Technician Ryland Chapman and Lieutenant Lawrence Mullin with the Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Department were preparing to return home from a deployment with Virginia Task Force 1 to earthquake-rocked Kathmandu, Nepal when another quake sent them back out for duty.

Task Force 1 is an international urban search and rescue outfit sponsored by Fairfax County Fire and Rescue. Chapman and Mullin were part of a team assisting in Nepal in May 2015.

Because most of their equipment had already been loaded for transport, they were only able to bring minimal tools for a 72-hour mission, including small axes and sledgehammers. A helicopter took Chapman and Mullin to search for survivors that might be trapped in collapsed buildings. In one structure, they found a woman who was wedged on the ground floor with another part of the building collapsed on top of her.

After more than three hours of the rescue operation, Chapman and Mullin were able to free the woman and save themselves from continuing aftershocks and landslides.

"It was an extraordinary effort in a disastrous situation," said Fairfax County Fire and Rescue Chief Richard Bowers Jr. "It was one of the most dangerous situations I've ever seen in my 40 years of experience. They could've been crushed at any minute."

For their efforts, Chapman and Mullin were recognized with the Gold Medal of Honor at the 38th annual Valor Awards held March 30 at the Westfields Marriott in Chantilly.

Officers, deputies and other first responders from the Fairfax County Police Department, Sheriff's Office, Fire and Rescue Department, as well as Police Departments of the Towns of Vienna and Herndon, received the Lifesaving Certificate, Certificate of Valor and Bronze, Silver and Gold Medals of Valor.

In many cases, the responders were cited for acting "without regard to their personal safety under extremely hazardous conditions."

"In a situation where they have to save a life," Bowers said, "that means the motivation to do anything to maintain and preserve that life."

For Chapman, a Fairfax resident based at Fire Station 29 in Tysons Corner, he didn't see his actions in Kathmandu as anything out of the ordinary.

"We just have to be ready for all emergencies," he said. "I just did what's within my job description, what was expected of me to do."

Chapman's wife Taylor said the communication to families from Nepal was good, but not great, and that it was "intense" waiting for updates. What's more, with the extra mission Chapman was called on, he nearly missed the couple's wedding.

Going from being a community firefighter to launching into collapsed buildings on the other side of the planet was "strange," Chapman said, but despite being far away, still gave him "good feeling" of helping people in emergency situations.

Strong First Quarter in McLean and Great Falls

BY KAREN BRISCOE

First quarter 2016 real estate market did not disappoint in McLean and Great Falls. The numbers are up over 12 percent year over year. Further the levels are what was seen ten years ago in the robust 2006 market. This is excellent news for the market area as we enter into the more traditional spring selling season. It indicates an environment for the potential for price appreciation, provided demand remains strong relative to supply.

The best performing segment for these zip codes was the upper brackets, considered to be over $1.25 million. Most of the price points experienced greater sales year over year and higher than at 2006 levels as well.

The price points below $1.25 million held its own in the first quarter 2016 over 2015 and close yet not quite at 2006 levels. This market niche according to economists is made up of predominately the Millennial Generation now entering the market to purchase their first home. Quite a few are still weighed down with student loan debt which challenges their ability to qualify for a mortgage and save for a down payment. Further as prices recover and begin to appreciate, many are being priced out of the market.

The best performing price point was the $1.25 to $2 million price range. Delving deeper into the data it is due to the considerable number of in-fill new home builders tearing down an older existing home for the land value. Many lots are being purchased off market which could be skewing the numbers for the lower price points. There is very little available land remaining for development in McLean and Great Falls, so hard to know how long the trend will last. As builders compete for lots, there is less available for end-user owners that would buy the homes to live in. Although this scenario can be a healthy sign of recovery these situations can make it challenging for a first time home buyer to purchase.

The Alden in McLean Awards Scholarships to Six Young Performing Artists

The Alden in McLean awarded scholarships to six local high school students for successfully competing in the 2016 James C. Macdonald Performing Arts Scholarship Competition. Following a preliminary audition and a final completion at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Mar. 16, the prizes were presented by MCC Governing Board Chair Paul Kohlenberger and The Alden's Director of Youth Programs Kathleen Herr. Second-place winners are awarded $800 and third-place winners win $400. This year's competition showcased Vocal Music and Instrumental Music; there were not enough applicants in the Dance and Theatre categories to allow for a fair competition.

Three Potomac School Seniors Honored for Science Research

Spencer Perkins, Madeline Dubelier and Matt Spencer, seniors in The Potomac School's Science and Engineering Research Center program, were awarded first, third and fourth place respectively at the Junior Science and Humanities Symposium regional finals, held at Georgetown University in March. All three students will present their research at the JSHS National Symposium, in Dayton, Ohio, during the last week of April.

For more than two years, Perkins, Dubelier and Spencer have been conducting independent, college-level research projects in conjunction with Potomac faculty and outside experts.

Spencer was the competition's top finisher for his work developing a new coating for nanowires used in photoelectrochemical fuel cells, which are solar cells that produce electrical energy and generate clean water in the process of electrolysis. His approach will help to stabilize the nanowires and maintain efficiency of the solar cells and has the potential to greatly reduce the overall cost of solar energy systems.

Meanwhile, Dubelier earned third place for her work on a robotic hand with touch sensors and double flex technology that allows the user to form a pinch grip. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology's MIT THINK Scholars Program helped fund the project, enabling her to acquire many of the components for her prototype. With the funding, she was able to incorporate sensory feedback and remote control into her design, which has potential applications in the surgical field and the defense industry.

