Choral Boosters Launch Shoe Drive

To benefit choir programs and people in developing countries.

The Mount Vernon High School Choral Boosters are conducting a shoe drive fundraiser through Dec. 20 to raise funds for the activities of the choir programs. The boosters will earn funds based on the total weight of the pairs of gently worn, used and new shoes collected. Anyone can help by donating shoes at the collection box located outside of Door 4 at the school (across from the football field).

The boosters are partnering with a group called Funds2Orgs. All donated shoes will be redistributed through a group called Funds2Orgs which works with micro-entrepreneurs to help them create, maintain and grow small businesses in developing countries where economic opportunity and jobs are limited.

Proceeds from the sales of the shoes collected in shoe drive fundraisers are used to feed, clothe and house their families.

"We are excited about our shoe drive," said Judi Belzer, director of Choirs at Mount Vernon High School. "People often have extra shoes in their closets and we hope that they will donate them to us. The Chorus Boosters hope to raise money to support the choral students and programs here at Mount Vernon and we have the chance to help families in developing nations who need economic opportunities. It's a win-win for everyone."

Helping Keep Homeless Warm

Slightly higher numbers of residents in need face higher snowfalls forecasted.

BY ANDREA WORKER
THE GAZETTE

This month, residents in the area were taken somewhat by surprise at the record-for-November snowfall on Nov. 15. For most in the region, the negative effects of the nor'easter meant hazardous commutes at the worst, or being annoyingly housebound on the less dramatic side of the scale.

For some of people experiencing homelessness, however, that snowfall brought potentially life-threatening consequences, and the forecasts for a more snow-filled winter than in years past means the dangers they face will only escalate as winter wears on.

The Hypothermia Prevention Program is an integral part of Fairfax County's battle to combat homelessness and keep this vulnerable population safe during the coldest months. Nonprofit organizations operate shelters for individuals and families year-round, but when winter arrives, the efforts of nonprofits, faith communities, civic organizations, businesses and volunteers — in collaboration with a number of government agencies — kick in to an even higher gear. The Office to Prevent and End Homelessness, the Community Services Board, the Police Department and the Sheriff's Office, the Fire Marshal's Office and the county's Land Development Services all work together with these partners to suppress hypothermia.

'The Nutcracker' Performs at WPHS

The West Potomac Academy Dance program and Alexandria Community Nutcracker will present the holiday classic, "The Nutcracker," on Nov. 29, 30, and Dec. 1. This is the 10th year that the academy and the Alexandria Community Nutcracker have partnered to present "The Nutcracker."

This season's four public performances will take place at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 29; at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 30; and at 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 1.

All performances will be held at West Potomac High School, 6500 Quander Road.

The cast ranges from three-year-olds to adult performers dancing ballet, pointe, lyrical, tap, jazz, modern, and gymnastics. Auditions are held annually each June, and are open to preschool, elementary, middle school, and high school dancers who are enrolled in an approved dance or gymnastics program in the local area.

The Alexandria Community Nutcracker began in 2008, in partnership with the West Potomac School, 6500 Quander Road.

members Doug and Eileen Kennett, and the Diamond Sponsor was AT&T.

"Poverty is no laughing matter for so many in our community, but we always appreciate the entertainment and laughter that the Capitol Steps group brings us every year to raise critical funds to empower our neighbors in need to transform their lives," said Alison DeCoursey, UCM executive director. "We are grateful to The Friends of UCM and to our sponsors who make this event possible."

Thank you to all our caring community members who support UCM in so many ways to make our programs available to our neighbors in abject poverty. Each and every one of you here help to transform lives," she added. The full list of more than 45 event sponsors is available on the UCM website at ucmagency.org.

DeCoursey also made note of UCM's 50th anniversary in 2019 by announcing Addy Krizek, former UCM volunteer development director and UCM board member, and U.S. Sen. Mark Warner, former UCM board member, as honorary co-chairs of the 50th Anniversary Celebration. A series of mission-oriented activities are being planned to ensure that as many members of the UCM community can share in the celebration throughout 2019.

"For nearly 50 years, UCM's programs and services have been changing lives for the better every day," said DeCoursey. "We envision a community where everyone thrives. There is still much work to be done. There is tremendous economic disparity and inequity across the region. Nowhere is that more prevalent than along the Route 1 Corridor. UCM can do so much more with community support. We invite all community members to join us at the heart of community."

Inaugural Pumpkin Chunk

In keeping with the spirit of the fall season, Mount Vernon High School engineering students designed and constructed trebuchets for their first Pumpkin Chunk. The goal was simple: design a machine to hurl a 7-10 pound pumpkin as far as possible. Both teams designed their trebuchets based on historic research. One team took the top prize with a 30-yard chunk.

GrandInvolve Expands into Lee District

GrandInvolve, a program to improve the quality of life for older adult volunteers and school age children by providing intergenerational education activities, is expanding into the Lee District Title 1 schools.

GrandInvolve has established a Lee District Steering Committee to work toward having an Action Team of volunteers in each of those schools.

The Steering Committee is reaching out to the community for volunteers to work with the Action Teams. A community meeting, "The Match Game - Volunteering with Passion and Purpose," will be held at the newly renovated John Marshall Library on Thursday Dec. 13 from 1:30-3 p.m. GrandInvolve volunteers will share their experiences.

