A Musical About Fairfax History at Lorton Stage

Playwright Alex Bulova's "The Complete History of Fairfax: The Musical," comes to Workhouse July 13-15.

BY STEVE HIBBARD
THE CONNECTION

Alex Bulova, 20, of Fairfax, is the sole playwright, composer, and director of "The Complete History of Fairfax: The Musical," an improvisational-like show with lots of singing and dancing that will be performed from July 6-8 in Falls Church, and July 13-15 in Lorton.

In case his name sounds familiar, Bulova is the grandson of Sharon Bulova, the chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, and son of Gretchen and David Bulova, who serves in the Virginia House of Delegates, 37th District, covering Fairfax. The rising junior attends the College of William and Mary, where he is a double major in film and media studies and government.

"For 'The Complete History of Fairfax,' I wanted to create a family-friendly celebration of Fairfax County. I wanted to leave partisan politics at the door," he said.

The show is a musical summary of all 275 years of Fairfax County's history, and Bulova took about a year to finish it. It begins in 1608 when John Smith sailed up the Potomac River to Mason Neck and it advances to the present day. It has 55 percent dialogue and 45 percent singing to create depictions of Fairfax's history.

"I think that it's very important that we remember where Fairfax County came from," he said. "As recently as 40 years ago, Fairfax was a relatively rural community and it has seen exponential growth. And I think that by seeing this show, [audiences] will gain a greater appreciation of how we got to an industrialized county of over a million residents today and where we're going in the future."

THE SHOW features four actors who play dozens of roles to portray some of the most famous figures of Fairfax's history — including George Washington, Antonia Ford, and the Bunnyman. "However, tension between the cast members threatens to tear the show apart," he said.

Instead of a big, lavish set, he uses various props and furniture pieces to create many historical eras. The costumes were designed by Sarah Marksteiner, who used minimalistic costuming to suggest a variety of historical figures.

The target audience is families with children ranging from ages 5-18, he said. "Not only is this a fun show, but it is also very educational. We go over a lot of facts about Fairfax, and we want as many young people to see it as possible — so they understand where the Fairfax County we know today came from," he said.

Last year, he co-wrote and directed "Super Nova," which took a satirical look at Fairfax and Northern Virginia culture. So with this summer's 275th anniversary of the founding of Fairfax County, he was inspired to celebrate the history of the place he calls home.

When he began writing, he wanted to explore the lesser known events from Fairfax's history, so he looked from town to town for the stories associated with each. "That's how I found out such stories as 'Sadie the Cow' and 'Lucy Burns,'" he said. "I then chose my favorite events from those towns and made songs out of them. My main goal was to represent as many parts of Fairfax as possible through song."

Take "Burke 1970 or: A Matter of Private Property," a song about the Bunnyman, for example.

He explained: "In 1970, a man dressed in a rabbit costume and terrorized the newly constructed Kings Park West, and to this day

Where & When

"The Complete History of Fairfax: The Musical" will be performed July 6-8, each night at 7 p.m., with a Saturday matinee at 2 p.m. at the James Lee Community Center, 2855 Annandale Road, Falls Church, VA 22042. Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at www.fairfax275.org.

There is a second weekend showing on July 13-15 at 7 p.m. at the Workhouse Arts Center, W-3 Theater, 9518 Workhouse Road, Lorton, VA 22079. Tickets are $12.

nobody knows who he was. In my song I try to imagine who the Bunnyman was and what led him to terrorize the neighborhood with a hatchet."

In "Mount Vernon 1759 or: A Minuet for Sally," he said it's about George Washington a week before his wedding to Martha. "In my research, I found that one of Washington's first romantic interests was a woman named Sally Fairfax, who was related to the Fairfax family, for whom the county was named after," he said.

A 2015 GRADUATE of Robinson Secondary School, Bulova was active in theater where he performed in "Little Shop of Horrors" and "Macbeth," and received the 2015 Cappies Award for Best Comedic Actor in a Play for "Neverwhere." In college, he's appeared in "Picasso at the Lapin Agile" and "The Addams Family Musical."

In addition to theater, Bulova was an Eagle Scout with Boy Scout Troop 1865 at St. George's United Methodist Church in Fairfax, and studied music — taking vocal lessons, piano and cello. He even does tap dancing.

As far as future aspirations, he's still trying to figure out whether he'll go into politics or the arts. "I'm waiting once I graduate; I'll see which path I go down. But in the meantime, I'm enjoying being involved in both," he said.

OPINION

Killing the Poor to Pay Millionaires

Even employer provided insurance would suffer; coverage caps and exclusions of pre-existing conditions could return.

