BUILT TO LAST FOR THE MANY JOURNEYS AHEAD.

I engineer quality on the Silver Line project.

What I'm most proud of is our Quality Control System. It's one of the best I've ever experienced. Everyone pulls together toward the same goal. At the end of the day, you want the safest structure for the many people who will use it. And when you see people working hard to ensure that—it's a proud moment. Our kids will ride it one day. And I will happily say, "We built this with the safety of our own families in mind."

Kofi Annan Resigns As County NAACP President

Fairfax NAACP issues statement; Sean Perryman assumes presidency.

President Kofi Annan tendered his resignation as President of the Fairfax County NAACP and it is with profound regret that the Executive Committee has accepted the resignation of Kofi Annan as of Sunday, July 28. Annan resigned for personal reasons, but his resignation did follow a story in the Washington Post about a dispute with former branch president Shirley Ginwright. Despite the private nature of the dispute in the context of a personal text message conversation with Ms. Ginwright, the Executive Committee denounces Mr. Annan's use of derogatory language towards Ms. Ginwright, as well as his negative comments about Fairfax County officials - NAACP said in a statement.

Our primary focus as an organization is to address the myriad of issues Fairfax County residents face on a daily basis, from education and affordable housing, to community policing. The Fairfax NAACP chapter just completed a community service project benefiting the Capital Area Food Bank earlier this month. In partnership with the Fairfax County Police, we're preparing for the Cops and Kids Basketball game next month. It's unfortunate that in the midst of a busy summer, we have to be distracted by what amounts to an interpersonal matter between two individuals who have known each other for years.

On behalf of the Executive Committee, we apologize to Ms. Ginwright for the disrespectful comments made by our former president. They do not reflect the attitude or values of this Board. Ms. Ginwright is always welcome to attend our events and share her perspective.

The Executive committee apologizes to Chairman Sharon Bulova. Though we've had our share of disagreements, Chairman Bulova has been a friend and an ally of the NAACP. She was especially critical in establishing more civilian oversight of the Fairfax County Police Department through the Ad Hoc Police Practices Review Committee and the Police Civilian Review Panel. As Chairman Bulova is stepping down after this term, we plan to continue this excellent relationship with the Board of Supervisors, and the new Chairman.

The Executive Committee would also like to apologize to FCPD Chief Edwin Roessler. We appreciate Chief Roessler and the FCPD's commitment to serving all the residents of Fairfax County, and intend to continue working with them to strengthen our community.

Though the Fairfax Branch is one of the oldest chapters of the NAACP, the branch has truly flourished in recent years under Mr. Annan's leadership. His tireless advocacy and tenacious pursuit of justice drove everyone in this branch to the next level, culminating in winning the NAACP's prestigious Thalheimer Award in 2018.

We invite the community to join us at our next General Membership Meeting on Aug. 10 at the A.M.E. Baptist Church in Alexandria. Membership in the Fairfax NAACP is open to all Fairfax County residents, regardless of gender, race, creed, religion, or national origin.

STATEMENT FROM SEAN PERRYMAN, on assuming presidency of Fairfax County NAACP:

"As many of you may have heard by now, I'm assuming the Presidency of the Fairfax County NAACP. I'm both excited and humbled by the opportunity to represent an organization with a legacy as rich and important as the NAACP.

In an organization founded by legendary intellectuals and titans of civil and human rights like Ida B. Wells and W.E.B. Du Bois, it's daunting to compare yourself to leaders of past. The work remains though, and must continue. I realize, however, that every branch is only as good as the people who volunteer. Thankfully, in Fairfax, we have some of the most talented and passionate individuals in any branch in the country. I hope to lead in a way that honors their service and dedication. I also hope to lead in a way that does justice to the work already started by Kofi Annan.

I remember when I attended my first meeting not sure what to expect. Kofi brought me into the fold. He gave me real responsibility. He let me ascend to leadership quickly and listened to the advice I gave. I'm incredibly proud of the work I accomplished with him and I'll never forget the opportunity he gave me.

The outpouring of love for Kofi Annan following the announcement of his resignation is a testament to the impact of his work and the lives he's touched. I'm wise enough to understand that you don't replace someone like Kofi but can only try to further the work with the amazing team they left you. I hope he continues to stay involved and we can partner in whatever he does next.

