Four-Cent Tax Increase, With Side of Vitriol

Reconsideration hours later gives same result;
board will consider putting meals tax to referendum in November.

BY KEN MOORE
THE CONNECTION

Tuesday morning, the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors voted for a four-cent tax rate increase, advertising a tax rate of $1.13 per $100 of assessed value. Hours later, a call to reconsider a higher rate sparked bitterness, anger and even disgust.

In the end, the outcome was the same. The board rejected Budget Chair Jeff McKay's motion for a five-cent increase on a 5-5 vote and Mount Vernon Supervisor Daniel Storck's motion to have a six-cent increase by a 3-7 vote.

But hours later Tuesday afternoon, March 1 after afternoon public hearings were finalized, Supervisor John Foust's motions to reconsider its advertised tax rate raised jointly by Sully Supervisor Kathy Smith — a tool permitted by Roberts Rules of Order — set off fireworks.

"I'm sorry, it's appalling, it's embarrassing," said Providence Supervisor Linda Smyth. "We're starting a budget session on the worst foot. We had a full discussion this morning."

"A robust discussion," said Hunter Mill Supervisor Cathy Hudgins.

Hudgins said she had come to the meeting planning to advocate for a five-cent increase, but said she was "disturbed" by the reconsideration. "This is childish play, that once you didn't get your way, you're going to bring it back."

Speaking of the School Board, she added, "You can't always have it your way."

Mason Supervisor Penny Gross: "I don't think we should be supporting voter's remorse."

"The ends do not justify the means," said Braddock Supervisor John Cook, who had reluctantly supported the four-cent increase. "I don't want anybody thinking there was a mistake."

Foust kept composed. If there's not enough support, he said, "we'll find out. We have this process available to us."

Lee Supervisor McKay said, "I support this, to get back to the original, responsible motion that I made," for a 5-cent increase.

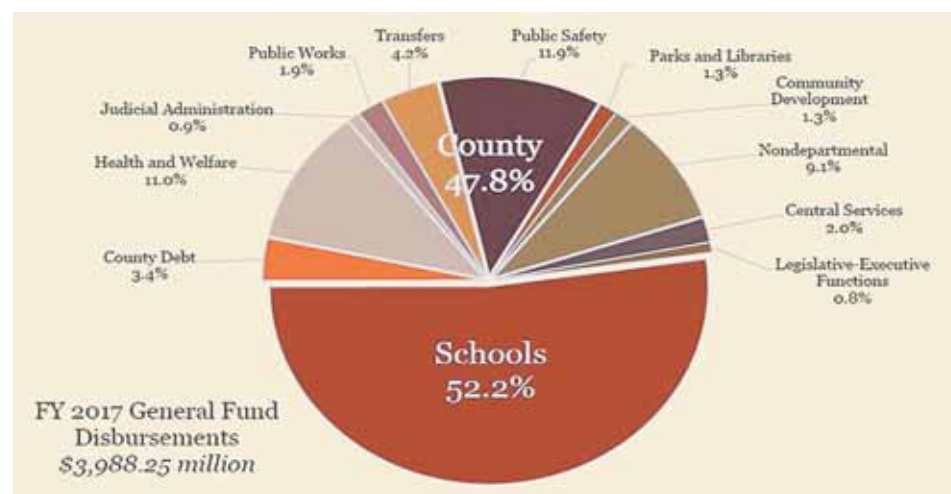

Chairman Sharon Bulova kept order, and supported the motion to reconsider.

"There's a process that allows for this," said Bulova. "So I am respectful that a member asked for it to be reconsidered."

The motion to reconsider failed with a 5-to-5 tie vote.

THE BUDGET BUILT and presented by County Executive Ed Long calls for a four-cent tax rate increase, about $300 for the average household in Fairfax County, but also left Fairfax County Public Schools with a shortfall of $68 million.

and other school advocates have been leaning heavily on the Board of Supervisors to advertise a higher tax increase to "fully fund" the school budget. The discourse has not always been collegial.

"The Board of Supervisors' decision today to set the advertised (maximum) tax rate at four cents is disappointing because it guarantees that the county and schools budgets cannot both be fully funded, denying the community its rightful role in that conversation. Today's decision is discouraging for the thousands of community members who have reached out to the School Board and the Board of Supervisors this year to advocate for a voice in this very important conversation about values and priorities," said

School Board Chairman Pat Hynes.

Cook directed a rebuke at the School Board. "If we don't do it exactly the way you want, [you say] 'you are bad people.' We're not. I have children in the school system too."

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS can adopt a tax rate that is lower, but not higher, than what was advertised at its board meeting Tuesday, March 1.

Each penny on the real estate tax rate provides $23 million in revenue.

The motion to advertise a four-cent increase passed 7-to-3.

"I'm disappointed that the same people who advocated for flexibility voted against flexibility," McKay said. "They've boxed in the Board of Supervisors and tied our hands. It's now nearly impossible to meet the superintendent's request. I strongly believe that would have been possible at 5 cents and that is why I put forward this responsible rate."

Springfield Supervisor Pat Herrity spoke against raising the tax rate. "Our residents are having to make difficult decisions around their kitchen tables as job and wage growth stagnates. We need to get our economy going and the commercial tax base back. ... Until then, we have to make the same tough choices that our residents are having to make and until we do I cannot ask them to absorb a six-percent increase this year."

— School Board Chairman Pat Hynes

The board also asked for more information regarding putting a meals tax on the ballot in November. The board's legislative agenda has supported diversifying the tax base, taking some tax burden off homeowners, according to a statement by the county. Under state law, if the board wishes to adopt a meals tax, the voters must decide in the form of a referendum. The restaurant industry and chambers of commerce have strongly opposed a meals tax.

The County Executive's Advertised Budget, which calls for a four-cent increase, transfers more than $2 billion to FCPS and provides over 52 percent of County General Fund revenues to the schools, according to county documents.