The U.S. Senate bill to repeal the Affordable Care Act would take more than $600 billion (yes with a B) from poor children, poor elders and people with disabilities to give a tax cut to people who make more than $200,000 a year. Households with income of $1 million, would gain $50,000 in tax cuts per year. It is a massive transfer of wealth to the wealthiest households in America taken from the most vulnerable and neediest people. It would lead to more sick people and thousands of preventable deaths every year.

EDITORIAL While much of the damage is done by massive cuts to Medicaid, affecting poor children, people with disabilities and most people in nursing homes, some of the changes will result in damage to the quality of insurance for those who get their insurance from their employers as well.

What could go wrong?
❖ Millions of people lose their health insurance — 22 million fewer would have health insurance by 2026 according to the Congressional Budget Office analysis.

❖ Loss of coverage for pre-existing conditions, including cancer survivors, people who had transplants, people with asthma, arthritis, high cholesterol, hypertension, obesity, mental health issues, ADD, etc.

❖ States could opt out of the law's essential health benefits measure, which requires insurers to cover 10 main benefits, including hospitalization, prescription drugs and other services. That is, companies could sell health insurance that wouldn't actually be health insurance. Would Virginia be a state that opts out? Quite likely.

❖ Ending annual and lifetime coverage caps would also impact people who get health insurance from their employers and the private insurance market. For example, a serious accident or an illness that requires repeated surgeries or bone marrow transplants could put any one of us over the coverage cap.

❖ Medicaid pays public schools for many services for special education students, but the Senate bill removes schools from eligible Medicaid providers, costing Virginia an estimated $40 million annually; $3 million in Fairfax County; $2 million in the City of Alexandria.

❖ $800 billion plus in cuts to Medicaid puts the funding for most people who are currently in nursing homes at risk. Many of these are people who were middle class and but outlived their savings and coverage.

❖ In Virginia, the proposed changes to Medicaid would cost the state $1.4 billion over seven years.

❖ Medicaid pays for much of the fight against opioid addiction, including treatment. Cuts would be devastating to efforts to counter the wave of overdose deaths and other effects of addiction.

❖ Coverage for mental health treatment, including addiction treatment, is threatened both by cuts to Medicaid and by changes in the private insurance market.

❖ There will be greater need for Medicaid over time. More seniors will be poor, as fewer people who are retiring have pensions or adequate retirement savings. The demand for nursing home beds will be increasing as the population ages.

(This is by no means a comprehensive list of problems.)

If a version of the Senate bill were to pass, the results will be harmful to tens of millions of Americans. Call your senators. Virginia's U.S. Senators, Tim Kaine and Mark Warner, are both Democrats in the forefront of pushing back against this bill. But let them know you expect them to do the extraordinary to hold this up. Call the senators listed below and tell them to vote against it.

Ask family and friends to call their senators today.

If you have family or friends who live in West Virginia, Louisiana, Maine, Nevada, Alaska or Ohio, their calls are especially important. Senators Shelley Capito (R-WV); Bill Cassidy (R-LA); Susan Collins (R-ME); Dean Heller (R-NV); Lisa Murkowski (R-AK); Rob Portman (R-OH) are among those reported to be possible opponents of this proposal.

The U.S. Capitol Switchboard number is 202-224-3121. An operator will connect you directly with the Senate office you request.

Wishing Everyone a Fun, Safe, and Musical Summer

BY SUPERVISOR
JOHN C. COOK
R-BRADDOCK DISTRICT

Summer has finally arrived! The kids are out of school, and neighbors are reconnecting at their local swimming pools, having barbecues with friends, or simply enjoying themselves outdoors. A sense of community is growing even stronger throughout the Braddock District. As the Braddock District Supervisor, and a Kings Park resident who loves community involvement and neighborhood events, I wanted to make you aware of several gatherings that are happening this summer.

For starters, Braddock Nights, a district favorite, begins on July 7 at both Lake Accotink and Rutherford Parks. These wonderful Friday night concerts will be held until Aug. 18 and include music from different genres including jazz, blues, swing, pop, and Afro-Cuban groups. Come out and unwind on Friday nights with your family, bring a picnic dinner and a blanket and enjoy the music from 7:30 – 8:30 p.m. A full schedule can be found online at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/parks/performance/braddocknights.htm.

If that's not enough entertainment for you, how about coming to the Braddock District Battle of the Bands at Lakeside Park/Royal Lake (5216 Pommeroy Drive) on Sunday, July 16, from 3-8 p.m. We'll have bands from across the District and County showcasing their talents. You, the audience, are the judges. The prize is an opportunity for a contract to play at one of the Braddock Nights concerts in 2018. This event is a great way to support youth music groups, as well as other bands in our area. Come join your neighbors for music, food trucks, and fun!

