Welcome to Fairfax County

By Sharon Bulova Chairman, Fairfax County Board of Supervisors

elcome to Fairfax County, one of the greatest places in the nation to live, work, play and raise a family. Fairfax County is home to a thriving business community, vibrant entertainment and shopping destinations, a world class university, beautiful parks, and a diverse population of engaged residents. Whether you are a long-time resident or are new to the county, I hope you'll take some time to visit some of our most popular spots to enjoy what Fairfax County has to offer.

Tysons Corner and Fair Oaks Malls, Reston Town Center, Fairfax Corner, Springfield Town Center and the Mosaic District are great places to shop, eat and spend time with friends. For cultural destinations, George Washington's Mount Vernon Estate and Wolf Trap National Park for the Performing Arts are two of my favorites. And for enjoying the arts along with community gatherings like Springfest and Brewfest, the Workhouse Arts Center in Lorton is a must. For fresh air and exercise, I recommend our extensive network of trails, parks and RECenters.

While there are a lot of fun things to do in Fairfax County, our community is notorious for our "work hard, play hard" ethic. Time Magazine has described us as the epicenter of the Washington region's job boom and one of the great economic success stories of our time. Fairfax County is home to eight Fortune 500 company headquarters, more than 8,400 technology firms, and over 116.2 million square feet of office space.

Fairfax County has one of the best public school systems nationwide with a graduation rate topping 90 percent. Our school system is the 10th largest in the country with nearly 187,000 students and 196 schools and centers. After high school graduation, George Mason University and Northern Virginia Community College are located just down the road for affordable higher education opportunities in many different subject fields. Our businessfriendly economy ensures career opportunities for both our older and younger residents.

On the local government level, the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors is constantly hard at work to ensure quality public services for our residents. Our 10-member Board of Supervisors strives to maintain positive community engagement, while strategically planning for the future with land use and infrastructure decisions.

Some recent accomplishments include updating many of our police policies, establishing a Diversion First program for people with mental illness who become involved with law enforcement, and successfully extending Metrorail to Tysons and Reston, with Phase 2 of the Silver Line currently under construction all the way to Dulles Airport and into Loudoun County.

Fairfax County offers opportunity and quality services for residents of all ages. People from all over the globe have made Fairfax County their home, enriching our community with their diverse cultures and entrepreneurship. Please visit www.fairfaxcounty.gov or www.fxva.com to learn more about what Fairfax County has to offer you and your family.

As chairman of the Board of Supervisors, I am elected at-large by Fairfax County residents. My office is here to serve you. If you have any questions or concerns, please email me at chairman@fairfaxcounty.gov or give my office a call at 703-324-2321. I hope you will sign up to receive my monthly Bulova Byline newsletter that will keep you upto-date on what is happening in your community! Welcome to your new home.

County Schools: Teaching for 21st Century

What's new at Fairfax County Public Schools.

By Dr. Karen K. Garza Superintendent, Fairfax County Public Schools

elcome to the 2016-17 school year in Fairfax County Public Schools. With each new school year, we have the wonderful opportunity to build upon our previous successes and continue to improve our work with our students.

We are continuing to look to our Portrait of a Graduate and our strategic plan in shaping our future work. Our most pressing challenge is making this vision a reality for every child in our system. How do we refine what we do to ensure that all of our students graduate wellprepared for this rapidly changing world? We acknowledge that this is a daunting challenge, but there is no school system in the United States more well-prepared and well-equipped to effectively respond to these important issues.

The goals of education can no longer simply be to provide the basic literacy skills for the majority of the students, while reserving the teaching of skills for higher order 21st century thinking for a select few. As we learn more about the skills our students will need for success in this changing world, we recognize the need to innovate — to consider new and different ways to design instructional practices to support the development of these essential skills.

We are also working to define contemporary teaching and learning practices while better integrating technology. For example, through a pilot program we are calling FCPSOn this year we begin evaluating how digital resources can best scaffold that model and how we provide teachers and students with the tools and policies needed to facilitate the use of that technology.

One change you will see this school year is a new central website and a new FCPS logo. Our new website will better serve everyone — it is mobile responsive, features more modern design — and search will work. As we modernized our website, we also believed it was time to reimagine the FCPS logo. While the previous logo has served us well for 40 years, we heard from many that it was time to transform our logo to one reflective of who we are now and who we aspire to be in the years to come.

