MCA Votes to Oppose Special Exceptions

The 40 residents who attended the McLean Citizens Association meeting last Wednesday, July 8, applauded when the board voted unanimously to oppose Sunrise's proposed assisted living facility.

"In 15 years, I've never seen so much opposition in any case," said Mark Zetts, chairman of MCA's planning and zoning committee. "We've been inundated with emails."

"In the 102-year history of the McLean Citizens Association, few issues have driven neighborhood anger like the proposed location of the 90-bed Sunrise Assisted Living facility at the corner of Kirby and Westmoreland roads in McLean. After studying the proposal for almost two years, MCA voted to oppose the multiple zoning adjustments that Sunrise needs to build on this lot," said MCA president Jeff Barnett.

Sunrise Development Inc. seeks a Medical Care Facility Special Exception permit to construct and operate an assisted living facility at 1988 Kirby Road, at the intersection of Kirby Road and Westmoreland Street.

Homeowners associations, including LAmbiance of McLean, Mayfair of McLean, Autumn Chase, Foxhall Road and civic associations El Nido, Marlborough-Nantucket and Franklin Area Civic Association all oppose the application, according to MCA draft documents.

"Given the mass it represents, we believe it should be on a full five-acre site," said Zetts.

The facility would have a maximum of 73 units and 90 beds, according to MCA documents, in a 40,309-square-foot building. Approximately 90 employees would work at the facility, although a maximum of 25 employees would be on the site at any time, according to the documents.

Sunrise's corporate headquarters are in McLean, and the company operates more

Why MCA Opposes Sunrise Development

In the 102-year history of the McLean Citizens Association, few issues have driven neighborhood anger like the proposed location of the 90-bed Sunrise Assisted Living facility at the corner of Kirby and Westmoreland roads in McLean. After studying the proposal for almost two years, MCA voted to oppose the multiple zoning adjustments that Sunrise needs to build on this lot.

The vote by MCA's Board of Directors was unanimous.

With few exceptions, families in the area strongly oppose this development. A 3-story, 42-foot high building is totally out of character with a neighborhood of single-family homes, many dating from the 1950s.

The Sunrise facility would generate 2

Jeff Barnett

1/2 times the amount of traffic generated by private homes on this lot. The Kirby/Westmoreland intersection is already overloaded during rush hour and school drop-off/pick-up times. No traffic improvements are planned; expected growth alone will make today's unacceptable traffic jams even more intense and dangerous.

Protecting McLean's neighborhoods remains the focus of the McLean Citizens Association. Proposals like Sunrise are sure to come again. Unless we want McLean to mirror Tysons, Alexandria or Arlington, our community of homes must constantly stand firm to protect the iconic residential nature of McLean.

Jeff Barnett, President
McLean Citizens Association

than 300 Sunrise Senior Living communities in the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom, according to its website.

MCA debated last Wednesday for more than an hour before it voted unanimously.

"I feel this is a really tough issue. We are an aging community and I really believe there is a need for more," said MCA member Sally Horn. "But the concern of the surrounding neighborhood is something we need to take into account."

THE PLANNING COMMISSION has a public hearing scheduled for Thursday, July 28 on the Sunrise application.

Dranesville Planning Commissioner John Ulfelder attended the meeting on July 8.

"The proposed facility would differ from the previously approved facilities in that 1) the property is surrounded by low-density residential neighborhoods, 2) the building as viewed from the east would sit atop a 17-foot built-up grade, 3) the building as viewed from the north would present a 3-story, 42-foot building," according to MCA documents.

"While the site would accommodate the proposed 40,309-square-foot building, given the prominence of the subject property due to its shape, topography and the geometry of the Kirby/Westmoreland intersection, and given the height and mass of the proposed building, the building would be out of character with the neighborhood," according to MCA documents.

