Brian Schoeneman and Howie

Remembering Howie

A memorial of our cat Howie who passed away on Dec. 19, 2018 at the age of 17. My husband, Brian Schoeneman rescued Howie 16 years ago when he was a kitten in Staunton, Va. wandering around a trailer park looking for food. They were best friends and Howie grew up alongside Brian who finished law school, got married, had a family, lost his mother and everything in between. The loss of Howie was massive for our family, hence the massive sheepadoodle to fill the hole in our hearts.

WFCM Golf Tourney Proves Successful

New event raises more than $13,000 for the nonprofit.

BY BONNIE HOBBS
THE CONNECTION

Western Fairfax Christian Ministries' inaugural Spring into Action Golf Tournament was a big success and raised more than $13,000 for the nonprofit. The event was held June 17 at Chantilly National Golf and Country Club in Centreville. Some 72 people participated and then enjoyed a barbecue buffet lunch afterward.

Attendees included several WFCM board members, Dulles Regional Chamber of Commerce President John Boylan, Supervisor Kathy Smith (D-Sully), Mike Coyle from Smith's office, representatives from local businesses and churches, plus other supporters. Prizes were gift certificates for rounds of golf donated by Chantilly National.

"The work that WFCM does for the community is invaluable," said Phil Hicks of Sandy Spring Bank (part of the Northern Virginia Business Outreach Group). "Their food pantry is immaculate and allows for those in need to shop with dignity."

According to WFCM Executive Director Harmonie Taddeo, in the fiscal year that ran from July 2018 to the end of this June, WFCM served more than 2,600 people who are struggling to make ends meet.

"We provided over $250,000 in rent and utility assistance to nearly 500 families facing eviction or disconnection of services," she explained. "And in addition to giving support, comfort and funds, we provided more than 300,000 pounds of food to our clients."

She said 94 percent of the families served by WFCM have low or extremely low incomes – earning only as high as $32,000 for a family of four. "These resources of food and funds are making a difference in their lives during times of crisis," said Taddeo. "We thank all those in the community whose support and generosity help us to serve those at risk of hunger and homelessness in western Fairfax County."

The funds raised during the golf tournament will be used toward WFCM's new services, including a text-message, appointment-reminder service for clients, additional appointment hours on weekdays and weekends, plus cleaning services for the pantry. "As more clients seek our assistance, these services will help us to serve them in a timely, efficient and healthy manner," said Taddeo.

Furthermore, added WFCM Board President Andrew Casteel. "We welcome the opportunity to provide a tour of WFCM's offices and food pantry for anyone who's interested. We know that, once you see what we do, you will share our passion and want to get involved."

Golf teams and golfers participating in WFCM's tournament were from: Pender United Methodist Church, Ox Hill Baptist Church, King of Kings Lutheran Church, Fairfax Church of Christ, St. Andrew Lutheran Church, Northwest Federal Credit Union, the office of Kathy Smith, the Dulles Regional Chamber of Commerce, TIAA, Dominion Energy, Acorn Financial, MarketPlace Development and Northern Virginia Business Outreach Group. Event sponsors were Atlantic Union Bank, Bloom Brand Strategies LLC, Keener Insurance Agency, The Dickens Family and Yates Campbell & Hoeg LLP.

Westfield Grad Schlatter Is Naval Academy Plebe

Westfield High 2019 grad Harry Schlatter has been inducted into the U.S. Naval Academy Class of 2023 in Annapolis. On June 27, he began six grueling weeks of basic midshipman training as part of Plebe Summer. He's the son of Wini and Richard "Cub" Schlatter of Centreville's Virginia Run community.

Approximately 1,200 candidates are selected each year for the Academy's "plebe" (freshman) class, and each student participates in Plebe Summer. Harry Schlatter was chosen out of more than 16,000 people who applied for the Naval Academy's Class of 2022.

During this time, plebes have no access to television, movies, the Internet or music, and restricted access to cell phones. The pressure and rigor of Plebe Summer is carefully designed to help plebes prepare for their first academic year at the Academy and the four years of challenge awaiting them.

Schlatter and the other, new midshipmen are rapidly assimilating basic skills in seamanship, navigation, damage control, sailing and handling yard-patrol craft. Plebes also learn infantry drill and how to shoot 9 mm pistols and M-16 rifles.

Other daily training sessions involve moral, mental, physical or professional development and team-building skills. Activities include swimming, martial arts, basic rock climbing, plus obstacle, endurance and confidence courses designed to develop physical, mental and team-building skills. Plebes also receive instruction in infantry drill and formal parades.