Our new logo includes a tie to our legacy, while representing our role as a catalyst — sparking curiosity, learning and excellence for our students, employees and community.

I wish all students, teachers, parents and the entire FCPS community a very successful and fulfilling school year in FCPS where all are engaged, inspired, and thrive.

'Insider's Tip' to New Businesses

Fairfax County Economic Development Authority helps in starting or expanding business in the county.

By Gerald L. Gordon President and CEO, Fairfax County Economic Development Authority

f you are new to Fairfax County, welcome to one of the world's most in teresting places to live and work. If you are new to the county and are interested in being part of our dynamic business community, here is an "insider's tip" that you will want to know: The Fairfax County Economic Development Authority (FCEDA), works with everyone who wants to start or expand a business in the county.

For aspiring entrepreneurs, we host "Entrepreneurship 101: Starting a Business in Fairfax County" workshops almost every month. Some 4,000 people have attended one of these workshops since 2003 and you will find a wealth of local, state and federal resources to help you map out starting a business here. If you need office space, the FCEDA helps businesses find the office space they need so they can grow in the county.

We have a complete database of office space options in every part of the county, and we can help you navigate that process so you become an established part of the business community.

Why do we do this? The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors charged the FCEDA with building a business community — help companies create jobs and fill office space — to build the commercial tax base. This generates revenue that the Board of Supervisors uses to fund the full range of high-quality public services for which Fairfax County is well-known. Building the commercial tax base means that residents don't have to pick up all the costs of providing those services.

Ph.D. The FCEDA has been working for more than 50 years with entrepreneurs and owners of businesses of every size to enlarge the commercial tax base and make the Fairfax County economy one of the strongest anywhere. Visit www.fairfaxcountyeda.org to see how the Economic Development Authority can help you.

Everyone Counts in Hunter Mill

very good community stems from those who work hard to make the community the best version of itself. From the youngest to oldest volunteers, to police officers and public officials, the Hunter Mill District is full of citizens contributing to the community in order to make it the best place to live. As a member of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors (BOS), my job is to ensure the wellbeing of the community through listening and informing constituents on what affects them in our community. In doing so, I strive to reflect the community voice in making policy, creating a diverse, prosperous place with affordable housing and equal opportunity for all. The goal of the Hunter Mill District office is to keep everyone in the know by providing events for the public to become involved within the community: First Wednesday sessions with the Supervisor at the Reston Regional Library or Vienna's Patrick Henry Library, to the Frying Pan Park concert series "Hunter Mill Melodies" and children events.

The Hunter Mill District has something for everyone. It includes all unincorporated Reston, the northern portion of Tysons, the Town of Vienna and the communities of Herndon and Oak Hill, with top tier parks, trails, restaurants, retailers, businesses and employment opportunities. One can visit Frying Pan Park, a working farm since 1930, now home to farm animals, a carousel, nature center, and tractor rides. A Metro ride from Wiehle-Metro East Station, or a drive, is Tysons, a bustling new city with shopping and restaurant area with a movie theatre and a skating rink in the winter. If you're feeling up for exercise, ride a bike or walk along the Washington and Old Dominion Trail, which stretches forty five miles all the way to Purcellville. The soon arrival of Phase II Metro brings transit service to all sides of Hunter Mill District. The District is most proud to be part of one of the best public education systems in the country, including higher education opportunities at Northern Virginia Community College and Marymount University. Spring, fall, winter or summer, there is always something to do in the Hunter huntermill@fairfaxcounty.gov or call 703-478-0283.

Opportunities for citizen involvement are numerous, serving on Boards, Authorities and Commission to the BOS or task force studies, internship placements at the Hunter Mill District office to volunteering at events, or creating art displays. You can even find meeting space by reserving the North County Government Center community room for personal use with the link http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/ huntermill/communityroom.htm.

It is important to stay up to date on the news and events occurring in the Hunter Mill District. Greater Transparency in Policing

Fairfax County Police embrace change, sanctity of life for all.