There are a number of opportunities for residents to share comments and concerns regarding the county budget between now and April 19. In addition to budget town meetings and forums throughout the county, three days of budget public hearings will be held at the Fairfax County Government Center on April 5-7.

McLean Crime Reports

Notable incidents from the Fairfax County Police Blotter from Feb. 29 to March 4.

Shooting Into an Occupied Dwelling - 2000 block of Cherri Drive. Feb. 29, 4:12 a.m. A resident reported that someone had apparently fired bullets into the residence and that the bullets appeared to have come from an adjacent home which should have been vacant. Officers arrived and found a 35-year-old man apparently "squatting" in the adjacent home. Further investigation and the execution of a search warrant revealed several handguns and a 6-foot Python inside the residence. The man, of no fixed address, was arrested and charged with shooting into an occupied dwelling. Animal Control responded and took custody of the snake. The investigation continues.

OPINION

Bringing Back the Electric Chair

In a word: Barbaric.

No doubt Virginia and Texas will be the last two states to continue with the death penalty until, inevitably, evolving standards of decency lead the U.S. Supreme Court to declare that the death penalty is unconstitutional.

But fear of loss has motivated the Virginia General Assembly to amend a law that allows prisoners facing execution to choose between lethal injection and the electric chair so that the electric chair is used if drugs for lethal injection are not available.

It's barbaric, and execution debacles with electrocution and unproven drugs for lethal injection could speed overall rejection of the death penalty.

Most representatives from our area voted against, but in the House of Delegates, which voted 62-33 for the electric chair, Dave Albo, Jim LeMunyon and Vivian Watts voted in favor; Tim Hugo didn't vote but registered that he intended to vote yes. (Voting no were Jennifer Boysko, David Bulova, Eileen Filler-Corn, Charniele Herring, Patrick Hope, Mark Keam, Paul Krizek, Mark Levine, Alfonso Lopez, Bob Marshall, Ken Plum, Mark Sickles, Marcus Simon and Rip Sullivan. Kathleen Murphy didn't vote but registered that she intended to vote no.)

The Virginia Senate voted for the electric chair 22-17. From our area, only Dick Saslaw voted in favor of the electric chair. Voting no were George Barker, Adam Ebbin, Barbara Favola, Janet Howell, Dave Marden, Chap Petersen, Scott Surovell and Jennifer Wexton.

Residents of the 35th Senate District could rightfully question whether they are getting the representation they expect from Senator Saslaw (D), who without doubt will continue to be reelected until he chooses to retire.

Saslaw voted for mandatory use of the electric chair if lethal injection drugs are not available, worked to kill legislation that would protect consumers from predatory lending and interest rates of more than 200 percent, and was chief patron of the notorious proffer bill, which, if signed by Gov. Terry McAuliffe as passed, will result in localities losing the ability to temper costs of development and likely property tax increases.

EDITORIAL

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Protecting Arts Programs in Schools Questioning (Some) Rules

To the Editor:
After reading the article, "Fairfax County: Parents, Community Supporters Rally to 'Invest in Kids' by Tim Peterson (Connection, February 18-24), spending on public education is clearly becoming a huge concern. Being a former student of Fairfax County, I remember how important programs related to the arts were to many students. Many students gained an interest in music beginning at an early age. Without the availability of the classes or the teachers, many young children may have never discovered their hidden talents or interests in the field.

I strongly believe spending should not cut out the arts from public education, and students should continue to receive the same opportunities we did when we were in elementary school.

Lifting Stigma from Drug Users

To the Editor:
I believe that your in-depth look at Northern Virginia's heroin subculture ("Police Arrest 20 for Heroin Use in One Day," Connection, March 2-8, 2016) was a step in the right direction towards helping to lift the stigma from drug users. You chose to expand upon the stories of the 20 people recently apprehended for the possession and/or distribution of heroin instead of simply focusing on the crime itself.

I applaud how the fine men and women of the police departments of Loudoun, Fairfax, and Prince William counties chose to opt for rehabilitating those arrested instead of simply detaining them and risking that they return to drugs. Instead of placing a "bandage" on the chronic issue, they decided to treat the wound itself in order to prevent it from happening later on. It was very thoughtful and sensitive of them to realize that this wasn't just a private trouble in the lives of the addicts, but instead a public issue in their community that needed to be rectified.

Helping the victims out of their addictions instead of just incarcerating them may have also helped in reducing the number of deaths attributed to heroin and the health consequences that result from its use as well. All in all this was a very well written paper and your dedication to providing the whole truth about the situation is refreshing and welcomed.

Making Good Choices On Saint Patrick's Day

Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP), will offer the 2016 St. Patty's Day SoberRide program, providing free cab rides to would-be drunk drivers throughout the Washington-metropolitan area next Thursday, March 17.

SoberRide will be available for 12 hours starting 4 p.m. on St. Patrick's Day and continuing until 4 a.m. on Friday, March 18 as a way to help keep local roads safe from impaired drivers during this traditionally high-risk holiday.

Make your own plans to celebrate safely by having a designated driver, celebrating where you can take public transportation or spend the night. But if those plans go awry, area residents celebrating with alcohol may call the toll-free SoberRide phone number 1-800-200-TAXI (8294) for a no-cost (up to a $30 fare), safe way home. "We have been using Duffy Counseling Center now for the last 2 months. My son is such a perfectionist that it was causing him undue stress in his life. The counselor has a very down to earth way of discussing situations without seeming condescending. He is a great listener and when my son walks out from his appointment he always has a smile on his face. They have a way of making a tough situation not seem like its the end of the world. I can see the counselor being ideal for high school and college kids."

Celebrating the Persian New Year

The Nowruz Festival will be held Sunday, March 13 at Tysons Corner Center.

