes family priorities. "Somehow we find time to do stuff together. Like eating dinner. I've heard some families don't do that. That's very sad to me."

Spencer, 16, talks of how his brother, James, influences his life. "I know there are a lot of experiences that I get to have because James is so outgoing."

James, 11, appreciates time spent with his dad. "I like working outside with my dad. And, I like that he pays me for it."

Lewis loves having brothers. "You have people who are always there. I play Xbox with them. We talk. We listen to music. It's like having friends that are always there AND they are family." Would be different with sisters? Spencer says, "Well, they would probably make it all about them."

For parents Kelly and Scott Hagen, appreciation extends outside of their immediate family. "We have a lot of special issues in our family and that has made us more open minded about people," says Kelly. "We make fewer assumptions and we listen more."

Meet the Connelly Family

The Connelys have an immediate family that includes two parents, five sons — two biological, two adopted from Fairfax County foster care, and one foster son — and two cats. They hope to add a therapy dog in the next few months.

Jackson, 8, likes the commotion that a large family brings. "I like having brothers. It's interesting living with a lot of people. It's very loud, which means I'm never bored and I learn a lot about how to be nice."

Anthony, 17, has a deep appreciation for his parents, "Not every family would take in so many kids and do so much for them. My parents make sure to keep things fair and show us a lot of love."

Ben, 15, recognizes all that it means to be a family, "If you are looking for a family, you will find everything and more from the family right here. We are everything you would expect; the good and the bad. We are a real family."

Hunter, also 15, might complain about the noise, and apparently does, all of the time, but he wouldn't change a thing, "When we are at home and I'm trying to get work done and everyone's doing their thing around my area, it drives me crazy. But I wouldn't trade them in for peace and quiet."

Scott and Megan Connelly have been foster parents to many kids over the years. According to Scott, the "spectacular" success of the foster children they have had over the years, many now grown, as well as the success of their biological and adopted boys is simple. "We make sure they know that we love them, unconditionally, and that we are going to hold them accountable. It takes a few weeks, but then they settle right in."

Megan adds: "One of the things that helps makes our household work is that the kids are flexible and giving. Each time we have added someone new into the mix, they follow the example set and pretty quickly, it's like they were always there."

Nicholas, the Connely's 10-year-old foster son describes his foster parents this way: "They are grateful. They are generous. They are awesome."

Megan Connelly is one of 12 kids, 10 of whom were adopted. Megan says that with their current four, they are only just getting started.

Adame, an energetic 6-year-old boy has a big smile and big heart to match. Keeping Adame engaged will help him remain on task and minimize anxiety for him. A two-parent household, with one parent primarily in the home available to attend to Adame's needs would be ideal, Adame is resilient and would thrive in an adoptive family of his own.

Tim, an active 16-year-old, loves to keep busy. His favorite thing to do is go fishing. He would like a family who is active and loving. He gets along well with young children and has a good sense of humor. He hopes to one day attend a trade school to become a plumber because he feels this would be a great way to become financially stable.

Damon, a kind and thoughtful 14-year-old young man enjoys eating out, watching movies and going to the park. He has discovered rock-collecting and can identify many different kinds of rocks. Damon likes school; he is energetic and loves sports, especially basketball, rollerblading and riding his bike.

Summer, a 15-year-old young lady enjoys hiking and biking outdoors, and loves music and reading. She is self-taught on piano and guitar and can play songs by ear. She would like a family that has a love for music and enjoys being active in the community.

All 860

BY JOAN BRADY

Parental rights terminated. Available for adoption. Floundering in an imperfect system. These words describe many children who are currently living in foster care in Virginia. In Fairfax County, these four children are hoping that this will be the last Thanksgiving spent in foster homes.

Gov. Terry McAuliffe wants those children who are currently available for adoption, adopted into loving homes, and he isn't messing around.

"Let's make it a goal — all of us in this room — that one year from today all 860 of these children will be adopted," McAuliffe recently charged a room full of adoption and foster care professionals at the Connecting Hearts Summit.

