Family connections help you live longer Get connected at The Kensington

WHETHER IT'S THE ONE YOU GET or the one you choose, your family can make a grey day bright or a sunny day sunnier. It is a bringer of joy, a courier of love and a haven of comfort.

Connections with family are meaningful throughout every stage of life, but they are particularly important for seniors. They not only improve quality of life, but they also extend it. Strong family ties strengthen the immune system, increase cognitive ability and improve mental health. They also provide a sense of belonging that keeps worry at bay, alleviates fear and reduces stress, which all help preserve health and prolong life.

At The Kensington, we like having our residents around, so we've made space in our family for them and theirs—in our hearts and at our table.

Get connected. Join us for brunch. We'll set a place for you.

eighbors stroll by. Carloads of observers hand out their car windows, sometimes causing a traffic jam, in front of Kathy Mirro's Halloween display at 5501 N. 15th Street. Mirro says she starts putting out the display in September, and the children come to watch the inflatable lawn decorations going up.

Mirro says some of the display has changed in the last 15 years. "They wear out." "I added my cat." A gust of wind whirls by. "Oh my gosh I have to blow my cat back up." She heads for the air pump just behind the huge plastic black cat. "I have had so much trouble with the wind this year. I have to keep putting things back. She looks up on her roof. "Oh my house is falling down."

The wind had blown down one of the witches. "A little boy stopped by and told me he had put it back." She says he was so enthusiastic and asked her if he could help with the tunnel that frames over the sidewalk. If you are brave enough to run by the skeletons in the driveway, walk around the three ghosts and skirt the other critters you might make it to the front door where a motion activated witch sings about her bubbling cauldron.

A couple stoll by with a cup of morning coffee. Mirro says, "You should really see this at night. "I have green and blue sparkle lights. And on Halloween night I have a projector that shines on the three pumpkins and they sing."

Listening to Seniors

U.S. Sen. Tim Kaine came to Culpepper Garden Oct. 16 and met with 80-plus independent and assisted living residents as part of his reelection campaign. He gave a brief introduction but spent the majority of his time in a Q&A with residents on subjects ranging from affordable housing and Medicaid expansion to immigration reform, trade policy, voting rights and equal work for equal pay.

The Few. The Proud. The 2018 Marine Corps Marathon.

By Jeanne Theismann
The Connection

effrey Stein, an attorney in the Public Defender's Office in the District of Columbia, rebounded from last year's eighth place finish to win the 2018 Marine Corps Marathon Oct. 28 in Arlington.

"I couldn't ask for anything better," said Stein, 32, after notching his first marathon victory with a time of 2 hours, 22 minutes and 49 seconds. "It was totally exhilarating."

Stein was followed by Patrick Hearn, who ran a 2:23:27 race, and Will Christian, who placed third in 2:24:24.

In the women's division, Costa Rica's Jenny Mendez Suanca, 38, repeated her

2015 MCM victory to place first with a time of 2:40:19, setting a personal best by nearly five minutes. Army Lieutenant Lindsay Gabow of San Antonio was second in 2:46:35 with Marine Corps 2nd LT Lindsay Carrick of Fredericksburg finishing third in 2:48:45

The top hand cycle finisher was medically-retired Army infantryman Omar Duran, formerly of the 82nd Airborne, who completed the 26.2-mile course in 1:21:28.

Arlington's top male finisher was Michael Wardian, 44, who placed 17^{th} in the men's division with a time of 2:35:49. Rachel Rabbitt was Arlington's top female finisher with a time of 3:11:22, placing 36^{th} overall among women.

For complete MCM race results, visit www.marinemarathon.com.

The top three finishers in the male and female divisions of the 2018 Marine Corps Marathon receive their trophies during the MCM awards ceremony Oct. 28 in Arlington. Shown are Lindsay Gabow (2:46:35), Patrick Hearn (2:23:27), Jenny Mendez Suanca (2:40:19), Jeffrey Stein (2:22:49), Lindsay Carrick (2:48:45) and Will Christian (2:24:24).

Double amputee Dmytro Kotov, a 41-year-old Ukrainian Army Sergeant, crosses the finish line of the 2018 MCM 10K in 2:03:21.

Sisters Brooke, Paige and Morgan Pillar of Farmingdale, N.J., cross the finish line of the 2018 MCM 10K in 1:14:20.

Mandi Maier of Alexandria is congratulated by Miles the Marine Corps mascot after completing the 2018 MCM 10K in 1:39:33.

Arlington resident Logan Ward, 11, finishes the 2018 MCM 10K in 1:31:35.