BY STEVE HIBBARD
THE CONNECTION

Following 3,000 years of customs and traditions, the colorful Nowruz Festival — the Persian New Year celebration — will be held on Sunday, March 13 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. This year's festival, with more than 55 booth vendors, is free and will be held in front of Bloomingdale's at Tysons Corner Center.

Nowruz, which normally falls in early Spring, is when Persian-Americans will join locally to celebrate the new year. There will be 55 vendors offering traditional and exotic foods as well as jewelry, artwork, crafts and other traditional Persian products. A main stage will be set up that provides entertainment around the clock with 60 musicians, dancers, artists, costumed characters and traditional players.

"Enjoy music, dance, dramatic performances and meet with costumed characters roaming the festival. Shop in our bazaar or savor the flavors of Persia in our food court," said organizer Shohreh Asemi.

The Nowruz Festival is a family-friendly, fun celebration that celebrates life, love and good will. Of all the Persian national festivals, the New Year celebrations are at once the most important and the most colorful. This festival embodies a wealth of ancient rites and customs, and is about the only one in Persia which is not confined to the traditions of only one religious group. It symbolizes that continuity of the ancient Persian culture which has survived so many adversities and vicissitudes.

The venue provides a fun place for people to celebrate with family and friends, to taste delicious Persian food and enjoy traditional and modern Persian entertainment. Among the traditions, is a ceremonial table called the cloth of seven dishes (each one beginning with the Persian letter Sin). The symbolic dishes consist of Sabzeh or sprouts, usually wheat or lentil, representing rebirth.

Another is Samanu or a sweet, creamy pudding. Another is Seer, which is garlic in Persian, which represents medicine.

In addition to attracting people from Virginia, Maryland and the District, this year, organizers hope to attract international guests from other countries that celebrate Nowruz, including Turkey, Afghanistan and Tajikistan, among others.

The goal is to share the Nowruz Festival with both Persians and non-Persians. The event sends out positive messages, like celebrating earth, spring time, love and peace to the community. Planners want to bring different musicians and dancers from other

They also want to bring different historical and costumed characters from Persia (like Haji Firuz, a traditional herald of Nowruz dressed in a red costume and tambourine) that will interact with the crowd.

Reston Chorale to Perform in McLean

Choral Splendor II: Music of France on Sunday, March 13, at Saint Luke Catholic Church.

The Reston Chorale will present Choral Splendor II: Music of France, at 4 p.m. on Sunday, March 13, at Saint Luke Catholic Church (7001 Georgetown Pike, McLean). The concert, part of the Music in McLean concert series, will open with Charles-Marie Widor's Messe, Op. 36, in its rarely heard original form: with mixed chorus, baritone choir — and two organs.

Just as Widor intended, the mass will be performed with musical forces at opposite ends of the church. From the front, guest artist Paul Skevington will play Saint Luke's majestic Steiner-Reck organ. With 61 sets of pipes — 3,169 in all — it is one of the largest and finest pipe organs in Northern Virginia. The Reston Chorale and Baritone Choir will sing from the rear, accompanied by keyboard artist Tordis Fahringer on a three-manual Rogers Infinity organ, provided for this performance by R.A. Daffer Church Organs, Inc. of Jessup, Md.

"The audience will literally be immersed in music, in the midst of a grand dialogue between the two organs and choral ensembles," said David Lang, artistic director of The Reston Chorale. "With the superb acoustics at Saint Luke Catholic Church, it promises to be an extraordinary experience — as was last season's Choral Splendor." In that highly acclaimed concert, the Chorale presented Louis Vierne's Messe Solennelle for mixed chorus and two organs.

Choral Splendor II will also feature performances by tenor soloist C.J. David, cellist Ethan Miller and the Chorale's chamber ensemble, Camerata, under the direction of Dr. Allan Laino.

In addition to Widor's Messe, Choral Splendor II will offer works by French composers Claude Debussy, Marcel Dupré, Gabriel Fauré, César Franck and Olivier Messiaen, as well as works based on French text by Jan Pieterszoon Sweelinck and Morten Lauridsen. The concert will close with David Willcocks' choral arrangement of Widor's magnificent "Toccata" from Organ Symphony No. 5.

Tickets to Choral Splendor II may be purchased online, in advance, at www.restonchorale.org, or at the door one hour before the performance at Saint Luke Catholic Church, 7001 Georgetown Pike, McLean. Online tickets are $20/Seniors (62+) and $25/Adults (18-61); ticket prices at the door will be $25/Seniors and $30/Adults. Youth 17 and under will be admitted for free when accompanied by an adult or senior ticket holder. (Youth tickets are required.)

For more information about this performance or The Reston Chorale, visit www.restonchorale.org or call 703-834-0079.

Commission Recognizes Outstanding Women in Fairfax County Government

Edwyna Wingo of the Chantilly area began her career with Fairfax County as a nurse in the Health Department on Sep. 1, 1965 and worked her last full day Oct. 1, 2011.

Wingo graduated from the University of Virginia nursing school in 1964 and decided she didn't much care for rotating and night shifts. Looking for a more regular schedule, she found work in "Home Health," providing health services for individuals outside the hospital.

"The bug of public health really stuck," she said. "And I was on the cutting edge of public health back then. Home visits, community clinics, I did it all. And I never gave up on my love of patient care."

Wingo now works as part-time on special projects for the Fairfax County Health Department, including a car seat program for families whose income is low enough to make them eligible. She started with the project four years ago and said to date thousands of car seats have been given out.

Wingo is the longest-tenured of 12 women honored by the Fairfax County Commission for Women on March 1, Super Tuesday, at the Government Center prior to the Board of Supervisors regular meeting.

"I was absolutely floored when I got the email," Wingo said. "Fairfax County has been very dear to me. I've had opportunities in Fairfax County with the Health Department."

Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova spoke to the group before moving into the Board's auditorium to begin the regular business meeting.