Focusing on Virginia is a good start. More than 26,000 young people across the United States age out of foster care each year to futures more likely to include homelessness and hunger than jobs and careers that will pay the bills. All of those young people were once children like the 108,000 currently languishing in foster care. Children who hoped, in vain, that someone would come forward and choose them for adoption.

In 2014, McAuliffe elevated the priority of foster care adoption by appointing Debbie Johnson as Virginia's Adoption Champion. An adoptee herself, one of her achievements to-date has been to create Connection Hearts. www.connectingheartsva.org. With Ericca Facetti at the helm, Connecting Hearts works with the Virginia Department of Social Services, local departments of social services as well as local businesses to engage and educate the public about children in foster care who are waiting for adoptive families.

One of Ericca's immediate goals is to get as many of those children as appropriate included in the Adoptuskids/Virginia listings. Currently, of the 860, just 180 are listed. www.adoptuskids.org/states/va/index.aspx

According to the Metropolitan Council of Governments (COG), there are 259 children in the DC metro area waiting for adoptive homes. Child Welfare Program Manager, Kamilah Bunn, works tirelessly to bring visibility to foster care adoption in our region. COG's adoption efforts include Wednesday's Child, The PicMe Project, Regional Adoption Events and the Regional Adoption Exchange.

Many children have no problem advocating for themselves. Perhaps one of the more memorable self-advocates was a 10-year old twin, who grabbed his brother, hopped on a stage in downtown DC, grabbed a mic and belted out to the cheering crowd, "WE NEED A FAMILY." Other children are not so forthcoming; They are embarrassed by circumstances that are no fault of their own. They have been disappointed by adults who have said they loved them, but who then turned away. They fear further rejection.

Social workers and other professionals like Kamilah Bunn and Ericca Facetti all work together to protect each child, as they work tirelessly to match children successfully with a small pool of potential adoptive families.

Celebrate, Shop, Dine Locally

Every day can be “small business day.”

There is a joy to participating in community traditions and celebrations during the holidays, from walking along a sidewalk with the streets decked out for the holidays, to shopping in local stores, to being greeted by someone likely to be the owner of the store, to finding gifts that are not mass-produced.

One way to be sure holiday shopping comes with some holiday spirit is to do a portion of your shopping in some of the area's locally owned stores. There is special holiday ambiance available by shopping in the heart of a town that is decked out for the season. Small retail shops are part of defining any community. Their livelihood depends on the livability and quality of the neighborhoods around them. A small business owner pays attention to every detail in his or her business in a way that is otherwise unmatched.

We all benefit when local stores thrive, when local business districts beckon. An effort to support locally owned businesses has resulted in the recognition of Small Business Saturday, the Saturday after Thanksgiving, also called Shop Small. This year that day is Nov. 28.

Locally owned retail shops, services, restaurants depend on vibrant local communities to thrive, and communities depend on those businesses as well. Most small, locally owned businesses invest in community, helping to transform our towns and communities with a sense of place.

Frequently, it is the small retail person who is active in fundraising for local charities, advocating for improvements, for fire and rescue service, for local schools and in organizing holiday events.

Local retail stores, mom-and-pop stores, face tough challenges right now. Competition from big box stores and online sellers makes the holiday shopping season all the more important to locally owned retailers. But local families will literally spend millions of dollars to shop and exchange gifts during the next month in a variety of places.

Everyone will do some of their shopping at the mall. Everyone will shop online. Many will answer the call of the big box. But local shoppers should be sure to do some celebrating, shopping and dining locally. We promise it brings more joy.

The Challenge of Ending Homelessness

BY MARGI PRESTON
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
FACETS

Sometimes it takes a challenge to make progress. That's what happened here in Fairfax when leaders of six nonprofits serving those who are homeless decided to push themselves to do more.