Finally, Spencer finished fourth for his research on bioremediation, a waste-management technique that involves the use of organisms to remove or neutralize pollutants. Spencer was able to show that specific types of fungi can break down polyurethane particles while producing neither carbon dioxide nor methane; thus, the process has the potential to bioremediate plastic waste without producing byproducts that are harmful to the environment.

Potomac science teacher and SERC program advisor Dr. Isabelle Cohen notes, "All of our students displayed great professionalism throughout the competition. Their presentations and their interaction with the judges and professors reflected the level of expertise that they have developed in their respective areas of research."

McLean Church to Mark 150th Anniversary

Sixteen Candidates for MCC's Governing Board

Sixteen Dranesville Small District 1A residents have tossed their hats in the ring to run for seats on the McLean Community Center's 2016-2017 Governing Board.

Voting will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, May 21, at the McLean Day festival at Lewinsville Park, 1659 Chain Bridge Road. Residents also may vote by absentee ballot from Monday, April 11, through Wednesday, May 18.

Three adult positions and two youth positions are open this year. The adult candidates who receive the three highest vote counts will serve three-year terms. Youth candidates, one from the McLean High School boundary area and one from the Langley High School boundary area, will serve one-year terms. Youth candidates do not have to attend these schools to serve on the board.

The board sets policy and provides general oversight for all facilities and programs of the Center, including the Robert Ames Alden Theatre and the Old Firehouse Teen Center. The Center is located at 1234 Ingleside Avenue.

Local Food Banks Need Milk to Feed the Hungry

Milk is one of the most requested, but least donated items at local food banks. So, Shoppers Food and Pharmacy store employees hope to inspire area residents to donate to the Great American Milk Drive. With $80,000 raised last year, Shoppers and the Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association once again invite the community to help feed children nutrient-rich milk. The campaign kicks off April 7 with all stores participating in the milk drive until May 8, 2016.

The Great American Milk Drive is designed to simplify the process of donating milk, a perishable item, so area residents can more easily donate nutritious milk to local families facing hunger. Consumers who make small donations in the store or online at milklife.com/give will help food banks deliver a gallon of milk to a family in need, helping to ensure that all children receive the vital nutrients that milk provides.

Move Forward with Independent Oversight

While FCPD has embraced many critical changes, supervisors need to move forward with oversight.

Last week, the Fairfax County Police Department posted a list and progress report of 202 recommendations made by the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission, each currently labeled as one of: implemented, in progress or under review.

Recommendations that are under review “require more review or approval from the Board of Supervisors,” according to the update.

Two landmark recommendations on independent oversight await further review and approval. One is the establishment of the Office of the Independent Auditor to review investigations of death or serious injury cases involving the FCPD; the other is to establish a Civilian Review Panel to review complaints concerning alleged FCPD misconduct.

The delay in moving forward with these two recommendations is a missed opportunity as the trial date for Adam Torres in the murder of John Geer approaches later this month, as the county will be under public scrutiny during coverage of the trial.

Chairman Sharon Bulova established the police commission in response to public outcry over the shooting death of Geer by a Fairfax County police officer, later revealed to be Torres, and the delay and stonewalling in release of any information about the incident. Geer was killed in August 2013. It took 17 months, much agitation and a court order in response to a lawsuit on behalf of Geer’s family before the most basic information was released. In August 2015, Torres was charged with murder and ordered held without bond.

The Public Safety Committee for the Board of Supervisors will meet in July to discuss all recommendations related to independent oversight. The next meeting of the Public Safety Committee is May 10 when they will take up commission recommendations related to use of force.

Strategically, the establishment of Office of the Independent Auditor should have been one of the first actions as a result of the recommendations. The Civilian Review Panel should also be an early priority. Contact Bulova, Supervisor John Cook who is chairman of the Public Safety Committee, and your own supervisor, and ask them to move forward.

Several pieces of good news: Fairfax County police leadership have embraced significant changes as a result of the commission recommendations and an independent report on use of force, changes that have already had major benefits in how police respond in crisis situations. Diversion First, a plan to provide treatment rather than jail for certain people in mental health crisis who come into contact with law enforcement is up and running, a remarkable achievement. Money has been allocated in the current budget to implement changes.

The progress report is available here: <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/policecommission/progressreport.htm>

Cooper Middle Students Learn Coding

BY CHRISTY GAO
COOPER MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENT

As the use of technology rises across the globe, so does the use for computer programming. However, as evidenced by the lack of young programmers, this fundamental skill is not being taught to the people who need it the most: students. In the 2016 State of the Union, President Obama said, “In the coming years, we should build on that progress, by providing Pre-K for all and offering every student the hands-on computer science and math classes that make them job-ready on day one.” In the spring of 2015, Cooper Middle School announced that they will have an Intro to Coding course available as an elective for the 2015-2016 school year. As expected, the new elective gained lots of popularity and many students chose it as their elective. The course, taught by teacher Lisa Walsh, is currently the first and only coding class offered to FCPS middle-schoolers. As one student taking the class said, “You learn how to code games that can help you in life for other opportunities.” Another student in the new class said, “You can creatively express yourself through the programs you make.” These are just a few of the many things that Cooper students have said about the first FCPS middle school computer programming class. The actions of Cooper Middle School and teacher Lisa Walsh show that FCPS is taking initiative in order to solve the lack of student programmers in the United States by giving middle schoolers to opportunity to learn a valuable skill: coding.

