Offers available in AR, CT, DC, FL, GA, MD, MS, NC, NJ, NY, SC, TX and VA. Portfolio by Wells Fargo® customers are eligible to receive an additional bonus interest rate on these accounts.³

1. To qualify for this offer, you must have a new or existing Platinum Savings account and enroll the account in this offer between 03/25/2019 and 05/31/2019. This offer is subject to change at any time, without notice. This offer is available only to Platinum Savings customers in the following states: AR, CT, DC, FL, GA, MD, MS, NC, NJ, NY, SC, TX and VA. In order to earn the Special Interest Rate of 2.08% (Special Rate), you must deposit $25,000 in new money (from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates) to the enrolled savings account and maintain a minimum daily account balance of $25,000 throughout the term of this offer. The corresponding Annual Percentage Yield (APY) for this offer is 2.10%. The Special Rate will be applied to the enrolled savings account for a period of 12 months, starting on the date the account is enrolled in the offer. However, for any day during that 12 month period that the daily account balance is less than the $25,000 minimum, the Special Rate will not apply, and the interest rate will revert to the standard interest rate applicable to your Platinum Savings account. As of 02/15/2019, the standard interest rate and APY for a Platinum Savings account in AR, CT, DC, FL, GA, MD, MS, NC, NJ, NY, SC, TX and VA with an account balance of $0.01 and above is 0.05% (0.05% APY). Each tier shown reflects the current minimum daily collected balance required to obtain the applicable APY. Interest is compounded daily and paid monthly. The amount of interest earned is based on the daily collected balances in the account. Upon the expiration of the 12 month promotional period, standard interest rates apply. Minimum to open a Platinum Savings account is $25. A monthly service fee of $12 applies in any month the account falls below a $3,500 minimum daily balance. Fees may reduce earnings. Interest rates are variable and subject to change without notice. Wells Fargo may limit the amount you deposit to a Platinum Savings account to an aggregate of $1 million. Offer not available to Private Banking or Wealth customers. 2. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is effective for accounts opened between 03/25/2019 to 05/31/2019. The 11-month New Dollar CD special requires a minimum of $25,000 brought to Wells Fargo from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates to earn the advertised APY. Public Funds and Wholesale accounts are not eligible for this offer. APY assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. Interest is compounded daily. Payment of interest on CDs is based on term. For terms less than 12 months (365 days), interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or at maturity (the end of the term). For terms of 12 months or more, interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually. A fee for early withdrawal will be imposed and could reduce earnings on this account. Special Rates are applicable to the initial term of the CD only. At maturity, the Special Rate CD will automatically renew for a term of 6 months, at the interest rate and APY in effect for CDs on renewal date not subject to a Special Rate, unless the Bank has notified you otherwise. 1.2. Due to the new money requirement, accounts may only be opened at your local branch. Wells Fargo reserves the right to modify or discontinue the offer at any time without notice. Minimum new money deposit requirement of at least $25,000 is for this offer only and cannot be transferred to another account to qualify for any other consumer deposit offer. If you wish to take advantage of another consumer deposit offer requiring a minimum new money deposit, you will be required to do so with another new money deposit as stated in the offer requirements and qualifications. Offer cannot be combined with any other consumer deposit offer, except the Portfolio by Wells Fargo $500 offer, available from March 25, 2019 until May 31, 2019. Offer cannot be reproduced, purchased, sold, transferred, or traded. 3. The Portfolio by Wells Fargo program has a $30 monthly service fee, which can be avoided when you have one of the following qualifying balances: $25,000 or more in qualifying linked bank deposit accounts (checking, savings, CDs, FDIC-insured IRAs) or $50,000 or more in any combination of qualifying linked banking, brokerage (available through Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC) and credit balances (including 10% of mortgage balances, certain mortgages not eligible). If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the remaining unlinked Wells Fargo Portfolio Checking or Wells Fargo Prime Checking account will be converted to another checking product or closed.

THE CONNECTION

At its "Artful Living 2019: Thrive," Britepaths raised $86,000 through its Wing Span Raffle and auction, and juried art show and sale featuring 60 local artists. About 250 people paid $100 to attend the 35th anniversary gala at the Country Club of Fairfax last Thursday, May 2, 2019. The money will be used to support struggling families in the community.

A live, charity auction offered a beachfront condo stay in Cozumel, Mexico; a stained-glass piece by Britepaths' Executive Director Lisa Whetzel; and an Emerald Isle, N.C., beach house rental. The evening's festivities also included live music by Latin-jazz band Batida Diferente, appetizers, wine and beer and a photo booth.