> By Colonel Edwin C. Roessler Jr. Chief of Police

ear Community Mem-bers: The Fairfax County Police Department was established on July 1, 1940 and today we have an authorized strength of 1,406 sworn law enforcement officers. Our greatly engaged community exceeds 1.1 million residents which continues to assist us in preventing and fighting crime, increasing the culture of safety to preserve the sanctity of life for all, and to keep pace with rapid urbanization.

Your Police Department proactively undertook an independent review of its use of force training, and related policies and procedures conducted by the Police Executive Research Forum. A further review generating additional change recommendations has been conducted by the County's Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Commission. The core theme of change is adopting the philosophy of the sanctity of life in all we do. As I have discussed in multiple public forums to include the Public Safety Committee of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, your police department embraces reengineering the law enforcement profession and we are proud to be national leaders truly engaged with creating change with an engaged community.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors has endorsed our reengineering of the policies governing the use of force which value the sanctity of human life.

The Police Department has adopted policies and practices which utilize the Critical Decision Making Model to ensure that all actions are proportionate, lawful, accountable, necessary, and ethical. Your Police Department has mandated annual in-service training on use of force critical decision-making because the essential knowledge and skills are considered "perishable," therefore rendering training on an annual basis a necessity.

The final report issued by the Ad Hoc Commission included recommendations made by its Independent Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee. These recommendations, the subject of current deliberation by the Public Safety Committee of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, propose the creation of a Police Auditor position and establishment of a Civilian Review Panel. The Police Department welcomes immediate implementation of both as they maximize accountability through transparency, and will lead to higher levels of public trust and confidence in the Police Department.

The Police Department is committed to enhancing its transparency at all levels and we have established policies and procedures in coordination with the Board of Supervisors to achieve maximum communication with the communities we serve. Throughout the remainder of 2016 and into 2017 we will continue to reengineer our profession in many operational and administrative areas to achieve effective change while increasing community engagement.

In 2014 the Police Department began a self-assessment process to align its policies and procedures to comply with 484 national standards established by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA). The required on-site assessment was conducted by assessors from outside Virginia in early 2016, and CALEA accredited status was awarded on July 30, 2016.

The Police Department, along with the Community Services Board, other public safety agencies, and mental health advocates partnered to implement the Diversion First program which provides a viable jail diversion alternative for those in mental health crisis. Our police officers receive Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) training to prepare them to recognize when persons are experiencing a mental health crisis and how best to de-escalate such initial encounters. Our CIT-trained officers now have the Merrifield Crisis Response Center, as well as two Mobile Crisis Units, enabling them to offer persons in crisis the mental health services they may require.

Welcome to Fairfax County and we encourage you to engage with your Police Department as we all continue to make our County a great place to live, work, play, and grow old. To learn more about the Fairfax County Police Department, please visit

https://www.reston.org

From the website, verbatim: Reston Association (RA) is a notfor-profit corporation that serves a community of 60,000 people and is one of the largest community associations in the United States.

Reston's membership is comprised of 21,346 residential units. All residential property owners and renters subject to the Reston Deed are automatically members of the Reston Association.

RA is responsible for administering the community's real property. As a steward, RA has three major roles:

Reston Association provides parks and recreation facilities and amenities like those of a city or town. The association maintains and operates recreational facilities, including 15 pools, 48 tennis courts, 55 miles of paved pathways, ballfields, playgrounds, multipurpose courts, picnic areas, garden plots and a variety of rental facilities for public meetings and gatherings.

✤ Reston Association seeks to preserve property values in Reston through a system of covenants and restrictions that govern the design, maintenance, and use of property, as broadly spelled out in the Deed; and ✤ Reston Association seeks to protect Reston's natural beauty and environment. The association maintains and nurtures over 1,300 acres of open space, including four lakes, three ponds, streams, wetlands, forests, and meadows, as well as a 72-acre nature education center.

Reston Founder Robert E. Simon Jr.

In 1960, Robert E. Simon Jr. sold his family's real estate, Carnegie Hall, to New York City for $5 million and signed a contract to purchase 6,750 acres of farmland and woods located between D.C. and Dulles airport, which was under construction. In 1966, the beginning of the new town of Reston was celebrated with international fanfare.

While Simon lost control of Reston in 1967, he moved back to ing, analyzing and reporting on involved in many aspects of the town since then.

> The first Founder's Day was celebrated on April 17, 2004, on Reston's 40th Anniversary. Reston turned 50, and Simon turned 100 in April, 2014.