The documents also state that the intersection of Kirby Road and Westmoreland Street averages 21,000 vehicle trips daily "and has chronic traffic congestion during rush and school drop-off and pick-up hours due, in part, to the proximity of Longfellow Middle school."

The assisted living facility is projected to generate 248 daily trips, more than twice the number of trips if the land was developed for single family residential use, according to MCA documents.

"With few exceptions, families in the area strongly oppose this development. A three-story, 42-foot high building is totally out of character with a neighborhood of single-family homes, many dating from the 1950s," said Barnett.

MCA ALSO VOTED on a resolution regarding The School Board of the City of Falls Church's application to expand Mount Daniel Elementary.

That application is scheduled for a public hearing before the Planning Commission on Thursday, July 21.

Falls Church City Public Schools operates Mount Daniel Elementary School on a 7.31-acre property located in a residential neighborhood at 2328 North Oak St. FCCPS has operated the school on the county property since 1952 and expanded the school by four classrooms in 2005, according to MCA draft documents.

"It is a lot of intensity for this small site," said Zetts.

Mount Daniel has a current enrollment of approximately 348 kindergarten and first grade students and 67 employees.

Enrollment would increase from 348 to 660, according to MCA documents.

Square footage of the building would expand from 40,347 to 79,491, said Zetts.

In 2015, FCCPS filed a 2232 Review application proposing to expand Mount Daniel to 36 classrooms with an enrollment of 792 students and 84 employees, according to the documents.

The McLean Citizens Association Board of Directors adopted a resolution opposing the potential expansion in 2015 because it was "excessive and incompatible with the neighborhood."

MCA also opposed the original application to expand the school in 2015 based on the "deficiency of North Oak Street, a 26-foot-wide roadway, as the sole access to the school property" and "the impacts of schools operations on the use of North Oak Street by its residents."

McLean, Great Falls Market Enjoys Strong First Half 2016

BY KAREN BRISCOE

Karen Briscoe

The real estate market in the first half of 2016 was robust in McLean and Great Falls. The number of transactions is up 6 percent over 2015 in the same time frame. In addition, compared to the 2006 market ten years ago, it is up over 18 percent. This is excellent news for the market area as we enter into the summer season. It indicates an environment for the potential for price appreciation, provided demand remains strong relative to supply.

As was the case for the first quarter 2016, the segment that performed the best in these zip codes was the upper brackets, considered to be over $1.25 million. Not surprising, most of the price points experienced greater sales year over year and higher than at 2006 levels as well.

The price points below $1.25 million were flat for the first half 2016 over 2015, yet over the 2006 levels. The millennial generation comprises some of this market niche according to economists. This accounts for many of the condo purchases in the Tysons 22102 area of McLean. Further the first level move up buyer now is confident that their lower priced home will sell quickly so that they can more easily make the leap into the next price bracket with bridge or other available creative financing options.

One of the best performing price points continues to be the $1.25 to $2 million price range. Much of this comprises in-fill new home builders tearing down an older existing home for the land value. In many cases the lots are purchased off market which could be skewing the numbers for the lower price points. There is very little available land remaining for development in McLean and Great Falls, so hard to know how long this trend will last. As builders compete for lots, there is less available for end-user owners that would buy the homes to live in. Although this scenario can be a healthy sign of a rising market these dynamics can make it challenging for a first time home buyer to purchase.

McLean and Great Falls home sellers are currently experiencing "best of times" conditions in 2016 relative to 2006 which was previously a peak market year for the area. Looking forward into the balance of 2016 indicators are that homes priced correctly

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Misinterpretation and Misdirection

To the Editor:

This is a response to Mr. Peter Storm's specious letter, ("What Was the Founding Fathers' Intent?" (Connection, July 6-12, 2016) and the broader leftist propensity toward historical misinterpretation and misdirection regarding the 2nd Amendment.

Mr. Storm applied a selective "Founding Fathers" taxonomy (limited to the 56 signers of the Declaration) to assert that it's not possible to determine the Founders' intent behind the 2nd Amendment because they were "hardly involved" in authoring the Constitution, save the six men who signed both.