The Chairman opened with her response when people ask her what the obstacles were to her achieving her success in public elected office.

"I've benefitted from years of wonderful leadership of women in Fairfax County," Bulova said, referencing the late Jean Packard, the first woman to serve as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Audrey Moore and Kate Hanley.

"They've paved the way for me," Bulova continued. Then transitioning and acknowledging the 12 women being recognized by the Commission, she thanked them each for "your knowledge, and the way you served Fairfax County."

Laura Sizemore, a junior at Lake Braddock Secondary School and in her second year as the student representative to the Fairfax County Commission for Women, was in the audience for the recognition ceremony.

"I bring the perspective of teenagers to the commission," Sizemore said, "I know the school side of issues like dress code and sexual harassment."

Linda O'Brien is an administrative assistant III with the Reston District Station of the Fairfax County Police Department.

Mary Rezzarday-White is currently library assistant II for youth services in the Fairfax City Regional Library.

Doris Robey is a manager in the Department of Tax Administration, Personal Property and Business License division.

Nancy Stallings is an investigator for the Departments of Planning and Zoning, and Code Compliance.

Deanna Velasco is an administrative assistant IV in the Department of Family Services, Self Sufficiency Division, Fraud and Investigation Unit.

ment, represented a collective 433 years of service.

The 12th, Deputy County Executive for Human Services Pat Harrison, was scheduled to speak on behalf of the Commission for Women during a proclamation ceremony with the Board of Supervisors recognizing March as Women's History Month.

To see the 12 women honored for their vast careers with Fairfax County, Sizemore said it inspires her to work hard and do what she wants with her life, "not what people want me to do," she said.

The junior said computer science is a big passion and she plans to pursue a career in science, technology, engineering and mathematics, or government.

Hot Start Propels Oakton to State Semifinals

Cougars open with 20-2 run against Woodbridge.

BY JON ROETMAN
THE CONNECTION

With the Oakton girls' basketball team having secured a return trip to the state final four, head coach Fred Priester explained what the Cougars learned from last year's semifinal loss to Bethel that could help during this season's quest for a state championship.

"Last time, I don't want to say we came out timid, but Bethel dropped about five 3-pointers on us in the first minute-and-a-half," Priester said, "and we were playing scramble ball the rest of the time."

Judging by Oakton's performance against Woodbridge in the state quarterfinals, the Cougars have a firm grasp on what it takes to start a game in non-timid fashion.

Oakton, the 6A North region champion, opened Saturday's contest with a 20-2 run and defeated 6A South No. 4 seed Woodbridge 70-47 at Robinson Secondary School. The Cougars remained undefeated and advanced to the state semifinals, where they faced Langley on Tuesday, after The Connection's deadline.

After a pair of Woodbridge free throws cut the Oakton lead to 6-2 with 5:29 left in the opening quarter, the Cougars scored 14 straight points, including a pair of 3-pointers by Maddie Royle. Oakton ended the first quarter with a 23-5 advantage and extended the lead to 27-5 with buckets by Alex Marquis and Delaney Connolly early in the second quarter. A Connolly 3-pointer gave Oakton a 34-14 halftime advantage and the Cougars led by as many as 27 points in the second half.

"We come out with a really high intensity every single game — a lot of energy," Connolly said. "We push the ball hard. We kind of adjust our speed depending on the team that we're playing and all of us know our roles so we come out knowing what we have to do to score points." Marquis said the Cougars weren't taking Woodbridge lightly after Herndon, the 6A North region's No. 4 seed, upset 6A South champion Woodside the previous night.

"We knew that Herndon came out and beat the No. 1 ranked team of their region," Marquis said, "so we knew that anything could happen and we knew that we were going to have to come out strong and just play our game and we couldn't take anything for granted."

Royle led Oakton with 21 points, including 11 during the Cougars' dominant first quarter, and grabbed eight rebounds. Connolly finished with 15 points and nine rebounds. Kailyn Fee scored 14 points and knocked down four 3-pointers, and Marquis added 12 points.

Oakton finished with eight 3-pointers.

With so many scoring options, how does Priester decide who gets the ball?

"It's not a seamless process, I will tell you," the Oakton head coach said. "We have certain rules for certain people, but the fact of the matter is, if someone hits one, let's get them the ball again as quickly as possible. ... I always have had a rule for as long as I've been coaching, especially when you have shooters: I'll tell you when to stop shooting."

Oakton improved to 29-0 with the win over Woodbridge. It was the Cougars' 55th victory in their last 56 games dating back to December of 2014, including a pair of Conference 5 and 6A North region championships. Oakton's only defeat during that stretch was the 73-63 loss to Bethel in the 2015 state semifinals. Despite falling behind 17-4 in the first quarter, the Cougars had a chance to tie or take the lead in the fourth quarter.

Paige Galiani, seen during the region tournament, and the Langley girls' basketball team advanced to the state semifinals with a win over Landstown in the quarterfinals on Saturday.

Galiani's Clutch Shot Sends Langley to State Semis

Paige Galiani is the Langley girls' basketball team's go-to offensive player and on Saturday she stepped up in the season's biggest moment.

Galiani knocked down a deep 3-pointer that gave Langley, the No. 3 seed from the 6A North region, the lead with less than a minute remaining and the Saxons held on for a 34-32 victory over 6A South runner-up Landstown in the state quarterfinals at Old Dominion University.

Langley advanced to the semifinals, where the Saxons faced Oakton on Tuesday, after The Connection's deadline.

Trailing 32-30, Galiani saved Langley's season with a clutch shot from behind the arc.

"It was off a play we've run many times before, and the team ran it really well and Paige saw her window and took a gutsy shot," Langley head coach Amanda Baker wrote in an email. "... Taking into account that we are in the state tournament and that shot helped send us to the final four, it's hard to think of a bigger shot this season."

Galiani led Langley with 17 points. Ari Aulisi finished with eight points and Jordyn Callaghan added four.