With the second largest homeless population in the region, homelessness is a real problem in the Fairfax County-Falls Church community. A majority of the people who are homeless are in working families with children. Throughout the year, FACETS works in partnership with Fairfax's Office to Prevent and End Homelessness and other nonprofits to bring our community closer to a day when no one is homeless through a variety of effective programs. And in the summer of 2014, we decided to do even more by teaming up with five other local nonprofits to motivate ourselves to reach new records in moving people from homelessness to housing.

Our power team — FACETS, New Hope

COMMENTARY

Housing, Cornerstones, Shelter House, NVFS and Volunteers of America-Chesapeake — kicked off a year-long Fairfax County Housing Challenge. The challenge was modeled after the successful Rapid Rehousing Challenge, which was organized by the National Alliance to End Homelessness to motivate nonprofits statewide to rapidly re-house as many families as possible within 100 days.

Rapid re-housing is a proven and cost-effective strategy used by communities across the country to reduce homelessness. It involves helping households move into housing as quickly as possible after they enter the shelter system. Families and individuals are housed in market-rate apartments or houses in the community, and receive rental subsidies and/or services that are tailored to their specific needs, including a caseworker to help ease the transition.

Our housing challenge showed the real benefits of collaboration. Together we set and met quarterly ambitious goals to find homes for

Children's Connection

During the last week of each year, The Connection devotes its entire issue to the creativity of local students and children. It is a keepsake edition for many families. The annual Children's Connection is a tradition of well over a decade.

We publish artwork, poetry, essays, creative writing, opinion pieces, short stories, photography, photos of sculpture or gardens or other creative efforts.

We ask that all submissions be digital so they can be sent through email or delivered on CD or flash drive. Writing should be submitted in rich text format (.rtf). Artwork should be photographed or scanned and provided in jpeg format.

We welcome contributions from public and private schools, individuals and homeschoolers. To be published, we must have first and last name of the student. Please include the student's age and/or grade, school attended and town of residence.

Identify each piece of writing or art, including the student's full name, age, grade and town of residence, plus the name of the school, name of teacher and town of school location. Please provide submissions by Friday, Dec. 4.

Email submissions for the Children's Connection to ChildrensSouth@connectionnewspapers.com. Subject line should be school name, town and teacher's last name (e.g. Westgate ES, McLean, Card).

even more people who were unstably housed and homeless. We brainstormed and found new ways to get people out of homelessness and into safe and secure housing. And it worked. At the end of the challenge, nearly 500 single adults and more than 220 families now have a home of their own and services to help them remain housed.

As important as it is to get people into housing right away so they can start the transition back to a stable life, we all recognize that preventing homelessness is the top priority. Like our nonprofit partners, FACETS relies on help from volunteers and partnerships with the faith and business communities to prevent homelessness throughout Fairfax County by offering a full spectrum of services, such as basic needs and financial assistance, career counseling and outreach, educational enrichment programs, and permanent housing.

With the cold temperatures approaching, we have begun to gear up for our Hypothermia Prevention and Response Program. Through a partnership with over 40 faith communities, this program enables FACETS to offer refuge from the bitter cold to over 200 individuals in our community who are homeless each year. The success of the Fairfax Housing Challenge has inspired us to remain motivated in helping even more people come in from the cold this winter and ideally keep more from ever having to experience the cold at all. We are up for the challenge ... and I know our community partners are too. That's a win for the whole community. To learn more, visit us at www.FacetsCares.org.

“HIV, my life revolves around the people I love. Not around you.” – Chris

Living with HIV since 2010.

Diagnosed as a young college student, my first fears were of rejection and death. But, I was wrong about both. Instead of rejecting me, my grandmother immediately began to learn about the disease. She helped me see that, with HIV meds, I could live a long, healthy life. Now that I understand what it takes to live well with HIV, I take care of myself so I can spend time with the people who matter most.

Children’s Classic Comes to Life, and the Story Behind the Madness is Revealed ...

By Abby Mills and Marlene Mika
For The Connection

Have you ever had a dream so whimsical that it swept you away to another world? A young girl named Alice has, and we invite you to see her adventures come to life in Sovereign Grace Church (SGC) Youth Drama’s production of “Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland... and the story behind the Madness!”