Medically-retired Army infantryman Omar Duran, 39, formerly of the 82nd Airborne, is congratulated as his crosses the finish line to take first place in the hand cycle division of the 2018 Marine Corps Marathon. Duran completed the 26.2-mile course in 1:21:28.

Coral Yienger, center, of Locust Grove, Va., celebrates her 90th birthday as she crosses the finish line of the 2018 MCM 10K in 2:14:31.

OPINION

What to Know for Election Day

rlington County has compiled information residents need to know before heading to the polls.

Who's on the Ballot

The Nov. 6 election will feature four races for seats that represent Arlington County two in federal office and two local elections.

In the statewide race for one of Virginia's two U.S. Senate seats, Sen. Tim Kaine (D) is facing Republican challengers Corey A. Stewart and Libertarian Matt J. Waters. In the U.S. House of Representatives' 8th District, Rep. Don Beyer (D) is being challenged by Republican Thomas S. Oh. Locally, one seat on the Arlington County Board and one seat on the Arlington County School Board are up for reelection. On the County Board, incumbent Independent John E. Vihstadt is facing Democratic challenger Matt de Ferranti, while for the School Board, incumbent Barbara J. Kanninen is facing challenger Audrey R. Clement.

What's on the Ballot

In addition to candidates for public office, the ballot also includes two proposed amendments to the Constitution of Virginia and four Arlington County bond questions.

Here are the County bond questions:

❖ Metro and Transportation: $74.57 million to finance, together with other available funds, the cost of various capital projects for the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority and other transit, pedestrian, road or transportation projects.

- ❖ Parks and Recreation: $29.33 million to finance, together with other available funds, the cost of various capital projects for local parks and recreation.
- ❖ Infrastructure: $37.015 million to finance, together with other available funds, the cost of various capital projects for County facilities, and other County infrastructure.
- Schools: $103 million to finance, together with other available funds, the costs of various capital projects for Arlington Public Schools.

The first constitutional amendment would authorize a locality to provide a partial tax exemption for property that is subject to recurrent flooding, if flooding resiliency improvements have already been made. The second constitutional amendment would allow the surviving spouse of any veteran who has a 100 percent service-connected, permanent, and total disability to continue to claim the tax exemption currently provided for primary residences, even if the surviving spouse moves to a new principal place of residence owned by him or her.

Where (and When) to Vote

Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 6, and polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. Residents must be in line at their polling place by closing to be eligible to cast a ballot.

Not sure where to vote? Find your polling place on the Virginia Department of Elections

Worried you won't have time to vote on Election Day? In-person absentee voting runs through Nov. 3 at the Bozman Government Center (2100 Clarendon Blvd.) in the conference rooms on the lobby level. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, except for Tuesday, Oct. 30 through Thursday, Nov. 1, when hours will be 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Voters can complete an absentee ballot application when they oday [Oct. 24], Attorney General Mark Herring publicly announced his office's investigation into allegations of child sexual abuse by clergy in Virginia. The Diocese of Arlington and the Diocese of Richmond assure the faithful and the public that we are cooperating with the Attorney General's office. Any instance of child sexual abuse is intolerable and gravely immoral. We hope that this process will bring healing for all victims and confirm our commitment to accountability and Having met with victims, we know that such abuse is unforgettable, and many carry that burden with them throughout their lives. We continue to welcome the opportunity to meet personally with victims, to hear their stories,

Dioceses Cooperating with Investigation

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Showed Priority For Public Safety

To the Editor:

The Arlington Professional Firefighters and Paramedics Association takes our responsibility to keep Arlington safe seriously. Each time we respond to a call for help, we do so with the best interest of our neighbors in mind. It is with that same community-safety minded spirit the Arlington Professional Firefighters and Paramedics Association supports John Vihstadt for re-election to the Arlington County Board.

and to support them in their journey toward healing.

Prior to being contacted by the Attorney General, both dioceses began internal investigative processes using independent investigators tasked with reviewing all diocesan clergy files. We promised to publish a list of all priests and deacons against whom credible and substantiated allegations of sexual abuse of a minor have been made, and we renew that promise. We will continue these efforts and ensure it does not impede the Attorney General's investigation.

In keeping with the "Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People," established in 2002, we report every allegation of sexual abuse of a minor to legal authorities. Each accusation is also brought before a Diocesan Review Board, composed mostly of lay people. We thoroughly vet clergy and staff and train them to identify suspicious behavior and re-

Four years ago, the Washington Post endorsed Vihstadt as the Independent upstart who challenged the Democratic establishment, writing that without him, "The board runs the risk of groupthink."