Inappropriate Use of FEMA Relief Funds

To the Editor

Your recent article “Fairfax County Schools to Apply for FEMA Relief Funds” is another example of attempting to exploit the American taxpayers.

I visualize the typical American taxpayer as a middle class couple living in the heartland of our country. They have two children. They go to church every week. They don’t smoke, don’t use illegal drugs, and use alcohol in moderation. Their children go to school each school day. They vote in every election. They must struggle financially even when the economy is strong, but they pay their bills, and they pay their taxes. They pay for their children’s education, and they save for their retirement.

I don’t feel that it is appropriate for the Federal government, which consists of millions of such middle class families, to pay for the removal of snow at Fairfax County Public Schools.

Nadia Ayoubi-Ahluwalia has over 15 years' experience in business and executive management. She is an immigrant of Afghan decent; fluent in English, Urdu, Hindi, Dari and conversational Punjabi. Nadia and her husband Puneet have resided and raised their children, Anya, Ammad and Anika in McLean for 10 years. The whole family supports the community at every turn. Having founded numerous retail businesses in the DMV, Nadia is most focused on HummingBirds Consulting, an international IT business that is currently expanding into the Classified Government Contracting arena. E-mail: nayoubi09@gmail.com

Kat Kehoe

Someone once described McLean as a large town that feels like a small town. I grew up in a small town and appreciate the sense of community a small town has. No place represents our community better than the McLean Community Center where we gather to enjoy cultural and educational programs, and provide meeting space for local organizations. I applaud the MCC Board for keeping the upcoming new addition within reserve funds and I will stay within budget. My background: MS and MA, GWU; Former Senior Project Manager, Fannie Mae; Realtor, L&F McLean; Board Member, Fairfax County Community Services Board. E-mail: katkehoe@gmail.com

Lauren Kivlighan

I want to be able to lend my abilities to help the McLean Community Center. I am a business owner, a parishioner of St. Luke's Catholic Church and a longtime resident of McLean. I am a huge supporter of the McLean Community Center. E-mail: lauren@dcareahomes.com

Paul Kohlenberger

I'm delighted to seek reelection to the Governing Board. As current Board Chair and past member of the Finance and Capital Facilities committees, I have worked to strengthen the Center's financial position and achieve progress on our renovation project. As an MCC patron since childhood, McLean Historical Society president and a McLean Citizens Association director, I understand and value the center's legacy. I've been honored to serve on the Governing Board. With your support, I can continue providing dedicated, responsive, and conscientious service to you, our fellow citizens, and our shared civic and cultural center. Thank you for your vote. E-mail: paulkohl@msn.com Website: www.facebook.com/VotePaulKohlenberger

Shahnaz Maguire

I was graduated from George Mason University and have lived in Northern Virginia for four decades. My husband and I have owned our home, worked, paid taxes and enjoyed life in McLean since 1994. I'm vice president of a small consulting firm. I've been serving as chief or assistant chief election officer in McLean for many years. I believe MCC should be a welcome addition to the lives of all members of the community, within an affordable budget. If elected to the Board, I hope to bring fresh ideas for the continued improvement in MCC's services to the McLean community. E-mail: shahnazmaguire@aol.com

Jill Roth

There's nothing more important to me than my family. McLean offers amazing opportunities for my two sons, ages 3 and 8 months, and I'd like to see these opportunities grow. As a member of the MCC Board, I can have a direct impact on programs, camps and events in our community. I'd offer a different insight and fresh feel to the board. As a small business owner, I know what it takes to have a vision and make it reality. I'll communicate with residents to hear the concerns and desires of the center in order to deliver results that matter. E-mail: jroth0522@gmail.com Websites: http://www.votejillroth.com https://www.facebook.com/VoteJillRoth

Gerri Swarm

I have worked for a national association for 35 years as an administrator and certified meeting professional; overseeing a $3 million annual budget. I bring my strengths to this Governing Board and know it will be a beneficial match. My husband and I have lived in McLean for 22 years and have four children. I served on the PTA board, actively involved in our children's activities through high school, including scouting and sports in McLean. I ask for your vote and thank you for your support. E-mail: gerriswarm@gmail.com

Vickie Trunnell

As the recipient of the 2015 Fairfax County volunteer award, I am proud of my service to the McLean community. Whether it's an usher at Alden Theatre, coaching youth basketball, serving on the MYB board, being a class parent or team mom, I have been active in our town for 20 years. Together with this service and a full-time management position, I have demonstrated that I am a strong organizer, have a strong community view and have the ability to work with all types of people. Now is the time for me to use these skills to benefit the MCC. E-mail: trunnell11@gmail.com

Desi Woltman

As a candidate for MCC's Governing Board, I am committed to MCC's role of community building through civic engagement. MCC is vital to the unique, small town character of McLean. When our family moved here 11 years ago, its diverse programs, activities and services made us feel welcome, and allowed us to quickly become part of the community fabric. I want to preserve MCC's legacy and optimize its value to all residents through fiscally responsible stewardship of its program and facilities. My experience and insight will ensure that MCC continues to be responsive to the needs of the community. E-mail: desi.woltman@gmail.com

Youth Candidates—Two Positions Open

Langley High School Area

Alexander Camus

I am a 16-year-old sophomore at Langley High School, where I play saxophone in Langley's Wind Ensemble and run on the cross country and track teams. I also serve on mission trips and as a camp counselor through my church. For six years, I have participated in McLean Soccer, gone to classes at the center and seen several shows at the Alden Theatre. I have gone to many community events as well, and if I am elected, I will make sure that MCC programs are maintained and improved because they hold a great value to our community as a whole. E-mail: alexforgoverningboard@gmail.com