According to Whetzel: "At Britepaths, what we are trying to do is to help low-to-moderate income families that are struggling financially in Fairfax County to become self-sufficient for the long-term. And we do that through several different ways of stabilizing families with safety net services and building resilience in families to weather future financial storms. Financial literacy in teaching basic budgeting and personal finance really helps people to manage their limited incomes. We serve 3,500 children every year through our food assistance program and also through the holiday gifts and school supplies programs in the fall."

Britepaths' mission (formerly Our Daily Bread) is to provide Fairfax County neighbors in need with short-term safety-net services and empower them to work toward long-term self-sufficiency. Whetzel said some 900 volunteers provided 10,000 hours of volunteering for the organization last year.

According to guest of honor Beth High, one of the founders of Our Daily Bread: "Way back in 1984, various churches got together and we housed some homeless people for a while and it turned into soup kitchens, then we gradually found we weren't exactly feeding the people we wanted to feed so we started taking food to the motels where the social workers had placed homeless people, and we then moved onto prevention of homelessness."

She continued: "Just giving them food or paying for one bill isn't the answer. You've got to go down to the bottom of where the

Send in photos now or right after you take new Mother's Day photos; and more reasons to contact the Connection.

As usual every year at this time, The Connection calls for submissions to our Mother's Day photo gallery. Mother's Day is Sunday, May 12. This year we will continue to publish submissions through the May 22 edition. Photo submissions are due by Friday, May 17.

Send photos of mothers, grandmothers, great-grandmothers, with children or without children in the photos. Please name everyone in the photo, the approximate date, describe what is happening in the photo and include your name, address, email address and phone number. We will not print your full address or contact information.

You can upload photos and information directly to www.connectionnewspapers.com/mothersday/ or email to editors@connectionnewspapers.com.

This is a fine time for submissions for our annual Father's Day galleries. Online at www.connectionnewspapers.com/fathersday/ Throughout the year, we ask for community submissions. Twice a year we ask you to tell us stories about your pets and how they have come into, touched and left your lives. The next Pet Connection is the last week in July.

EDITORIAL In late summer, we invite readers to share what they know about their community for neighbors and newcomers alike.

And wrapping up the year, we gather writing and art from local students to fill our holiday edition. Each year, through an enormous effort by area teachers and school staff we receive more material than is possible to publish for most of our 15 editions.

In addition, regular contributions to our entertainment calendars, community bulletin boards, school notes, and business notes help us to share news in your community. We also always welcome photos and captions from community organizations (Scouts, sports teams, faith groups, school activities, etc.) and local businesses. Calendar items: www.connectionnewspapers.com/Calendar/

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lessons to Learn?

To the Editor:

In Kofi Annan's recent opinion piece on Democrats and Ralph Northam ("Black or Blue: Lessons Learned from How Virginia Democrats Handled the Ralph Northam Debacle," Connection, May 1-7, 2019) he states that "Liberals have long sought to convince African Americans that they alone can shield us from conservative's intent on rolling back the hands of time." I'm one among many conservatives who don't want to roll back the hands of time, and welcome the opportunity to promote civil rights and equity for all. In doing so, it's important that we judge each other by the content of one's character, not by the color of one's politics.

Appeal against Littering

Dear World:

My name is Roya Brickhouse and I am writing because I am concerned about littering. There are several reasons why. It does not help the environment, people get sick and it hurts animals.

First, I think littering is bad because it does not help the environment. I always imagine around circle with green and blue, which represents the Earth. there's brown on it to represent littering, which there is a lot of in the world. I see a lot of it It; hurts animals, how they breathe, and how they speak to their family. Trash can destroy habitats. Plastic bags can get caught on nets and kill baby birds.

Second, people get very sick. I know you might not care where your litter ends up. But please do not litter because it doesn't help the environment and it might even destroy how you and other people live.

Designs to Welcome Spring

Textiles and florals usher in a new season

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL

From pastel colors to floral accents, it's the time of year to celebrate the emergence of spring. Local designers offer spring decorating ideas that embody the season.

"Spring is the perfect time to freshen up your house by swapping out heavy, darker winter fabrics on linens and pillows with crisp and light patterns and designs," said Ann O'Shields of The Nest Egg in Fairfax. "Throw pillows are one of the easiest ways to instantly refresh a space. Greens and yellows are quintessential colors of spring and are popular currently in interior design. Whether you prefer florals or geometrics, there's a variety of options in fabric design for pillows."

When decorating the master bedroom in a Potomac, Md. home recently, designer Cameron Manning finished off the design with a cheery area rug. "The right rug can pull a room together and make a powerful statement," she said. "The client's favorite season was spring and she wanted a bedroom that was light and cheerful. For this master bedroom, I chose a vintage rug in a pale orange shade."