With this logic, readers are presumably supposed to feel compelled to foreswear an originalist hermeneutic and submit to the latest progressive assault on individual liberties.

Not so fast. This is a distinction without a difference.

Whether the authors and signers of the Constitution are billed as "Founders" or not has almost no bearing whatsoever on one's ability to discern their intent, or on their authority when it comes to interpreting what they wrote or agreed to. Besides, the more widely accepted taxonomy for the "Founding Fathers" is one that includes the delegates to the Constitutional Convention, a taxonomy to which our own National Archives subscribes.

And irrespective of how narrow or broad one's definition of "the Founding Fathers" is, the historical record is replete with compelling evidence that those men recognized and sought to protect an individual right to bear arms, as the Supreme Court reaffirmed most recently in Heller, and in so doing, serve as a check on the abuse of federal power.

So, when your readers hear things like Representative Connolly's call for reinstatement of the scary-looking (er...assault) weapons ban, they can easily consult any number of fellow Virginian Founders to see how contrary to their intent such proposals are: Thomas Jefferson and Richard Henry Lee (Declaration signers); or George Mason and James Madison (Convention delegates).

Progressives rely heavily on emotional appeals and logical misdirection to advance their anti-gun agenda, counting on the public to have forgotten their history. Your readers should not fall for it.

School Board Politics and Transgender Policy

To the Editor:

The perception from many like me is that the Fairfax County School Board is hungry for national media attention as evidenced by their 2015 vote on the Gender Nonconforming and Transgender Student Policy. The fact is the board has had a strong nondiscrimination policy for many years, its verbiage covered race, gender, culture, etc. So why did the board take it upon itself to identify and present the transgender issue when only .3 percent (according to a Williams Survey) of the population identified with this issue on a national level? A question never really posed to the board.

The Fairfax County School Board has lost its focus of the real issues such as the delivery of education in a global environment, renovations of current facilities in a timely manner, partnering education opportunities with institutions of higher learning, expanding language programs to the elementary schools, etc. It is my understanding the gender issue became a topic of discussion due to the persistence of a few individuals who took it to an at large member and then later to the local Democratic party. However, board members are to be impartial of political party loyalties but let us not be naive, board votes are driven by party directives.

Our education board is broken if they are letting political parties determine board topics and votes on matters of curriculum and other issues for the sake of gaining party votes during an election year. Let there be no misunderstanding, this is exactly what the transgender issue is all about; party votes and expanding a social agenda. It is doubtful parents and constituents know the board's vote in 2015 impacted the budget, student sports, the use of bathrooms, locker rooms, etc. Their seven-page policy is not meant for the occasional light reader.

The board has hit a sensitive nerve with its constituents and parents on this issue and now prefers to shy away from additional media controversy and discussion. In fact many parents are unaware the Transgender Policy is being brought forth again at a School Board Forum on July 14, which proves excellent planning on the board's part. The month of July is a wonderful time for controversial issues, the timing takes advantage that a large majority of parents and residents are gone on vacation; therefore it is easier to pass motions and generate policies. After such, the board will go into recess and all controversies will seem to be forgotten due to a lack of media attention. Thus there is little vocal objection from the public or notice.

Unfortunately for Elizabeth Schultz, FCPS Springfield District School Board representative, she has little hope in changing anything on this issue due to the board's political party influence and the timing of this issue. Her vote will continue to be a lonely vote. Common sense and true educational issues have been lost in Fairfax County.

When Building an Addition, Add Green Features

An addition can be a good opportunity to cure some of an existing house's energy evils. An addition offers an excellent opportunity to incorporate benefits for the whole house. For instance, if an existing building is sited poorly for solar gain and day lighting, look into the possibility of using windows, skylights, and solar massing in the addition that can add heat to the house. Or, plan an addition that can shade other parts of the house.