The victory improved Langley's record to 25-5.

"We kept our composure really well, especially after missing free throws and losing the lead," Langley head coach Amanda Baker wrote in an email. "I give the players a lot of credit for being able to bounce back so quickly during the game."

Langley advanced to face undefeated 6A North champion Oakton on Tuesday. The Cougars defeated the Saxons 44-41 in the region semifinals on Feb. 26.

On Feb. 20, Langley won its first conference/district championship since 1988, beating Fairfax 42-38 in the Conference 6 tournament final.

— JON ROETMAN

"Last year was [our] first time ... going to the state tournament," Marquis said about the players on the 2015-16 Oakton roster, "so I think now that we've been there, we know what it's like and we know how it feels to lose in the semifinals and none of us want that to happen again, so we'll be ready."

Oakton's last state championship came in 2012, when the Cougars finished 31-0.

Truly 'Wunderbar'

Madeira School presents "Kiss Me Kate."

BY KELSEY FRANKLIN
THOMAS S. WOOTTON HIGH SCHOOL

Taking the themes of Shakespeare and putting them into an upbeat, lively show, the Madeira School's performance of "Kiss Me Kate" was truly "Wunderbar!"

"Kiss Me Kate" was written by Samuel and Bella Spewack in 1948, with music by Cole Porter. This play-within-a-play follows the on and offstage drama of a musical production of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew." This particular production sets the show in the 1980s. Fred Graham stars as Petruchio alongside his ex-wife, Lilli Vanessi, who plays Katherine. Lois Lane and her gambling beau, Bill, play Bianca and Lucentio. Unfortunately, Bill's bad gambling habit causes a couple of gangsters to come into the scene. Chaos ensues.

With great humor, songs and dance numbers, this show was very entertaining. Everyone, even many in the ensemble, had a great energy. There is some Shakespearian language in the show, but most actors were able to portray the meaning through body language and facial expression. The first number started out a bit rough, but after that, the show found its rhythm.

Emily Barré was particularly impressive as Fred. Her performance was energetic and she owned the egotistical character while tackling a traditionally baritone role. Faith Slaughter was equally as captivating as Lilli with a melodious singing voice and incredible ability to distinguish between her two characters, Lilli and Katherine, even though they're quite similar.

The group numbers were a joy to watch, particularly "Too Darn Hot," which featured Nicole Schwartz as Paul, along with the other actors and stagehands of Shrew. Schwartz's masculine mannerisms and voice made the scene very fun and upbeat. Although the ensemble was difficult to hear at some points, the dancing was excellent and lively. One of the more comedic elements of the show were the two mobsters, played by Mary Kate Gould and Kerstin Shimkin. Their wit was quick paced and their quips were well-timed.

As for the technical aspects of the show, everything was done well. While not entirely consistent, the scene changes were fairly smooth, especially with the use of a fly system. The costumes for the Padua scenes were beautiful and vibrant. The set was quite impressive. It was well built and the painting was bright and detailed.

The Madeira School did a superb job with "Kiss Me Kate." You'd be "So In Love" with this show!

ZONE 6 AD DEADLINE:
MONDAY NOON

And It's Just So Happening Now

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

The day after my seven-year anniversary. And not that I want to stop recounting the years since February 27, 2009 – years for which I am most proud to have survived – and thrived even, I must look forward because it's the future that lies ahead, not the past. Medicine, science and nutrition are particularly evolving disciplines with revelations, discoveries and life-changing/life-saving/life-affirming research in the offing. Nevertheless, having beaten my original, extremely discouraging, life-expectancy odds/prognosis: "13 months to two years," (received at age 54 and a half no less), doesn't mean that I can rest on my unexpected and certainly unpredicted survival. I wish the past was indeed prologue but we're discussing cancer here; I'm more afraid the past may simply be a prelude and that my epilogue may suffer the consequences.

But not to worry. I'm not weakening in my resolve, just being realistic and honest. Cancer is not the preferred diagnosis when one is planning one's future. Even so, rates of survival seem to rise every day now, and research studies, clinical trials (and tribulations) and non-Western alternatives, assure that presently, if not in the very near future, great promise exists that many more of us afflicted with this terrible disease can begin/return to live relatively normal lives, making cancer more of a chronic, treatable/manageable-type condition rather than what it is now, in many cases (not all, of course): a terminal one, or at least one with an abbreviated life expectancy.

Still, I'm not counting on any magic pill to cure what ails me. This whole cancer thing is my responsibility. I must do all I can to keep my own house in order. Relying, depending or anticipating even that some opportunity will present itself to rid me of my cancer cannot be my plan "A." Plan "C" maybe? As such, in the interim, I must steady on and stay the course and try to remain open to new and different strategies, all the while attempting to find calm in the midst of a very distressing set of circumstances.

And diagnosis-to-date, I think I've done a pretty good job of bearing the unbearable. Not that I had any training or experience in such endeavors (I had a relatively easy childhood in a middle-class home, with two loving parents, and minimal sickness and/or loss with which to contend). Nevertheless, through DNA or a nurturing environment or thousands of years of evolution, it turns out I'm made of sterner stuff than I might have imagined. As an effect, or so it seems, I have endured my challenges with aplomb and good humor; and if ever there were a situation that called for it, receiving a terminal diagnosis at age 54-plus would certainly qualify.

But just like, at a fairly young age, crying over spilled milk doesn't change the facts, neither does bemoaning the facts of a malignant diagnosis – in whatever alternative state you get to: denial and/or drink or disillusion, change anything. It may blur your reality, but the reality is: this particular problem is likely not going away, and the sooner you buck up and gain control, the sooner you can get on with your life. Granted, you have to allow for the shock of the diagnosis/prognosis to permeate your brain, almost like osmosis, and it definitely won't happen overnight, that's for sure. Probably it will happen when you experience your first chemotherapy infusion/radiation treatment. That's when you'll know you're not in Kansas anymore – unless you're actually in Kansas. And when symptoms and hair loss occur, you'll be one-hundred-percent convinced that you've officially entered your own "twilight zone."