With Vihstadt's leadership, Arlington County has seen a shift in priorities, across party lines, back to core services, including public safety. In 2016, with his support, the county finally achieved four firefighters on every fire truck for every call, in accordance with nationally recognized standards for a safe and effective response.

This investment in public safety helps port any allegation of sexual abuse of a minor. Volunteers who interact with children also go through this process.

We encourage anyone aware of misconduct or abuse on the part of clergy or staff of either diocese to notify legal authorities and utilize the hotline established by the Attorney General: http://www.virginiaclergyhotline.com/ In addition, victims of sexual abuse in the Diocese of Arlington or the Diocese of Richmond are invited to contact the respective diocesan Victim Assistance Coordinator who is available to help victims/survivors make a formal complaint of abuse to the diocese, arrange a personal meeting with the bishop or his representative, and to obtain support for the needs of the individual and families.

firefighters better serve our citizens. Having enough firefighters means a more efficient response when seconds matter most. This investment made it safer for the firefighters and for the citizens, a fact Vihstadt understood when he made this a priority for the county.

We're asking voters to cast their ballot in support of Vihstadt this Nov. 6, because he has supported our county since first elected and is poised to continue keeping us all safer.

Expressing Emotions with Different Styles of Dance

Signature presents "Billy Elliot The Musical."

BY STEVE HIBBARD The Connection

ll 11-year-old Billy from England wants to do is dance. While the 1984 coal miners' strike squeezes his family and splits his town, Billy's passion for ballet first divides, then ultimately unites, the community - and changes his life. Based on the 2000 film, "Billy Elliot" swept the Tony, Drama Desk, and Olivier awards for Best Musical with a score by Elton John. This Signature show, running through Jan. 6, 2019, is directed and choreographed by Matthew Gardiner with book and lyr-

Owen Tabaka is playing the lead role of Billy Elliot, a boy who finds his love and passion for dance despite all of the challenges he and his family have faced. "Billy is strong and is forced to fend for himself a lot because his mom died when he was so young. This inner strength and courage help him pursue his dream of becoming a ballet dancer," he said.

He added: "I have loved every minute of working on 'Billy Elliot.' The two most challenging things for me while working on it have been learning a new accent and learning how to speak and sing with that accent, and learning how to use my emotions differently through dance. Billy is very angry at moments and very sad or vulnerable the next. It has been challenging, but fun to learn how to express those emotions with different styles of dance."

As far as audience takeaways, he continued: "I hope the audience leaves the show feeling like anything is possible if you work hard and have the love and support of your family. Playing the role of Billy has really taught me to be thankful for what I have and I hope everybody leaves the show feeling the same way."

Liam Redford, who is also playing the role of Billy Elliot, added: "My character, Billy Elliot, is a young boy who lives in Northern England during the 1984 miners' strike. Billy finds himself immersed in a dance class taught by the hilarious Mrs. Wilkinson, and falls in love with it. Billy struggles with the loss of his mother, his grandmother losing her memory, and his older brother and father being so busy with the strike."

As far as challenges, he said: "The challenge for me while working on 'Billy Elliot The Musical' was building up the stamina to play such a demanding and challenging role — a role where the characters must perform ballet and tap, as well as sing, act, and even fly, while barely having an opportunity to leave the stage."

For audience takeaways, he added: "I hope the audience will take away the importance of family, individuality, coming together as a community, believing in dreams, and breaking stereotypes."

Signature Theatre is presenting "Billy Elliot The Musical" through Jan. 6, 2019. Tickets are $40 to $102. Walking Together To Promote Inclusion

he Down Syndrome Association of Northern Virginia held its 14th annual Buddy Walk on Sunday, Oct. 14 at Signal Hill Park in Manassas. The Buddy Walk is DSANV's largest fundraiser. The money raised will be used to provide programs and services for those with Down syndrome throughout Northern Virginia. The event celebrates Down Syndrome Awareness Month and promotes acceptance and inclusion of people with Down syndrome.

Buddy Walk teams make their way around Signal Hill Park in Manassas.

Luke Walsh, 2, from Arlington and his mom Diane show off their smiles while listening to The Real Geniuses play on the main stage.

Mia Phares from Chantilly takes pleasure in feeding a goat after the walk.

Bradley Kuss, 4, from Alexandria has a great time horseback riding.

Yasna Soto from Alexandria and her 3year-old daughter Daniela pet a llama in the petting area. It was their third year participating in the Buddy Walk.