Liana Keesing

My name is Liana Keesing, and I'm excited to be running for the position of Langley student representative to the MCC Governing Board! Previously, I've been a Virginia Senate Page, President of my student government and an appointed member of the TJHSST Homecoming Committee. I bring enthusiasm, initiative and creativity to everything I do. As a cellist, I will work to create more opportunities for local students to showcase their abilities in the arts. I also want to promote environmentally friendly practices to ensure that the town I love remains a sustainable, diverse and vibrant community for years to come. E-mail: lianaformcboard@outlook.com

Quentin Levin

I run not merely to take office, but to make MCC a better organization. Serving at MCC for the past year, I've developed an understanding—community makes us who we are. I vow to continue spreading MCC's explorative spirit and goodwill by championing innovative programs for every age/interest. As class president, debate team leader and journalist, I know how to listen and fight. I believe life must be lived to its fullest. I'll apply this principle to every community endeavor as we open the arts to new eyes, have fun and explore our deepest passions. McLean's future is our future! E-mail: quentin.levin@mcleancenter.org

Priyanka Susarla

I'm a junior at Langley High and I'm fortunate to have grown up in McLean's supporting environment. Serving and giving back to the community has been my top priority. I coach McLean Youth basketball, tutor at my local elementary school and have volunteered at the library. I hold leadership positions, such as being an ambassador in Virginia Girls Summit, an organization serving to empower girls. I strive to be a role model for youth. Given the opportunity, I'll be thrilled to serve the community I love and will do my best to give youth a voice in the MCC board. E-mail: priyankasusarla@gmail.com

McLean High School Area

Sam Gollob

I am so fortunate to have lived in McLean all my life and it is very important to me to give back. I have been the president of my McLean High School class of 2018 for the last two years. I try to be a leader and role model on my club; high school and summer swim teams. Also, I volunteer coach for a Special Olympics swim team. As your leader, I hope to act as a voice for the youth of McLean to make our community an even better place. E-mail: samtg2018@gmail.com

Riya Master

My name is Riya Master and I am a sophomore at McLean HS. I am interested in being a doctor, and I thoroughly enjoy math. I serve on the Teen Advisory Board for the public libraries. Last summer, I worked as a volunteer at Children's National, providing great job experience. Additionally, my resume includes the JV field hockey and soccer teams, debate, Model United Nations and DECA. Multiple national/local competition experiences have given me a strong insight on policy and working effectively in a committee or team. I believe I can make a difference and benefit the governing board. E-mail: riyamaster@gmail.com

Mariana Patterson

I enjoy taking other people's ideas and thoughts into account when making decisions, especially if I'm working together with them to achieve a common goal. Being bilingual in both English and Spanish aids me in this trait. My organizational skills are another strong characteristic of mine as I consider them to be both my greatest weakness and strength because I often make lists in order to structure a plan that I want to obtain, no matter the size. However, I feel uneasy if I proceed to do a task without a formulated strategy. E-mail: patterson.mariana@gmail.com

Langley Showcases New Stage

Langley's production of the musical "Chicago" debuts the recently finished renovation of the school auditorium.

BY KEN MOORE
THE CONNECTION

McLean's Jamie Goodson has performed on a lot of stages. But starting on Thursday, April 14, Goodson's grandparents and parents finally get to see their Langley High School junior perform on her school's stage.

Langley's theater students learned Friday, April 1, no joke, that they will showcase the musical "Chicago" on the newly constructed Langley High School stage, part of the overall $68 million renovation of the school.

"We all lost it. Tears of joy, we were so happy," said Goodson. "Just to open the new theater with this awesome show is going to be so much fun. We couldn't be happier; the stage is huge, we can fit this show."

More students and people from the community will get to see the show, said junior Camila Maric, than if it was performed at The Langley School, a private school nearby, which had accommodated Langley's performances during the renovations.

"You don't know how many times people have come up to me and said, 'I was going to see the show but Langley doesn't have an auditorium. Where is it going to be?'" Said Maric.

Richie Follin, of Great Falls, stars in Langley High School's production of "Chicago," starting April 14 in Langley's newly renovated auditorium.

Great Falls resident Richie Follin, a senior, started performing with the theater department at Langley his junior year.

"We thought we were going to perform at 'Little Langley' again," said Follin. "It's really exciting because we get to be the first to use

VIEWPOINTS

Brittany Lund, senior

"She goes through waves of emotions throughout the whole production. She starts out as this innocent sweet girl who is kind of in over her head when she ends up murdering someone and she doesn't understand the repercussions of it. And then she transforms into this girl who is so self-obsessed and obsessed with getting attention. It's been difficult to play that, especially since it's my first production, but it's been interesting to explore her as a person and as a character."

Mark Bosset, freshman

"Everyone kind of walks all over him and it's interesting to see how that interaction takes place. I think like he would think, so I put myself in a position where I have no power over anybody else and just conform to how other people would treat me. ... I just love acting. I love putting myself in a place where I would think exactly like a completely different person and take on situations like that person. I find that interesting."

Richie Follin, senior

"The whole show is all about how with publicity, fame and a pretty smile, you can get away with anything you want because people just want to watch you for entertainment not for how good a person you are."