Finally, if you enjoy friendly neighborhood gatherings and want to meet your local law enforcement officers and find out more about community-policing, National Night Out is for you! National Night Out will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 1, and neighborhoods across the County will hold block parties and other community-focused events. National Night Out is a campaign to build trust between the community and police through these gatherings. If your community is not planning an event, consider putting one together. Please let our office know (at 703-425-9300) if you are holding an event, and I will try to stop by with our district police captain or lieutenant.

Obviously, the Braddock District

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

One Value We Can All Agree On

To the Editor:

In our politically divided nation, I think there's one American value we can all agree on: everyone deserves to be free.

On Tuesday, the State Department released the 2017 Trafficking in Persons Report, which ranks 187 countries on their efforts to combat human trafficking, including the U.S.

This report sheds light on the hidden crime of modern-day slavery — a crime that holds more than 45 million men, women, and has many fun events this summer, and there are more than enough ways to become engaged in your neighborhood. I encourage you to take full advantage of them. Each one of these events is an opportunity to come out, reconnect with neighbors, and perhaps meet some new ones. Remember — your community is only as strong as the people in it, and community-focused events are great ways to strengthen that bond.

The 19th century abolitionist William Wilberforce said, "You may choose to look the other way, but you can never say again that you did not know." What does this mean for us? For one thing, our members of Congress should recommit themselves to protecting the integrity of this Report and the U.S. foreign aid programs that help rescue slaves and put traffickers behind bars.

The Netcasters Rise Hope in Area Churches

Springfield-Burke musicians provide worship music to small congregations.

BY SUSIE NUÑEZ

Lead Pastor Keary C. Kincannon was not just preaching to the choir at Rising Hope Mission Church on June 11, but his message resonated with The Netcasters, the visiting musicians who provided worship music at the Sunday morning service.

Stephanie Bianco, one of the newest vocalists to join the Springfield-Burke group, said, "I loved a quote from [Kincannon's] sermon that 'In God's Kingdom there is no unemployment; God has a job for you.'" Considering the demographics of the Rising Hope congregation, that was a very relevant message.

This small mission church is a United Methodist-affiliated congregation located on the Route 1 corridor in Alexandria. It focuses its outreach on the immigrant and disadvantaged populations in the nearby neighborhoods. Rising Hope is active with several local food banks, manages a clothing closet and serves as a hypothermia shelter in winter months.

The Netcasters wrapped up the fourth season of their independent ecumenical music ministry by providing the service music for these worshippers. Since this congregation generally relies on singing with praise videos, the live ensemble presenting gospel favorites elevated the spirit as well as the tone of the morning's worship service.

"We loved seeing the smiles on peoples' faces and hearing them singing and clapping along with our music," said co-director Kathryn Boudreau. "It was a joy for us to be with the members of Rising Hope that morning."

Kincannon remembered that "toe-tapping" songs like "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" were especially well received and that the passing of the Peace, a standard part of most Protestant worship services, was more inspired than usual.

The Netcasters began offering their music four years ago to small churches that have no live music for their weekly services. Since then, the group has grown from a few singers, guitar and flute players, and one keyboardist to a roster of 22. Their current members include those same musicians, plus a much expanded vocal section, a back-up keyboard player, and an electric bassist and his 8-year-old son on snare drum and cajón.

All Netcasters are volunteers, although some have formal musical credentials. Co-director Ether Smith, who does all arrangements for the group, served for six years as the commander of an Air National Guard band and played in television studio orchestras.

The June 11 service at Rising Hope was followed by lunch and fellowship, and Kincannon has already requested another Netcaster performance for this fall. The group takes a summer hiatus, but will be available for presentations at similarly small churches, retirement centers and rehabilitation centers starting in October.

Performances are tailored to each congregation or audience, with the standard repertoire including gospel standards, "songs of yesteryear," and folk music favorites.

Star-Spangled Babies Shower Held in Springfield

One hundred pre-registered new and expect-ing military mothers received bundles of baby essentials made possible by the generosity of Booz Allen Hamilton at Operation Homefront's Star-Spangled Babies shower presented on Saturday, June 10, at the Springfield Hilton. Volkswagen and Singhal & Company presented the military mothers with additional gifts. Operation Homefront's Star-Spangled Babies program provides baby showers to support service members and their growing families. Roughly 42 percent of active-duty military children are 5 years old or younger, according to the Defense Department. Due to deployments and frequent relocation, military parents-to-be and new parents often live far from their extended families and support systems. The Star-Spangled Babies showers provide new and expecting parents with early childhood education tips and a support system, especially when loved ones are far away. Visit OperationHomefront.org.