Notice of Public Hearing

NOTICE OF BUDGET AND WATER RATE PUBLIC HEARING

December 13, 2018 at 6:30 p.m.

At 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, December 13, 2018, Fairfax Water will conduct a public hearing on its Proposed Schedule of Rates, Fees, and Charges. The hearing will be held in Fairfax Water's offices at 8570 Executive Park Avenue, Fairfax, VA.

The proposed changes, to be effective April 1, 2019, include the following:

1. An increase in the Availability Charge from $4,150 to $4,260¹.
2. An increase in the Local Facilities Charge from $13,420 to $15,285.
3. An increase in the Service Connection Charge from $1,260 to $1,300¹.
4. An increase in the Base Commodity Charge from $2.94 to $3.07 per 1,000 gallons of water.
5. An increase in the Quarterly Billing Service Charge for meters larger than a standard 5/8" residential meter¹.
6. An increase in the Turn Off / Turn On Charge from $45 to $48.
7. An increase in the Fees for Use of Fairfax Water Fire Hydrants to include the increase in the Commodity Charge.
8. An increase in the Installation of Sewer Use Meter Charge from $36 to $38.

¹Charges reflect fees associated with a standard 5/8" residential meter. Changes in charges for larger residential and commercial meters are reflected in the Proposed Schedule of Rates, Fees, and Charges.

Fairfax Water is also proposing a $183.2 million budget for calendar year 2019¹. Revenues are expected to be $183.2 million in 2019. Water sales are expected to provide $158.3 million. Approximately $24.9 million is expected from connection charges, investment income and other sources.

The major areas of operation and maintenance expense are:

Masons Award Blakey

On Nov. 19, Al Glaeser, Worshipful Master of Mount Vernon Masonic Lodge No. 219, awarded Art Blakey of the Hollin Hall Barbershop its Community Builders Award for his over 50 years of service to the families of the Mount Vernon area.

The award certificate was signed by the head of Virginia Freemasons, Most Worshipful Gary Wallace Taylor. Blakey has cut the hair and dispensed wisdom and sports talk with fathers who became grandfathers and their sons who are now bringing their sons in for haircuts. No politics or religion spoken here, just sports and local news while listening to the golden oldies.

"I have never met a bad young man while cutting hair here. That says something about the families who live here," said Blakey of his Mount Vernon customers.

The Community Builders Award recognizes non-masons who are positive and notable contributors to the welfare of their community.

Applegate Receives Service Award

For outstanding volunteerism.

BY SUSAN LAUME

Mount Vernon volunteer Michael Applegate was recognized, among others, for outstanding volunteerism by the Fairfax County Park Authority.

During a ceremony on Nov. 16, Applegate received the "Ellie Doyle Service Award" for his efforts in maintaining and improving the grounds and mountain biking trails in a large portion of Laurel Hill Park — in the Apple Orchard and Equestrian Center areas. He works an average of 30 hours per week on the five-mile trail network — mowing, trimming trees, inspecting and fixing storm damage, improving trail surface and drainage, supervising contractors and scout projects, advising staff on improvements in processes and alterations to facilities to improve the visitor experience.

He regularly mows the grass aprons all along the trails, clearing invasive vines, identifying native trees to save from overgrowth of blackberry vines, builds ramp curves and moguls to enhance the mountain biking experience, fills in trail wash-out spots and keeps a watchful eye on the security of the grounds.

Regardless of the weather, Applegate donates his time to care of the park at all times of the year. Beyond the park itself, Applegate is a role model for showing by example the difference volunteerism can make and the importance of community service to the parks.

OPINION

Call for Submissions to Children's Edition 2018

Get creative and send art, poetry and more.

During the last week of each year, this newspaper devotes its pages to the creativity of local students and children. The annual Children's Connection (including Children's Gazette, Children's Almanac and Children's Centre View) is a tradition of well over a decade.

We welcome contributions from public and private schools, art classes, individuals and homeschoolers. We publish artwork, poetry, essays, creative writing, opinion pieces, short stories, photography, photos of sculpture or gardens or other creative efforts.

We ask that all submissions be digital so they can be sent through email or delivered on flash drive. Writing should be submitted in text format. Artwork should be photographed or scanned and provided in jpeg format.

Some suggestions:

- ❖ Drawings or paintings or photographs of your family, friends, pets or some favorite activity. These should be photographed or scanned and submitted in jpeg format. Photos of sculpture or larger art projects are also welcome.

❖ Short answers (50 to 100 words) to some of the following questions: If you could give your parents, family or friends any gift that didn't cost money what would that gift be? What are you most looking forward to in the upcoming year? What do you want to be when you grow up? What is your favorite animal? What is your favorite toy? What makes a good friend?

❖ Your opinion (50 to 100 words) about traffic, sports, restaurants, video games, toys, trends, politics, etc.

- ❖ Poetry or other creative writing.
- ❖ News stories from school newspapers.
- ❖ Photos and text about activities or events.

To be published, we must have the full first and last name of the student artist/writer.

Identify each piece of writing or art, including the student's full name, age, grade and town of residence, plus the name of the school, name of teacher and town of school location. Home schoolers' contributions are welcomed.

To send flash drives containing artwork and typed, electronic submissions, mark them clearly by school and hometown and mail the flash drive to: Children's Connection (including Children's Gazette, Children's Almanac and Children's Centre View), 1606 King Street, Alexandria, VA 22314.