"It's going to show off everyone really well. It's something a lot of us are passionate about at Langley, the arts departments are all huge."

Camila Maric, junior

"We've got an amazing cast. Everybody in the show definitely deserves to be here. I think everybody should come see it because of the talent, there's a lot in this show."

the new auditorium."

Mark Bosset is in his first year at Langley, but he still felt the excitement of his friends in the theater department who have performed productions the last few years at The Langley School and McLean Bible Church while rehearsing everywhere from the choir classroom at school, the McLean Community Center, Adrenaline Studio and more.

"It's awesome that we're going to be the very first show on the stage. It's fantastic," said Bosset. "It's going to be a great stage, we're going to have a huge audience, huge, lots of seats, and overall, it's going to be a better experience."

IT'S HER LAST SEMESTER, and Brittany Lund auditioned on "a whim."

"I didn't realize how kind of complicated acting was. I have always been into singing and I've always been into dancing but acting is a whole different thing that I'm having to explore. I now watch movies in a new way," said Lund.

And she tried out for one of the lead roles, of Roxie.

"I was like, 'Oh, maybe I'll do, it's my last year,' and I tried out on a whim, and I lucked out," said Lund. "I still think it's kind of a fluke, I'm so surprised I got it."

McLean pitcher Jon Clines threw a complete game and earned the win against Langley on April 1.

McLean shortstop Conor Grammes drove in the winning run against Langley on April 1 with a walk-off single in the bottom of the seventh inning.

McLean Pitcher Clines Strikes Out 10 in Win Over Langley

McLean pitcher Jon Clines shut out rival Langley for six innings on April 1, limiting the Saxons to just one hit. After the senior left-hander ran into trouble in the top of the seventh inning, the Highlander lineup came through in the bottom half, assuring Clines' performance resulted in a win.

Senior shortstop Conor Grammes delivered a walk-off RBI single in the bottom of the seventh and the McLean baseball team defeated Langley 2-1 on Friday at McLean High School.

With the score tied at 1, McLean pinch hitter Jack Slade led off the bottom of seventh with a single. Trevor Schleppenbach re-entered as a baserunner, stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch. After two intentional walks loaded the bases with no outs, Grammes, who play college baseball at Xavier, hit a fly ball to deep left that fell for a hit and drove in the winning run.

"Conor's our 3 hitter for a reason," McLean head coach John Dowling said. "Conor has an exceptional ability to put the barrel of the bat on the ball. If you give me him up with the winning run at third base, I've got a good feeling about him putting the barrel on it somewhere and doing the job."

CLINES, who will play at VMI, threw a complete game and earned the win. He allowed one earned run and two hits while walking two and striking out 10.

After surrendering just one hit and no walks through six innings, Clines allowed a leadoff single to Langley catcher Danny Hosley and walked two Saxons during the top of the seventh. With the bases loaded and one out, designated hitter Josh McQuaig hit a ground ball to third that turned into a fielder's choice and an RBI, but nearly resulted in a game-ending 5-3 double play.

Clines avoided further damage with his 10th strikeout of the evening.

"Jon pitched his tail off," Dowling said. "We believe that he gives us a chance to win every night out and he did a very, very good job for us tonight. I can't say one bad thing. I think he's had days where he's had better stuff, but he did not allow that to impact his confidence to go out and execute a pitch."

How does a pitcher get the job done when he doesn't have his best stuff?

"Competing — that's a word that we use every minute of every day," Dowling said. "Jon has been on varsity for three years, playing serious, serious innings for three years and has taken that to heart and he competed for seven innings today."

Clines said he needs to do a better job of incorporating his legs when he pitches.

"That game, for some reason, I just felt like my top half was just working the whole game," Clines said. "By the time I got to the seventh inning, the top half was dead. I've just got to get more lower half in there so I can breeze through the seven innings that I get each game."

Clines drove in McLean's first run with a fielder's choice in the bottom of the first. He went 1-for-3 at the plate.

Third baseman Tom Shue and designated hitter Will French each had a hit for McLean.

Dowling praised catcher Grant Williams for his performance behind the plate. Williams saved a run in the top of the second by retrieving a wild pitch and throwing out a Langley runner trying to score from third.

Langley starting pitcher Jake Trautwein suffered the tough-luck loss. The senior right-hander threw a complete game, allowing two earned runs and five hits in 6-plus innings. He hit two batters, walked five — two intentional — and struck out four.

"Jake pitched his tail off," Langley head coach Kevin Healy said. "He did it for us at South Lakes (on March 16) when we got that win. He did it on spring break and we kind of kicked a few balls around. We told him after the game, all you can do is what you can do and he's doing a great job."

THE VICTORY was McLean's third in a row and improved its record to 6-3 overall and 3-1 in Conference 6.

"I think we're starting to finally figure out who we are as a team, starting to figure out what works for us, what doesn't work," Grammes said, "and I'm just really excited to see what we have in store for us in the future." McLean was scheduled to face Yorktown on Tuesday, after The Connection's deadline. The Highlanders will travel to take on Fairfax at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, April 8. After the loss to McLean, which dropped Langley's conference record to 2-2, the Saxons played two games on Saturday. Langley lost to Grove City (Ohio) 15-10 and beat George Mason 13-2, moving its record to 4-5.

The Saxons were scheduled to face Fairfax on Tuesday, after The Connection's deadline. Langley will travel to face Madison at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, April 8.

Langley to Present 'Chicago'

Now she says she's excited that she "got the chance to be involved."