> Reston's founding father died on Sept. 21, 2015.

Board of Supervisors

Reston is governed by the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors controls the county budget, establishes county government policy, passes resolutions and ordinances (within the limits of its authority established by the Virginia General Assembly), sets local tax rates, approves land use plans and makes appointments to various positions. Fairfax County has an elected Board of Supervisors consisting of nine members elected by district, plus a chairman elected at-large.

How to Vote Every year is election year in Virginia; mechanics and details of voting require attention to detail

FAIRFAX COUNTY:

While the Presidential election will take top billing, every seat in the U.S. Congress is on the ballot, with one hotly contested race in Northern Virginia.

In Fairfax County, voters will decide whether to enact a four percent meals tax, a topic voters will hear a lot more about in coming weeks.

The Town of Herndon will have its first November election, moving from May in past elections, with the office of Mayor and six Town Council seats on the ballot.

Fairfax County voters will decide on three bond questions, including $120 million in transportation bonds for Metro; $107 million in bonds for parks; and $85 million for building and renovating senior and community centers, and homeless shelters. More at http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/bond/

Absentee Voting in Person in Fairfax County

Voting begins Sept. 23, and with record turnout possible, voting early if you qualify is a good choice.

There are 19 valid reasons to vote absentee in Virginia, including working and commuting to and from home for 11 or more hours between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Election Day. Check the Virginia Department of Elections list to see if you are eligible. http:// /elections.virginia.gov/casting-a-ballot/absentee-voting/index.html

There are two ways to vote absentee, inperson and by mail. To do either, you should first check your voter registration status to make sure it is up-to-date. Then you will need to apply for an absentee ballot. Note: If you vote absentee in-person you will fill out the application when you arrive at the in-person absentee location (see locations below). Voting absentee by mail? Read below for the process of applying for your mail-in ballot.

You can now apply for an absentee ballot online with the state's new Citizen Portal. You will need your Social Security Number and information on your Virginia Driver's License to complete the application. Information is also provided on how to apply if you do not have a driver's license.

Absentee Voting Begins Sept. 23

Ballot Question, Meals Tax

http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/mealstax/ Fairfax County voters will vote yes or no on establishing a 4 percent meals tax. The in coming weeks on both sides of this issue. Herndon and Vienna.

OUESTION:

State law authorizes counties, cities, and towns to levy a tax on prepared food and beverages, commonly called a "meals tax," subject to certain restrictions. Most counties, including Fairfax County, may levy a meals tax only if the voters approve the tax by referendum.

The question presented in this referendum asks Fairfax County voters whether the Board of Supervisors should be authorized to levy a meals tax, at a rate not to exceed four percent of the amount charged for the taxable food and beverages.

70 percent of the net revenues would be dedicated to Fairfax County Public Schools; 30 percent of the net revenues would be dedicated to County services, capital improvements and property tax relief.

The question also states that the Board of Supervisors' reason for seeking authority to impose a meals tax is to reduce the county's dependence on real estate taxes. Currently, nearly 65 percent of Fairfax County's General Fund budget relies upon real estate taxes. State law limits what the county can tax and how it may otherwise raise revenue. Almost 90 percent of Fairfax County non-property tax revenues are capped, limited, or controlled by the state. A meals tax would give the County a new source of revenue, which would help diversify the County's revenue base. At the maximum four percent tax rate, a meals tax would generate an estimated $99 million per year, with a significant percentage paid by non-county residents.

A number of area jurisdictions already impose a meals tax, including Arlington County, the cities of Alexandria, Falls Connection will publish stories and letters Church, and Fairfax, and the towns of ginia, or a political subdivision of the Commonwealth; valid college or university student photo identification card from an institution of higher education located in Virginia; valid student ID issued by a public school or private school in Virginia displaying a photo; employee identification card containing a photograph of the voter and issued by an employer of the voter in the ordinary course of the employer's business.

Any registered voter who does not have one of the required forms of identification can apply for a free Virginia Voter Photo Identification from any general registrar's office in the Commonwealth. Voters applying for the Virginia Voter Photo ID complete the Virginia Voter Photo Identification Card Application, have their picture taken, and sign the digital signature pad. Once the application is processed, the card will be mailed directly to the voter.

