Springfield BridgeWalk Highlights Community Spirit

Neighbors, Military come together in an event that's 'getting better every year.'

By Mike Salmon
The Connection

s the group of Springfield residents, Fort Belvoir troops, cheerleaders and dogs on leashes crested the rise on the Springfield Veteran's Bridge, the annual BridgeWalk event was all about community, just as it has for the 15 years the walk has taken place.

In the midst of the bridge walkers, Audrey Herod, 13, was in her cheerleading outfit, surrounded by friends and a huge smile plastered across her face. She grew up in the community that borders the bridge and was surrounded by people she knew, but didn't usually talk to that much, except at the bridge walk.

"I liked how we could all get together," she said.

It was that sense of community that energized the crowd to the gathering spot at the American Legion Post 176 where they gathered to sign a community covenant with the garrison commander at Fort Belvoir to commemorate the event and the partnership that Springfield and Fort Belvoir formed through the years.

"We're very proud of a strong commitment Fairfax County and Virginia have with the military," said Supervisor Jeff McKay (D-Lee District), addressing a crowd of nearly 200 people outside the Legion. McKay was there for the first BridgeWalk in 2001 when he was a staff member of then-Supervisor Dana Kauffman. "It gets bigger and better every year," McKay said.

Also in attendance was Sharon Bulova, Chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, Virginia Senator George Barker (D-39), and Del. Vivian Watts (D-39). "This is one of the things I do every year that I absolutely love," said Bulova.

The Greater Springfield Chamber of Commerce worked with the Lee District office to put the walk together, and initiated the help of the Fairfax Health Department, who were trying to get the word out about ticks and mosquitoes, Wegmans, the Fairfax County Community Emergency Response Team (CERT), the Veterans of Foreign War post 7327, scouts, and a dance team from the Richard Byrd Library. All were entertained by the Kings Park Concert Band. "It puts us out in the community," said a band member.

Health Department representative Lauren Lochstampfor held up a jar of mosquito larvae, swimming around in water. "That's what happens when you don't clean out your bird bath," she said.

Christine Peterson was part of the library

Members of the Springfield South County Youth Club joined the annual BridgeWalk in Springfield on Tuesday, Aug. 30.

The annual BridgeWalk event was all about community: Springfield Civic Association members participated in the event.

It don't matter if you're rich or poor Everyone can walk through the library door Tons of books sorted on the shelves with a library card you can help yourselves Lots of programs for adults and kids Internet access for the computer whiz So come to the library browse and borrow Readers make for a better tomorrow

They did a dance with the book carts and then pushed them across the bridge. "The dance was our best ever, the pinwheel to circle was quite a tricky move," Peterson said.

Take One Action to Prevent Suicide

Suicide Prevention Week is Sept. 5-13, #MindsMatter

s school begins, we are accustomed to safety warnings. Slow down driving, watch for students along the roads, near schools and perhaps behaving unpredictably near intersections. Buckle seat belts. Wear bicycle helmets. Avoid distracted driving.

Suicide is the third leading cause of death for youth between 10 and 24 years old, according to the Centers for Disease Control, with 4,600 deaths a year, and 157,000 youth receiving emergency medical care for self-inflicted injuries. Overall, more than 42,000 Americans die by suicide each year.

Appropriately, Suicide Prevention Week is next week, Sept. 5-13, and the Connection is partnering with PRS CrisisLink to raise awareness about how to prevent suicide.

Risk factors for a suicide attempt include a history of depression or other mental illness, a history of previous suicide attempts, alcohol or drug abuse, stressful life event or loss, easy access to lethal methods (firearms are the leading method of youth suicide), exposure to the suicidal behavior of others, and a family history of suicide. Young people who are LGBTQ are at higher risk.

Crisis Link was founded by volunteers in 1969 as the Northern Virginia Hotline, beginning as an evening hotline for Arlington teens. Within a year, hotline services were expanded to 24 hours a day to provide skilled, compassionate listening for people of all ages. The organization began serving individuals in crisis throughout the entire metropolitan Washington, D.C. region in 1970. In August of 2014, CrisisLink merged with PRS, Inc. Now named PRS CrisisLink, the program is able to provide services to more individuals than ever before.

In Fairfax County, where several high schools have mourned the suicide deaths of students, online interactive training is available to everyone about how to talk to a young person who might be depressed or considering suiappropriate support. Also available is a free online simulation for high school students to practice how to talk to a friend struggling with depression or psychological distress. Access to these programs is available by visiting www.fairfaxcounty.gov/csb/at-risk

We also can't let the discussion on gun violence add to the stigma of mental health illness. People with mental health issues are far more likely to be victims of violence that to perpetrate it. When the debate turns to a push and pull between advocating for gun control vs. advocating for broad suspicion of people with mental health concerns, the results are not benign.

We have to bring discussion of depression and other psychological distress into the light, and we must push back against the stigma that keeps many from getting life-saving help.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Courage to Vote

To the Editor:

This past month I worked with local students in the community and my boy scout troop to hold two non-partisan voter registration drives as a part of my Eagle Scout project. We held this drive at the Vienna Farmer's Market.

In many ways this registration drive was a success. We were able to talk to over 2,000 Vienna voters, and remind them about the Virginia photo identification law that requires all voters to bring a form of government issued identification. We were able to help 80 people apply for absentee ballots and registered 20 people to vote.

I wanted to share the impact that I hope this drive had on our community as well as what I

Something I am very proud of is the fact that the drive was run completely by local youth volunteers. Everyone who registered new voters was a student. In fact a majority of these students could not even vote themselves!