Please send all submissions by Monday, Dec. 3, 2018. The Children's Edition will publish the last week of 2018.

You can see last year's editions by visiting www.connectionnewspapers.com/PDFs/ and scroll down to Children's Edition.

Email submissions for the Children's Edition to the following editors:

For Burke, Clifton, Fairfax, Fairfax Station, Great Falls, Herndon, Lorton, McLean, Reston, or Springfield, email to Kemal Kurspahic at

Bringing People in from the Cold

This year 36 churches will be host sites for the hypothermia program with more than 50 churches and other faith communities providing volunteers.

BY JOE FAY
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, FACETS

Fifteen years ago, two Fairfax men froze to death during the fall. At the time, FACETS was a non-profit that was primarily serving meals to the county's homeless in partnership with several churches. FACETS' leaders knew that feeding people only to send them back into the extreme cold was not a great answer for the growing number of people who were homeless in the community.

That winter FACETS responded by offering temporary shelter in conjunction with its partner churches, the Lamb Center, and Salvation Army to get people in from the cold. The first year, these hypothermia shelters rotated to several different churches and only opened when the temperatures dropped below freezing. Soon the centers were serving up to 60 people on cold nights.

The program has evolved as the region's population has grown. In 2006, FACETS worked on policies and procedures with the county and formally began managing central Fairfax's Hypothermia Prevention and Response Program. This year 36 churches will be host sites for the program with more than 50 churches and other faith communities providing volunteers.

These faith community partners rotate when opening their doors to provide shelter. In anticipation, churches and temples are preparing their facilities to welcome people in need during the cold months ahead — cleaning, getting supplies, and preparing the space. Other volunteers are planning menus. Unique partnerships have formed as a result of the program as Christians, Muslims, Jews, and more join together to help the homeless and in the process learn about each other.

The effort also matured beyond just providing safe haven. Guests now receive life-changing case management. By interacting with guests at the shelters, FACETS' case managers are able to address their needs in a very personal way by gaining their trust and connecting them with housing solutions and critical services. They also receive a variety of services from the county.

Last year 283 guests were given shelter from the biting cold. More than 3,800 people volunteered 33,000 hours last season to care for these guests who are homeless. By the end of season, 41 of these people had left homelessness behind and were housed.

This year's Hypothermia Response and Prevention Program began the Sunday of Thanksgiving weekend and runs seven nights a week through April 1. With the projected cold and forecasts of a very snowy winter season, demand is expected to grow.

The hypothermia program continues to adapt to the times to meet the needs of struggling neighbors. Through a coordinated effort that involves broad cross sections of this caring community, we are able to strengthen the community and save lives. Federal Tax Reform to Force Action at General Assembly

BY SCOTT SUROVELL
STATE SENATOR (D-36)

At a recent Senate Finance Committee retreat, state legislators had a preview of economic and revenue projections and other significant issues expected to be debated in the 2019 General Assembly session.

A vice-president of Moody's Analytics said that Virginia's economy continues to perform well due to increased federal spending coupled with federal tax cuts. However, he likened the performance to a sugar high and said that indicators are starting to point toward a recession in the next two years because of increased interest rates and increased import/export tariffs.

He cautioned that rising lending could exacerbate a recession. He also noted that Virginia's budget was well positioned for a recession because we have bolstered our Rainy Day Fund.

Next, we examined the state budget. Nearly 70 percent of Virginia's general fund revenue comes from income taxes. Traditionally, Virginia has been a "conforming" state, meaning that the Virginia's definition of adjusted gross income is identical to the federal definition and taxpayers and accountants do not have to use two different sets of rules to figure out taxes. However, the tax bill passed by Congress in early 2018 significantly rewrote what constitutes income and limited deductions. Most significantly, Congress and President Trump limited the deductibility of real estate taxes and state and local income taxes to a total of $10,000 (aka "SALT").

While most Virginians will see a combined net decrease or no change in their combined federal and state tax liability, many taxpayers who save on federal taxes, might end up paying more on their state taxes due to the limitation on SALT because Virginia historically requires taxpayers to claim the same deductions on their state income tax returns as on their federal returns. If Virginia continues to conform consistent with our traditional policy, the Commonwealth will see additional revenue of about $600 million per year.

New state revenue is desperately needed. Virginia is still not funding K-12 education at the levels reached pre-2009 and pre-school funding is still marginal. Our higher education funding is about half of the state goal.

Our safety net funding for services like subsidized childcare, temporary assistance for needy families and mental health care is abysmal. Notwithstanding these needs, I suspect some legislators will propose a broad tax cut even though most Virginians' combined tax liability will be about break even.

Governor Northam has also proposed to use part of the new revenue to fund a focused tax cut for low-income, working Virginians by making the Virginia Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) refundable. Today, if a taxpayer claims the EITC and their refund exceeds their tax liability, they receive a federal refund, but no state refund. Refundability would benefit about 15,700 taxpayers here in the 36th District and 90,000 taxpayers in Fairfax, Prince William and Stafford counties.

Even though low- and moderate-income taxpayers make up half of Virginia taxpayers, they are projected to receive only six percent of the benefit from federal tax cuts. This would also help to restore some fairness to Virginia's income tax which is basically a flat tax today.

Also, earlier this year, the U.S. Supreme Court decided the Wayfair case, reversed longstanding precedent and held that states can now tax internet sales. Many online retailers, such as Amazon, were already paying sales taxes because they already had a physical presence in Virginia (distribution or data centers).