And that's what this anniversary part two column has been about: moving forward somehow. Whether staying the course or changing protocols/treatment, maintaining a positive attitude in this constant cycle of wondering if you can still live long and prosper, the future likely holds out more hope than the past.

Buying or Selling?

BY ANDREA WORKER
THE CONNECTION

Here we are, once again right on the heels of the Spring/Summer real estate season when it seems like “For Sale” signs become the most common lawn ornament or condo window decoration. Television shows like “House Hunters,” “Property Brothers,” “Love it or List It,” and their like make the process of buying or selling a property seem mostly a breeze, filled with afternoons sipping cocktails at the Tiki Bar while you make one of the most important decisions of your life. Selling, and certainly buying a new home should be an occasion for celebration, but you might not be doing too much of that unless you understand the basics of either process and have them well under control.

With help from some knowledgeable sources like the Northern Virginia Association of Realtors (NVAR), the National Association of Realtors (NAR) and some respected local experts, here’s a bit of a primer on buying or selling a property. We’re going for the basics here with a few comments about our local market. We will give you some resources for more information before we sign off. Ready? Here we go!

Let’s start with our sellers, since for the most part, they have the most work to do to get the job done. First question. Use an agent or go it alone? Strictly a personal decision. You may think only saving the real estate agent fees is the basis for the answer, but if you decide to be your own agent, be sure you have done the homework on legal and regulatory requirements, and be prepared for the paperwork. Sadly, one misstep here could be pretty costly and there goes those potential savings. And are you ready to be your own marketer and be available night and day and weekends to show your property? Another thought...many potential buyers are not comfortable dealing directly, especially during negotiations, with the homeowner and would prefer the buffer of a trustworthy agent that they can really share their thoughts with. Statistics have also shown that properties for sale by owner more often receive lower initial offers, since the buyer might mistakenly believe that the seller is in a more difficult financial situation and may accept a lower-than-market value offer.

Let’s assume that you are working with an agent. Hopefully, you asked all the right questions before signing an agreement to sell. Don’t be shy. It’s okay to “interview” several agents and ask for references. Ask to make contact with their last two or three clients – not just the ones that they offer up as testimonials. What’s their typical “Days on Market” and how do their times compare to others. And a biggie – what’s the average variation between the initial listing price and the final sales price? The answer here may spare you some disappointments and provide some indication about your real estate agent’s skills at pricing your property and negotiation the best price.

Now what? Put on your thickest skin, open your wallet just a tad, listen to that agent, and before you even have that first showing:

Be realistic about your asking price. “Don’t be too aggressive,” cautioned real estate agent Jennifer Boyce of Long and Foster in Burke. Anita Lasansky, CRB, managing broker-vice president Long and Foster Reston North Hills-Herndon, agrees with that advice, and adds that sellers around the Wiehle Metro station in Reston shouldn’t expect a big bump in sales price just because of Metro’s arrival. Lasansky has seen sellers factor in 5-10 percent increases on that basis, but “it just hasn’t had that effect,” she said. Getting a pre-appraisal or advice from a lender can help in setting the best realistic sales price, since most buyers will need a mortgage.

Think about getting a pre-sale home inspection. This could cost a bit. Think at least $500, depending on the size and age of the property. The buyer will have an inspection done, but being proactive could help locate potential problems that might stall, or even end a sale. Even if you don’t go for the professional inspection, take a look around and get on with those repairs or more affordable upgrades you’ve been meaning to tackle. If you think that bigger ticket items like a new roof or replacement of major appliances might be an issue, at least get estimates on costs to help in negotiating with your potential buyers. While you’re at it, locate those warranties and manuals - something that really impresses those buyers, while last-minute searches could pose a problem at closing.

Clean and get organized. Here’s where you need that thick skin. Your agent isn’t casting aspersions on your personal taste or “dissing” your kids, pets, hobbies, etc. when she tells you to neutralize as much as possible, put away the toys and pet paraphernalia, and all the other stuff that is part of our comfortable living. Your agent is merely looking out for you, and making your home appealing to the widest pool of potential buyers. Pay special attention to closets and bathrooms, and no, don’t use the spare bedroom as the storage catch-all. If there isn’t space inside the house, consider the smallest space at a storage facility for the the extra boxes, furniture, gadgets and whatnots while your property is on the market.

First impressions. That means check out curb appeal, from the condition of lawn and landscape to the front entryway. Trim those bushes. Edge that grass. Put down some new mulch, and clean up those oil spots on the driveway. Inside might await an affordable Taj Mahal, but if your buyers won’t cross the threshold because of what they see on the outside... Even adding a pot of bright flowers, a seasonal wreath, and maybe a new doormat can help.

Photos. Unless you are one gifted photographer, let the professionals handle this one. Most buyers today do their scouting online. Lots of quality photos attract the most visitors. Equally, photos that don’t show off each room to advantage, or contain pets wandering by, the piled-high laundry basket, or a reflection of the photographer can put your property on the “don’t want to see that one” list.

YOUR REAL ESTATE AGENT can give you a more comprehensive checklist and do a walk-through before an Open House or to prepare for showings, but here are some of the “musts” as advised by some of our area experts:

- ❖ Double check for clutter, and clean, clean, clean. A thorough cleaning by a professional service is much recommended. Don’t forget the windows and the carpets.

- ❖ Do the “Sniff Test.” This one is critical for homes with pets or smokers. Again, put on your thick skin armour. Refrigerators, garbage disposals, trash cans and carpets can be odoriferous stumbling blocks to a good showing. Give your home a thorough airing out before show time, especially in the kitchen.

- ❖ Double check for sticking doors, burned out light bulbs, loose knobs.