Follin understands; he first performed at Langley his junior year.

"I've been a choir student all four years and I've always loved being on stage and performing, but that was always more the music aspect," said Follin.

"I have some friends in the theater department and I always saw them acting," he said. "I've been to a few of their shows, and I thought, 'That looks like a lot of fun. So junior year, I tried it and loved it, and I was like, 'Man, I got involved too late.'"

Follin will attend Virginia Commonwealth University next year to study acting.

THIS SPRING, the cast of "Chicago" has rehearsed in the Langley Choir room, the McLean Community Center, the Adrenaline Dance Studios.

Often times, they have to change locations day to day.

They've had to design and build sets in parking lots.

"Having a place that's devoted for rehearsals makes a big difference," said Follin. "We're here rehearsing in a dance studio so we actually haven't rehearsed on stage at all so we have no idea what's it going to be like. We just have to get on stage and adapt."

Maric said it is the first time they will perform with a full pit orchestra.

During renovations, performances have been with a sound track; in rehearsals this year, they've even brought in a karaoke machine.

"You have more freedom of expression with your songs because you're working with people so you can make each piece more of your own," said Maric.

"When you're working with a pre-recorded track you have to work with what they give you."

"It's a lot more authentic, and it frees up a lot of what you can do with the music," said Follin, "Instead of having to adjust the way you're singing and dancing to a set time, you can work with a conductor and they'll watch you and you can do things live that you wouldn't be able to do with a recording."

Theron Masters, a senior, plans to attend the University of Michigan to study piano performance. He will play the piano during the show.

"I like this kind of stuff," he said. "Getting the notes down by myself is easy, but putting it together with other people is the challenge."

He has two conductors, the pit conductor and the actors on stage. "As a musician, our job is to help the performers on stage sound good."

Goodson likes the enormity of the production of "Chicago."

"I think I'm more of a musical girl, I really like to sing and dance," she said. "Literally, the whole theater department is involved in this show."

The duet featuring her and Lund is just one highlight of the show.

"She has such an amazing voice and she's so talented that it's intimidating. But she's been helping me a lot and encouraging me to do my best," said Lund.

Goodson gave credit to her teachers.

"They handed us the golden egg here and paved the way for us to have a good show," she said. "I think it has a really awesome message with what is going on with politics right now."

The show is set in Chicago during the 1920s.

"This show is a little raunchy, so it's going to be interesting when my grandparents come to see it," she said. "When my friends come to see it, it's going to be really really, really fun just to see their faces."

Carnival Ride of Entertainment

New York Neo Futurists at the Alden

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

Headlined by Mike Puckett, a 2008 Centreville High School graduate, the New York Neo Futurists return to the Alden by audience demand. Armed with a clothesline and a menu of titles, the "Neo's" create an exhilarating one-of-a-kind theater experience in collaboration with the Alden patrons. It is 60 minutes of "Too Much Light Makes the Baby Go Blind."

"The audience is crucial to the success of the evening's entertainment. The audience is our key and are equals," said Puckett. "They help decide how the evening will progress from scene to scene."

If you have not seen the Neo's before; here is how it works. The audience gets to shout out play titles from a menu they are provided. The titles are from a playlists of some 4000 different scenarios the Neo's have amassed. On stage, the performers try to beat the clock ticking away so they successfully complete their task of performing 30 very different rapid plays chosen by total strangers in an allotted 60 minutes.

The Neo's perform plays that can be topical, political, and personal or based upon absurd things from everyday real life. The overall effect is fast and immediate as the plays range in time from less than a minute in length to others that can be over 3 minutes.

There is also audience participation as the theatre troupe will invite Alden patrons onto the stage or bound off the stage into the aisles and perhaps into the sets to tease and cavort with the on-lookers. "It is all in good fun, of course," noted Puckett.

Sarah Schallerin, director, performing arts, Alden Theatre, McLean Community Center, invited audiences to the joy of joining the New York Neo Futurists community of devotees, whether for the first time or a returnee. "This is theatre for people who want to be part of the action, love a rush of adrenaline, take a little of everything from the buffet," said Schallerin with a sly grin in a recent interview.

Alden staff will be at the Neo's performance to obtain feedback from patrons. This provides an opportunity to offer reactions to the Neo Futurist's performance. Now that is personal, on-the-spot customer service which can have impact on the Alden's next season of performances.

Join the party, take part and enjoy in the cozy confines of the Alden Theatre. It is right in the nearby neighborhood—an evening of one-of-a-kind theatre.

Although I am often left to my own devices (not a continuation of last week's column), I am rarely left to my own thoughts. Five indoor cats will do that, and much more. More importantly though, I know they are here, always. Wherever I go in our house, I'm likely to find a cat. And in so doing, there's always a conversation to be had, and/or a gesture to be made. And even though the conversations are a bit one-sided, typically, there is ample vocalization on their part to reward my initiative.

As "Hawkeye" Pierce advised Cpl. Radar O'Reilly on a long-ago M*A*S*H episode: "Loneliness is everything it's cracked up to be." And though the context had to do with Radar's widowed mother dating again, not her spending time alone after receiving a cancer diagnosis, the impact and benefits are likely the same: being able to live, work and play; at home or on the road, with some kind of companionship. Moreover, not being stuck/focused on yourself/your condition all the time also helps fend off – or at least redirect, some of the inevitable demons.