I cannot and will not seek to be like previous leaders for I fear I could only be a bad imitation. I will instead try to carve out my own brand of leadership focused on equity, policy, and elevating the status of this branch. I will not try to recreate myself but continue to lead with honesty, humor, occasional snark, and a lot of passion. The branch will shift somewhat but our resolve and mission will remain the same.

My motivation—my daughter Ava and every child like her—remain the same. Because as a nation, we must realize that no one is coming to save us. We must create the communities we seek until eventually the world becomes something we are proud to hand our children and children's children.

As I look forward to the future, I am eager to continue my work with leaders throughout Fairfax County and hope to meet with leaders from the Virginia state delegation, county board, and school board soon.

I appreciate all of you as I prepare for this task of leading this amazing organization.

Discussing Food Allergies

On July 18, the pediatric allergists of Pediatric Lung and Allergy Center (PLAC) teamed up with the Northern VA Food Allergy Group to host an open forum question and answer session for the community. The session was geared toward parents of children who manage food allergies of all kinds. The physicians, Dr. David Anmuth and Dr. Anne Miranowski, talked with parents of infants, teenagers, and all ages in between. They covered a myriad of topics including food allergy testing, how cooking can trigger specific allergic responses, reading food labels, ancillary support services, various treatment options, and more.

Back-to-School Rituals Cause Stress

BY JOE FAY
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR FACETS

As summer nears the end, we are getting ready to say goodbye to 21 teens that are headed off to college. These young people have been involved in our summer youth programs for many years. They have experienced — like the other children in our programs and all kids — the excitement and anxiety around back to school preparation. These rituals include buying clothes and school supplies, getting a haircut, and finding out what teachers you have.

For the nearly 23,000 kids that live in poverty in Fairfax County, back to school rituals can cause stress. In a region of so much wealth, it's hard to remember that many children do not share the same levels of preparation. They want to but simply cannot.

FACETS serves many impoverished youth through our Education and Community Development Program. The program operates year-round in four low-income, subsidized communities offering a continuum of supportive services to break the cycle of poverty. People living in these affordable housing communities have limited financial resources, with the average annual income for a family of four less than $24,000.

At Robinson Square, Ragan Oaks, Barros Circle and Wedgewood, staff and volunteers offer an array of educational, preventative and enrichment programs to help youth, including mentoring and tutoring, and a variety of classes such as literacy, art, and computers. Participation provides many benefits, including ensuring a safe after-school and weekend environment, interaction with caring adults, award winning programs, and access to resources and case management.

We also work with these youth to help them get ready to go back to school. Like many nonprofits, we conduct supply drives that help make sure they have backpacks, pencils, and a myriad of other supplies that come on the lengthy lists provided by the schools. In many of the 400 backpacks, we also supply kids with a voucher for a haircut from the Hair Cuttery.

These school supply drives really do make a difference, and we hope you will consider contributing to ours or other organizations. If your means permit, perhaps consider donating a gift card to a clothing store or a hair salon. Helping a child feel confident and fit in during those first weeks of school goes a long way in making the school year productive. And if the youth we are helping prepare for college are an indi-

400 Years of Democracy and Its Scars

BY SCOTT SUROVELL
STATE SENATOR (D-36)

COMMENTARY

On July 30, 1619, 22 men met in Jamestown for what eventually would become the longest, continuing, democratically-elected legislative body in the western hemisphere. They were originally called burgesses and their meeting was an experiment in representative democracy that changed the world. This week, the nation importantly celebrates the 400th anniversary of that historic gathering.

While the experiment of democracy in the New World ultimately led to some incredible results, Virginia's democracy was far from perfect. Some of the most egregious scars were Virginia's laws that codified, encouraged, tolerated and forced enslavement on African people, forcibly first brought to Point Comfort in today's Hampton a few weeks after the House of Burgesses' first meeting.