The additional revenue from taxing internet sales will be about $124.7 million off $2.9 billion in sales activity, but after mandatory allocations for secondary education and transportation, the net additional revenue to the General Fund is projected to be only about $58 million per year.

While state revenues have come in around $555 million over original forecasts, expenses are also higher. Specifically, forecasted Medicaid spending was off by $469 million along with about $200 million in other obligations such as Hurricane Florence expenditures, opiate epidemic-driven, public safety expenditures, mental health expenses and the projected Amazon investments which will consumer much of the higher revenues.

The 2019 session is likely to be a very significant session for tax policy and spending decisions. If you have any feedback, please email me at scott@scottssurovell.org.

It is an honor to serve as your state senator.

WE'RE HAPPY TO WELCOME THE DOCTOR WHOSE RESEARCH HELPED STANDARDIZE SAFER EYE INJECTION TECHNIQUES

You'll be happy to know he's now seeing patients in your community

The Retina Group of Washington (RGW), the country's largest provider of retinal and macular care, has added yet another extraordinary physician to better serve the eye-related needs of people throughout Northern Virginia.

RGW is pleased to announce that Dr. Joshua D. Levinson has joined the practice and is seeing patients in the Fairfax and Alexandria offices. It was his research on improving the safety of intravitreal injections for Macular Degeneration, Retinal Vein Occlusions and complications from Diabetes that is credited with making more sterile techniques common practice at clinics throughout the country. Dr. Levinson cares for patients suffering from Diabetic Retinopathy and Age-Related Macular Degeneration, and performs surgical procedures for retinal detachments and macular holes among many other eye-related problems.

We hope our patients will have the opportunity to meet and be treated by Dr. Levinson sometime soon. They can be certain their eyes are in excellent hands.

Act on Climate Change Now

BY PAUL KRIZEK
STATE DELEGATE (D-44)

exposed to water stress in the future (droughts, flooding etc...) is 50 percent lower at 1.5°C warmer versus 2°C warmer. The potential for extreme flooding and droughts could cause a worldwide refugee crisis. On the coasts, flooding would overrun and destroy homes, causing millions to be displaced. Low income communities will be particularly affected. We experienced this on a smaller scale when thousands of people had to resettle in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina and Hurricane Sandy. We just saw the danger of areas facing droughts with the deadly fires in California. The warmer climate creates drier landscapes and thus a longer fire season. In fact, the fire season in western states is 84 days longer than it was in the 1970, according to the Economist. These droughts will ravage the farming community. If our warming continues at the same pace, the production of some crops could fall by 75 percent by the end of the century. Warming on our current trajectory could cost our economy approximately 500 billion dollars a year by the end of the century in crop damage, lost labor and extreme weather damage. This rivals the damage of the last economic recession!

After all this gloom and doom you may be asking what can I do to help? The good news is we still have time to halt and possibly reverse some of the Last Friday, the Fourth National Climate Assessment (nca2018.globalchange.gov) was released by scientists outlining the dire threat posed to our very existence by climate change. This report follows the equally ominous findings of the UN on climate change from October. All the science shows our planet is warming at an incredibly dangerous rate that will bring about economic and natural disaster. The five warmest years in global record have all occurred this decade. Think about that, the five warmest years in world history have all come within the last 8 years. This is not a normal fluctuation of weather. Climate change is often thought of as an existential threat but it is critical we recognize the tangible threat it poses right now and make viable plans to address it going forward.

A key to combating climate change is slowing the rapid warming of our planet. And, combat it we must. The Paris Climate Agreement, which the President announced the U.S. will withdraw from, aims to keep worldwide temperature rising between 1.5°C-2°C higher than pre industrial levels. Currently, the world is 1°C warmer (and quickly rising) than pre-industrial levels. Now, 1°C warmer might not sound like a lot but that seemingly small change is having a critical effect on the climate and our lives. The United Nations study estimated that the global population

Hypothermia Prevention Program Kicks off New Season

port the program and address the clients' needs for service and safety throughout the season.

The hypothermia season runs from approximately Dec. 1 – March 1, activating a no-turn-away policy at shelters and adding additional venues where the homeless can shelter, find food, clothing, other basic needs and resources aimed at helping to lift them out of their situations.

This year, a number of those venues have already opened their doors, such as the Falls Church Homeless Shelter on Gordon Road, which operates in partnership with New Hope Housing.

Fairfax County has been waging a war against homelessness since they first officially took up the challenge in 2007. In the 10 years between 2008 and 2018, the annual "Point in Time" census, conducted by dozens of staff and volunteers throughout the Metro region in accordance with guidelines from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, shows a decrease of almost 50 percent in the number of people who are homeless in the county. Those same statistics, however, show a slight uptick in the last 12-month period.

When the last Point-in-Time survey was done, on the night of Jan. 24, 2018, 987 people were counted among the county's homeless, up from 964 at the same time in 2017. Of those, 488 were people in families and 499 were single individuals. Homeless persons in families increased by 3 percent compared to 2017. The number of homeless families also increased, by 6 percent over last year, while the number of single adults increased by 2 percent since the 2017 count.

THE NUMBERS also inched up for families in emergency shelters and in transitional housing. One of the largest increases over 2017 figures was the 18 percent increase in families whose homelessness was due to domestic violence.