Britepaths Launches School Supply Drive

Goal to provide supplies to 2,500 school children in central Fairfax.

Fairfax-based non-profit Britepaths (formerly Our Daily Bread) is seeking volunteers from the community to donate funds, backpacks and calculators to assist students in need who attend schools in the Fairfax County area as part of its annual Collect for Kids Back to School Program.

Britepaths' goal is to provide supplies for at least 2,500 students who attend schools in the Fairfax High School pyramid, J.E.B. Stuart High School pyramid, and a few other central Fairfax schools. Britepaths provides the supplies to its partner schools for distribution to students with demonstrated need. In 2016, Britepaths assisted 2,600 children.

Community members interested in helping may make a donation through Britepaths' secure on-line donation page at britepaths.org or mail a check to 4080 Chain Bridge Road, 2nd Floor, Fairfax, VA 22030. Write "BTS" in the memo line. Donations of new backpacks and scientific calculators are also welcome. They may be brought to Britepaths' offices through Aug. 5, Mondays through Fridays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. (office is closed on July 3 and 4).

Additional local donation drop-off sites are listed below and on Britepaths' web site. Backpacks may also be ordered and shipped directly to Britepaths through "wish lists" on Amazon.com and DollarDays.com. For more information on donating or sponsoring the program, contact Joanne Walton at 703-273-8829 or jwalton@britepaths.org, or visit britepaths.org.

Britepaths is collaborating with Fairfax County's Collect for Kids partnership, which includes Kids R First, Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS), the Fairfax County Office of Public-Private Partnerships and a variety of local non-profit organizations and businesses, to serve as many FCPS students in need as possible by purchasing high-quality school supplies at discounted prices.

The partnership allows Britepaths to provide all the supplies a student needs for approximately $15 per student (and often $10 or less for elementary students), where it can often cost $40 or more per child to purchase all the necessary supplies from retail stores.

These businesses are partnering with Britepaths this summer to serve as donation drop-off sites:

- ❖ Gathering Grounds Cafe (At University Mall, 10637 Braddock Road, Fairfax)
- ❖ Dr. Gene Sweetnam, OD (5204A Rolling Road, Burke)
- ❖ Quest Diagnostics (14225 Newbrook Drive, Chantilly)
- ❖ Solaris Laser and Skin Care (513 Maple Ave. W, Vienna)
- ❖ Spine and Joint Institute (9990 Fairfax Blvd. #115, Fairfax)
- ❖ STEM exCEL (4010 University Dr. #104, Fairfax)
- ❖ Sugar Mama's Ice Cream (11208 Lee Hwy, Fairfax)
- ❖ Union Bank Burke (6050 Burke Commons Road, Suite A, Burke)
- ❖ Westminster School's Camp Griffin (3819 Gallows Road, Annandale)

Britepaths is grateful to its flagship sponsor of the 2017 Collect for Kids Back to School Program, MAXIMUS Foundation, which provided a $3,000 grant that will assist more than 200 students, as well as the American Association of University Women, Accotink Unitarian Universalist Church and Our Lady of Good Counsel for sponsoring the program. And a special thank you to the Rotary Club of Bailey's Crossroads, which for the sixth year is partnering with Britepaths to help fund and deliver supplies to Bailey's Elementary, Glasgow Middle School and JEB Stuart High School.

The following organizations are running donation drives to support the Program: Deepwood Pool, Girls Inspired and Ready to Lead, Jewish Community Center of Northern Virginia Camps Achva and Kadima, Laurel Ridge Elementary Student Council Association, Lake View Pool and Unity of Fairfax.

More information is available at britepaths.org.

Talk with Children about Social Media Dangers

With summer break here, children and teens have more free time to explore, learn and grow; but the Fairfax-Falls Church Community Services Board (CSB) asks parents to be mindful and keep a vigilant watch over social media apps and games on their children's phones and devices. There are some unhealthy "games" reportedly present in our community, some involving forms of aggression, bullying or threats.

Among these is the "Blue Whale Challenge," as well as copycat versions, that have recently been reported to local school personnel here in Fairfax County.

These "games" reportedly target children between ages 10-14 and encourage them to complete a series of progressively more intense tasks over a 50-day period, including self-harm and, finally, suicide.