For most Virginia's history, the state had laws designed to discourage voting and perpetuate elite power. In 1619, only adult, white men who were not enslaved or indentured servants could vote. After various experiments and Bacon's Rebellion, legislators enacted property ownership requirements for voting so onerous that three decades after American independence in 1776, one-third of adult white Virginia men still were still not allowed to vote. This law especially affected Virginians west of the Blue Ridge Mountains. In fact, the legislature did not abolish property ownership voting requirements until 232 years after democracy began in Virginia.

When Reconstruction Era constitutional reforms pushed voter participation to new levels, white backlash brought state-sanctioned discrimination openly directed at African and Native Americans resulting in voting policies designed to reduce turnout to only the "right" voters — wealthy white people. Voter turnout dropped from 264,000 voters in the 1900 presidential election to 130,000 four years later thanks to the poll tax, literacy test and felon voter disenfranchisement.

Like many other states, Virginia's laws also barred women from voting until the 19th Amendment became law on Aug. 18, 1920, 301 years after the founding of democracy in the western hemisphere that we celebrate. Virginia refused to even ratify the 19th Amendment until 1952. With women voting, Virginia voter turnout jumped from 232,000 in 1920 to 305,000 by 1928.

Virginia also has a long history of abusive gerrymandering. In the first 300 years, the legislature periodically refused to redraw legislative districts to perpetuate the power of wealthy landowners in the Tidewater. By 1960, fear of minority, lower-income whites and ultimately progressive Democrats meant districts had little relation to population and some congressional districts had 50 percent more residents than others. In 1962, Fairfax County was given one state senator after seeing 179% population growth between 1950-60. The U.S. Supreme Court ended this with "one man, one vote" in Baker v. Carr in 1962.

Entrenched power worked to keep minority influence down in other ways. For example,

Virginia cities often annexed neighboring county land as "white flight" gave rise to more minority voting in cities, particularly in Richmond. After many counties converted into cities (cities could not annex land from other cities), the General Assembly enacted an annexation moratorium in 1987.

Virginia's blemished history is one reason many Virginians object to efforts to restrictive measures like voter identification laws. When the current majority of the House of Delegates was decided by the flip of a film canister, one cannot help but think that these policies make a difference in maintaining power.

Last month, I was in Greece where democracy was invented. As I travelled the country and saw many old statues, I wondered how many were hated by subsequent generations, torn down and replaced. I also wondered how a society that achieved so much, ruled the western world and created much of the foundational elements of western culture could come crashing down but exists today with a population smaller than Virginia and an economy smaller than the states of Oregon or Tennessee.

Our current national political environment has demonstrated that many basic, norms that Americans thought were permanent can be shattered. The last two millennia and Virginia's last four centuries show that democracy can be a fickle thing if we do not protect it.

So while we honor the 400th anniversary of democracy in Virginia on July 30, 2019, please remember our scarred history. It has been an honor for me to serve you as part of this experiment started 400 years ago and I will continue to do my best to make Virginia's democracy as strong and participatory as it can be.

Dog Parks in Fairfax County

The Fairfax County Park Authority welcomes leashed dogs in all of its parks. In addition, for owners of well-socialized canines who enjoy a good run, a friendly romp, or simply the presence of other dogs and people, the Park Authority operates dog parks or dog runs. These are designated fence-enclosed areas where unleashed dogs can have free play. At present, the Park Authority has eleven established dog parks located throughout Fairfax County.

Volunteer Dog Park Monitors are Park Authority volunteers who assist staff with the operations and maintenance of each dog park. They do so by encouraging awareness of dog park rules and regulations, reporting maintenance needs to the Park Authority, picking up litter and dog waste in order to model proper use and to keep park areas clean; and by promoting a sense of community among those who visit a dog park.

Users of off-leash dog areas do so at their own risk. Neither Fairfax County nor the Fairfax County Park Authority shall be liable for any injury or damage caused by any dog in the off-leash area. Operating Hours are 7 a.m. to one half-hour after sunset Monday through Friday. On weekends and federal holidays, the hours are 8 a.m. to one half-hour after sunset.

With 22 years in education, Tracey Phillips, 43, of Fairfax was named the new principal of Robinson Secondary School on July 26, 2019, replacing Matt Eline who took a job in Prince William County. She will be overseeing 3,800 students and a staff of 300.