A student run drive was important to me for many reasons. I hope that my fellow classmates and fellow boy scouts who participated in this drive came to the same conclusion as I did: the power of a vote is a right we should hold dear. I hope they saw voting as a civic responsibility that enables Americans to participate in the democracy our forefathers fought for and defended. Participating in that democracy should be a priority when we turn 18.

I also hope this outpour of young people inspired our community.

We met many residents this past month who told us that they were in a dilemma. One older gentleman said that not only did he not want a registration form but he wasn't planning on voting because he couldn't bear to make the choice between "a crook and a narcissist".

I hope this student run force reminded voters like this gentleman and many others in our community who may be facing a similar dilemma that they are not choosing between two candidates - they are choosing a future. A future for me and a future for all of us at the drive who are not able to cast a ballot.

Really that is what all elections are about: choosing the candidate who will build a better America for the next generation to build on.

I understand that this is a very divisive election. It is hard to ignore the fact that the two major candidates have the highest unfavorability ratings in history. But still I urge you: don't squander your choice by choosing to sit on the sidelines. Find the courage to cast a ballot this year because this election, quite frankly, is bigger than just you.

I won't be able to vote this year and neither will thousands of other Vienna citizens who are under 18 but we are all counting on you to make that choice on our behalf on Nov. 8.

In 1920 women got the right to vote. In 1965 the Civil Rights Act prohibited racial discrimination in voting. In 1975 the right to vote for young people who were 18 and older was protected by the passage of the 26th amendment. Our history has been shaped and defined by people who have demanded a fair ballot.

Why then would anyone choose to forgo a right that others have worked so hard to defend simply because they don't have the guts to make a decision?

A lot has changed from that first election in 1789, but what I hope remains is the promise solidified by the words "We" in that first line of the constitution - the idea that a democracy means that all people are heard.

Does He Bite?

To the Editor:

Well, they're finally over! Suffering through the breathless NBC "coverage" of Olympic 'sports," many of which few of us have ever heard of, involving Zika-virus and Rio-mugging avoidance tips, inane commentary, and tedious "up-close and personals" punctuated by the occasional showing of an actual event and immediate post-race interviews with "heroes" gasping for breath, I wondered about the origins of the ridiculous habit of winning athletes appearing to take a bite out of their medal before the cameras. Testing for 24-karat purity, perhaps? Teeth marks could potentially reduce the full tax deductibility of the value of an Olympic medal proposed by Senator "Chuck" Schumer — friend of underpaid athletes everywhere.

Gnawing away at trophies — where did this all begin? This metal-chomping is now almost as de rigueur as patented in-game hugging and slapping and weeping at the drop of a beach volleyball, say.

News Brief

Blood Donations Needed

During National Preparedness Month in September, the American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood to help ensure a readily available blood supply for emergencies. Whether blood is needed for a chronic condition such as sickle cell disease, a routine surgery, a traumatic accident or a large-scale emergency, it's the blood already on the shelves that helps save lives. Donors of all blood types are needed. To thank those who come out to give Sept. 2-6, the Red Cross is providing a branded duffel bag, while supplies last. To make an appointment to give blood, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Donors are encouraged to make appointments and complete the RapidPass online health history questionnaire at redcrossblood.org/rapidpass to help reduce wait times.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities in Fairfax include:

Children shop with the Sheriff in preparation for return to school.

he Fairfax County Sheriff's Depart ment teamed up with 39 children during the Shop with the Sheriff event on Thursday, Aug. 25. The schoolaged children are currently residing in emergency shelters around the county which makes the culmination of the event, back-to-school clothes shopping at the Target in Burke, specially helpful for the children and their families.

The kids got to know the members of the Sheriff's Department over arts, crafts and a pizza lunch. When the bus arrived at Target, led by the blue and red lights of their motorcycle escort, the children had obviously made fast friends with their personal mentor for the day. Consequently, Target's boys and girls clothing sections were filled with the smiles of the children followed by the brown uniforms of the staff of the Fairfax County Sheriff's Department.

"This event combines the Sheriff Department and public safety along with young people who are experiencing a difficult time in their lives," said Sharon Bulova, Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Chairman.

Back-to-School Shopping

The story behind why each child and their families are residing at the emergency shelters are unique. As such there is no one-size-fits-all list of items to purchase. Instead, through coordination with the children, families, shelters and the shopping experience itself, the $250 is tailored to meet both the needs and unique tastes and styles of each child. The funds for the event were raised by the Sheriff's Office, community and business partners as well as individual donations.

The children's tastes varied. Some were drawn to favorite colors, glittered belts, superhero shirts or a particular style of jeans. For Nicole, 6, her favorite item was an orange dress she found with help from Private First Class Marcus Medina. "I love being able to be out in the community," explains Medina. Working in civil enforcement means Medina sees a lot of evictions. "The hardest part of doing the job is seeing how the kids don't have a choice," Medina explains. The opportunity to participate in the event for his first time last year, made it an event he looked forward to joining again this year.

Lily, 8, was very thankful for the "shoes and clothes for school and happy to have someone nice," she said, looking at Sergeant Emily Fary. This is Fary's fourth year participating in the event. It had come up in conversation earlier in the day that the thing Lily missed most was her gel pens, explained Fary, so in

This is Shop with the Sheriff's 24th year. Sheriff Stacey Kincaid is glad to point out that they have been able to help more children as well as provide them more funds every year. But it also "plays an important role to build bridges between law enforcement and youth," she explains. It presents an opportunity for children to interact on a personal level with the members of the Sheriff's Department.
