SLIDES, FOOD, FIRE ENGINE

Festival visitors always enjoy the six giant slides. "Each slide is themed differently, so you'll fly out of castles, barns and volcanos, exploring everything from dinosaur digs to mining towns to giant beanstalks," said Cox-Galotra.

The fun also includes straw tunnels, plus the Cornundrum Cornfield Adventure. The latter features funhouse mirrors, a hall of doors, giant vortex and a pirate ship. Also on hand is the Great Pyramid with hieroglyphics and some surprises inside.

Another hit with children is a red, 1961 fire engine, near the volcano slide. It has two slides coming out of the back so children may climb up, go across and slide down.

Food is available for purchase throughout the farm. The selection includes hot dogs, hamburgers, nachos, Dominion root beer and root-beer floats. Home-smoked, pulled-pork, barbecue sandwiches are also on the menu, as are chocolate-chip and sugar cookies.

Kettle corn is offered, too, plus homemade caramel apples and apple-cider doughnuts. Cox Farms also has a milk-and-cookies stand and, this year, it also features nitro, cold-brew coffee.

Fresh cider and apples are free. And if desired, visitors may bring their own lunches (no alcohol) for picnics on the grounds. They may also buy a wide variety of treats in the farm's market. The goodies include freshly baked apple pies, local apples, kettle corn, apple cider, dessert breads, jams, local honey, Indian corn, squash, gourds and fall decorations. Visitors even get to choose a free, patch pumpkin to take home.

FIELDS OF FEAR

Once night falls, scary creatures arise and roam free, so the 20-acre Fields of Fear isn't recommended for children under 12; and anyone under 14 must be accompanied by an adult, 18 or older.

Those brave enough to enter the Fields of Fear are led to the Cornnightmare to experience cornfield terrors in the dark. There, they walk through the Hall of Whispers, Bug Room and Claustrophobia, secluded in tall corn with creatures that aren't human. There are also crazed clowns, illusions and a secret finale.

The Dark Side Hayride is all new for 2017 and now boasts The Lost

Circus. Abandoned in the early 1900s, it comes to life when the living approach. It includes Sideshow Alley and magicians. Said Cox-Galhotra: "We built a brand-new barn for it, and it ends with the scary Clown Chaos."

In the Fields of Fear, the normally friendly Imaginature Trail takes a dark turn, too, transforming into The Forest: Back 40 – a half-mile of fright. But not everything is scary at night. Foamhenge is also part of the after-dark fun, as are a big, six-lane slide and karaoke. People can hang out at giant bonfires, listen to music and roast marshmallows while watching live entertainment.

For Cox Farms, said Cox-Galhotra, "Hosting friends and families in Northern Virginia every fall is more than a tradition — it's a passion. The weather's beautiful, and there's nothing better to do with your time than to come and have fun on a farm."

His favorite part is the hayride. "We bill it as 'The world's best hayride,' and there's something for everybody," he said. "No matter how many times you take it, you'll always see something new. And that goes for me, too — and I helped set it up."

Talking the Walk

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Our long, local, overnight nightmare is almost over. By the date this column publishes: Sept. 20, 2017, I will, for the first time in nearly nine weeks, not had to have snaked down in the dark, our "turny-twisty" and narrow 150-year-old staircase to walk from the upstairs master bedroom to the downstairs and only usable commode. Though the renovation of this upstairs bathroom is not entirely complete nor ready for primetime (it is mostly usable as the water is now running and flushing), the demolition/renovation process apparently must go on/adhere to a schedule so, on Tuesday, Sept. 19 the downstairs bathroom, with all its fully functioning amenities will come under the sledge hammer – among other tools, and provide no further use until on or about Oct. 24.

This heretofore ("Good Will Hunting") logistical challenge has not presented too many difficulties for my wife, Dina. But given that I'm a male of a certain age, quite the opposite has been true for me. Once or twice and occasionally even more per overnight depending upon how late and how much I've had to eat or drink before bedtime, I'll need to visit the bathroom to attend to some very personal business. To be clear, the 'challenge' to which I refer is getting to the bathroom, not starting and/or finishing what I intended once I get there.

Moreover, when the task at hand has been completed, of course I need to retrace my steps – usually in the dark, and walk back upstairs. Though not nearly as difficult as walking downstairs; nevertheless, at the time I am going down and back up, in the middle of the night, my vision might not so readily acclimate and my balance is, let's just say: inconsistent, especially when trying to avoid the miscellaneous bathroom-remodeling boxes staged in the living room on the very route I must travel.

Needless to say, having this nightly nonsense come to an end is most definitely a column worth writing. Not necessarily to self-indulge anymore than usual but more so to amuse you regular readers and possibly even prepare you for your own in-home renovation. And considering that this renovation is our first – and we have minimal experience with these matters, I thought it useful to write it forward and perhaps share a less-than-obvious impact of taking the one-and-only-on-the-same-floor bathroom out of service. Sinks, mirrors and shower/tub issues notwithstanding, all of which can be withstood and endured with the reorientation to the downstairs bathroom, the commode issue, considering its unpredictability, naturally trumps all other real or imagined difficulties.

Though the upstairs bathroom is incomplete and lacking multiple finishing elements, its transformation so far is incredible – to our eyes. I'll spare you any details because that really would be self-indulgent and not at all the point of this column. But the two months or so it will have taken for the upstairs bathroom to become operational again and the nightly effect it's had on me appears to have been worth the wait.

As concerns the downstairs bathroom, we are now ready, willing and able to integrate its destruction into our routine. Given that it is more of a powder room than a master-type bathroom – though it will include a shower-only enclosure, no longer will it be my twice-nightly destination. In addition, I am looking forward to its transformation because the interim process will not prevent me from going anywhere I regularly go nor inconveniencing my wife, Dina, when she readies for work in the morning.

Monitoring its progress will be more of a curiosity than a calamity, since, in my mind, there will be no sense of urgency about the pace of this project as there had been with the upstairs bathroom because my bathroom access will not be affected in the least. And in the most, I am extraordinarily grateful – and relieved.