Before you plan to add out with a new foundation and floor space, also consider adding up, which uses fewer materials, is less disruptive to a site, and could save money and tread more lightly on the environment.

A new space shouldn't be any larger than it has to be. Keeping the new space as small as possible pays dividends in at least two ways: by keeping construction costs low and by reducing operating and maintenance costs. A smaller addition also makes less of an impact on the site and the neighborhood.

Bright White

White kitchens are a trend with staying power.

By MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

The clean, crisp look of a white kitchen has staying power and ver satility, according to the National Kitchen and Bath Association. The organization reports that white cabinetry is the top choice for 67 percent of its members. In fact, the percentage of homeowners requesting white kitchens has increased by 20 percent over the past two years.

The trend is also apparent locally, said designers. When a family of five returned to the Washington, D.C. area after spending 30 years in the U.S. Foreign Service, they settled into their home in Bethesda, a 1960 brick Dutch colonial that they purchased in 1986. They decided to give the home a makeover because, after being a rental for many years, it felt dated and dingy. The family felt that the kitchen was old, dark and closed-off from the living room. They needed a larger space to accommodate their family of five.

The homeowners knew they wanted the new kitchen space to be free flowing and light-filled. They also wanted to incorporate some of their existing furniture, such as an antique table and chairs.

Designed by Bruce Wentworth of Wentworth Inc., the new kitchen is sunny and spacious. It includes white cabinetry and an island with dark gray granite countertops. A large stainless sink, dishwasher, pull-out trash and bookcase for cookbooks make the island functional. Facing the dining room is a shallow cabinet with mullioned glass doors.

Granite tops the counters in the remainder of the kitchen and white cabinetry houses a sub-zero refrigerator, microwave drawer, small prep sink and a gas range with a stainless steel range hood. “Wall cabinets with clear glass mullioned cabinet doors [give] visual depth and make space feel larger,” said Wentworth.

When the owners of an Arlington home decided to update their dark and dated kitchen, they opened the space to the living and dining rooms and added natural lighting and white cabinetry. The result was a room with a crisp and airy aesthetic. The new, open concept allows the homeowners to better interact with family and friends.

“Prior to the remodel, the kitchen was essentially closed off to the rest of the home,” said April Case

Natural lighting and white cabinetry helped transform this kitchen, by Case Design Build, Inc. into light and airy space.

Underwood of Case Design/Re-modeling. “I think the grouping of materials the client selected with us are unique, definitely not cookie-cutter, and these make the space really interesting,” Underwood said.

Among the fixtures, accessories and materials used are Caesarstone countertops, a marble and granite backsplash and reclaimed shelving, provided by homeowners, which, “made the kitchen look more unique and gave it an eclectic feel,” said Underwood.

“I think in general the perfect combination of the various materials, from smooth and glossy to rough and textured, is simple but interesting and shows beautifully,” said Underwood.

A large picture window overlooking an expansive backyard is the focal point of a white kitchen in Falls Church. When the homeowners decided to renovate and expand the space, they enlisted the help of designer Keira St. Claire of Anthony Wilder Design Build, Inc. The project included adding additional space to the back of the house and removing a wall between the kitchen and the dining room.

“Although we opened up the wall between the kitchen and dining room, one challenge was maintaining a distinction between the two spaces, which was important to the client,” said St. Claire. “In order to create a feeling of separation, while preserving the sense of openness

A Potomac, Maryland, kitchen was lightened, brightened and redesigned by Rill Architects to give the home's owners to a connection to their natural surroundings.

... [we designed] a custom glass cabinet piece, which is accessible from both rooms,” said St. Claire.

The new unit gives the homeowners extra storage and a place to display their crystal. Sunlight from the new picture window in the kitchen reflects off the crystal stemware and refracts, causing both rooms to glisten with radiant, natural light.