It’s been 150 years since Charles Lutwidge Dodgson – or, perhaps you know him by his pen name Lewis Carroll – published “Alice’s Adventures in Wonderland.” We thought, what better way to commemorate this beloved children’s tale than to transcribe the original text into a play that tells the whole tale, and also breaks the “fourth wall” by telling the story behind the madness.

“Few plays allow actors to let loose and be crazy ... this is one of those plays!” said high school senior William Mills, who plays the Mad Hatter and Mr. Dodgson. Senior Jared Okada, who plays the Mouse and Bill the Lizard, said “I love... being able to step into the lives of [others] ... experiencing their realities.” What a dreamy reality these creatures have. Hannah Black, the Queen, said “I’m very excited to be able to play such a fantastic character ... experimenting with how I say my lines and how I want the Queen to be portrayed is a really fun experience!”

In this, eighth season, the young cast has stepped up to collaborate on everything from sound effects to stage movement, costuming to choreography. “All has to be completed and perfected in a few short months,” said Okada. Leah James, the White Rabbit and Caterpillar easily summed up the entire process in these three words, “It’s organized chaos!” It is also truly a community theatre, thanks to friends of the cast who’ve come in to lend their talents to the production. A portion of the proceeds from this play will go to an orphanage school that many of the cast families have been involved with for several years.

We all, at some time, are “looking for a wonderful adventure,” said Sophie Bricker, who plays the part of Alice. So bring your family and let’s go on an adventure together on Dec. 3 and 4 at 7 p.m., and Dec. 5 at 1

Quiet Riot: ‘C’mon Feel the Noise’ County passes new noise ordinance, will revisit effectiveness in 18 months.

By Ken Moore
The Connection

The Board of Supervisors is at peace with the county’s new Noise Ordinance.

“Believe it or not, that passes,” said Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova.

On the Nov. 17 meeting of the Board of Supervisors, the Board adopted a new Noise Ordinance. The new ordinance becomes effective on Feb. 17, 2016.

“There were times during this process that I thought we would never get to this point. Let me tell you, there are competing needs, issues all over the place as to what is too noisy, what is not noisy, about what is needed and what is not,” she said.

In June, the Board had deferred action on the proposed changes to the county’s noise ordinance in June until Nov. 17.

“It was a very productive evolution through five cycles of revisions,” said Supervisor John Foust (D-Dranesville). “We negotiated this thing for so long.”

“We’re not totally where I want to be, but this is a significantly improved product and something I can vote for,” he said.

Supervisor Michael Frey (R-Sully) spearheaded the Board’s efforts and thanked county staff. “They’ve managed to grasp the things we were trying to codify,” said Frey.

The Board delayed the effective date of implementation of the new ordinance to February in order to provide time for staff training, to update County websites, and to assist staff in understanding the new regulations, according to county documents.

The Board will revisit the impact of the noise ordinance and its effectiveness in 18 months to determine what might need to be tweaked for the long run.

“I’m not happy with everything that is in here, but at this point I’m prepared to support it, but appreciate that we can revisit it,” said Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield).

Supervisor Jeff McKay (D-Lee District) says the outcome makes the ordinance much easier to enforce.

“This turned into something entirely different from where it started. I also agree that this wasn’t intended to address every noise issue,” said McKay, “but at the end of the day it makes for better enforcement and makes it a lot more clear which made the noise ordinance difficult to enforce.”

OVERALL GOALS of the proposed Noise Ordinance is to recognize that there will always be certain levels of noise that occur in the normal course of daily living; to allow certain levels of daytime noise so that people can live, work and play during the day; and to minimize noise at night so residents have an appropriate quiet environment in their homes at night.

More than 30 speakers testified at a public hearing last May on the noise ordinance.

“When babies cannot sleep, when the elderly cannot rest, when a voice teacher cannot instruct, when a family cannot share a meal together on their patio, when a homeowner has to close her windows and move to another part of the house just to make a telephone call, when a cancer patient cannot recuperate and rest in her yard because music is amplified in the neighborhood at intrusive levels, then we know something is not right with life in Fairfax County,” said Joyce Harris of McLean.

