25th Annual Dulles Day Festival and Plane Pull

The 25th annual Dulles Day Festival and Plane Pull was held at Washington International Airport on Saturday, Sept. 23. Close to 100 teams of 25 competed to see how fast they could pull a full-size jet aircraft 12 feet. The family friendly event is sponsored by the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority and has raised more than $2 million for the Special Olympics Virginia.

The Last DACA Clinic

Applications for renewals must be filed by Oct. 5.

BY SHIRLEY RUHE
THE CONNECTION

A sign outside Annandale United Methodist Church on Saturday, Sept. 23 read, "Welcome - Just Neighbors DACA Clinic." What the sign didn't say is that this would be the final DACA Clinic.

U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions announced President Donald Trump's Executive Order on Sept. 5 repealing Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA). Current DACA recipients with a work permit due to expire before March 5 can apply for a two-year renewal but no new first-time DACA applications can be filed.

DACA is a program that allows individuals meeting certain requirements, who either entered the country illegally as children or remained, to receive a renewable two-year deferred action from deportation and be eligible for a work permit. However, a DACA permit is only a temporary protection and not a path to legal citizenship.

Erin McKenney, director of Just Neighbors Ministry, says 12 people were preregistered for Saturday's clinic with some walk-ins. Immigration attorneys would review the required paperwork to minimize errors and the possibility of missing the deadline. McKenney observes there haven't been a lot of people at the clinics recently. She speculates that maybe they are filling out the paperwork themselves. "I hope so." She says when they had "know your rights" clinics early this year, a lot of the people who first came out for the clinics were later afraid they would be identified and people stopped coming. They were worried that their families were unprotected.

McKinney added, "In general the immigrants feel let down by the repeal. They feel they are as American as anyone and have never known any other country."

Tori Andrea-Babington, an immigration lawyer with Just Neighbors and director of Legal Services for Northern Virginia Family Services, says about half of the applications are being processed by the United States Customs and Immigration Service (USCIS) "super fast and about half are taking about six months. I think there has been a serious effort to turn them around quickly."

The immigration lawyers stood outside a room of eight tables where applicants worked through a pile of papers. The lawyers will review the paperwork before it is sent to USCIS.

McKinney calls the lawyers her "bullpen." She said, "They are the saviors," and added, "we don't send anything forward that we think won't be approved. That just puts the applicant in jeopardy."

McKenney estimates there have been about 2,000 people with DACA permits in Northern Virginia since President Obama established the program by Executive Order on June 15, 2012. The Executive Order was issued after several failed attempts by Congress to pass permanent immigration legislation referred to as the DREAM Act bill. There were an estimated 800,000 individuals enrolled in the DACA program nation-wide as of September 2017.

A MOTHER SITS along the wall of the reception area with her 10-year old and 4-year-old daughters who translate for her. The mother is illegal, having come to the United States in 2005. Her two youngest daughters were born in the U.S. and therefore are U.S. citizens. They are waiting for the 17-year-old daughter to finish her DACA renewal application. The oldest daughter joins them in the lobby and said, "I'm kind of upset. I don't remember much about El Salvador, and my friends whose work permits expire after March 5 won't be able to get a renewal." They will be eligible for deportation.

To be eligible for DACA, a recipient must have come to the U.S. before their 16th birthday and prior to June 2007 and have been living continuously in the U.S. since June 15, 2007. They must have been under the age of 31 on June 15, 2012 and with no lawful status at that time. They must have completed high school or a GED, have been honorably discharged from the armed forces or be enrolled in school. They cannot have been convicted of a felony or serious misdemeanor.

Just Neighbors Ministry Inc. is a non-profit organization providing legal services to low-income immigrants in Northern Virginia, focusing on humanitarian cases. Fifty-eight percent of their clients live in Fairfax with 16 percent in Arlington and others in Alexandria, Prince William and Loudoun. Eighteen percent of their cases are for DACA. They have moved to a new location at 7630 Little River Turnpike in Annandale.