Phillips also graduated from Robinson Secondary and Oak View Elementary and grew up in the same Rams' neighborhood. Her parents, Wes and Felecia Blaine, and sister Leslie Malkowski live right down the road.

What she loves about her job is the people, she said. "I'm home grown; I graduated from here; I grew up in this neighborhood. ... It's a unique environment, a welcoming place. The culture here draws you in and it's hard to not love it."

According to 2018-2019 stats, Robinson is composed of 59 percent white students; 14.6 percent Hispanic; 5.8 percent Black; 13 percent Asian; and 6.7 percent other. Students in the General Education division number 92 percent; and the Special Education is 14 percent.

Pop-Up Art Gallery Opening

Cheeky Monkey, a new, pop-up art gallery, is having a grand opening this Saturday, Aug. 3, from 5-9 p.m., at 10426 Main St. in Old Town Fairfax. The public is invited to browse, meet the artists and enjoy light refreshments. The gallery will feature artwork by Terry Downs, Larry Ringgold, JP Muller and Kierk Ashmore-Sorenson.

BULLETIN BOARD

Submit civic/community announcements at ConnectionNewspapers.com/Calendar. Photos and artwork welcome. Deadline is Thursday at noon, at least two weeks before event.

DONATIONS NEEDED

School Supply and Backpack Drive. 8 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Parent Resource Center, 2334 Gallows Road, Room 105, Dunn Loring. For the nearly 56,000 students in Fairfax County Public Schools living at the poverty line, obtaining school supplies can be difficult. FCPS is partnering with roughly 20 nonprofits and businesses to ensure that students will have the supplies they need this fall for its "Collect for Kids" campaign. A $25 donation will fill a backpack with FCPS approved supplies for a student. Organize a collection drive of new backpacks in your community and bring to one of the Collect for Kids drop off locations. Visit www.collectforkids.org/get-involved or call 703-204-3941.

New Robinson Principal

ROBINSON'S GREATEST ASSET is also its biggest challenge – which is its size, said Phillips. Not only the size of the building, but the size of the student population, staff and the community. “Being able to effectively reach and communicate with all those groups is challenging,” she said.

As part of the Robinson Pyramid, Robinson has the reputation as being the largest International Baccalaureate school in the United States, she said. Last year it became MYP authorized (Middle Years Program) that feeds the diploma program for seventh to 10th grade. Phillips said the IB Program creates global citizens through innovative and creative thinking and expanding depths through conversations and research.

She added: “In the last few years we’ve been recognized by Virginia Special Olympics for being a banner school because of our inclusive environment for all students. We have Special Olympics teams that participate in all three sports seasons: soccer, basketball and track. We have two different sets of teams in each season: Unified teams and Special Olympic teams.”

Phillips said Robinson’s largest business partner is Capital One in McLean, but the school also has many smaller business partners in the community. Capital One gave a large grant called the Maker Space Classroom where students will have access to advanced technology, 3D printers and videography equipment to enhance their learning and demonstrate their knowledge. They support the STEAM initiatives and host the Capital One Coders.

She has a great relationship with the PTSO working to bring various programs and activities to the school, which will support both parents, students and teachers. “Our PTSO president (Shelley Smith) is a graduate from here. We have a lot of employees and parents who went to school here who have stayed in this community,” she added.

According to Ann Wong, Robinson Subschool Principal: “Ms. Phillips demonstrates the characteristics of a true leader — goal-oriented, decisive, compassionate, collaborative, with the ability to make those who work with and for her better at what they do. I personally am a better educator because of what I have learned from her. As Principal, she recognizes that the most important factor to consider when making decisions is ‘what is best for our students?’ Ms. Phillips has already demonstrated her commitment to Robinson and her impact will be even greater as Principal.”

According to Travis Hess, Robinson Assistant Principal: “Tracey did an exceptional job of stepping in and taking charge of Robinson when Matt Eline departed in April. Not only did she perform the duties of the acting principal, she simultaneously continued in her role as the associate principal as well. She is intelligent, composed, and decisive. All stakeholders know exactly where they stand with Tracey and that combined with her ability to support students and teachers alike are what make her an incredible leader.”