Manning also recommends using paint to breathe fresh, spring air into a winter-worn space. "Painting a room with an off-white shade infused with subtle undertones of yellow, pink or pale blue can really lighten and brighten it. If you don't want to paint and entire room, consider painting just the door frame."

From peonies and daffodils to lilacs and tulips, designer Connie Hall of Hall Designs says that moving spring blooms out of the garden and into a fresh floral arrangement is a sure-fire way to usher out winter.

"Nothing says spring like a bouquet of fresh spring flowers," she said. "A large bouquet can really become the focal point of a room. Sometimes they're all you really need to show that spring has arrived."

Blossoms and branches from one's backyard can create visual interest and O'Shields suggests magnolia stems, cherry blossom stems and forsythia.

"Preserved floral arrangements are also an excellent choice and will last for years," she added. "Hydrangea flowers are a lovely, full option often used in preserved florals."

Lush greenery can be used for more than decorating a garden. "If you have a green thumb, consider adding in some plants in ceramic pots to add color

Whether fresh or preserved, local designers advise welcoming spring with a seasonal floral arrangement.

Adding throw pillows in spring colors like green and yellow to an interior space is one of the easiest ways to drive out the winter doldrums.

and texture," said O'Shields.

Among the popular plants that O'Shields suggests fiddle figs. "[They] can also add height to your space," she said. "More foolproof plants include Pachira aquatic, also known as a money tree, succulents and rubber tree plants. They're all easy to care for and add a freshness to your space."

Those who don't have a green thumb shouldn't be afraid to fake it. "There are so many realistic options for artificial greenery available," said O'Shields. "Artificial branches can be almost identical to the real thing."

House in February 2018.

“He tackled a lot of projects his first year,” said Stephanie Langton, manager of the Resident Curator Program. That included work on the floors and installing a new kitchen.

The Stempson House is a “circa 1932 vernacular farm-style residence with Colonial Revival style elements,” county information stated, and the kitchen needed some TLC, so McCullough updated kitchen facilities. The work he did does not have to strictly adhere to historic levels. “It’s a modern kitchen,” Langton said. According to the park authority, the home is significant due to its association with the Occoquan Workhouse and Reformatory, later known at Lorton Prison. The Stempson House and associated garage are listed as contributing structures to the D.C. Workhouse and Reformatory Historic District on the National Register of Historic Places, county information stated.

There were a dozen people at the open house and a county photographer as well.

To be a renter in the Resident Curator program, an application has to be submitted showing the applicant is able to do the required work and have financial capacity. McCullough had renovated other houses in the past and he has a full-time job as well. “Curators are determined through an open and competitive application process, based on a number of criteria, including a formal proposal, demonstrated experience, competency in historic preservation techniques, financial capabilities, and the incorporation of public benefits,” the program instructions stated.

Another property in this program with a resident curator in place is the Turner Farmhouse in Great Falls. It has a dairy farm history and several outlying buildings as well so there is a lot of work ahead for the curator. This resident curator moved in late January 2019 and had an open house in March “just to show the work she’s done so far,” Langton said. This curator at the farmhouse has a 20-year lease.

The county is currently accepting applications for a resident curator at the Hannah P. Clark/Enyedi property in Lorton, near Old Colchester Road. Hannah Potter Clark built and lived in the house in the 1876 to 1925 timeframe which was during Virginia’s Reconstruction Period after the Civil War. In 1986, an art studio was added to the property by resident artist Janos Enyedi. The resident curator application period for this house runs until July 5, 2019. To apply or for more information, visit <https://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/parks/resident-curator-program>

From the back, it looks like some work will be done here to preserve the exterior.

Hope and Health Festival in Lorton 19 health-related vendors on display Saturday.

Begun in 2013, the seventh-annual Hope and Health Festival took place on Saturday, May 4, 2019, behind the Lorton Library. There were 19 different vendors offering everything from vision screenings from the Mason Neck Lions Club to the Mason Neck State Park talking about fitness and events at the park. There was free food, kids' games and activities, crafts, inflatables and lots of information.

According to Linda Patterson, Lorton Community Action Center (LCAC) Executive Director, the event began as a partnership between LCAC, South County Church, and the Lorton Library. "Potomac Health Foundation has found that the Lorton community is considered a health desert, which means it is very difficult to access services from this community because of transportation-related issues."

She continued: "The whole purpose of the Hope and Health Festival is to ensure that our neighbors have access to services. The hardest part in Fairfax County, especially if you're a low-income household or individual, is to find a way to plug in to access needed services – whether it's health screenings or whether it's information about WICK or Medicaid or food stamps or finding a way to get sight or vision screening. And that's what this event is about – its making sure that everyone has access to information so there's parity and equity in Fairfax County." She added that LCAC strives to meet the physical and educational needs of its neighbors. "And we do that through a variety of basic needs services like our food pantry where we serve 200 families a week – all the way through the classes that we provide like ESL, resume writing, budgeting, nutrition education — to try to meet the holistic needs of each household in the community."