And if cancer is responsible for anything, other than tumors, it's responsible for demons. Not that one can quantify or qualify the psychological effect three words: "You have cancer" can have. Suffice it to say, exponential comes to mind. The damage is usually widespread. Every part of your life – and routine, is impacted. What was, will likely never be again, and what you had hoped might be is now located somewhere between a wing and a prayer. A definite maybe might be the best you can expect.

But the longer one survives, the more one starts to believe – in possibilities again, and reasons as well for that survival. Not that I have the keys to the kingdom or any sort of path of least resistance to follow, but I will attribute some of my unexpected survival to a positive attitude, a good sense of humor and constant companionship. Companionship which in itself prevents me from ever being stuck – too much, in my own head dealing with my cancer. Because of the nature of cat care and of coexisting with FIVE indoor cats, there is always some kind of diversion; be it food, water, litter, playing, scratching, petting, snuggling, cuddling, chastising, to consider. As a result, there's always a non-cancer driven behavior/task that forces me to think of someone other than myself. And since a diagnosis of "terminal" stage IV lung cancer will probably ("probably?") cause you to think very much about yourself, having an external force (the cats) who require you to not think about yourself, seems to balance the pile a little bit (a dog would provide the same diversion/benefit, absolutely; at present, we're between dogs, however).

As a semi example: Right now, I have one cat, "Chino" lying on my desk along the top of my writing pad, purring, staring at me while I'm writing. I have another cat, "Twinkle," playing in the next room, tossing her toy mouse around and scratching at my office door wanting in – or else. The other three cats are sleeping: in the den, the living room and in an upstairs bedroom; all in plain sight, all keenly aware of the time somehow, waiting for five o'clock dinner. And because I'm aware of all this activity/routine, I am not thinking that I have cancer. I am thinking instead that I have five cats and dinner will be soon enough and that in the interim, I probably ("probably?") need to clean their litter box, and that I only have enough wet food for breakfast tomorrow and that the black cats: "Andrew" and "Sloane," are due at the veterinarian for miscellaneous shots and that "Biscuit," "Chino's" brother has been eating everybody's leftover food lately, so much so that I'm wondering if we'll need to segregate him/them somehow, and on and on and on.

No cancer talk. No Kenny or can't he deal with his disease. Just plain, everyday, garden variety stuff. In fact, the stuff from which dreams are made, especially if you're a cancer patient. Apparently, when it's not about me, ultimately, it's me who seems to benefit.

Taking the Long View

BY JOHN BYRD
THE CONNECTION

Budgeted, incremental improvements are the key to effective planning, aging in place.

When they decided not to move-on after retirement, seniors Mike and Sandy Nusbaum slowly began enlarging their long-term residence with several goals in mind.

Ten years and four improvements later, the couple's Alexandria home is ideal for extended visits with children and grandchildren—and all sorts of everyday pleasures.

Home improvements can come in many sizes: life-changing or simply necessary; comprehensive, or something to please the grandkids.

The real problem is practical: how to conveniently and affordably implement a list of desired improvements—especially when experience tells you that securing a satisfactory outcome for even a basic household repair can be challenging.

In this context, it's heartening to talk with Mike and Sandy Nusbaum, retired empty-nesters who have executed mid- to large-scale renovations to their thirty-year-old south Alexandria residence in phases, about once every two years and for more than a decade.

Plainly, the Nusbaums like their house, a circa-1980s Colonial-style home where they raised three children. While somewhat space-constrained at its original 2,100 square feet, the structure's location adjacent to woodland and minutes from historic Old Town made it hard to beat.

As retirement neared, however, the couple began cautiously reassessing their home's basic assets, even briefly considering a move to a bigger place.

"You have to ask yourself whether the next house will actually improve your quality of life," Sandy Nusbaum says, recounting her thoughts of twelve years back. "When we looked at the alternatives ... we realized there were only a few things about our house that we didn't like."

AND SO IT BEGAN. Plans for incremental changes. Kitchen and screened porch.

Mike and Sandy Nusbaum have enlarged their home four times in the past ten years. Each phase has improved the home's overall functionality, which has transformed it into a preferred gathering place for children, grandchildren and extended family.

New family room and deck. Lower level. Enlarged Garage ... Facilitated by a new relationship, with 30-year veteran remodeler David Foster, principal of Foster Remodeling Solutions.

"We met some homeowners at a local home show who raved about David," Sandy recalls. "David has a low-key style, and a strong service orientation that helps us make informed decisions."

Looking back, while the remodeler's fresh design ideas were critical, the couple also appreciated his clearly-stated, always-reliable cost projections.

"WE WERE ON THE CUSP of retirement and didn't want debt," Mike Nusbaum says. "Our first thought was to make targeted improvements to the kitchen while keeping our options open for the larger family entertainment suite we might undertake as we assessed the budget issue."

Foster was not only supportive of such thinking, but, as the Nusbaums learned, considers "phased remodeling" an integral part of his company's service.

"I grew up in Fairfax County and have learned my business by helping homeowners find a process that will work for them as they think ahead," he says.

Once work began, the Nusbaums particularly noted the foresight Foster brought to each improvement.

"Ten years ago, we wanted the rooms extending from the kitchen to function better as a place for entertainment. We had a small dining room that wasn't being used much. The back rooms were too dark," Sandy Nusbaum recalls.

In short order, the wall between the kitchen and dining room disappeared, replaced by a three-stool Silestone counter that has become the couple's primary kitchen gathering area. That counter surface was also positioned as a serving station for the new elevated 16-by16-foot screened porch that is now a much-used fair-weather dining spot.