Sheila Casey, of Reston, said she can hear mowers on a nearby golf course before dawn with maintenance crews sometimes using headlights on lawnmowers before 5 a.m. “All I know is when those lawn mowers are running, I can turn on my air conditioning, I can put in my earplugs, and I still hear the noise,” she said.

Other speakers included: Greg Budnik who discussed helicopter noise from training runs at Fort Belvoir; Mark Grove of Fairfax whose wife was recuperating from cancer treatment and had to contend with music from a supermarket across the street that had permits to play music until 11 p.m.; Keith Elgin, worship director of Vine Church in Dunn Loring, who wants to create events such as outdoor movies and concerts during the summer months; to neighbors in Reston who say they can not get relief from noise of nearby dog parks; to those who take their dogs to dog parks to spare neighbors from noise.

AMPLIFIED MUSIC from loudspeakers at schools during athletic practices and pregame festivities took center stage.

Fairfax County Public Schools will replace loudspeakers at McLean High School with regulators to ensure that they are properly calibrated.

The school system is finalizing regulatory guidelines so athletic directors know exactly what needs to be done to keep harmony with neighborhoods in proximity with the schools.

“That’s a big deal, and let’s make sure when that agreement is formally adopted that we keep it with our noise ordinance,” said Bulova.

Other topics of major concern addressed dog parks, trash pickups from commercial shopping centers next to neighborhoods, and lawn maintenance.

Fairfax and other Virginia governments had to rewrite their noise ordinance as a result of a Virginia Supreme Court decision overturning the ordinance in Virginia Beach, according to county documents.

South County to Host Robinson in 6A North Semifinals

Q&A: RB Ramsey enjoys father's gumbo on Thanksgiving.

The South County football team remained undefeated and secured a spot in the 6A North region final four thanks in part to another big night from senior running back DeMarcus Ramsey.

Ramsey carried 30 times for 155 yards and two touchdowns, according to stats on maxpreps.com, helping the top-seed Stallions defeat No. 9 West Potomac 42-9 in the region quarterfinals on Nov. 20 at South County High School.

Ramsey has now rushed for 1,407 yards and 20 touchdowns in 12 games, while averaging 5.9 yards per carry. Friday's performance was the seventh time Ramsey surpassed the 100-yard mark this season, including a 228-yard, four-touchdown effort against T.C. Williams on Oct. 1. He rushed for 184 yards and four touchdowns against Annandale on Oct. 23, and went for 157 yards and two scores during the Stallions' 33-30 overtime victory against Lake Braddock on Nov. 6.

The 6-foot, 220-pound ball carrier will have a chance to add to his totals when South County (12-0) hosts No. 5-seed Robinson (9-3) in the region semifinals at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 28. The Rams are on a five-game win streak and have won seven of their last eight games. Robinson defeated No. 13 Chantilly 31-24 in the quarterfinals on Friday.

Advancing this far in the playoffs means South County will practice on Thanksgiving. Ramsey recently took part in a Q&A with The Connection, sharing his thoughts about the win over West Potomac, Saturday's matchup with Robinson, and his plans for the upcoming holiday.

Q: South County defeated West Potomac 42-9 last week in the quarterfinals. How do you feel your team played?

Ramsey: I definitely believe we played better. We also for the first time had less than 10 penalties, so I think if we can keep that up we'll be that much better.

Q: You had 30 carries last week against West Potomac. As a running back, how many carries do you feel you need in a game before you're performing at your highest level?

Ramsey: As a running back, I'm starting off at my highest level and finishing at my highest. So it can even be 1-5 carries; I'll make sure I give the best I've got.

Q: Next up for South County is a semifinal matchup with Robinson. What will it take to beat the Rams?

Ramsey: It'll take guts, it'll take pride, it'll take a Stallion Nation.