Two-year-old Keira Joy Koch from Arlington supported her friend Emerson by walking with Team Emerson Young.

Bishop Ireton cheerleader Elise Norquist holds 4-year-old Ann Marie Bellinger of Team Ann Marie.

Colin Walsh, 15 months, from Arlington participated in the walk as part of Team Luke's Skywalkers for his brother Luke.

Frank Stevens, grand marshal, welcomes everyone to the 14th annual Buddy Walk. Stevens is a disability advocate, actor, screenwriter, model, and athlete. In 2016, he received the Quincy Jones Exceptional Advocacy Award from the Global Down Syndrome Foundation.

Transitway Extension Project

An open house for the Transitway Extension Project will be held Thursday, Nov. 8, 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the Crystal City Community Room, Crystal City Shops, 2100 Crystal Drive. The project would extend the Crystal City Potomac Yard Transitway to Pentagon City, running from Crystal Drive and Clark Street along 12th Street South to South Hayes Street and Army Navy Drive. It will add 0.75 miles of bus-only lanes to the Transitway corridor, along with seven new stations. Staff are currently working to prepare the project's traffic and operations analysis and complete design for the project's first segment by summer 2019.

Fire Station #7 (Engine 107), at 3116 South Abingdon St.

Fire Station to be Relocated

he Arlington County Fire Department (ACFD) plans to temporarily relocate Fire Station #7 (Engine 107), at 3116 South Abingdon St., until further notice due to structural and safety concerns in the station. A recent engineering evaluation noted concerns with the station's apparatus bay floor and whether it can support modern-day fire equipment. Part of the living quarters for the firefighters is located below the apparatus bay.

Fire Station #7 serves the Fairlington

The proposed community swimming pool in the Nauck neighborhood.

Board Approves Pool in Nauck

Macedonia Baptist Church to build seven-lane pool.

he County Board on Oct 24 unanimously approved the Macedonia Baptist Church's plans to build a new community swimming pool in the Nauck neighborhood, on its property at 3440 22nd St. S., and to share parking on its church parking lot at 3412 22nd St. S. with the pool. The board also approved a Zoning Ordinance amendment related to community swimming pools.

The project includes the pool, a seasonal dome and a community building. The board approved reducing minimum setbacks for the pool-related structures and allowing reduced off-site shared parking of about 60 spaces on the neighboring parking lot.

The new seven-lane pool and its 25-foot tall seasonal dome will replace an existing pool, built in the 1960s, that has not been used for many years. The pool will be used by the neighborhood and the Arlington community, and also will be leased to the Arlington Water Polo Club for practices and training. The redevelopment also will include a two-story community building that will house bathrooms/changing rooms on the ground floor and several community rooms on the top floor. An existing two-story brick building, home to Funshine Preschool, will remain on the site.

In a related action, the board approved a Zoning Ordinance amendment, granting the board authority to modify use standards for fencing, placement, setbacks and lot coverage for community swimming pools. The amendment is meant to address zoning challenges that community swimming pool operators encounter in getting projects approved, or in trying to expand or update an existing pool. With the change, community swimming pools in zoning districts where they are approved by use permit could seek these modifications.

Fire Station to be Relocated

❖ Fire Station 410: 3601 Firehouse Lane, Bailey's Crossroads (Fairfax)

The county is conducting an inspection of the concrete slab to determine feasibility and extent of possible rehabilitation and repair options. The fire station is expected to be out of service until the analysis is complete. Fire Station #7 personnel and equipment was scheduled to be moved to Fire Station #4 in Clarendon (3121 10th St. N) on Oct. 30.

Built in the 1940s, Fire Station #7 is the county's only one-bay station where the apparatus bay is located above a lower level. The weight of engines housed at the station has roughly doubled since the station was built, including an approximately 60-percent increase in weight since the 1983 renovation.

OBITUARY

Thomas William Maher

homas William Maher, of Arlington, died unexpectedly of natural causes at home on May 29, 2018 at the age of 77 years. Tom was born in Hastingson-Hudson, New York, on Nov. 4, 1940 to parents Olga Frankevich Maher and Thomas Steven Maher. He graduated from Hastings High School in 1958, where he achieved high academic honors and excelled as a baseball pitcher. He went on to earn an undergraduate degree from Harvard University in 1962 and a graduate degree from Stanford Law School in 1971. Tom served in the United States Navy in active duty from 1962-67, earning the rank of Lieutenant. He continued in the Naval Reserve until transferring to the Retired Reserve in 1986. Tom spent his professional career working for the United States Department of Veterans Affairs.