Joe Walsh, Rock and Roll Hall of Fame inductee and multi GRAMMY Award recipient, took to the stage Sept. 20 at the Eagle Bank Arena to kick off VetsAid, the first annual concert to support veterans and their families.

Walsh was joined on stage by fellow GRAMMY awards winners Keith Urban, Zac Brown and Gary Clark Jr. as well as Sen. Tammy Duckworth of Illinois, an Iraq War veteran and double amputee.

“War is hell for everyone involved,” said Walsh, a Gold Star family member whose father died while on active duty in Okinawa, Japan. “I lost my father when I was a baby, before I could even make a memory of him. I stopped counting the number of friends I lost in the Vietnam War or that came home forever scarred mentally or physically or both. We’ve only just begun to appreciate the long-term impacts on our troops home from Iraq. So veterans issues have always been important to me.”

Walsh founded the 501(c)3 nonprofit VetsAid earlier this year and chose Fairfax to debut the concert, which he styled after Willie Nelson’s FarmAid.

“This is our coming out party,” said Walsh, “and we wanted it to be in the D.C. area to bring awareness to what we are trying to do for our veterans. I am very grateful to Eagle Bank Arena for offering us this location.”

Walsh is no stranger to helping veterans. He has assisted various veterans charities over the years and visited Walter Reed Medical Center, where he offered free guitar lessons to wounded veterans.

“In my touring, I was constantly seeing a lot of smaller charities that are in the trenches and doing a lot of good in their communities,” Walsh said. “But they often lacked the profile or manpower to raise funds. These are the charities that I want to help.”

Proceeds from the inaugural VetsAid concert will support veteran- and caregiver-focused charities including: Operation Mend, Hire Heroes USA, Warrior Canine Connection, TAPS, Semper Fi Fund, Children of Fallen Patriots Foundation, Stop Soldier Suicide and Swords to Plowshares.

Walsh plans to use this platform to raise funds and awareness for the urgent and significant needs of returning soldiers. Through the establishment of VetsAid and its annual benefit concert, he hopes to give back to those who have sacrificed for our country as well as bring Gold Star families together.

“We allocated tickets to Gold Star families for the concert,” Walsh said. “I feel that bringing these families together is the first step in healing. We want them to know they are not totally alone.”

Walsh plans to continue the VetsAid concerts every year in different parts of the country.

“I had to do something and seeing as though rock-and-roll seems to be what I do best,” Walsh continues, “it’s also the least I could do for those who have served and continue to serve our country. We’re all in this together as Americans and seems to me lately that people are forgetting that.”

Lorton Man Dies in Springfield Crash

Crash Reconstruction Unit detectives are investigating a fatal crash in Springfield Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 26 involving a motorcycle and semi-tractor trailer. It happened in the 7600 block of Backlick Road at about 1:20 p.m. The semi was leaving a supply yard and making a left turn to northbound Backlick Road. The motorcyclist was heading southbound on Backlick Road and was unable to stop in time, hitting the rear wheels of the cab. The motorcyclist, 26 year old Justin Wright of Lorton, died at the scene. All lanes of traffic on Backlick Road and the southbound lanes of Franconia-Springfield Parkway were closed for several hours. According to FCPD, preliminarily, it appears speed may have been a factor in this crash. It's unknown at the time of the report if drugs or alcohol were involved. The truck driver wasn't injured.

Lorton Man Convicted of Attempted Armed Robbery and Discharge of a Firearm

A federal jury convicted a Lorton man on charges of attempted robbery, attempted possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, and the use and discharge of a firearm during those crimes. According to court records and evidence presented at trial, Thomas Todd, 33, conspired to rob a drug dealer at gunpoint in the basement of an apartment building in Lorton. The drug dealer arrived at the apartment building with an armed associate on June 24, 2016, and a shootout occurred in the lobby in the middle of the night.