While many reports indicate that this "game" is a hoax; it is more important than ever for families to increase their digital literacy

Available Resources

Mental health resources available to students and families throughout the summer include:

- ❖ FCPS School Counseling Services at 571-423-4420 or www.fcps.edu/resources/student-safety-and-wellness/school-counseling-services
- ❖ School Psychology Services at 571-423-4250 or www.fcps.edu/resources/student-safety-and-wellness/school-psychology-services
- ❖ School Social Work Services at 571-423-4300 or www.fcps.edu/resources/student-safety-and-wellness/school-social-work-services and do their research on such potentially deadly "games" children may be invited to "play."

Suicide is the second leading cause of death for young people in Virginia between ages 15-34 and the third leading cause of death for ages 10-14.

The CSB urges adults to:

- ❖ Talk to your children about responsible cyber safety.
- ❖ Check phones or other devices for signs of a hashtag or communication

❖ PRS CrisisLink Hotline at 703-527-4077, text "CONNECT" to 855-11 (available 24/7) or prsinc.org/crisislink/services/crisislink-hotlines/

❖ Merrifield Emergency Services 703-573-5679 (available 24/7) or www.fairfaxcounty.gov/csb/services/acute-care.htm

❖ CSB Entry and Referral during business hours at 703-383-8500 or www.fairfaxcounty.gov/csb/services/assessment.htm.

❖ More about the Blue Whale Challenge is available from FCPS at fcpsnet.fcps.edu/ssse/documents/BlueWhaleChallenge.pdf.

with anyone telling your children to do specific tasks.

❖ Discuss websites, links and social media apps your child is using.

❖ Know warnings of psychological distress. Signs may include changes in behavior (e.g. outbursts or being withdrawn) or physical health (e.g. weight loss or gain; loss of appetite), hopelessness, sadness, boredom and depression.

❖ If you see signs of distress, ask if they are considering suicide. Asking about suicide does not increase risk of suicide.

❖ Be aware of suicide prevention information and resources.

Infusing is Rarely Amusing

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Four weeks out of every five, it appears as if I don't have cancer. Fortunately, I don't look the part. Nor do I act the part – in my opinion. However, there is one week out of every five when I most definitely feel the part: the week after my chemotherapy infusion, when eating is a particular challenge. The look, feel, taste and thought of food and/or drink is nearly impossible to swallow – literally and figuratively. And though I'm not in any pain during this post-chemotherapy weak, I am compromised nonetheless.

Friends and family who are familiar with my "normal" eating habits (I'd order off the children's menu if I could) have joked that since I'm unable to eat any of the usual and customary Kenny selections, perhaps I should try eating foods that I would never select: Brussels sprouts, grapefruit, tuna fish in a can, fresh fish on a platter, all condiments other than mayonnaise, all legumes and a million other foods that you probably love. Plain and boring is how I roll (a potato roll is my preference), repeatedly.

The problem is that when I'm post chemo, nothing satiates: salty, sweet or "snacky;" hot, cold or medium; fast or slow; store-bought, home-made or restaurant-ready. It's all merely a variation on a theme where my back stiffens, my head tilts back and down and my eating mind says "no." It's been this way for about two and a half years now. And though I don't look the least bit undernourished, I am overwhelmed by these week-long post-chemotherapy eating fits and non-starts.

Naturally I have discussed this side effect with my oncologist. When asked how long this situation lasts, my seven-ish day struggle seems about average, according to my doctor, maybe even slightly shorter than some other patients he treats who are infused with the same chemotherapy drug as I am. Apparently, there are other patients where the eating challenges last even longer than mine. And since there's nothing to be prescribed/recommended to affect this eating problem/lack of outcome, all I can do is live with the consequences of my treatment. Live being the operative word. So unless I stop treatment, this eating challenge will persist, presumably. (Although, there's scant clinical information regarding side effects on stage IV, non-small cell lung cancer patients still living after eight years and four months as we're a patient population that doesn't much exist. We're not exactly unicorns, but neither are we ponies at the Fair.)

Fairness – and normalcy for me was officially gone on Feb. 27, 2009, the date of my diagnosis and the initial Team Lourie meeting with my oncologist. But so what. As of that date, my perspective/orientation became about living forward, not recriminating backward. Sure, the present was important, but the future was more important, and the past, well, it had passed. No more could I afford to consider who, what, where, when, why and how I ended up in this predicament. My goal was to remain positive, take the bad with good, survive until the next drug approval by the FDA (of which there have been half a dozen in the last two years specifically for the treatment of lung cancer) and try not to impose my problems on anyone else.

Which I believe I've succeeded in doing. Oh sure, I've imposed myself on you regular readers, but what I've imposed on you have been my experiences. Considering the context, I'd like to think I've shared, not self-indulged. Moreover, I'd like to think we're all better off for the 'experience.' I know I am.