A voter who does not bring an acceptable photo ID to the polls will be offered a provisional ballot.

Provisional Ballot Process for Voters Who Arrive Without Identification

If you arrive at your polling place on Election Day without an acceptable form of photo identification, don't panic or give up. You will be given the opportunity to vote a provisional ballot. After completing the provisional ballot, the individual voting will be given written instructions from the election officials on how to submit a copy of his/her identification so that his/her vote can be counted.

A voter will have until noon on the Friday following the election to deliver a copy of the identification to the local electoral board or to appear in person to apply for a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card. Voters may submit a copy of their ID via fax, email, in-person submission, or through USPS or commercial delivery service. Please note that the copy of the ID must be delivered to the electoral board by pies the real property as his or her noon on Friday, or the provisional ballot cannot be counted.

Also by noon on Friday following the election, the voter may appear in-person in the office of the general registrar, in the locality in which the provisional ballot was cast, and apply for a Virginia Voter Photo ID Card. At the completion of the application process, the voter may request a Temporary Identification Document. This document may be provided to the electoral board to suffice the identification requirement.

Constitutional Amendments

Two proposed Virginia Constitutional Amendments will also be on the ballot:

Ballot Question 1: Should Article I of the Constitution of Virginia be amended to prohibit any agreement or combination between an employer and a labor union or labor organization whereby (i) nonmembers of the union or organization are denied the right to work for the employer, (ii) membership to the union or organization is made a condition of employment or continuation of employment by such employer, or (iii) the union or organization acquires an employment monopoly in any such enterprise?

The proposed amendment places the provisions of Virginia's right to work law into the Constitution of Virginia. While Virginia law may be amended by any future General Assembly, a constitutional prohibition can only be changed by a future constitutional amendment approved by the voters.

Ballot Question 2: Shall the Constitution of Virginia be amended to allow the General Assembly to provide an option to the localities to exempt from taxation the real property of the surviving spouse of any law-enforcement officer, firefighter, search and rescue personnel, or emergency medical services personnel who was killed in the line of duty, where the surviving spouse occuprincipal place of residence and has not remarried?

Vibrant City Living, Small Town Life

Living in the Reston-Herndon area means you don't have to pick just one!

> By Joan O'Bryan The Connection

espite the fierce Herndon-South Lakes high schools rivalry, Herndonites and Restonians have more in common than they do differences. Not the least of which, residents from both towns share a lively and vibrant social scene.

It's gotten to the point where point of residence says little about which locations appeal to you. While the towns aren't quite combined enough yet to merit a "Brangelina"-style celebrity nickname (nor does it quite have the right ring: Hernston? Resdon?), there's no denying that together they are much more than the sum of their parts. The benefit of living in Herndon is every Reston attraction, and vice versa.

No matter the town you're currently tenanting, the following highlights are open to you. There's something for everyone, from wild adventure to peaceful walkabout. Whether you're new to the area or just visiting, make sure you fill your weekends with one (or all!) of these.

Make a Splash at the Water Mine in Lake Fairfax Park

Lake Fairfax Park has it all: the eponymous lake, mountain-biking trails, grills and picnic table. But in one significant feature does it go above and beyond. Inside its bounds is the popular local water park, the Water Mine Family Swimmin' Hole.

The Water Mine is filled to the brim with park!

aquatic adventure. There's an interactive water playground, a lazy river, and slides of all lengths and inclines for the adventurous aquanaut. Rob Robinson, 40, was waiting in line with Nikki, 35, and Laila, 20 months. According to Robinson, it's a "good place to bring elementary aged children. Basically, it's safe and secure for them. The highest depth is four feet, it's family-oriented." Most importantly, "you can bring in a cooler and have your own snacks," a big bonus for any family on a trip.

In a nearby pavilion, Melvin Jones, 69, and Aaron Greene, 71, set up for the Chantilly Baptist Annual Sunday School Picnic. They were expecting a crowd of at least one hundred people. Jones appreciates the convenience and congeniality of having an event at Lake Fairfax. "It's beautiful out here. Whenever we get this spot right up in here, it's beautiful. We've got a good view, nice facility, nice accommodations." Added Greene, "it's a good central point, it's easy to set up, and the kids will be saying, 'hey, we need to go to the water park!"