Todd faces a mandatory minimum of 10 years in prison and a maximum sentence of life in prison when sentenced on Jan. 19, 2018. Actual sentences for federal crimes are typically less than the maximum penalties. A federal district court judge will determine any sentence after taking into account the U.S. Sentencing Guidelines and other statutory factors.

Award-Winning Exhibit at Fairfax Station Church

Locals walk through a free, interactive exhibit to experience the effects of extreme poverty from the perspective of the world's most vulnerable children and families

The nationally touring, interactive World Vision Experience exhibit (www.worldvisionexperience.org) is coming to bring national news headlines to life, raising awareness of sex trafficking, refugees, and child protection in the world's most fragile and vulnerable places. Antioch Baptist Church, Fairfax Station, is hosting this innovative exhibit Sept. 28 through Oct. 1.

Visitors will step into a "global village" contained inside a tractor trailer in the church's parking lot. Inside they will don headsets and walk through a 20-minute journey with four people from around the world: Reshma, Ali, Moses, and Junior. They will walk into the heart of the most pressing causes of our time: human trafficking, the Syrian refugee crisis, and the protection of vulnerable children.

Walk-ups are welcome. Groups of 10 or more can make a reservation in advance by going to worldvisionexperience.org.

Dire and Urgent

Does current repeal effort set the stage for billions in tax cuts for the wealthiest?

“Dire and urgent.” Those are the words used by U.S. Sen. Mark Warner to describe the need to turn back the most recent attempt to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act.

In addition to repealing and replacing the Affordable Care Act with a plan that would result in chaos, the Graham-Cassidy bill also repeals Medicaid as we know it, Virginia’s senators said in a call with reporters last week.

“Why are they going after Medicaid?” asked U.S. Sen. Tim Kaine. Per capita caps on Medicaid have “nothing to do with the Affordable Care Act.”

The proposed cuts include $243 billion less between 2020 and 2026 for the ACA’s expansion of Medicaid, and cuts to the rest of Medicaid of $175 billion during the same period, according to the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities analysis. The cuts would grow dramatically in 2027, with nearly $300 billion more in cuts that year alone.

“Why go after Medicaid? Why?” Kaine asked again. Kaine is pretty sure he knows the answer: To generate money for billions in tax cuts for the wealthy.

EDITORIAL

“Senators who support this [repeal], who think that the Federal government should not be paying for health care for the poor, for the aged, for the disabled, are planning to give this money to the wealthiest Americans in tax cuts.

“We must resist that at all costs.”

While the Graham-Cassidy bill appears to lack the votes to pass right now, and many people predict that the Senate will move on from trying to repeal and replace the affordable care act, vigilance is still required.

These ongoing efforts to repeal the Affordable Care Act also threaten the quality of coverage for everyone by shredding protection on pre-existing conditions, by stripping funding for addiction and mental health treatment in the midst of a nationwide opioid epidemic, by allowing lifetime caps on coverage that would leave the most seriously ill patients without coverage, by undermining what constitutes “essential benefits,” the very definition of what one expects to be covered by insurance.

Teen Suicide: Who to Call for Help in Fairfax County

By JOHN C. COOK
BRADDOCK DISTRICT
SUPERVISOR

COMMENTARY

Stories of teen suicides seem to appear far too often on the news these days.

Unfortunately, the news coverage reflects the fact that teen suicides have drastically increased in the United States and even Fairfax County. According to the Fairfax County Health Department, 98 youths within the ages of 10 and 24 committed suicide in Fairfax County between 2010 and 2015. These numbers are frightening to read, but there is hope. Thanks to the work of PRS Crisis Link and the Fairfax-Falls Church Community Services board, there are now several Fairfax County programs and initiatives to help families and friends to identify the signs of suicide and prevent it all together.