White cabinetry was contrasted against dark wood as part of a kitchen renovation in Centreville. While the basic layout of the kitchen remained the same, the space, which was designed by Allie Mann of Case Design Build, Inc., was brightened with white cabinetry, a built-in pantry and a custom cherry wood island. “The white kitchen is classic and timeless,” said Mann. “It can work with most color accent palettes.”

A cramped and dark Potomac, Maryland, kitchen was lightened, brightened and redesigned to give the home's owners a connection to their natural surroundings, which included a landscaped yard created for outdoor entertaining.

The kitchen was designed by Jim Rill of Rill Architects who added a working island around which the family can gather and prepare meals. He described the new look as a, “simple, clean design with subtle elegance.” “

We added functional space with lots of windows and a place for everything, so kitchen could be cleaned up and used as an entertaining area,” Rill said.

The family wanted a white kitchen, he said, because it, “creates a great backdrop for art and accentuates the exterior colors of spring, winter and fall.”

Remembering Hunter Watson

Hunter Brooks Watson, 20, remembered for lighting up the room with his unforgettable smile and laugh.

Family and friends reminisced about the life of Hunter Brooks Watson, a 20-year-old man who died in a car crash in Delaware on June 18. On July 9, a memorial service was held at The Potomac School, which Watson attended from kindergarten through high school.

He had recently finished sophomore year at Syracuse University. Watson was remembered for lighting up the room with his unforgettable smile and laugh. He lived in the moment and would dedicate his undivided attention to whomever he was speaking. He was described as larger than life and persevering, so much so that he inspired others to take risks and accomplish more.

Watson was also remembered as creative and clever at school, renowned for being fun-loving and using the classroom as his stage. He was musically talented and would spend much of his free time attending concerts, listening to and producing music. He had a talent for producing videos, as well.

As a 10-year-old, Watson produced a music video that has had over 5 million views to date for a song his band wrote called "Video Games" that parodied children

Benefits of Giving Back

Young Women Leadership Program highlights importance of volunteerism for high school girls.

BY ALYSSA MILLER
THE CONNECTION

On Friday, several dozen high school girls gathered at Great Falls Library to hear about how they could get involved in volunteer opportunities. As part of Congresswoman Barbara Comstock's 10th Congressional District Young Women Leadership Program, these students were taught about the benefits of giving back to their communities.

A panel of guests spoke at the event, many of whom were from the organization Women Giving Back, which provides free clothing to homeless women and children in the area.

"Volunteerism really makes a difference," said Terri Stagi, the president of the WGB executive committee. "It adds something to your life."

According to Stagi, the young women at the program could volunteer for WGB by sorting clothing or even being personal shoppers for some of the teenagers being served by WGB.

Shirley Clark, the CEO and executive director of the Women's Center in Vienna, echoed Stagi's sentiments. According to Clark, volunteering is about more than just building a resume — although it can help with that as well.

"Volunteerism looks great on a resume, but more importantly, it helps you think differently," said Clark.

Clark and Sally Turner, the president and chair of the Women's Center Board of Directors, also discussed combatting pressures on women in the workplace.

According to Turner, when she was growing up, girls were told they could be secretaries, teachers or nurses. However, her grandfather owned a business school, so Turner went to business college during the summers and was able to get a job in the IT field. Turner urged the girls to get out of the office and meet people in their future careers, and to know when to move on from one job to the next.

Clark said she noticed during her banking career that many women didn't speak up or use their voice at work.

"While they may have had food and clothing and housing and even a job, they were really disadvantaged, as well, because they didn't have the confidence or the support they needed to get to the next level," said Clark.

Clark said that seeing women "give our power away" encouraged her to get started working to help women.

She encouraged the girls to volunteer and help women, even if only for a short time.

Comstock, who hosted the event, said that volunteering helps to enrich the lives of those who are helping, as well as those who are being helped.

"Whatever that passion is that you have," said Comstock, "when you share it, you probably learn more about yourself and your abilities by doing that."