Shop and Dine at Reston Town Center

Where once stood a humble cow pasture, now stands the archetype for the quickly developing architectural phenomenon, "Urban Light." Urban light aims to bring the best of both words: all of the commercial benefits of a city center with all of the personality of a small-town main street. Only 26 years old, Reston Town Center has rapidly become the heart of the area's social scene.

Ask any group of locals to name their favorite part about Reston Town Center, and you'll be swamped by a chorus of enthusiastic answers. In addition to high-end shopping and dining, RTC, in the local parlance, is chock full of events and activities.

There are public art installations, such as the one currently featuring work by American sculpture artist Patrick Dougherty. Happy hour sales attract young professionals, eager to network over craft beers and fancy wine. Sunday mornings, sporty types meet for public fitness classes in the pavilion. Parents appreciate Bow Tie Cinemas' convenient central location, perfect for dropping off a tween date while retaining the appropriate "embarrassment-free-radius" by shopping next door.

As the year proceeds, each new holiday and season is met by the appropriate hoopla: parades, ice skating, sing-alongs, and more. Visitors can find the complete events list by visiting www.restontowncenter.com.

As Gigi Harwell, 64, a longtime Herndonite, says: "Every city, every town tries to replicate the Reston Town Center. They can not do it! I've been to different areas, and they can not do what Reston Town Center has done. And that's what I like about it."

Visit the Past in Downtown Herndon

Whereas Reston Town Center has a frenetic energy to match its newish birth, Downtown Herndon's more mellow vibe befits its aged stature. Herndon was founded as a settlement in 1858, but began truly thriving with the arrival of the WO&D railroad in the early twentieth century. Easy come, easy go: in 1968 the railroad was converted into a hike-and-bike trail, and with it came the transformation from industrial stop to small-town feel.

Downtown Herndon remains proud of its history. The old train station was converted to the Herndon Depot Museum. Inside is railroad memorabilia, artifacts from Herndon's yore, and information on the town's namesake, Captain William Lewis Herndon. Nearby is a decommissioned red caboose, cheerfully clambered on by children peeking into the past.

Historical pride aside, modern Herndon has much to brag about as well. There's a delightful collection of ethnic restaurants. The red brick architecture is pleasing, cre

Kathy Blystone, 56, 32 years in Herndon: "I like downtown Herndon because it's fun to take friends to the Breeze and different restaurants. After Friday Night Live the Breeze puts on a big thing. We just really like the atmosphere. It's inviting."

Chrissie Constable, 34, and son Cooper, 4 1/2, 5 months in Herndon:

"Friday Night Live is a lot of fun. Our neighbors told us about it. They come almost every week. So we come for a few songs until the kids get tired and have a great night out."

Manfred Boerhinger, 69, 16 years in Reston:

"In Reston, everything works. This is number one. Bus, police, banking, restaurants. I lived in Switzerland three years. I don't want to say that this is Switzerland, but the perfection is amazing. I'm a fan of the U.S.

government, including the Virginia state government. This is perfect. My brother and sister were here from Germany and we were sitting here (in Reston Town Center), he looked around and said, 'Manfred, now I understand why you never came home again.''' ating a picturesque view for happy icecream lickers sitting on the scattering of benches.

Probably the most popular location to visit is the Great Harvest Bread Company. "They give you free samples. My grandkids love that. We go sit on the bench outside and feed the birds and eat the bread for breakfast," says resident Sue Pugh. Wild life and locals alike are fans of Herndon's culinary chef d'oeuvre.

Stretch Your Legs on the W&OD Trail or the Paths Around Walker Nature Center

The W&OD trail used to be the Washington and Old Dominion railway line during the heyday of the steam engine. Now it's a 45 mile-long asphalt bike trail that passes through the heart of Downtown Herndon and right next to Reston Town Center.

Parts of the trail are quiet and empty; in other sections the ground practically hums with the whizzing of bicycles and the patter of jogging feet. At select intervals are benches and water fountains for exercisejunkies needing a break. The Reston Runners are big fans of the Green Lizard Cycling shop, which according to general consensus, has the best espresso in the area. Coffees and smoothies refuel hikers and bikers, as the Green Lizard mechanics get their machines into tip-top shape.