If someone believes their child or loved one may be suicidal or dealing with a mental health issue, there are a number of places to find help. In any immediate, life threatening situation call 9-1-1 right away. However, for parents and guardians of teens who may be suicidal or experiencing a mental health crisis, PRS Crisis Link is a valuable resource. PRS has a 24-hour, confidential hotline which can be reached at 703-527-4077. They also have a textline that can be accessed by texting “CONNECT” to 85511. PRS Crisis Link offers crisis intervention, suicide prevention, and information on community resources to address their caller’s specific needs.

Another option available for immediate assistance is the Fairfax-Falls Church Community Services Board (CSB) Emergency Services at 703-573-5679, which is also 24/7. In addition to suicide prevention, CSB offers a range of services for mental health issues, substance use disorders, and developmental disabilities. The CSB’s Merrifield Crisis Center offers walk-in screenings for emergency and non-emergency psychiatric cases. Their clinicians will determine the risk of a patient’s situation and help provide the appropriate services, which may include medication, detoxification, or even, in some cases, hospitalization at another facility. CSB can give parents and guardians proper guidance in navigating the mental healthcare system.

There are also opportunities for anyone who would like to receive training on suicide prevention and mental health first aid through the county. CSB offers free online classes called “At-Risk for Middle School” and “At-Risk for High School.” This training teaches educators and other adults in the community how to identify signs of psychological distress in youth and connect them to the right resources. The CSB also offers a two-day Mental Health First Aid class that “introduces risk factors and warning signs of mental health problems” and “teaches how to help someone who is in crisis or experiencing a mental health or substance use challenge.” The next Youth Mental Health First Aid classes will be held Monday, Nov. 4 and Wednesday, Nov. 6, 2017.

No one should struggle with mental health issues on their own, especially children and teens. PRS and CSB will be there for your family’s time of need. Everyone, including parents and educators, should learn the signs of suicide and save these phone numbers just in case. Together, our community can make a substantial impact on suicide prevention.

Fairfax County at 275 Years

By KENNETH R. “KEN”
PLUM
STATE DELEGATE (D-36)

COMMENTARY

Fairfax County is celebrating the 275th anniversary of its formation when in 1742 it was split off from Prince William County to be a separate county encompassing what we now know as the current county plus Loudoun and Arlington Counties and the cities of Alexandria, Falls Church, and Fairfax. It was named for Thomas, sixth Lord Fairfax who had a proprietary of 5,282,000 acres. For a time a part of the county that is now Arlington County and the City of Alexandria was a part of the 10 square miles that makes up the District of Columbia until those jurisdictions were returned to Virginia.

Fairfax County is compared today with jurisdictions throughout the country as it leads in economic growth and development in many ways. That national comparison was not always appropriate. In its early years it was a struggling community raising tobacco with the labor of enslaved black persons. By 1749 the county’s population was 28 percent enslaved persons; by 1782 that number had reached 41 percent.

The county’s early fame came from its two most important residents: George Mason who wrote the Virginia Declaration of Rights and the Virginia Constitution and whose work led to the Bill of Rights in our national Constitution and George Washington who as our first president brought the country together and whose service in office set important precedents that continue today.

Surprisingly Fairfax County voted with the South to secede from the Union leading up to the Civil War. While the County was not the scene of major military battles, there were many skirmishes and an almost constant flow of troops passing through it. After the war and reconstruction, investments started to flow to the county that helped its recovery. Although still an agricultural community at that time, the following decades brought significant changes that led to the community as we know it today.

Experience Betrayal and Revenge

Virginia Opera presents
Center for the Arts.

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

Virginia Opera opens its new season at the Center for the Arts with the epic French opera “Samson and Delilah” by Camille Saint-Saëns. The production of “Samson and Delilah” continues the Virginia Opera “First of Firsts” series. The series aims to produce “an opera completely new to our company and our audiences,” said Adam Turner, Principal Conductor and Artistic Adviser, Virginia Opera.

“We’ve managed to stretch our creative muscles while offering audiences fresh and engaging operas never before seen on the Virginia Opera stages,” added Turner. “‘Samson and Delilah’ is just a glorious masterpiece full of evocative musical story-telling.”