Summer Strings Camp Mixes Monsters and Music

Campers keep orchestral skills fresh through sight reading, music history.

Ruth Donahue knows children need to have fun to learn. That's why every year at Summer Strings music camp, Donahue's elementary school campers are encouraged to dress up in costumes while they rehearse for their upcoming concert.

"Kids need to experience playing [music] in the summer, because it's so much fun," Donahue said, adding that practicing when they're not in class helps keep their skills fresh for the school year.

According to Donahue, a typical camp week includes dress up days on "Messy Monday," "Wacky Wednesday" and "Freaky Friday." Campers dress as everything from a Ghostbuster to a giant squid.

much as possible" and providing downtime only in small amounts allow the campers to stay focused and ready to learn.

Sarah, a camper who plays the violin, enjoys the ability to "learn more techniques" at camp.

The children, with Donahue conducting, play everything from country to jazz to classical music on their string instruments, taking a short break to play kickball during the day. Donahue doesn't have a favorite piece, but emphasizes the idea of providing a variety of options.

She also gets input from the campers; they vote on every piece to decide whether or not it will be performed in the concert, and she asks campers what pieces they want to review during the day.

Many of the campers are enthusiastic about tackling a challenge. Nafisa, a violinist, said her favorite part of camp is the music, and she loves "playing fun pieces."

Nicolas, a cellist, said he likes playing what he considers their hardest piece, a military march called "Men of Harlech." He said the hardest part of the piece is the difficult timing. While Nicolas won't be able to attend the concert, he can't wait to hear about "Men of Harlech" from his friends.

"I'm interested to see how that will work out," said Nicolas.

Arts Council Recognized for Innovative Public Art

The Arts Council of Fairfax County was recognized by Americans for the Arts' Public Art Network Year in Review program for its Imagine Art Here: Tysons Tiles temporary public art and engagement project with artist Julia Vogl. "We are delighted to have Imagine Art Here: Tysons Tiles selected for the 2015 public art Year in Review," said Linda S. Sullivan, president and CEO of the Arts Council of Fairfax County. "We've had wonderful public participation in this project and great community support. We look forward to continuing Imagine Art Here as a public art and community engagement series throughout the county."

The Arts Council is currently in the process of planning two new Imagine Art Here projects — at Seven Corners and Springfield — to be carried out in 2017-18. Working with Fairfax County government, National Endowment for the Arts, corporate sponsors and community partners, the Arts Council will continue to engage, inspire and provide a vision for future public art in Fairfax County. The Curiosistanians, Cirque du Soleil “Kurios.”

Cirque du Soleil magical ‘Kurios’ Under the Big Top at Tysons II

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

The dazzling, fantastic world of Cirque du Soleil’s “Kurios – Cabinet of Curiosities” will be under the famous blue-and-yellow Cirque du Soleil Big Top at Tysons II. It promises to be an astonishing journey meant to open the mind and imagination. And it is all live.

“Nothing is predictable in this magical, romantic, very ingenious world of dreams,” said Michel Laprise, artistic director behind “Kurios.” Laprise made clear that the show “is meant to transport both young and old into a steampunk fantasy world where all is possible.” It is a world not needing computer generated animation or 3-D effects. The real-life cast of performers “is taking daring risks right before everyone’s eyes,” said Laprise.

“Kurios” is meant to transport the audience into an alternative world full of characters conjured into life by a Seeker who becomes the Master of Ceremonies. He believes there are invisible worlds waiting to be connected to the curiosity in everybody.

In a show that Laprise calls “wild and free,” the Seeker is helped by Mr. Microcosmos with a fanciful collection of otherworldly, hybrid characters. They perform in an eccentric large-scale, steampunk fantasy with working mechanical marvels. It all takes place under the colorful 62-foot-high Cirque du Soleil Big Top with its capacity to seat 2,500.