Part of the study showed that 44 percent of single adults who were classified as "chronically homeless" suffered from serious mental health and/or substance abuse, a number identical to the last year. Also unchanged was the number of homeless children (298) under the age of 18.

The point-in-time statistics and some discussion about root causes and steps to take to further the cause are available on the county's website www.fairfaxcounty.gov by searching Office to Prevent and End Homelessness.

But right now, as the weather turns colder, the challenge and the immediate efforts are focused on keeping people who are unsheltered alive and safe and surrounded by welcoming neighbors willing to assist.

That safe welcome is available throughout the area, with the county divided into regions offering a variety of services.

New Hope Housing operates its Winter Seasonal program in Region I – the South County Route 1 area- out of the Eleanor U. Kennedy Shelter at 9155 Richmond Highway. Guests are welcomed to enter the shelter after 4:30 p.m. where they are provided with showers and laundry service, self-care supplies, dinner, and breakfast and bagged lunches the next morning.

Starting Dec. 1, New Hope Housing starts operation of its Hypothermia Prevention Program through Ventures in Community Hypothermia Outreach Program at the Rising Hope United Methodist Mission Church at 8220 Russell Road in Alexandria. That hypothermia shelter operates from 6:30 p.m. – 7 a.m., offering shelter, meals and other supplies. Both shelters also allow New Hope case management staff to assist with employment skills and housing assistance.

Within the City of Falls Church, the Friends of Falls Church Homeless Shelter partner with New Hope Housing to operate the Gordon Road facility, seven days a week from 6 p.m. to 8 the following morning. This shelter is already operational, and will remain open until March 31, 2019 to handle the winter homeless crisis. At the Falls Church shelter, guests have the opportunity to reserve their bed in advance, offering a sense of security for persons who often lack that basic need.

Region 2 is the Central area for the program, and includes Annandale and Seven Corners. New Hope Housing is at work in this area, as well, operating out of the Bailey's Crossroads Community Shelter (BCCS), located at 3525 Moncure Ave. in Falls Church.

Because of the partnership of many neighboring faith communities, the BCCS can handle a larger number of guests by welcoming them first at their own location, and then transporting them to a faith community facility.

These overnight hosts rotate throughout the season and offer meals, supplies and fellowship in addition to a warm, safe bed. Again, outreach case managers offer other life skills and housing assistance.

In the North County's Region 3, which includes Herndon and Reston, Cornerstones operates its winter seasonal efforts from the Embry Rucker Community Shelter, located at 11975 Bowman Towne Drive in Reston.

The county operates a total of six year-round shelters for both adults and families. Their locations and contact information are available on the county's website. For families with children, to schedule shelter, the adults need to contact the Human Services Coordinated Services Planning office at 703-222-0880 during regular business hours. After hours, families with children can present themselves directly to one of the emergency shelters.

THE EXPANDED SERVICES are offered as part of the Hypothermia Prevention Program's move to the nearby North County Human Services Building at 1850 Cameron Glen Dr. in Reston, where guests are directed after checking in at the Embry Rucker facility.

Nonprofit FACETS takes point in Region 4 – the western and central areas that cover Fairfax and Centreville. The location of its shelters rotates among many of the area's various faith communities. It starts with the first four weeks at one location, and then the program operates from two faith community sites each week, beginning on Dec. 23, 2018. Potential guests or those wishing to volunteer, can learn where the program will be hosted at any given period by visiting the FACETS website, or contacting them at 703-352-5090, ext. 302 (or ext. 303 for the information in Spanish.)

In addition to providing shelter, food, supplies and other resources, the Fairfax County Health Department's Homeless Healthcare Program also deploys nurse practitioners to visit all of the Homeless Healthcare Program venues and the regular shelters at least once per week. The nurse practitioners see to basic medical needs during their visits and can offer no cost flu shots as needed. Medical outreach workers also visit, assisting clients in enrollment into the Community Health Care Network's free clinic.

'The Nutcracker'

Academy's Dance program, with a goal of bringing young dancers of all skill levels from the local Alexandria community together to perform Tchaikovsky's masterpiece. West Potomac Academy Dance students would take on stage production roles and be featured in select choreography, while community dancers of all ages could audition as leading and supporting cast members. Over the last decade, the production has evolved in size and scope.

Led by a team of directors: Gennifer Difilippo of Alexandria Community Dance, Courtney Betzel of West Potomac Academy, and Adrienne Taylor of Above the Barre, this Nutcracker adaptation is unique. The music in act two has been reproduced to incorporate traditional ballet dances, as well as jazz, contemporary, hip hop, Irish dancing, tap, and gymnastics.

In honor of this year's 10th anniversary performance, professional New York City choreographer Ebone Simone Johnson is lending her talents for the hip hop Russian number. The West Potomac High Orchestra will perform live music during the Waltz of the Flowers and there will be a live guitar accompaniment during the Reed Flutes number.

HOLIDAY ENTERTAINMENT

Celebrate Armistice Day with British Humor

MetroStage presents “Christmas at the Old Bull and Bush.”

BY STEVE HIBBARD

“Christmas at the Old Bull and Bush,” written and directed by Catherine Flye, had a six-year run at the Old Vat Room at Arena Stage (1997-2003) before debuting at MetroStage last season. Two members of the original Bull and Bush cast will be joined by some new members of an eccentric British troupe to entertain audiences for the holidays. MetroStage is presenting the show again this year from Nov. 29 to Dec. 30.

