Knee Rehab and Cardio Workouts Bring People Together

Joseph Pilates' training began the practice in England.

By Mike Salmon The Connection

yms and workouts come in all shapes and sizes these days, and the modern day Pilates studio has its own look, with the "reformer" as the center of the workout, with straps, springs and bocca balls that promote a "better mind-body balance." Club Pilates in Burke recently celebrated their first year helping students find the balance and get in shape with a system of low-impact exercises that strengthens the body's core muscles.

Pilates was recommended to Burke resident Alicia Field when she was suffering from spinal problems, and found that Pilates delivered a whole lot more. "I was almost bedridden," she said, but after one year, "it's changed mind, body and spirit for me." Field was born and raised in Burke, and joined a few other gyms along the way but is happy at Club Pilates.

Julie Karickhoff, Tony Kim and Jayleen Bowman hit the machines at Club Pilates in Burke.

"It's more than just exercise," she said. "The stuff I'm doing, I never thought I'd do with my back," she added.

JULIE KARICKHOFF is the manager and she has trained in the ways of traditional Pilates. When leading a class at the studio, she uses a lot of demonstrations, and tweaks postures and legs so the students get maximum benefits. "Grab the straps in each hand and bring your arms around like you are holding a beach ball," she said to introductory class.

The classes offered at the studio start with the "CP Reformer Flow," for beginners, to the "CP FIT," at the other end of the spectrum, which is a "dynamic boot-camp style class," their brochure states.

Arlington resident Lindsey Donnelly is an instructor at the Burke studio and loves the small, precise movements of the workout. She's been teaching for eight years, and stresses the mind-body connection. "It's the best job ever," she said.

Lindsey Donnelly and Alicia Field on the reformer at Club Pilates in Burke.

Karickhoff has seen that attitude around the studio, and has students that return again and again. "People really take this seriously," she said. She took it seriously too after tearing her meniscus in her knee while playing volleyball a few years ago. "We used the Pilates reformer machine in my physical therapy," she said.

EVERY PILATES TEACHER must get certified, and the teacher training is intense, and learning the history of Pilates is part of it, according to Donnelly. Joseph Hubertus Pilates was born in Monchengladbach Germany in 1883. He moved to England and was a self-defense instructor for detectives at Scotland Yard before World War I. Along the way, he used the bed springs in the hospitals to teach this method, and finally wound up in the United States, opening a studio in New York City.

George Balanchine invited Pilates to instruct his young ballerinas at the New York City Ballet. In 1970, a Pilates studio opened in Los Angeles, and many of the Hollywood stars took it, and over the years, it's become an exercise option in studios, similar to yoga and spin classes.

Karickhoff is an alumna of Woodson High School and went to work in corporate marketing for 20 years before finding her niche at Club Pilates. At Woodson, she was on the dance team and played lacrosse, and continued those activities at Duke where she earned a degree, and then Georgetown University for her Master's in Business Administration.

Shopping Spree for Children in Homeless Shelters

Pride and positive interaction with law enforcement as students get needed gear.

By Mercia Hobson The Connection

he first day of school is a critical time in the lives of children. An opportunity to shop and choose new back-to-school clothes and shoes excited Yuri Duncan, 7, and Malachi Nealy, 10. On Wednesday, Aug. 21, the Fairfax County Sheriff's Office took Yuri, Malachi and thirty-eight other children shopping for back- to school items, but not before a complimentary pizza lunch by Paisano's Pizza.

These children live right now at the Katherine K. Hanley and Patrick Henry family shelters operated by Shelter House, and the Next Steps family shelter run by Facets.

Now in its 28th year, the 2019 Shop with the Sheriff Program allowed local shelter children the opportunity to select and purchase clothing they liked, suited to their individual personalities, while interacting in a positive experience with law enforcement. "Together, we truly are changing lives," said Joe Myer Executive Director and CEO of Shelter House.

"I'd like some Jojo shoes because I wear dresses," said Yuri Duncan as she and Sheriff's Deputy J. M. Smith, Field Training Officer, ate their pizza and got to know each other.

FOR MALACHI NEALY, it was all about being cool. "I'm looking for stylish, cool clothes in teal and light blue." Shiah Allen, 8, who sat with Sheriff's Deputy L. R. Favetti said he wanted a hoodie with a 100 on it, and Noah Mathews, 10, knew exactly what clothing and shoes he wanted to get to dominate the game on the school courts. "I'd like themed t-shirts, shorts, and new Nike James LeBron shoes."

"I love the interaction between our kids and our Sheriff's deputies," said Fairfax County Sheriff Stacey A. Kincaid. "These children are living in family shelters. Helping them prepare for the start of the school year with new clothes is something we can see and appreciate. Less obvious, but just as important, is the relationship building. We are law enforcement officers ... we are regular people who can tell jokes and stories. We want the children to engage with us today and in the future."

According to Sheriff Kincaid, since the program was not county-funded, the Office relied on contributions from individuals and corporate donations such as Target, Paisano's Pizza and new partner this year, Oracle in Reston.

"Each child is paired up with a Deputy Sheriff or civilian staff member and given $250 gift cards so they can purchase items such as clothing, accessories, things that they need...on the first day and beyond, so they are able to walk in with a sense of pride and can focus on their studies."

Shiah Allen, 8, gets to know his shopping partner, Fairfax County Sheriff's Deputy L. R. Favetti before they head out to Target in Burke for the 2019 Shop with the Sheriff Program.