A new window over the kitchen sink adds natural light and a lovely view of the backyard. "When you walk from the kitchen to the screen porch, it feels like you're walking in the air through the trees," Sandy says. "This gave us a wonderful re-discovery of our own backyard."

From there, it wasn't long before the Nusbaums began planning an extension of the rear family room, an open-air grilling deck and a pathway that permits children, grandchildren and guests to circulate freely through a wide-ranging suite of rooms used for social gatherings.

"It was at this point that we started having holiday gatherings for up to thirty," Sandy says. "Such fun!"

WHICH LED TO THE THIRD PHASE:

Transform the 800-square-foot lower level into an exercise room that doubles as a guest suite. Here a comfortable Murphy bed folds out of a discrete closet. There's a full bath, and built-in serving station with refrigerator and microwave. The Nusbaums refer to it as "the family suite." On holidays, it can be occupied for days at a stretch.

Then, just last year, Foster created a second bay for the garage by building a wing off the side elevation. The new construction is supplemented by a garden shed accessed from the yard. The contents, pruning tools, mower, freed up floor space in the garage, which now (for the first time) has room for something special: two cars.

"What we really appreciate about David Foster is there are no bad surprises, and frequently there are good ones," Mike Nusbaum said. "Last year, for instance, he repaired a window that was out of warranty and didn't charge us. That kind of service encourages you to think ahead."

Luxury Condos are a Growth Market for Seniors

Active retirees seek options for independent living, including condos in Alexandria, Arlington, Tysons, Reston, McLean, Bethesda and Chevy Chase, among others.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

When Joyce and Don Lipman decided to move out of their Potomac, Md. home, they opted for a high-end townhouse instead of a retirement community. They gained a cosmopolitan environment and lost the burdensome maintenance of a large home.

"My husband always hated taking care of the grounds and he didn't want to pay someone to do it, and we weren't ready for a retirement community," said Joyce Lipman, who is 71. "Now I can walk to the shopping center and to my doctor's office. I couldn't believe it the first time I was able to go without my car. It was like a new lease on life."

When another active retired couple decided to downsize and move out of their home, they opted for a high-end condominium instead of moving to a retirement community. They enjoy traveling and own a beach home where they often spend time. When it came time to design their new living space, they sought the help of Kelley Proxmire of Kelley Interior Design in Bethesda, Md.

The couple wanted "a pretty, yet practical home and also a place they could lock and leave on a moment's notice," said Proxmire.

Condominiums and townhouses are growing in popularity for midlife couples because unlike large homes, they don't require a lot of maintenance, and they offer opportunities for living independently.

"In the next three to five years, luxury condominiums are going to be extremely popular with that age group, those who feel the colonial home is too big and they don't want the ... mentality of retirement communities," said Debbie Miller, an Arlington-based associate broker with McEneaney

Kelley Proxmire designed plush interior for a retired couple who downsized from a larger home into a luxury condominium.

"In the next three to five years, luxury condominiums are going to be extremely popular with ... those who feel the colonial home is too big and they want the freedom of locking and leaving their home."

— Debbie Miller, McEneaney Associates

Inc. who specializes in the 55 and over real estate market. "Luxury condominiums provide a great option."

Miller says that in addition to proximity to shopping, dining and public transportation, amenities such as a 24-hour concierge service that can handle requests such as meal delivery and grocery shopping make high-end buildings sought after among well-heeled retirees.

The buyers Miller works with are looking for condos "that provide a 'lock-and-leave' advantage for residents who ... like to travel or who spend six months here and six months elsewhere."

Such condominiums are prized and often hard to obtain.

"There are some that are very exclusive and [others that] don't come on the market very often," she said. "I sold a unit in the Rotonda [in McLean] a year ago and had multiple offers that were all cash."

ONE REASON THAT retirees opt for condominiums over retirement communities is freedom without restrictions, such as the frequency or length of stay for overnight guests. "In a retirement community, your grandchildren might only be able to visit for two weeks. Condos provide more of an independent feel," said Miller. "Owning a condo allows them the opportunity to pay the condo fee and come and go as they please and someone else takes care of the maintenance."

Another reason is proximity, with a condominium community more likely than a retirement community to be in an urban environment like Arlington, Reston or Tysons.

Among the most favored luxury condominium properties in Northern Virginia, says Miller, are The Palladium of McLean, Midtown at Reston, the Porto Vecchio in Old Town Alexandria, and the Turnberry Tower in Arlington.

"There are many other high-rises that appeal to the 55 and older crowd due to convenience and lots of amenities and that are walkable," she said.

Gerontology experts offer perspective for retirees who are looking to buy a new home. "The main thing is to consider safety," said Beverly Middle, DNP, RN, Assistant Professor of the College of Health and Human Services in the School of Nursing at George Mason University. "Communities where there are other older adults tend to have services in place to support them."

Middle recommends using evidence-based design when creating dwellings suitable for seniors. "It's a new science that's geared toward older adults and is very specific to their needs," she said.

Addressing retirees' desire to live a vibrant and active life that takes freedom and safety into consideration, some retirement communities are working to broaden their appeal to a wider group of seniors. For example, Sunrise Senior Living, based in McLean, created a Live With Purpose program which offers residents structured programs that include activities for volunteering and learning.

"No matter your age, each of us has interests, desires and activities that make us feel whole and help contribute to a meaningful, healthy life," said Rita Altman, senior vice president of Memory Care & Program Services for Sunrise.