“We love celebrating the holidays in the British tradition at the Old Bull and Bush. It is festive joyful, fun and a great outing for the whole family. This year, we have some new cast members and some returning, lots of songs, sketches, classic British humor, and a touching tribute to the centennial of Armistice Day ending WWI,” said Producing Artistic Director Carolyn Griffin.

The show offers British music hall entertainment from the Edwardian era that was a variety show for the working classes filled with jokes, songs, skits and dances. This production takes place during the Christmas season 1918, and The Old Bull and Bush Public House, Hampstead, London, is alive with British music hall songs and Christmas carols. Audiences will enjoy a pint or two, eat mince pies and sausage rolls, laugh at corny jokes and funny sketches, and join in sing-a-longs.

“The Old Bull and Bush in Hampstead, London, is probably one of the most celebrated public houses in the world and was a home for the popular British Music Hall, which was entertainment for the working classes. The genre began in the 1890s and was at its height for about 20 years,” said Flye, who ran her own Interact Theatre Company for 20 years. Currently, she is playing Grandma in “Billy Elliot” at Signature Theatre.

She continued: “Florrie Forde was a famous music hall star and her first big hit in 1904 was ‘Down at the Old Bull and Bush.’ It put Hampstead Heath and its picturesque pub firmly on the map and has been sung the world over. It was Florrie who first made famous ‘Pack up your Troubles’ and ‘It’s a long way to Tipperary,’ which became the marching songs for British young soldiers in France during World War I. The song and the story of Christmas in the Trenches has always been included in the Bull and Bush show, and this year it has a special significance as it is 100 years since the Armistice that brought to an end the horrors of World War I. Our production is dedicated to the men and women who have served, fought and paid the ultimate sacrifice for the good of the whole world.”

Brian O’Connor is playing the role of the narrator and Chairman, the “Captain of the Ship” with a sense of humor. “He leads the way into the comedy, singing and frivolity of the Bull and Bush pub where our play is performed. Like any captain of a ship, he is nothing without his superb crew. This show is formatted around the British music hall productions of the last century where audience participation is a must. We have a very joyful cast of players that take the audience into the fun of Vaudeville and music hall traditions.”

He added: “One of the more difficult tasks for me in learning this role is putting all the words into my brain. I played this role 20 years ago and when we brought the play back last year (2017) I had to work extremely hard to get the memorization down. This year, it’s a bit easier since the words are now a good ‘friend’ of mine. More like bringing my ‘bicycle’ out again for another fun ride at MetroStage.”

Katherine Riddle plays the role of Miss Daisy May, the Belle of the Barmaids. “She is a sweet, young Irish girl who works at the Old Bull and Bush — a public house near Hampstead Heath, London. Her dream is to become a glamorous and famous music hall singer like Florrie Forde, whom she admires greatly. Daisy has a budding romance with Mr. Percival Pennyfeather — a dapper young man who frequents the Bull and Bush and supports Daisy’s dreams.”

She continued: “Daisy is like a little ray of sunshine. She finds the beauty in everything and still has an air of childlike innocence. She believes her future is full of opportunities and love, and is unsullied by the troubles of the world around her. It is that quality of purity and optimism that I love most about Daisy; however, it can be difficult to portray without appearing unintelligent.”

Jimmy Mavrikes plays the role of Percy Pennyfeather, who is the personification of panache, charming, and a bit of a showman. “He is in love with the barmaid at the Bull and Bush, Miss Daisy May; sometimes he shows off just for her — she gets his knickers in a right old twist,” he said.

He continued: “The most challenging part of this role has to be the ‘The Green Eye of the Little Yellow God.’ It’s a ‘dramatic monologue’ that was a staple in music halls back in the day. It has been done by many great comedians, so there is a lot to live up to, while still making it our own. Keeping that British dry humor, and not laughing at the hilarious Sherri L. Edelen who is behind me acting out everything I say is quite a challenge.”

Sherri Edelen’s character is based on real-life Florrie Forde, who was Australian-born but left for London at age 21 when she quickly became a star of the Music Hall. “She was known for singing meaningful and inspiring songs which the audience could join in and sing along especially during war time,” she said.

She added: “I love this kind of entertainment. Music Hall, revues and Cabaret are intimate settings which I most enjoy. But our show is chock-a-block full of silly comedy. That’s exactly what everyone needs right now — belly laughs. Add in the holidays and you have a cherry on top of your ice cream sundae or should I say some whipped cream on your pumpkin pie.”

Albert Coia is playing the role of Bertie Ramsbottom, a slightly inebriated regular at the Bull and Bush. “It’s a character I have played many times in music halls over the years so it’s rather easy for me. The main challenge is ensuring I relate with each and every audience, and the Chairman, as I often interrupt the proceedings. I really enjoy playing this character and hopefully this transmits to the audiences.”

Music Director Joseph Walsh (Maestro Peabody) is an adjunct professor of opera at George Mason University and is the general and artistic director of Lyric Opera Virginia with two decades of experience in presenting and conducting opera and orchestras in operatic performances.