The Saint-Saëns opera was written to dramatize the Biblical story of Samson, the legendary Israelite warrior known for his long hair and great strength. Samson fell in love with and was betrayed by Delilah, a Philistine woman. Then Samson sought out his revenge on Delilah.

For its production of “Samson and Delilah” the Virginia Opera wanted to “give modern-day audiences an entry point into a story far removed from their regular lives. This is always a stimulating challenge for us,” said Turner. “With this compelling and thought-provoking production of ‘Samson and Delilah,’ we have drawn an engaging parallel between the oppressors of Israel in the Biblical story and more recent historical fascist regimes.”

The creative talents of internationally renowned stage director, Paul Curran, and a remarkable set and costumes by Court Watson, are key ingredients to the Virginia Opera production of “Samson and Delilah.” Aiming to evoke a pre-World War II oppressive government regime, “our take on the show feels epic, sexy, dangerous, romantic, intoxicating and energetic,” said Watson, a native of Virginia.

The principal singers of Saint-Saëns’ grand, beautiful music are Virginia Opera veterans. They include tenor Derek Taylor (Samson), mezzo-soprano Katharine Goeldner (Delilah) and baritone Michael Chioldi (The High Priest). The opera is famous for its vivid, if not wild “Bacchanale” and the “Softly Wakes My Heart” aria of Delilah.

With daring staging and energy so patrons experience Delilah’s betrayal, Virginia Opera aims to not only provide grand entertainment for regular opera goers, but to attract new audiences as well. “Samson and Delilah” continues the ambitious vision for Virginia Opera to secure the youngest opera audience in America by 2025.

Inviting those who regularly attend Virginia Opera performances and those new to opera, Turner added that, “it will be a feast for the ears and cannot be missed.”

‘Moon Over Buffalo’ Jump Starts New Season

Providence Players celebrates 20 years.

BY DAVID SIEGEL
THE CONNECTION

Opening its 20th anniversary season, the Providence Players will celebrate with Ken Ludwig’s mad-cap farce, “Moon Over Buffalo.”

“Moon Over Buffalo” has mistaken identities, mixed-up relationships, outrageous plot twists, physical slapstick, along with a slew of outrageous characters. In playwright Ludwig’s comedy, life for the characters is like “Murphy’s Law;” everything that can go wrong, does go wrong.

The production is set in a theatre in Buffalo in 1953. Two middle-aged actors, Charlotte and George Hay are on what may be their last tour. Then they receive word they may have one last shot at the big-time. A Hollywood director might be interested in them for his next picture. From that premise, everything takes off.

For production director Jayne L. Victor, the eight characters in “Moon” are “zany yet they are real. They also all evolve over the course of the play. In the end they are all likable.”

The cast includes Providence veterans and those making their Providence debuts. Veteran performer Michael Donahue portrays George Hay while newcomer Maria Watson is his wife Charlotte. Jenny Madorsky plays Rosalind the Hays’ daughter. Making their Providence debuts are Scott Stofko portraying a TV weatherman and Rosalind’s fiancé as well as Chuck O’Toole who plays Rosalind’s ex-fiancé. Robey Manno is Charlotte’s hard-of-hearing mother while Providence newcomer Eric Trumbull is the love-sick lawyer courting Charlotte. Jaclyn Robertson makes her debut as an actress close to George, carrying a major secret.

Donahue described his character of George this way: “George used to be a star, and now he is a fading star, but still chasing the flash of the past. He wants to still be seen as he once was. Like his wife and soulmate Charlotte; they are both in a state of middle-aged flux.

For Maria Watson her role as Charlotte has personal connections. “Charlotte and I have a lot in common. We’ve been in theatre for a long time. Worked a lot, but never made star status. We ran theatres and acted with our spouses.” The reward in playing Charlotte is making the character come alive. Charlotte “had dreams that have been dashed.”