Not everyone uses the W&OD to get in shape. Matt Kim, 18, recently went for a short walk along the trail with his younger brother, Daniel,10. Forget the scenery, the main attraction was "the small bird Pokemons and rats" (officially, Pidgeys and Rattatas) available for the hunting. Yes, that's right: the W&OD is the perfect place to play Pokemon Go. Matt says that he and his little brother appreciate the trail for its convenience and safety, since "he (Daniel) can't really cross roads that much by himself, so I guess just being able to walk in a safe, car-free environment is good for him." For kids whose digital wildlife spotting inspires a return to nature, the Walker Nature Center runs various environmental education programs. Almost no age is too young; Reston's littlest members have a program dedicated specifically to them "Babes in the Woods" for ages 18-35 months. Adults can learn about subjects such worm composting or fall container planting in assorted programs.

The Walker Nature Center also acts as a hub for the myriad walking and running paths that spiral through Reston. There exists 1,300 acres of open space in the town, and the center has the low-down on each and every one of them. Walking the trails is free; programs are fee-based. Look Your Food in the Eye at Frying Pan Park

The evocative name surely unnerves the pigs and cattle living there, but they have nothing to fear from Frying Pan Park. It's where they go next that involves culinary equipment. The farm today operates as a "frozen in time" historical park, showing modern day city-dwellers the agricultural life their grandparents might have enjoyed.

There's a barn filled with antique farming equipment and more ancient thrashers and plows scattered about the property. At Kidwell Farm, children can get to know draft horses, goats, chickens, sheep, and rabbits. Especially exciting is the new litter of baby piglets, fourteen in all, as proudly shown off by Lily Dunham, 18, a freshman beginning her veterinary study at NVCC. Some will be bought by local farms, others will go to young 4-H participants, and a lucky few will stay at the Park, living in styes like Hogwarts and Hammelot. Every so often, the farm will have a presidential guest: the pardoned Thanksgiving turkey, saved from the White House table, will peck happily at the Virginian soil.

On weekdays there are often school trips, but events at the park run the gamut from birthday parties to free bluegrass concerts. Seasonal events include the Easter Egg Hunt, a Scarecrow Making Workshop, and Christmas on the Farm. If you go Friday mornings, you'll be able to participate in a wagon ride driven by the knowledgeable volunteer Jeff Smith. He'll tell you what happens to the milk, why not to eat the Farm's corn, and if you're lucky, where Frying Pan Park got its funny name.

Farmers Market bustles.

Wei Lu, 52, enjoys watching the horses as they practice for equestrian competitions. He's a big fan of the park and especially the old John Deere equipment. According to Lu, "it's kind of rustic, but it's very precious."

Spend Time in Lake Anne Village Center

When Robert E. Simon, Jr., broke ground on his marvelous utopian settlement, his first project was carving out the 30-acre Lake Anne. Along its edges, he built the beautiful Lake Anne Village Center. He envisioned a thriving, European-style city center, where residents could sit sipping cappuccinos and admire the sparkling rainbows made by the lake's blustering fountain.

Residents have stayed true to their founder's vision. Today, the center thrives as shoppers visit its locally-owned businesses - no chains allowed! There's an art gallery, restaurants, community center, and the Reston Historic Trust & Museum for the historically inclined. There's even a "nanobrewery" (one size smaller than the popular microbrewery craze sweeping the nation). Lake Anne Brew House sells smallbatch, hand-crafted beers with names like Lake Anne Skinny Dip Kolsch and Reston Red Ale.

Residents and visitors enjoy sitting around the fountain in the middle of the plaza. "I love it. The first time I visited with my girlfriend and I thought, this is great! My son would love this; he's six years old. And I love the kettlecorn. The atmosphere is great near the water. And it's friendly and good for kids," according to McLean resident Wendy Ko, 35. Her son, Alex, 6, is a big fan of the fountain, but not without reservations: "It has lots of splashes, but it's not very deep." That didn't stop him from getting soaked, in the company of about ten of his peers.

On Saturday mornings, the village center is filled with hustle and bustle as the Reston Farmer's Market sets up. Tina Barrett, 79, has been a Herndon resident since 1960 and is a farmer's market enthusiast: "The Reston farmer's market is great. It has everything, vegetables, people selling wares. You name it, they have it there!" True to her word, you can get everything from vegan burgers to women's clothing while walking in the bright sunshine.