Performances for “Christmas at the Old Bull and Bush” will be Nov. 29-Dec. 30, on Thursdays and Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Sundays at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tickets are $55 (four plus tickets are $50, with student, active military and group discounts available). HOLIDAY ENTERTAINMENT

4 Dates to Circle in December

BY HOPE NELSON

The holiday season has descended on Alexandria, and there's no shortage of events for eating and drinking your way through December. Here are a few of the city's best bets.

Port City Pop-Up Beer Garden, Dec. 1

Looking for a refreshment while you take in the Holiday Boat Parade of Lights? Port City Brewing has you covered. The holiday-themed Tidings Ale will be the cornerstone beer of the evening (though many of the brewery's concoctions will be available), along with food from Vola's Dockside Grill and Dolci Gelati. Raise a glass and cheer on this year's maritime participants from the comfort of the beer garden. Alexandria City Marina, 0 Cameron St. 4-8 p.m.

Third Annual Candy Cane Bar Crawl, Dec. 8

Del Ray plays host to an event that blends food and drink with service and holiday cheer in its third annual Candy Cane Bar Crawl event. Visit participating eateries – nearly a dozen in all – and enjoy drink specials and snacks along the way, ranging from Lena's Wood-Fired Pizza and Tap all the way through to Northside 10. The crawl, which features nearly a dozen restaurants, benefits the Cora Kelly ALIVE Weekend Food Packs and Mount Vernon Community School Blessings in a Backpack initiatives, helping low-income students and their families to have enough to eat. 2-6 p.m.; check-in begins at Lena's and Northside 10 at 1:30. $15 for advance tickets; $20 at the door.

Georgia Peach Truck Comes to Town, Dec. 15

Tis the season for fresh citrus fruit. The Georgia Peach Truck makes its way to Greenstreet Gardens midmonth, offering up Satsuma mandarin oranges and freshly shelled pecans. The Satsumas – akin to a clementine, but with fewer seeds – hail from Franklin Farms in Statesboro, Ga., and are available in 20-pound boxes. The pecans, from Lamar Pecan Company in Hawkinsville, Ga., come in one-pound bags that contain more than 300 halves. 1721 W. Braddock Road. 2-3 p.m. $48 for Satsumas; $15 for pecans.

Christmas Dinner at Sonoma Cellar, Dec. 25

Feast on a five-course prix fixe holiday dinner with all the fixings (and some surprises) at one of Old Town's favorite wine bars. Start with a soup, salad or appetizer, then move on to an amuse bouche, then your choice of salmon, fettuccine, rib-eye roast, baked ham or turkey. Take a break for a cheese plate, and finish off with a holiday dessert. Wash it all down with some wine – bottles are 30 percent off for the holiday – and toast your friends and family. 207 King St. 4-10 p.m. $60 plus tax and tip. Reservations recommended.

War in the Washington, D.C. area. YMSLVO members helped restore a stone path, clean stone and brickwork, and clear the park of invasive vegetation growth on Nov. 3. The work represented YMSLVO's 2018 Ultimate Gift Project for the Fairfax County Park Authority. In addition to participating in restoration activities, the YMSLVO members spent a portion of the day learning from Park Authority experts about the significance of Fort Willard and its importance as a Union Army installation during the Civil War.

According to Mary Jo Hoeksema, YMSLVO Ultimate Gift Committee, "The Ultimate Gift Project exemplifies YMSLVO's commitment to improve northern Virginia and service to others." The group worked with the Park Authority and the Belle Haven Home Owner's Association to ensure that Fort Willard continues to be preserved and enjoyed for years to come.

Obituary

Obituary

CHARLES RAY JONES, COLONEL US ARMY and US ARMY NATIONAL GUARD "The Bike Doctor"

Charles died peacefully of congestive heart failure at age 88 at Johns Hopkins Hospital on November 15, at 2:00 PM surrounded by his wife of 68 years, DeJuana, our beloved Pastor Rob Erickson and dear friend, Beverly Dyer. Charles lived life to its fullest and will be deeply missed by many.

Charles was born in Nacogdoches, Texas. He met DeJuana, the love of his life, in Oklahoma, where they also married. During the Korean Conflict, Charles served on Okinawa as a radio announcer for the Far East Network while DeJuana taught high school English in Oklahoma.

Upon his return, Charles completed a Bachelor of Arts degree in music, and a Master of Science in school administration at Oklahoma State University. He became a high school teacher and later served as principal of the Vance Air Force Base Elementary School in Enid, Oklahoma.

When a retired general recommended that he take flight training, a new career was born. In 1970 he was assigned to the Pentagon. His travels took him around the world. He retired as Chief of US Army Aviation in 1988.

Charles was a voracious reader, a gifted writer, a meditator, a singer, and a meditator whose musical taste ranged from sacred hymns to Wagner's Flying Dutchman. An engaging conversationalist and great storyteller, possessed with wit, good humor, and a caring soul, Charles made friends wherever he went.

His charities were many. In retirement he restored bicycles for needy kids. He set up a shop in his otherwise perfectly groomed back yard and there, over a thousand bicycles passed through Charles' loving hands on the way to needy youngsters. Due to this work he became known locally as "The Bike Doctor."

Charles is predeceased by his son, Gregory, mother Cleo, father Virgil, and brother Woodrow. He is survived by a younger sister, Francis Jones Martin of Houston. He was a loving grandfather to Katy Jones of Chicago and Evan Jones of Minneapolis.

The memorial service will be at Heritage Presbyterian Church, 8503 Fort Hunt Road, at 2:00 PM on Friday, November 30.