Karen Corbett Sanders, Chair, Fairfax County School Board, added: "We are so appreciative of the role that Lorton Community Action Center plays in South County. They truly are the heart of the community in this area."

They provide wonderful services to all of our students and families, including food, tutoring support, after-school programs for our kids. And they really are a partner with Fairfax County to enrich the lives of people in this area."

problem was. They've branched out with lots of other activities. They do back-to-school programs; they do Christmas and Thanksgiving programs, and adopt a family. I'm very proud of them from having been there from the beginning of it."

Del. Mark Keam (D-35) added: "Britepaths is a very necessary organization in our community because even though on the surface everybody assumes Fairfax County is wealthy and people are doing well and we have a great quality of life.... The reality is that for many of our neighbors, that's not necessarily true. We have people who are so vulnerable that they are one paycheck away or one major medical disaster away from bankruptcy or homelessness or all kinds of crisis. And organizations like Britepaths for 35 years has built the resiliency that families need to be able to get back on their feet if they see a problem, and so they provide the family unit the idea that they can build themselves up and for families and neighbors to make sure that everybody is able to live the American dream in Fairfax County."

Added Del. Ken Plum (D-36): "Britepaths provides a critically important service to the people in Central Fairfax. Their fundraising event is one of the nicest in the county. It mixes together art as well as people's caring hearts about how to serve their fellow citizens. It's always a delight to come here and see the work that's being done. Britepaths is a good organization."

The Weak Before

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Hardly am I Robert Johnson, but every time I'm about to be "CT-scanned," I feel like I'm at a crossroads.

And though I've never made a deal with the devil for good scan results (at least results with which I can live), I have to admit to making a momentary prayer of sorts when I see an email from my oncologist. An email that, given its arrival in my inbox, five days or so after my scan, is generally the one containing the results of the previous week's scan.

So, I take a deep breath and then exhale as I prepare to click until I see his words. More often than not, almost every time, in fact, his words: "CT scan looked good," as an example, have been encouraging. Although, as with many things, past results don't guarantee future performance – or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

Each good scan result (stable, shrinkage) does not portend another good result in the future. The results, both good or bad quite frankly, are kind of a limited offer. If it's good, it means your treatment is likely quo. If it's bad, it probably means things your treatment is about to change.

Whatever treatment protocol you start or stop or continue is only good, bad or indifferent until your next scan (when the rubber hits the road, so to speak). Which for me, according to my current bi-weekly immunotherapy infusion schedule, is every two months. So next week, the hammer comes down or rather the slide (the thing you lay on) comes out of the CT scanner and in and out I go.

Typically (meaning during my previous 10 years of chemotherapy), I have been mostly symptom free – other than the symptoms/side effects of the treatment itself, not from the underlying cancer cause. I have rarely felt anything and I certainly haven't/didn't/couldn't see anything.

It's/I'm different now.

Now I can see and feel something, that something, located under my Adam's apple is what precipitated the change from chemotherapy/alimta to my current immunotherapy/opdivo. The tumors in my lungs (mediastinum), which is where this whole mess began, remain stable. However, the appearance of the "Adam's apple" tumor changed my reason for living.

And my new life, or rather my new cancer life, has been tightened/shortened up. Now my infusions are every two weeks, instead of the most recent seven-week intervals (with alimta) and my CT scans which had occurred every 12 weeks are now only eight weeks apart.

All of which means I am constantly in the throws of some kind of cancer anxiety ("labbing," infusing, scanning, meeting with my oncologist).

Not that after 10 years, I am unaccustomed to this sort of "cancer-centricity," it's more that its crushing regularity is a constant reminder of my mortality.

And not that I'm "woeing" is me, hardly. I'm lucky to be alive. You all know I know that.

It's more the recurrence of "scanxiety" (not my word, although I thought it was when I first used it), the anxiety one feels waiting for the life and death scan results, especially so if the results come more frequently than previously. And believe me, that extra month is well worth not having to wait.

So the news of my possible negative (not good) scan results hopefully will be exaggerated, along with my demise. And in that exaggeration perhaps I can find some solace and humor.

'Solace' in that it turns out: what's all the fuss? Humor, in that "It's better to look good than to feel good, and you know you are, darlings," as when Billy Crystal invoked his inner Fernando Lamas in his famous bit from his 1985 year on Saturday Night Live! In summary, it's nothing until it's something, and even if it's something, it might not be anything.

This sort of confusing mental gymnastics is what occurs before, during and after these diagnostic scans. And until you hear back from your oncologist, you really don't know whether you're coming or going, or whether it's too little, too late.