Robinson Secondary Principal Tracey Phillips with daughter Ellie, age 5.

Shown in front of the mural of the school song, Tracey Phillips is the new principal of Robinson Secondary.

“She values inclusion and works to build a community that supports and inspires all, students and staff alike.”

— Laura Leydon, Robinson Special Ed English 11 Teacher

11 Teacher: “Eighteen years ago I team-taught with Tracey in an Algebra 1 class that combined regular ed, special ed and students with autism. Since that time Tracey has not changed in the way she leads with her heart. She values inclusion and works to build a community that supports and inspires all, students and staff alike. Tracey is the perfect person to take the helm of Robinson, and I am excited about the positive direction she will take the school just like she did in the math class so long ago.”

PHILLIPS earned her undergrad degree in special education from Longwood College and got her Education Leadership degree at GMU. She taught at Bonnie Brae Elementary, Robinson Secondary (special education classes), was an Assistant Principal at Hayfield Secondary, Associate Principal at Hayfield Secondary; and returned to Robinson as Associate Principal in 2014.

She has a daughter named Ellie, age 5, who will be starting Kindergarten and is looking forward to being a Ram when she gets older. Phillips pushes the motto, “Dude, Be Nice,” adding, “Our goal is to look out for each other and be kind with one another.”

Money For What, Exactly?

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Presumably, most of you readers are aware that many supermarkets have a rack located somewhere near the rear of the store that is stocked with off-price merchandise: discontinued items, items with damaged packaging, out of season products, etc.

Over the years, I have been a regular checker of this rack looking for such bargains. I have purchased breakfast cereal, soup, cookies, candy, and miscellaneous other non-perishables. I've even purchased two bags of Kingsford charcoal.

In addition, I've seen household products, health and beauty, school supplies; and everything else you can imagine, running the gamut from "A" to "Z," for sale. Recently however, on this rack I saw a product I'm not sure I even thought was available to the general public, and if it was, would not have thought buying it from the discontinued merchandise rack at the supermarket would not have been the way to go. But what do I know? As has been proven many times: not much.

The item? A DNA Paternity Test Kit. I guess, I thought, if this test was necessary, it would involve a physician or at least be administered by a health care professional and/or involve witnesses/legal representation (at least a notary). Going to the supermarket or even the drug store? And then testing yourself without necessarily knowing the precautions and proper procedures appropriate for the task at hand?

There seems as if there's a bit more at stake here than an at-home pregnancy test, a test with which many of us are familiar. But DNA testing at home?

What is this, the Maury Povich Show?

Having not traveled down this particular road myself, perhaps I'm unaware of the realities. All I know is what I've seen on television or read about in the papers.

I guess I just assumed (generally a bad thing), that the steps one takes to verify/confirm/resolve paternity-type issues were a bit more involved than a visit to the supermarket.

Apparently, this subject is just another where I know very little about, like tools and how to use them, automobile repair, home maintenance, lawn and garden, cooking, and on and on and on. But enough about me.

What about those wanting answers to extraordinarily important questions: Who's the father? And is that my child? Looks can be deceiving so a professional, or so I thought, incorrectly, is brought in to oversee the process.

Nope. No professional need apply. Just go to your local "chemist," as they say in England. No need to visit "the surgery," as they also say over there.

Just find a box with the right letters on it and go back to your home/work and swab, stick, pin-prick or whatever and the results will be known soon enough if you or someone else is whomever they claim to be or not to be. That is the question which begs an answer, Shakespeare notwithstanding.

It seems only fair that one's birthright should be gotten wrong. And not that home-testing can't be trusted. Just the opposite. Nevertheless, some things, like circumcisions, though they can be performed at home (see "Shaky the mohel" from a long ago Seinfeld episode).

I would have thought, a DNA Paternity test, given the need/want of a resolution/clarification which could possibly impact multiple individuals/families over generations, be similarly performed in the most careful of conditions. This kind of test has no margin for error - or humor.

"Bought the kit in the discount rack at my local supermarket." Is that the answer you want to give when all eyes are on you? And saying how much you saved over regular price is unlikely to endear you to any and all of the interested parties on hand.

After all, money really isn't the issue.