This is a rare second time the Providence Players has mounted “Moon Over Buffalo.”

“An audience favorite for our company’s 10th anniversary season. We wanted to bring it back because it is a celebration of having fun,” said Chip Gertzog, Providence Player Board Member.

Passport to Fashion at Springfield Town Center shines light on latest trends.

BY BASMA HUMADI
THE CONNECTION

One of the best places to hold an event regarding fashion and its latest trends is, of course, the mall. Saturday, Sept. 16, Springfield Town Center hosted Passport to Fashion, an event which celebrated and featured fall arrivals and upcoming trends for the upcoming season.

Passport to Fashion took place from 1-4 p.m. and was hosted by Sarah Fraser and Paul Wharton, co-hosts of the local podcast Hey Frase, which discusses anything and everything from pop culture to inspiring and personal stories with its interviewees.

"We will be having an Oprah moment at 3:30," Wharton joked to the crowd when giving a run-down of the day's events.

Audience members and everyday mall-goers were all eligible to win gift cards by entering their name in Passport to Fashion's various raffles that were called out on the mainstage. By spending a minimum of $100 at participating stores, mall-goers could also enter to win a $500 gift card to Springfield Town Center.

On the mainstage, the audience got to witness a live tutorial by MAC employees on how to do a smoky eye, see a demo of Rihanna's new Fenty line available at Sephora, fall trends at Topshop and Topman and a panel by various speakers involved in the fashion industry.

A panel discussing fashion trends and answering audience questions was moderated by Wharton and included entrepreneur Maggy Francois, make-up artist Janelle Zeigler, hair stylist Emily Villalva, and Top-man personal shopper Matt Slade.

One thing all the panelists agreed on was "making trends work for you" and remaining authentic to yourself rather than feeling forced to follow every trend.

The trends "are open enough that you can follow the trends, but also make it your own," said Francois.

As for fashion inspirations, Zeigler cited Kelis as one of her idols.

"She has a good mixture," Zeigler said. "She doesn't conform to one look; she's just all over and I like that. She breaks the rules."

Busy hands in Fairfax try to alleviate human suffering on “Outreach Sunday.”

BY MARTI MOORE
THE CONNECTION

“I was ordering this before the hurricanes hit,” explains Christie Johnson on a Tuesday night, Sept. 19 as she looks at the large boxes of humanitarian relief supplies stacked in her kitchen and dining room. She is ready for a special service Sept. 24 at the Fairfax United Methodist Church, where anyone willing to participate in outreach missions are called to donate winter coats and accessories for the homeless, gently used intimate apparel women can sell in third world countries, and backpacks for school children in the Philippines.

That’s not all.

Dozens of people assembled 300 personal hygiene kits and filled 25 flood buckets Sunday with cleaning supplies for survivors of six natural disasters. No one could predict the magnitude of catastrophic losses in just four weeks. Certainly not the FUMC congregation, which holds a fundraiser each year during Lent to benefit various church missions.

Burke Gives Back

Generous donors were quick to open their hearts and wallets in response to recent natural disasters. Unfortunately, local charities are bracing for tighter operating budgets soon due to storm fatigue. Jane Wilson, director of outreach missions at the Burke United Methodist Church, said Tuesday she saw this coming.

Her church will respond to one of those critical needs with “Burke Gives Back” – a food drive Oct. 21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Terra Centre Elementary School, 6000 Burke Centre Parkway.

Volunteers will form an assembly line and pack 25,000 dehydrated meals for Rise Against Hunger – a faith-based mission in Raleigh, N.C., determined to end hunger around the world and feed school children in developing nations. Each meal costs 29 cents.

Wilson says “We’re going to divide food donations between three food pantries,” which are: Fairfax food banks FACETS at 10640 Page Ave. and Food for Others at 2938 Prosperity Ave., as well as Springfield charity ECHO – Ecumenical Community Helping Others at 7205 Old Keene Mill Rd.