Q: Does being undefeated at this point in the season place additional pressure on the team?

Ramsey: Being undefeated at this point in the season does put additional pressure on the team because we know we have a lot of eyes on us just waiting to see us fail.

Q: The team will practice on Thanksgiving, correct? What time? How long?

Ramsey: We practice on Thanksgiving morning from 7-10 a.m., including meetings, so for about two hours.

Q: What are your plans for Thanksgiving Day?

Ramsey: My plans for Thanksgiving Day are to wake up early in the morning and get what I need to get done with my team, then enjoy the day with my family.

Q: What is your favorite Thanksgiving food?

Ramsey: My favorite Thanksgiving food would honestly be the gumbo my dad has been making since I was little because he's from Louisiana.

Q: With the football season still going, will you have to make sure you don't eat too much?

Ramsey: No, that's actually the least of my worries. I should be eating way much more than I've been doing, so that's something I've been making sure to work on with the fact that we've been doing so much running.

Lake Braddock Football to Host Westfield

Q&A: RB Atkins commits to Vanderbilt.

The No. 2-seed Lake Braddock football team secured a trip to the 6A North region semifinals, beating No. 7 Battlefield 13-10 on Nov. 20 in Burke.

Two days later, Bruins running back Lamont Atkins made a decision about his football and academic future.

Atkins, a 5-foot-11, 195-pound junior, committed to Vanderbilt University on Sunday. Atkins has been a primary option in the Lake Braddock offense and figures to be a key contributor when Lake Braddock hosts No. 3 Westfield in the 6A North region semifinals at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 28.

It's the third straight season the two teams have met in the region semifinals, with Westfield winning each of the last two years.

Atkins recently participated in a Q&A with The Connection, discussing his commitment to Vanderbilt, Lake Braddock's upcoming matchup with Westfield and his Thanksgiving plans.

Q: You committed to Vanderbilt on Sunday, correct?

Atkins: Yes. I visited for the game Saturday and stayed to meet all the coaches and tour the facilities and campus Sunday. At the end of the day, I committed to the coaching staff.

Q: What made Vanderbilt the right choice for you?

Atkins: I knew Vanderbilt was the right choice for me before I even visited for the weekend. They are the No. 15 National University in the nation and [head] coach [Derek] Mason makes academics a top priority for the players. I also enjoyed the personalities of all the coaches. They care for their athletes as they would their own kids. They hold you accountable to being a Vanderbilt man and encourage you to be limitless. I also couldn't pass up an opportunity to compete in the SEC.

Q: For what position did Vanderbilt recruit you?

Atkins: I was recruited to play running back.

Q: Lake Braddock pulled out a 13-10 win over Battlefield last week in the quarterfinals. How do you feel your team played?

Atkins: Battlefield was a great team and played well on both sides of the ball. I was proud of my entire team because everyone fought hard for four quarters and pulled out a close victory.

Q: Now you face a Westfield program that has beaten Lake Braddock in the region semifinals each of the last two years. What will it take to beat the Bulldogs?

Atkins: Westfield is a great team and they may have the best defense in the state. We have to execute our game plan and play error-free football to beat them.

Q: You guys will practice on Thanksgiving, correct? What time? How long?

Atkins: Yes, we will practice from 8:30 to 11:30.

Q: What are your plans for Thanksgiving day?

Atkins: After practice, a few of the parents will prepare a real nice brunch for us. It's a privilege to be practicing and having a meal with your team on Thanksgiving because it means your state championship dreams are still there.

Q: What is your favorite Thanksgiving food?

Atkins: I like the fried turkey and my mom's sweet potato pie.

Q: With the football season still going, will you have to make sure you don't eat too much?

Atkins: Don't worry, we have practice at 8:30 Friday morning and I'm sure we will run it off.

Q: Do you or your family participate in any sports-related Thanksgiving traditions?

Atkins: We do not. My mom is the varsity team mom and leads most of the preparation for the team brunch. My dad and little brother will be helping her out too, along with a lot of the other families. After practice and the brunch, we're all tired so we normally just hang out around the house and watch movies.