What will pop out, float down from over 40 feet into the air or appear out of nowhere will be contortionists, acrobats, large hand puppets, aerial swinging bicyclists, comic acts, flying performers, an invisible circus, trampoline net performers, chair balancing acts, an upside-down world full of mirrors, to name just a few of the many acts. There will also be arcade-like performers, such as an accordion man, and others.

There will be well over 400 props and 100 unique costumes to further express, all without words, what is happening before the audience. Even the hard-at-work stagehands will be visible and in costume. And if the weather permits, there will be artists up on the exterior of the Big Top greeting everyone.

“The show was created and is performed so that the audience will not miss their computer screens

Laprise added that he wanted the audience “to feel close and connected with the performers and asking themselves ‘how do they do that?’”

‘Spring Awakening’ at 1st Stage in Tysons

Students of the Metropolitan School of the Arts of Alexandria are putting on their fifth student-directed and produced show—the Tony Award-nominated “Spring Awakening.” The performances are on Friday, July 29 at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, July 30 and Sunday, July 31 at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. at the 1st Stage Theater at 1524 Spring Hill Road in McLean. Tickets are $20 per person and can be purchased at www.metropolitanarts.org.

“Spring Awakening” is based on Frank Wedekind’s groundbreaking and controversial play, as well as Steven Sater and Duncan Sheik’s brilliant rock score and book. It’s the story of a sexual awakening, youth revolt and self-discovery into a new century. It’s 1891, and grown-ups hold all the cards. Headstrong Melchior and naive Wendla stumble into each others’ arms, passionate and curious, while anxious Moritz struggles to live up to the stringent expectations of society. With only each other for guidance, this group of young men and women travel the fraught and rocky path of adolescence, discovering their bodies, their minds, and themselves along the way. An electric, vibrant celebration of youth and rebellion, fuses issues of morality, sexuality, and rock and roll into a story that packs a powerful emotional punch.

Led by MSA students -- director, Chad Vann of Lorton; musical director, James Woods of Alexandria; producer, Sam Cornbrooks of Springfield; choreographer, Georgia Monroe of Ashburn, assistant stage manager, Emma Cook of Lorton; and stage manager, Kyle Dannahey of Springfield -- this youth-directed production brings a non-traditional interpretation focusing on the importance of communication between adults and adolescents. This production will include thematic elements reminiscent of Wedekind’s original play and promises a darker interpretation of the popular musical. “Spring Awakening” contains some mature language and themes might not be suited for young audiences.

“Our student-run musical theatre group continues to inspire, create and excel in bringing great musicals to our local stages—we’re so proud of them,” said Melissa Dobbs, founder and executive director of Metropolitan School of the Arts Alexandria.

Penchant for Pills

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

If I have done anything consistently well in my seven-plus years of being a cancer patient, it is to have ingested upwards of 50 pills or so every day. For all I know (and of course, I know very little), the presumptive benefits of these various pills might actually have had a positive effect and extended my life. Or perhaps, it has merely been a placebo-type effect. I think (certainly hope) they should be positively affecting me, so they are.

Swallowing 50 pills a day is not a hardship – for me. In fact, I know of some cancer patients who take hundreds of pills per day (and some protocols that require it). In addition, there are still others who take coffee enemas, spend time in oxygen chambers and saunas, immerse themselves in Epsom salt baths, get infused with massive doses of vitamin C, use essential oils (Frankincense as an example); grow, blend and then drink their own wheat grass; and on and on and on. All in an attempt to stabilize and/or kill the cancer cells.