Founded in 1845, the Naval Academy prepares midshipmen morally, mentally and physically to be professional officers. More than 4,400 men and women comprise the student body, known as the Brigade of Midshipmen.

They participate in intercollegiate, varsity sports and extracurricular activities. And they study subjects such as leadership, ethics, small arms, drill, seamanship and navigation, tactics, naval engineering and weapons, and military law. Upon graduation, midshipmen earn a Bachelor of Science degree in a choice of 25 different subject majors and then serve at least five years as commissioned officers in the Navy or Marine Corps.

Back-to-School Rituals Cause Stress

BY JOE FAY
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR FACETS

As summer nears the end, we are getting ready to say goodbye to 21 teens that are headed off to college. These young people have been involved in our summer youth programs for many years. They have experienced — like the other children in our programs and all kids — the excitement and anxiety around back to school preparation. These rituals include buying clothes and school supplies, getting a haircut, and finding out what teachers you have.

For the nearly 23,000 kids that live in poverty in Fairfax County, back to school rituals can cause stress. In a region of so much wealth, it's hard to remember that many children do not share the same levels of preparation. They want to but simply cannot.

FACETS serves many impoverished youth through our Education and Community Development Program. The program operates year-round in four low-income, subsidized communities offering a continuum of supportive services to break the cycle of poverty. People living in these affordable housing communities have limited financial resources, with the average annual income for a family of four less than $24,000.

At Robinson Square, Ragan Oaks, Barros Circle and Wedgewood, staff and volunteers offer an array of educational, preventative and enrichment programs to help youth, including mentoring and tutoring, and a variety of classes such as literacy, art, and computers. Participation provides many benefits, including ensuring a safe after-school and weekend environment, interaction with caring adults, award winning programs, and access to resources and case management.

We also work with these youth to help them get ready to go back to school. Like many nonprofits, we conduct supply drives that help make sure they have backpacks, pencils, and a myriad of other supplies that come on the lengthy lists provided by the schools. In many of the 400 backpacks, we also supply kids with a voucher for a haircut from the Hair Cuttery.

These school supply drives really do make a difference, and we hope you will consider contributing to ours or other organizations. If your means permit, perhaps consider donating a gift card to a clothing store or a hair salon. Helping a child feel confident and fit in during those first weeks of school goes a long way in making the school year productive. And if the youth we are helping prepare for college are an indicator, then we know it works.

Diversity and Inclusion As a Strength

BY HUBERT C. GRAVES

In light of the division which continues to deepen in our country and our society, the Board of Directors of the Centreville Immigration Forum wants to reaffirm the mission and values central to our organization. The current political and social climate appears to become more divisive with each passing day. The Centreville Immigration Forum calls upon our local community to be a model for the nation by respecting people who offer differing solutions to the problems we face, rather than falling into political arguments which are detrimental to all of us.

Part of the mission of the Centreville Immigration Forum is to “build community recognition of our strength in diversity.” We embrace this principle and will continue to champion diversity and inclusion as a strength for our local community and the nation as a whole. This community and nation have demonstrated so much progress in the last half-century. We have come too far to turn back the clock, especially when there is more to accomplish. Freedom of Speech is what defines our democracy. Where would we be without courageous leaders such as Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King Jr., and Cesar Chavez — among thousands of others — who demonstrated such courage in speaking out for what is right and just, challenging our country to live up to the ideals upon which it was founded?

We steadfastly believe that the diversity of our community and nation will be one of the defining characteristics which will continue to make us the envy of the world. The voices of immigrants belong in public discourse, whether they are the voices of day laborers, business entrepreneurs, or members of Congress. We hope that the local community shares our vision, dreams, and aspirations, where diversity and inclusion are valued and where we work together for the benefit of us all.

The author is President of the Board of Directors of Centreville Immigration Forum.

Beginning of Representative Government in America

BY KENNETH R. “KEN” PLUM
STATE DELEGATE (D-36)

Four hundred years ago yesterday, July 30, 1619, a group of 22 colonists met in the wooden and mud church on Jamestown Island as instructed by the investors of the colony “to establish one equal and uniform government over all Virginia” and to provide “just laws for the happy guiding and governing of the people there inhabiting.” They adjourned on Aug. 4. That event is variously described as the beginning of representative government in America and as the beginning of the oldest continuous law-making body in the western hemisphere. It merits the commemoration it is receiving.