SEASON OF GIVING

Home remodeler Bob Gallagher, who grew up near Clifton, organized a benefit to help Dixie Dawson with repairs to her house including a deck and wheelchair ramp. The repairs are set for Dec. 12. Dawson, who has spina bifida, has lived most of her life in the rambler off Popeshead Road her father built in the early 1960s. Gallagher is a principal at Sun Design Remodeling.

Remodelers, Suppliers Join Forces to Help Clifton Woman

A coalition of local remodelers and home improvement suppliers are set to repair the deck and wheelchair ramp surrounding the home of Dixie Dawson, a long term Clifton resident with spina bifida.

Dawson, who lives alone in the house her father built in the early 1960s, was the beneficiary of the second annual Remodeler's Charity Tour which was held Nov. 7. The tour was sponsored by Sun Design Remodeling with participation from TW Perry, Cedar Electric, MR Contracting and Trex.

The repairs, which will include extensive upgrades to the wheelchair-accessible deck, as well as improvements to the home's electric system and chimney, will occur on Dec. 12. All materials and labor are being donated by participating contractors. The value of the repairs is estimated at $25,000.

Dawson credits childhood friend, Janaye Raper Lawson, with initiating the process that led to her receiving the needed assistance. Lawson knew about last year's charity tour (which helped a local widow repair the driveway to her home) and contacted Christina Gallagher, wife of Sun Design principal Bob Gallagher. Two days later, Gallagher dropped by Dawson's home.

"I just thought there must be a way that a community as old and close-knit as ours can aid one of its own," says Gallagher, who grew up in the area where his father practiced medicine.

"My company has learned a lot from doing tours of recently remodeled homes; this seems like a logical way to draw attention to someone in the community we could help."

The tour, which focused on a Sun Design project in the Balmoral section of Clifton, provided an opportunity for locals to make a contribution to Dawson. It also firmed up the professional support needed to execute the repairs.

Special Bible Exhibit at First Church of Christ, Scientist

How did the King James Version of the Bible come to be? In a one-day exhibition celebrating International Bible Day on Nov. 23, Springfield resident and historian Bruce Slawter showcased several ancient Bible pages and explained some of the book's origin story.

The exhibition took place at First Church of Christ, Scientist in Springfield, where Slawter is a member and "first reader." Not to be confused with the Church of Scientology, the Christian Science Church was founded by Mary Baker Eddy in 1879. Members follow the Bible and Eddy's interpretation of it as their spiritual basis.

Slawter of Springfield has always been interested in history and is a "first reader" at the First Church of Christ, Scientist. In 2011, the 400th birthday of the King James Bible, Slawter said was "the big push" to pursue Bible history scholarship as he was teaching college Sunday School at the church.

Questions of how the King James Version of the Bible came about compelled Slawter to contact the Folger Shakespeare Library and begin work on his own exhibition. Slawter connected with vendors and collectors online, and came into possession of several historic pieces he had verified by experts at Folger.

His pieces include a page from the William Tyndale New Testament, from around 1526, the first English translation from the original Greek; the Matthew Bible, circa 1537, a first edition from Antwerp printed with movable type on rag-cotton linen; and the Geneva Bible, circa 1560, by English Protestants who fled England.

The primary collection of Slawter concludes with a page from the 1611 first edition of the King James Version, the culmination of work from six different companies exchanging drafts, peer reviews and circulating corrections before a general review committee and senior review.

"It's considered one of the greatest collaborative efforts of scholarship in history," Slawter said.

Slawter managed an open house at the church during the day and led a more detailed talk that evening. Seeing the pages first hand has given him a more profound perspective on his own scholarship.

"It makes you appreciate the dedication of the forerunners of Biblical scholarship," Slawter said. "Many of these individuals were martyred for their views, like Tyndale, who asked for his stylus and his Hebrew dictionary so he could work on translating right up until his execution."

"You wonder whether you would have that sort of faith, that courage, today," Slawter added.