“We were blessed with more than we usually collect,” said Johnson. Church members wanted more hands-on mission projects available for multi-generational opportunities in a short amount of time. The Sept. 24 “Outreach Sunday” event puts the surplus to work.

“You’ve come for two hours and you’ve done something amazing,” Johnson said. She and her mother-in-law spent considerable time online ordering disaster relief supplies in bulk to make those dollars stretch and fill as many critical needs that $3,500 can buy.

MARTI MOORE/THE CONNECTION

THE FAIRFAX UNITED METHODIST team received an additional $2,000 in donations since Hurricane Harvey made landfall in Texas Aug. 25. The money will go to the United Methodist Committee on Relief. This Atlanta-based charity distributes supplies and cash to first responders in disaster zones worldwide. They also join forces with other humanitarian aid agencies to alleviate human suffering as quickly as possible.

Each personal hygiene bag costs about $12 to make and each flood bucket costs $65 to fill. Learn how to assemble these disaster relief kits at www.umcor.org.

Not surprisingly, one of the big issues was transportation. In the early years most settlements were along the rivers that provided a means for transporting tobacco and crops. As inland developments occurred there was no governmental mechanism for building roads. Those that were in place were narrow without a hard surface. New turnpikes supported by tolls included the Little River Turnpike, Columbia Turnpike, Leesburg Turnpike and Falls Bridge Turnpike. The start of railroads before the Civil War accelerated with the electric trolley lines that followed. It is estimated that as many as a million passengers or more were carried per year by the Washington, Alexandria, and Mt. Vernon electric railways that ran 30 trips per day.

The growth of the federal government after the Great Depression and the World Wars brought huge growth to Fairfax County. Its population of 40,000 grew to 98,000 in 1950 and by 1970 was 454,000. It is now approaching 1.2 million people. Recognized as among the best places in the country to live and to start a business, we have clearly left behind our humble beginnings. It is worthwhile to remember our history and the 275th anniversary provides many different opportunities (www.fxva.com/275/).

Do I Have a Right to Healthcare?

To the Editor:

Many people are saying that healthcare is a right. Does that mean that I have the right to force medical personnel to provide me with healthcare services whether I pay for them or not? Do I have a right to take my neighbor's money to pay for my healthcare?

This does not make sense. Obviously, I do not have a right to healthcare. However, I do have a right to find a doctor who is willing to provide me with medical services at a price we agree upon. So simple!

"You know Obamacare is really I think the worst thing that has happened in this nation since slavery," said Dr. Ben Carson (Washington Post, Oct. 11, 2013)

"If healthcare is a right, then all medical personnel are slaves. It would be nice if someone besides Ben Carson said so!" (Twitter posting)

Furthermore, UMCOR is poised to respond to pleas for help from seven states affected by wildfires out West, according to a Sept. 22 report on their website. The U.S. Forest Service has an interactive wildfire map online at www.fs.fed.us.

"Methodism is faith in action," Johnson affirms and points out UMCOR is among several faith-based charities that help the Federal Emergency Management Agency respond to crisis situations through the National Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster — a disaster relief association in Alexandria near the King Street Metrorail Station.

BURKE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH showed visitors of their booth how to make UMCOR cleaning kits Sept. 9 and 10 at the annual Burke Centre Festival, where they collected $300 for flood victims.

The church also was a community drop-off center in direct response to Hurricane Harvey and subsequent disasters.

Burke United Methodist collected supplies from St. Stephen's UMC in Burke, St. George's UMC in Fairfax and Sterling UMC in Loudoun County.

"We delivered 136 flood buckets and 101 health kits to the collection point in Richmond," reported Burke UMC outreach missions director Jane Wilson in an email last week. The United Methodist Church in Northern Virginia lists Burke UMC as a flood bucket collection facility through noon Oct. 10 at Burke Center Parkway and Burke Lake Road. She says about 30 cleaning kits have been dropped off this week. Details are available online at www.burkeumc.org and www.novaumc.org/hurricane-relief-information.