Before and after retiring from his work with the VA, Tom pursued a passion of volunteer work with Hogar Hispano of the Diocese of Arlington (later Catholic Charities) from 1988 until recently, helping immigrants navigate the complexities of immigration laws. Throughout his life, Tom reached out to help others less fortunate than himself, and gave generously of himself, his time, and resources.

Tom enjoyed traveling the world, including a memorable trip with his sister to their maternal grandparents' homeland of Belarus in 1995, where they met many relatives. Some more recent excursions were to Egypt, Mexico, Morocco and Algiers. Tom had a particular fondness for Central America, especially Honduras, and the Caribbean Island community and culture of the Dominican Republic, where he visited frequently and had many close friends.

Tom is survived by his sister, Deborah Maher and her two children, Nikki Graham and Jason Chatman and their families of Massachusetts; his former partner and dear friend, Kyle Skov of California; a large extended family of cousins on both the Frankevich and Maher sides; his friend Clare Cherkasky of Virginia; and many friends in the Dominican Republic.

Tom will be buried at sea by the U.S. Navy out of Norfolk, Va.

As It So Happens

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

As I sit and attempt to write next week's column, I do so on Saturday, Oct. 27. Aside from being my close friend, Cheryl's, birthday, and the day before my brother, Richard's, birthday, it is a date (the 27th), to invoke our 32nd President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, that "will live in infamy." It is the date that Team Lourie, such as it is: my wife, Dina; my brother, Richard; and yours truly, met my oncologist for the first time to learn what my previous week's "malignant" biopsy actually meant.

What it meant was that I was officially a cancer patient. Specifically, a non-small cell lung cancer, stage IV, patient, and one given a "13-month to two-year" prognosis to boot, at age 54 and a half. Not a guarantee, mind you, but definitely a kick in the stomach. Not literally of course, but hearing such terrible, unexpected news, it certainly took our breath

After we all regained our composure, we tried to sort out what we had just heard and ask some intelligent questions (quite a challenge at that moment, I

It was difficult because cancer was a subject with which Team Lourie had zero personal experience, having had no immediate family history other than my mother's very treatable skin cancer. As such, in talking with the oncologist, we were all at a disadvantage. In addition to never having met, neither did we know exactly what we were to be discussing until we sat in the doctor's office.

Talk about ill-prepared (pun intended).

Throw in the shock value of what we were hearing for the first time (akin to that of a neutron bomb since we were still standing; sitting, actually), we were very nearly blown away and having difficulty processing what we were hearing: "13 months to two years," out of the blue, basically.

We might have understood "the macro," to steal one of my brother's favorite expressions, but we were having a little trouble grasping "the micro" – meaning

Certainly we were clear that my life going forward was going to be different, but we had no idea, really, what we were all in for, collectively. Though a sort of handbook called "The Five Questions" was provided to us, it was hardly a GPS that guided you step by step. At that point, you stumble and stammer and don't exactly know what to ask next.

Nowadays, a new professional certification has evolved called a "nurse navigator." This person is assigned to help you maneuver through the cancer/twilight zone of tests, treatments and appointments that you have just entered: labs, scans, infusion schedule, and oncology appointments; plus miscellaneous other secondary-type activities/appointments/procedures (aromatherapist, acupuncturist, nutritionist, pulmonologist, nephrologist, internal medicine doctor, thoracic surgeon, ophthalmologist, urologist, dermatologist, psychologist, pharmacist) and a few others that 'chemo-brain" - a recently confirmed side effect of chemotherapy - has likely caused me to forget.

It's no wonder new cancer patients begin to melt down even before the first beam of radiation has been focused and/or the first dose of chemotherapy has been infused.

And not that I need reminding, but the 27th does seem to focus a "confinement beam" ("Star Trek") of sorts on what I've been doing and why and how much longer I'm likely to be doing it. And that, of course, is the rub, because in the cancer business, there are very few guarantees, any of which is constantly rubbing you in various directions. Directions which cause you to ebb and flow and bob and weave and try to hang on for dear life. Because so far as most of us know, this life is pretty dear and we kind of think we want to hang on to it for awhile.

And I'm one of the lucky ones, a survivor, that is. Many of my fellow "diagnosees" have not been nearly as fortunate as I have been. Ten years, come Feb. 20, 2019, the anniversary of the actual date when m Internal Medicine doctor called me to tell me the results of the previous week's biopsy. I remember where I was and what I was doing when I received that call.

That I'll never forget. That was my Dec. 7, 1941.