In order to fully understand the importance of a signature event as this one, I believe it is important to put it into perspective as our knowledge of what happened afterwards allows us to do. While termed the beginning of representative government, the first legislative meeting was anything but representative. Only white males could vote or serve in the Assembly. The indigenous people — called Indians because one of the purposes of sailing to this new world was to find a shorter route to India — were not able to participate even though they had inhabited the land for at least 15,000 years. Not only were they kept out of the Assembly, they were forced off their lands where they had their homes, governance, religion, and farms. In less than a half century the immigrants had taken over the land and displaced the indigenous people.

Nor could women take part in that first Assembly because they did not arrive in Virginia until 1619 and did not secure the vote until three centuries later!

Enslaved people from Africa did not arrive in the colony until 1619 and not only were they not in the First Assembly but they were the subject of laws in subsequent sessions of oppressive slave codes that denied them basic human rights. It was necessary in the beginnings of the Assembly to belong to and pay taxes to the established church.

The history of Virginia and of America has been to move from this humble beginning and through decades and centuries of events to evolve into what is more closely a representative government. The planners of the events surrounding 1619 have correctly I believe termed it “evolution.” Contrary to what some may have us believe, our state and our country did not start out meeting the ideals and vision that we have. We have built on a humble beginning to evolve into the country we are today.

I trust that this important celebration will not be allowed to be taken over by an ignorance of what happened at Jamestowne and turned into a biased partisan view to justify the terrible actions of government today against people of color, people from other lands, and people in the LGBTQ communities. We do not need to try to return to a past that was much more imperfect than we sometimes care to admit. I am attending the Commemorative Session of the General Assembly to learn more about the past and how we can learn from our experiences and evolve further into a more perfect union. I will not be attending the session with POTUS.

Money For What, Exactly?

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Presumably, most of you readers are aware that many supermarkets have a rack located somewhere near the rear of the store that is stocked with off-price merchandise: discontinued items, items with damaged packaging, out of season products, etc.

Over the years, I have been a regular checker of this rack looking for such bargains. I have purchased breakfast cereal, soup, cookies, candy, and miscellaneous other non-perishables. I've even purchased two bags of Kingsford charcoal.

In addition, I've seen household products, health and beauty, school supplies; and everything else you can imagine, running the gamut from "A" to "Z," for sale. Recently however, on this rack I saw a product I'm not sure I even thought was available to the general public, and if it was, would not have thought buying it from the discontinued merchandise rack at the supermarket would not have been the way to go. But what do I know? As has been proven many times: not much.

The item? A DNA Paternity Test Kit. I guess, I thought, if this test was necessary, it would involve a physician or at least be administered by a health care professional and/or involve witnesses/legal representation (at least a notary). Going to the supermarket or even the drug store? And then testing yourself without necessarily knowing the precautions and proper procedures appropriate for the task at hand?

There seems as if there's a bit more at stake here than an at-home pregnancy test, a test with which many of us are familiar. But DNA testing at home?

What is this, the Maury Povich Show?

Having not traveled down this particular road myself, perhaps I'm unaware of the realities. All I know is what I've seen on television or read about in the papers.

I guess I just assumed (generally a bad thing), that the steps one takes to verify/confirm/resolve paternity-type issues were a bit more involved than a visit to the supermarket.

Apparently, this subject is just another where I know very little about, like tools and how to use them, automobile repair, home maintenance, lawn and garden, cooking, and on and on and on. But enough about me.

What about those wanting answers to extraordinarily important questions: Who's the father? And is that my child? Looks can be deceiving so a professional, or so I thought, incorrectly, is brought in to oversee the process.

Nope. No professional need apply. Just go to your local "chemist," as they say in England. No need to visit "the surgery," as they also say over there.

Just find a box with the right letters on it and go back to your home/work and swab, stick, pin-prick or whatever and the results will be known soon enough if you or someone else is whomever they claim to be or not to be. That is the question which begs an answer, Shakespeare notwithstanding.

It seems only fair that one's birthright should be gotten wrong. And not that home-testing can't be trusted. Just the opposite. Nevertheless, some things, like circumcisions, though they can be performed at home (see "Shaky the mohel" from a long ago Seinfeld episode).

I would have thought, a DNA Paternity test, given the need/want of a resolution/clarification which could possibly impact multiple individuals/families over generations, be similarly performed in the most careful of conditions. This kind of test has no margin for error – or humor.

"Bought the kit in the discount rack at my local supermarket." Is that the answer you want to give when all eyes are on you? And saying how much you saved over regular price is unlikely to endear you to any and all of the interested parties on hand.

After all, money really isn't the issue.