Cranford UMC in Lorton and Warrenton UMC in Fauquier County collected flood buckets and other disaster relief supplies through Sept. 22, according to www.novaumc.org. The Arlington Forest and First Vietnamese-American UMC raised funds through a weekend car wash earlier this month before another catastrophic 7.1 magnitude earthquake devastated central Mexico Sept. 19 and Hurricane Maria nearly demolished Puerto Rico a day later, leaving two more humanitarian crises in their wakes.

"We are God's hands and feet in this world," Wilson said.

Ought To Ship

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

I don't want to praise the Lord too much for providing me with such a trivial and mundane benefit but, I sure am grateful when my 112 pounds of cat litter arrives/is delivered to my front porch, mere feet away from our cats' litter boxes. "Auto Ship," baby. No more am I lugging 28 to 44 pound boxes of cat litter into our five-indoor-cat household from the local supermarket and/or pet superstore. I don't want to plagiarize a television "spokeshing" from my youth so I'll give "Speedy" from Alka Seltzer proper attribution when I write as enthusiastically as I can: "Oh, what a relief it is!"

The litter is my second auto-ship of substance; having made an earlier/similar commitment to 16 pound bags of dry cat food. I do get some fancy, multi-vitamins auto-delivered and my wife, Dina, as well receives special eye vitamins in the mail, but I thought that was the only way to purchase them, given that the manufacturers were out of town so I never considered them an auto-type ship. Previously, I had always resisted inquiring about getting products delivered from a national company when they are available locally. My thinking had been that since I'm home during the day, and regularly in and out doing errands at many of the stores that sell this merchandise, why ship it when I can shop it? It seemed redundant.

Now however, given the pleasure I felt when I saw that litter sitting on the porch without my having had to life one finger; well, a few fingers initially when I "keystroked" my way through this company's online registration, the light has come on. Moreover, given the neuropathy I have in my feet, I'm tired of walking around those giant warehouse stores. Sure, the local proximity and availability is helpful but the bigger the buyer, the more effort the unloading/restocking is required at home. Perhaps I've simply come to a realization, and not necessarily an accommodation to my age, that less effort equals more overall value. And if in addition to less effort, I can buy products at equal or even lower cost than doing so locally, than I am sittin' pretty in high cotton, if I may double-down on the benefit?

Not that I'm overworked and underpaid for the household duties I perform but, I'd rather be under worked and overpaid, if you catch my drift? And given certain realities to the many tasks now performed by hand, it's up to me to reinvent the wheel, so to speak. And so, I'm starting to consider very seriously, ordering more stuff this way, especially bulky/weighty stuff and to let my fingers do the clicking rather than my arms and legs doing the walking and carrying. Let commercial/corporate America do the driving and delivering. I don't have to prove my shopping mettle anymore. I'm ready to sit back and let the boxes do my talking.

I'm not quite ready to order food/perishable however. I feel a certain sense of calm and serenity wandering down supermarket aisles taking mental inventory of what's present and what's not — and what's new and what everything costs. Not that I try many things as anybody who knows me knows, but occasionally, Entenmann's or Hostess or Nabisco will surprise me with a new item and thus will have made the visit all the more sweeter. I wonder if I'll have the same sensation perusing and clicking my way through a site that so far has been unseen — by my eyes, anyway. I guess it can't hurt to explore a bit. I mean, it's not exactly the dark web. (Is it?) Nor do I expect to use bit coins or have to create an avatar for myself. Nevertheless, the process does seem a little daunting; changing habits that have become habitual, and routines which have become routine. Seems a bit like turning an ocean liner around after it's headed out to sea. They don't turn on a dime and neither do I. Still, I'm intrigued by the possibilities, and besides, I'm nearly out of laundry detergent.

Perhaps a test is in the offing. I don't think I'm quite ready to join a club/pay a membership fee, but I am open to investigating. Time will tell I suppose, as will my first bill.