- ❖ Stage it – Consider a professional “stager” or at least give each space a neutral, de-cluttered living “story” that helps buyers visualize themselves right at home. To highlight upgrades or bring attention to items/features in a room, you might add an attractive picture frame with a few well written and formatted sentences on classy writing paper. Of course, a little light music and a plate of yummy cookies make everyone feel welcome.

- ❖ Put away small valuables, jewelry and medications.

- ❖ Don’t hang around – and take Fido or Fifi with you if possible. If not, confine pets to crates or one room and be sure to warn agents in advance. Be sure you have left contact information in case of questions or issues. I speak from experience on this one. A potential buyer’s 3-year-old son decided to let my crated dog out for some “play time.” Thankfully, I left my cell number right there on the kitchen counter – along with those cookies – so the showing agent could quickly contact me before my poor pooch took to the hills.

- ❖ Make your property accessible – If potential buyers can only see your property from 10 a.m. until noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays, prepare for a long wait before a successful closing. Selling a home is often a numbers game. As disruptive as it can be, the more people who look, the better chance of a sale.

FOR BUYERS. Just as with the sellers, buyers should shop around for a trusted real estate partner. Again, ask those questions, get those referrals and be sure that your agent understands your needs and expectations and that you understand the process as they describe it.

Buyers don't have to do all that physical prep work until it's time to get ready for their actual move, but there are a lot of considerations to deal with on this side of the real estate fence, as well. The best starting place is making sure that you know what you are looking for. Single family house with an enormous backyard or a "zero lot?" A condo in an urban setting with Metro access, or a more resort feel with access to walking/biking trails or other amenities? The National Association of Realtors suggests developing a "Home/Neighborhood Wish List," prioritizing from "must have" to "it would be nice if ..." and reviewing the list after a few viewings to see if your thoughts have changed.

Some of the basics as advised by the NVAR and NAR and some of their area experts:

❖ Get pre-qualified. Better yet, get pre-approved by a lender before you start looking. That way you will know what you can afford, be ready to make an offer and be a more attractive buyer since the seller knows you can make good on that offer. In many markets within Northern Virginia, buyers still out number inventory, so pre-approval can help set your offer apart. Megan Bailey of Bailey Fine Properties says "Buyers must be pre-approved before going out to look at homes with me. It's important to know that they feel comfortable ... by having the lender provide them with a "Good Faith Estimate" to break down the costs and to make sure the lender can finance the home. Taking someone to look at homes out of their price range ... sets the client up for disappointment."

❖ Be ready to move – sounds simple, but buyers have lost out on deals because they weren't ready. Worse yet, they may put their "Earnest Money Deposit" at risk if they can't go through with a sale as contracted.

❖ Think about resale. This may sound counter intuitive at this point, but especially for first-time buyers with an average of 10 years in the home, it's good to think ahead and consider what the area and the home might be like when it's time to move on.

❖ Keep repair, maintenance and running costs in mind. Even a brand-new home may require some work or customizing to suit your lifestyle, so consider those costs. You may have the approval for that attractive "McMansion" but are you prepared for the electric bills, mowing that acre, and the property taxes on top of the monthly mortgage? Ask the seller for details on utility costs and other maintenance that the property requires, i.e. pool upkeep.

❖ Don't go "house-blind." When you are so taken with the house that you might ignore factors that will ultimately make for a poor buying decision. Visit the property several times, inside and out, at various times of the day and on different days of the week to get a real feel for the neighborhood. Track travel distance for more than your work commute. What about your favorite stores and activities? Take a ride through the entire neighborhood and even its surroundings to see if you like what you will be seeing for a long time to come.

❖ Research. Your agent can direct you to resources where you can check out local schools. Even if you don't have school-aged children, it's something to think about for re-sale down the road or any kids you may be adding to the family.

For those buyers considering a condo or property with an HOA (Home Owners Association) there are even more questions to ask and things to be considered. These can get pretty specific and detailed, so your best bet is to ask that agent.

Now, about the local market. Checking the data from RealEstate Business Intelligence (RBI), an arm of the local MLS system, Fairfax County had the most closed sales in 2015, up 14.6 percent from the previous year. Alexandria, Fairfax City, Arlington and Falls Church round out the top five markets in the area for closed sales last year. The figures for January 2016 show an uptick in sales volume, but a slight decrease of 2.5 percent in median sales price across the Metro region. Average days on the market in January was 44 days, an increase from last year, but analysts feel much of that number can be attributed to the effects of Storm Jonas.

The best news for sellers was that the homes sold in January averaged 96 percent of their asking price. Maybe even more pleasing for sellers to hear is that RBI forecasts inventory growth in 2016 will likely turn negative at some point. Buyers be prepared. This could lead to those multiple-offer wars we have seen in the past.

Sellers be cautioned. That doesn't mean your best strategy is to over-price your property. "A properly priced property in good condition is still the fastest mover," are the words to the wise from Anita Lasansky CRB, managing broker-VP Long and Foster Reston North Hills-Herndon with her more than forty years of local experience.

Good Advice:

"I let sellers know that they need to expect that some of their privacy will be compromised...their home needs to be in showing condition every day before they leave, clean kitchen, beds made, everything put away, pets secured and comfortable, and that the home smells clean and fresh. I always suggest they visit model homes to see examples of what buyers fall in love with and why."

– Megan Bailey, Bailey Fine Properties,
Megan@baileyfineproperties.com

"Some of my absolutes ... for buyers, please be careful what you say. There could be a recording device in the house. Not unusual anymore with today's security technology. For example, don't look at pictures and say that their children look creepy. Yes, I have had this happen, but luckily it wasn't recorded. Sellers, put away medications and jewelry. It's rare, but prescription drugs are the number one item that 'goes missing' during open houses or showings."