Last but not least, the water feature itself provides residents with entertainment. Surf Reston rents paddleboards and offers lessons. For the uninitiated, paddleboarding is a water sport where one stands on a long, flat surfboard and uses an oar to propel oneself through the water. The Reston Association also provides hourly boat rentals for those who prefer their water sports with a lower center of gravity.

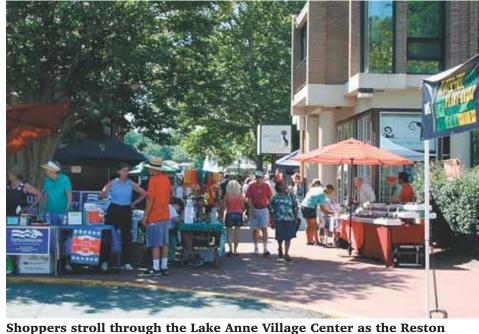

Work Out and Make Friends with Reston Runners

What're the Reston Runners all about? In a word, breakfast. According to Mary Goebel, 69, "we run so we can eat!"

The running and walking group gets together every Saturday and Sunday morning. They run or walk, depending on preference, a pre-assigned route pausing for drinks at strategically spaced water stations. Afterwards, they'll gather in a sweaty circle at Reston Town Center and enjoy coffee and company.

These athletes span multiple generations, from college students home for the summer to senior citizens. In addition to providing running routes, the group is an excellent place to meet people and make friends. Manfred Boehringer, 69, has been with the Runners for seven years now.

"It's actually my life now. I meet people to run, to bike, to ski. I retired in 2009 and since then this has been my social world. We even went to the zoo yesterday. The best thing about Reston Runners is that we have all kinds of people. It's easy, Reston Runners is very open."

Beyond visiting the zoo, Reston Runners do a variety of events and trips together. Walking the Camino de Santiago in Spain and along Hadrian's wall in England are just two of many international trips that John Nusbaum, 72, remembers fondly.

Anna Newcomb, 52, an ex-president of the group, touts their niche programs. Previous years have featured Youth in Motion, a running program for kids ages 2-12. Currently she helps organize the women's training program. The "Couch to 5k" program helps beginner female athletes train for their first 5,000 meter race. Women receive mentoring from previous program participants, and learn the basics about running culture. "It's a very popular program among a lot of people who have just started to run. There's also a little education every week, about clothing or nutrition or whatever has to do with entering into the athletic world. It's a very sweet program."

Saturdays and Sundays are the staple runs, but at different points in the year there are Wednesday night trainings, Tuesday/Thursday evening runs, and Tuesday/Thursday morning meet-ups. More information can be found at www.restonrunners.org.

Listen to Live Music at Friday Night Live and Concerts on the Town

Rock and roll has never been so family friendly. On the Town Green in Downtown Herndon, little ones bounce to the live music as parents recline in lawn chairs. Friday Night Live has been Herndon's go to outdoor summer concert series for over twenty years.

Though the median age skews elementary, that's not to say there's nothing for adults. Stephanie Harrison, 28, has been attending for five straight years. What brings her? "Good beer and good music." What else do you need?

And if you didn't get enough music on Friday night, never fear. Herndon starts the weekend; Reston finishes it. Concerts on the Town at Reston Town Center provide another night of live listenin'.

Randy Boone, 56, attends the series every summer. He's a fan of the variety. "Jazz, fusion, every year it's something different. You could get rock, you get reggae, just the different variety of music is nice. It's always good music." However, he warns that all visitors should come prepared. Be sure to bring a lawn chair, water, and a snack!

Unfortunately for recent comers, both of these series have their last shows this upcoming weekend, August 26 and 27.

Kicking yourself for having missed out on great music? Fret not. (See what I did there?) JamBrew brings local bands back to the Town Green beginning Friday, Sept. 2 and carrying on throughout the month.

"People come from across the country to learn firsthand about the vision that (Robert E.) Simon had. People come from abroad to see this, because it was so innovative and has become so successful. (In 1967) there was very little here. It was very small. We moved to Hunters Woods but there was nothing really. You didn't have street lights. Everything changed. I like change and growth. What has not changed is people continue to come here with basically the same philosophy as they came in 1967. They want something that is good for families, good for economic growth, sophisticated, and worthy of families. And that's why they come."