Mow, Mow, Mow Your Grass ...

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

... Not gently by the stream, and not by yours truly, either. Yet another task that seems beyond this homeowner's ability.

Which is fine by me because the older I get, it seems the less capable I become, and the less inclined I am to risk life and limb in the pursuit of that which that doesn't make me happy. Throw in a lung cancer diagnosis and the last thing my re-wired (figuratively speaking) brain will allow me to do is anything which doesn't put a smile on my face and a bounce in my step. And avoiding yard work ranks up there with most household tasks that a typical able-bodied homeowner takes pride in doing him or herself.

It's not so much that I take pride in avoiding it, it's just that I know my limitations, unlike Hal Holbrook in "Magnum Force."

Sharp objects, mechanical objects and/or electrical/spinning/rotating objects, objects with multiple doohickeys (or a reasonable facsimile thereof), objects which require assembly/reading instructions are all challenging for me. Moreover, none of it fascinates me in the least.

What fascinates me more is the level of interest and passion with which so many of my brethren are engaged in the process; from start to finish.

I just don't get it. Nor have I ever gotten it, and neither do I expect to get it in the future.

Perhaps this total lack of interest comes from the experience of being a life-long renter. Never during my pre-college daze was my family ever responsible for yard work, home repairs (inside or out), or had much of a need for tools, other than the most rudimentary: hammer, screwdriver, pliers, etc.

No power tools. Nothing electrical that required a plug/proximity to an outlet. No plumbing, and of course, nothing like a chainsaw.

My parents were children of the Depression and all they had time for was school, play and some work; yes, even as children. And living in tenement/multi-level housing hardly lent itself to anything but doing what was necessary to survive.

But as my parents so often said: everyone else they knew was experiencing similar hardships so they didn't really realize what they were missing. Tools? Repairs? Amenities? Conveniences? Hardly. Toilet paper was a Sears catalogue cut into squares and hung on a nail in the bathroom down the hall – outside of their apartment.

They didn't have money or time for any of it. What money they earned was for food, rent, utilities and clothes; the most basic of basics.

It is through these experiences that my parents passed on their instincts and priorities to the their two Baby Boomer-era sons. There was ample love, affection and importance of family but not so much time and/or energy for interior and exterior home repairs, yard work, tools and what to do with them/how to use them as well as a variety of other homeowner-type tasks.

As a family of renters, it was never our responsibility. I suppose that was a match made in Depression-era heaven because very little in our family's past prepared us for this new future.

When my father returned from his service in World War II (working in Washington, D.C., actually), he had, unlike Liam Neeson, no unique set of skills. He had to find some vocation/avocation that would provide for his family – which he did, as a salesman.

After living in Dorchester, Mass. for their entire lives (since their parents immigrated to America in the early 20th century), in 1958, my parents moved the family to Newton Centre, Mass. – for the schools. We spent the next 15 years as renters and other than taking out the trash and the rubbish, I did very little to hone my homeowner-type skills.

I wouldn't say I've been stigmatized by this experience, but I learned very little that became useful in the maintenance and upkeep of the 275-year-old home, my wife Dina and I have occupied for the past 25+ years. Other than knowing how to ask for help that is.

effects of climate change. We must work to reduce our carbon emissions by investing heavily in renewable energy and clean energy sources. This means investing in electric cars, solar energy and wind energy among others. And, the costs of clean energy and solar are plummeting. That's why I sponsored HB 618 in 2016 which aimed to create community solar gardens where utilities would provide credit to consumers in the form of net metering credits for the excess energy produced.

As a staunch environmentalist, I am eager to continue working to expand this program among other clean energy initiatives to move away from our reliance on fossil fuel. For example, Virginia has created a Voluntary Renewable Energy Portfolio goal of 15 percent renewables by 2025.

I support legislation that will mandate this goal is reached and significantly increase the percentage as a majority of states are doing. Furthermore, Governor Northam has signaled his support for joining the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI) which currently consists of 10 other states. States in the initiative cap the amount of CO2 power plants can emit and mandates that utilities pay fines if they go over the limits. These funds are then invested in clean energy initiatives throughout the state. The current members in the RGGI have seen their CO2 emissions reduced by 40 percent since 2005 while their economies have grown by approximately 8 percent. I am hopeful Virginia will be able to join the 10 current members soon.

In our everyday lives there are several small, but important, steps we can take to reduce our pollution. First and most obviously, always make sure you properly recycle everything you can. Next, try to limit your use of single use items such as plastics.

Plastic bags will end up in landfills or in the ocean. Try to buy environmentally friendly grocery bags that are reusable. Create a compost pile in your backyard. Plant some trees. Additionally, make sure your home is properly insulated. Statistically, homes that are properly insulated use far less energy because they use less heat or air conditioning. We should think of energy efficiency as a fuel resource, just like oil or coal, and recognize that it saves us from using more fossil fuels. These are just a few of the many measures that we can all take in our everyday lives to minimize our fossil fuel usage.

The time to act on climate change is now; we have no more time to procrastinate. It is no longer a valid or realistic argument to point to others and complain. The point of no return for global warming is quickly approaching. Yet, research indicates that if we commit now to make strong adjustments within the next 10 years we have an opportunity to minimize the long-term damage and possibly even work to reverse some of the effects. However, if we remain complacent and don't act, our children and grandchildren will suffer tremendous consequences.