– Smita Lal, Long and Foster Reston North Hills-Herndon

"Recently had a listing that needed a bit of updating. The seller was fine with spending some money to get their home in selling condition, but balked at my suggestion to replace the fluorescent lighting in the kitchen. Four months later, the seller finally agreed to spend the $1000 to replace the light. We ratified a contract 5 days after the work was done. Moral of the story: If you are hiring a pro to help you buy or sell a home, listen to their advice. They do this for a living, not once every 5 – 10 years. By the way, lighting is super important."

Current and bright, please."
– Andy Krumholz, Keller Williams Realty, Utopian Homes

"I always tell my sellers, 'To be clear, I will give you a list of customized items to prepare your home. It will be in order of importance. You may not agree with the list, and I understand that, but I assure you, the more you complete, the fewer days on the market, and of course at the right price.' So far I haven't missed."

– Lisa Carlisle, Long and Foster Reston North Hills-Herndon

Popular Bathroom Remodeling Trends

Thinking about a bathroom renovation? Here are some of the trends we are seeing whether remodeling a master bath, hall bath or powder room.

Creative tile patterns. In contrast to the patterned and geometric tiles we have been seeing over the last few years, simpler tiles are making a comeback to create a timeless look. Laid in unusual patterns, they can create a unique design.

Natural vibe. Earthy materials like natural stone and river rock not only on floors and walls, but also on vanity tops, sinks, baths, feature walls and bathroom furniture are gaining in popularity.

Double-header. Double showers consisting of an oversized rain shower head and separate handset are certainly trending. Not only does this offer a luxurious, invigorating and customizable shower, but it also delivers a seamless look.

Functionality first. Clean, practical and a streamlined look are what homeowners want today. Adequate storage to hide hair dryers and excess lotions allow for a calm and relaxing environment.

Nanny Suites Add Value

High-end live-in quarters attract au pairs and can increase property values.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

When Peggy Delinois Hamilton relocated to the Washington, D.C. area and began working full-time after spending eight years as an at-home mother of two children, childcare was one of her top concerns. She decided that a live-in au pair was the best choice for her family.

"I like the live-in because I don't have to worry about issues with transportation on the caretaker's part," said Hamilton. "I don't have to worry about them having competing obligations."

Finding and keeping a live-in nanny in a competitive childcare market can be a high stakes game. To lure and retain experienced, nurturing caregivers, many families shell out as much as $100,000 to create stylishly appointed living space for their au pairs. From kitchens with marble countertops and stainless steel appliances to bathrooms with luxury showerheads and rich wood cabinetry, local designers create living quarters so enchanting and thoughtfully designed that a nanny wouldn't dream of leaving.

"If you're a live-in nanny, you want your own space. In fact, nannies won't take a job from a family that won't provide it," said Jackie Wood-Gobuluk, owner of Metropolitan Nannies in Herndon, Virginia.

The spaces most often used for nanny suites are the lower level or attic, says Christopher Dietz of Dietz Development. "We try to create a close mimic of the main house and the primary kitchen and bathrooms of the main house," he said. "We don't do Formica or IKEA cabinets. We generally use ... granite, marble or Silestone. You don't want people to say, 'Wow, we can tell you really cut corners on this space.'"

Maintaining a continuity in quality while being budget conscious requires judicious planning. "We may splurge on custom window treatments and a bedskirt and save on things like furniture using retail pieces," said Marika Meyer, principal of Marika Meyer Interiors in Bethesda.

When an Arlington, Va. family enlisted architect J.P. Ward of Anthony Wilder Design/Build, Inc. to design an au pair suite for their home, they wanted him to maintain continuity in both color and materials. A cathedral ceiling, granite countertops, and under cabinet lighting were key as he blended the rich aesthetic quality of the original home with the new space. "We used a higher end tile and materials that blended with the rest of the house," said Ward. "It turned out to be like a high-end studio apartment that you could get high rent for."

The au pair's space has a separate entrance, something that offers privacy to both the nanny and the family. "We made it so that the au pair has an independent way of coming in and so they're not working 24 hours a day," said Ward.

The space serves as a nanny suite in an Alexandria home. Additional living areas can increase a property's value, say real estate agents.

Contractors say the cost of adding a nanny suite can range from $5,000 on a property where there is an existing bathroom and space for a bedroom to more than $100,000 on properties where plumbing must be installed or a small addition is required. "[A] bathroom is the biggest expense because of the plumbing," said Ward.

Because such an addition requires a significant investment, Kai Tong of Hopkins and Porter Construction in Potomac, Md. encourages clients to think long term. "One of the most important and useful realizations when considering nanny suites is that, unlike your kitchen or bath or bedroom, the nanny suite will only be a nanny suite for a finite amount of time in your lives," he said. "As your children grow, the nanny will move on, and the nanny suite is destined to become something else."

In the Washington, D.C. area, adding an au pair suite to one's home can make a property more appealing. "Particularly in neighborhoods with lots of young, affluent families, nanny suites are a popular, although not essential, amenity," said David DeSantis, Partner and Managing Broker of TTR Sotheby's International Realty. "Ideally these suites are somewhat separated from the family sleeping quarters and have their own entrance so the nanny can come and go freely."

A nanny suite can offer a good return on investment. "The fact that it could be used as a nanny suite is a plus, but it's the same sort of thing as an in-law suite [so] it offers the ability for multigenerational living with some level of privacy," said David Howell, may make a difference in price from 5 to 10 percent as they ... would count as an additional bedroom," said real estate agent Nancy Itteilag, of Long and Foster Christie's International Real Estate.

"We try to create a close mimic of the main house and the primary kitchen and bathrooms of the main house."

— Christopher Dietz,
Dietz Development

Ann Dozier Michael, an Alexandria-based associate broker with McEneaney Associates, has a current listing that includes a nanny suite. "When you have a property listed that can serve the various needs of buyers, then that will add value because you have a larger buying pool," she said.