Am I living proof that what I am doing is working (keeping the cancer cells from growing/moving)? Impossible to say. However, it doesn't seem to be hurting; I will admit to that. But given the fact that the FDA (Food and Drug Administration) doesn't research/analyze/corroborate/dispute the alleged benefits of non-prescription supplements, I may actually be winging and praying my way through life. No matter. I'm happy to live with the consequences of my actions. Quite frankly, it would be naive to think that if I took no action I'd experience similar results. In the cancer-patient world, wishing and hoping likely doesn't make it so. Being proactive, at least for me, has been a path of least resistance. Doing nothing would have been giving in to the disease, which I have no intention of doing. Ergo, to keep my pill inventory fully stocked, I either mail-order them or shop locally. I try to reorder/buy so that I never miss a dose. But if I do, I try not to stress over it. I figure the years-long effort I've made has built up enough pill-equity in my body that it will barely notice a day or two without dandelion root, beta glucans or my newest pill: Chinese wormwood (as but a few examples).

I guess one could characterize my philosophy as mind over matter. I don't mind not knowing – definitively, whether or not any of what I'm doing is helping. Unfortunately, there are very few guarantees in cancer treatment. But so far, according to my quarterly CT scans, semi-annual PET scans and yearly MRI, I see no reason to change horses whether I'm mid-stream or struggling to reach dry land. At this juncture, I seem to have found a balance between what I'm capable of doing and what I'm not capable of, and am not worried about what I'm not doing/have not done. Given my nature and personality, I can only do what I can do. And early on in my cancer experience, I realized my limitations and decided to not beat myself up emotionally over tasks I couldn't complete or strategies I couldn't employ. Moreover, there's a certain amount of control one has to cede to your new reality as well as some you need to maintain – for your own sanity.

Speaking of which, Albert Einstein is alleged to have said: "Doing the same thing over and over again but expecting different results is the definition of insanity." Well, call me crazy if you want but I am happy to continue doing the same thing over and over again and expect similar results.

GSA

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT
DOS NFATC MASTER PLAN UPDATE

NOTICE: Public Scoping Meeting

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SCOPING MEETING FOR ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT OF THE DOS GEORGE P. SHULTZ NATIONAL FOREIGN AFFAIRS TRAINING CENTER

The U.S. General Services Administration (GSA), in cooperation with the U.S. Department of State (DOS), is preparing an Environmental Assessment (EA) to analyze potential impacts resulting from implementation of the Master Plan Update for the George P. Shultz National Foreign Affairs Training Center (NFATC). The DOS is updating the 1989 Master Plan for the 72-acre NFATC, located at the former Arlington Hall Station in Arlington Virginia. NFATC is the headquarters for the Foreign Service Institute (FSI). As part of the Master Plan Update, the GSA, on behalf of DOS, is preparing an Environmental Assessment (EA) in compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) of 1969. GSA is the lead federal agency for the EA.

GSA will analyze a range of alternatives including the no action alternative for the proposed Master Plan Update. As part of the EA, GSA will study the impacts of each alternative on the natural, cultural, and social environment. GSA will begin consultation under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 470f and intends to partially fulfill the Section 106 public notification and consultation requirements through the NEPA scoping process.

PUBLIC SCOPING MEETING: An open-house style public scoping meeting will be held as follows:

Tuesday, July 19, 2016
6:30 P.M. – 9:00 P.M.

Unitarian Universalist Church of Arlington
4444 Arlington Boulevard
Arlington, VA 22204

The meeting will be an informal open house where visitors may receive information on the project and provide comments.

WRITTEN COMMENTS: Agencies and the public are encouraged to provide written comments on the scoping issues in addition to or in lieu of giving their comments at the public scoping meeting. Written comments regarding the EA for the DOS Master Plan Update must be postmarked or received no later than August 19, 2016 and sent to the following address:

U.S. General Services Administration, National Capital Region
Attention: Ms. Alexis Gray, Project Manager
301 7th Street, SW, Suite 4004
Washington, DC 20407

Email: www.gsa.gov/portal/content/136234 using the subject line: NFATC Scoping Comment

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Alexis Gray, Project Manager, General Services Administration, National Capital Region, at 202-260-6895. Please also call this number if special assistance is needed to attend and participate in the scoping meeting. Information regarding this project may also be found at www.gsa.gov/portal/content/136234.