For many of the deputies, the event was a repeat performance. "I love helping out ... This is my third or fourth time," said Deputy Sheriff J.M. Smith as she sat coloring with Yuri Duncan and eating pizza. For Deputy L. R. Favetti, it was his first time volunteering, which momentarily concerned his shopping partner, Shiah Allen, 8. That is until Favetti added: "I have lots of nieces and nephews, so I know how to shop."

Sharon Bulova, Chairman Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and Supervisor John W. Cook (R-Braddock District) waited at Target for the children, Kincaid and the deputies to arrive. Before the children came, Bulova said, "This is one of my favorite events of the year. It's heartwarming to see the interaction between the Sheriff's deputies and these children. It changes the children's opinion of law enforcement."

When the children arrived, Cook spoke to the group. "You just show our deputies what you need, and they will be happy to get it for you. ... School is really important. ... We want you ready to learn and have fun with your fellow classmates."

IN A FILMED INTERVIEW, Kincaid explained while Shop with the Sheriff provided the tangible benefit of new clothes and shoes, it also provided intangible benefits. The experience gave the children a sense of control as they selected and excitedly tried on the clothing they picked out. The new clothes also gave the children a sense of pride, which would allow them to focus on their education. It also allowed positive interaction between deputies and the children.

"This is a great program, and I wish we could have it every single day. We love to interact and be the role models for the children," said Kincaid.

OPINION Preventing Suicide Being there to take the call.

By Wendy Gradison CEO, PRS

ore people are calling, texting and chatting and that's good news. With greater emphasis on mental health, we are seeing an increase in the number of people reaching out for help to our local suicide prevention hotline. This is a trend that's also occurring nationwide.

While it's great that more people are seeking help, the issue is that the infrastructure and funding to support it are having a hard time keeping up with the growing demand. In fact, PRS recently received grants to serve as a national back-up center and core chat center to expand services in support of the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline network (Lifeline) to help address longer wait times nationwide as queues pile up for the hotline and chatline. Some of these calls and chats now get rerouted to PRS.

Prior to the recent expansion, PRS received a monthly average of 4,500 crisis calls through the Lifeline and local crisis number primarily from Northern Virginia. With the addition of the national hotline back-up center and chatline services, our call volume has more than doubled, and we expect the chatline to generate over 20,000 chats this year.

This is the reality as we approach September's Suicide Prevention Month. For the 5th year, we are hosting the #CallTextLive Campaign, https://prsinc.org/calltextlive/, in partnership with Connection Newspapers. The campaign engages the community by providing activities to create awareness about preventing suicide and calling the PRS CrisisLink Hotline at (800) 273-TALK [8255] and the textline by texting "CONNECT" to 85511 to receive support.

#CallTextLive uses social media, activities and events to drive conversation and reduce stigma. By visiting PRS' website at www.prsinc.org/calltextlive, people can discover how to participate in the #CallTextLive Campaign, which includes Resource Mondays, a Facebook Live educational session, Selfie Day, and Fact Fridays.

Social media is used to engage people in sharing stories and photos on PRS Facebook, Twitter and Instagram using the #CallTextLive hashtag in hopes of making it easier for people to talk about suicide.

The campaign is critically important since suicide claims the lives of more than 47,000 people annually and is the 10th leading cause of death nationwide and second leading cause for people aged 10-34. In fact, more than twice as many people die by suicide than homicide. As we work to increase the number of individuals seeking help, we recognize that increasing our capacity to take these calls, texts and chats is essential.

We handle the national calls through federal grants, but the work we do to serve our Northern Virginia community is supported through local funding sources and the generosity of individuals like you. That's why the campaign encourages people to crowdsource to support the PRS CrisisLink center.

Volunteering to cover a weekly shift on the hotline or chatline, donating to support the overall operating expenses of this life-saving work or sharing our information across social media saves lives in our communities.

Crisis intervention and suicide prevention services work. For every death, 278 people manage to move past thoughts of suicide and survive. Join PRS this September as we encourage our community to make the call, send the text and live through their thoughts of suicide.

Learning from 1619 Pointing out the evils of slavery and its aftermath.

By Kenneth R. "Ken" Plum State Delegate (D-36)

ocal and national news media have given broad coverage of the events last week commemorating the first African enslaved people being brought to the Virginia colony in 1619. Certainly the historic research that has been done in recent years has given a truer picture of the struggling colony at Jamestown that had been founded in 1607 and that saw significant changes 400 years ago this month with the meeting of the first elected representative assembly and with the arrival of the first women and enslaved Africans. As a history buff I read every version of the 1619 story I could find and found the speeches at the commemorative event at Old Point Comfort at Hampton last week to be enthralling.

The real story did not take place in 1619 however but in the 400 years since when slavery lasted for nearly 250 more years and racism, inequality, and injustice continue to today. Slavery was a horrid institution that reminds us just how cruel some can be to others. Following onto slavery was Reconstruction,

COMMENTARY

Jim Crow, segregation, and white supremacy that continued the cruelty in other forms.

I am pleased that speakers at the Commemoration were honest and forthright in pointing out the evils of slavery and its aftermath. I could not have been more proud of our two Senators Kaine and Warner, two Congresspersons Bobby Scott and Elaine Luria, and Congressional Black Caucus Chair Karen Bass for their honesty and directness about our past and for our need to make amends and stand against any form of evils in the future.

Our Gov. Ralph Northam was no less critical of our past. He said about the enslaved Africans, "government did not represent them during the 246 years of slavery. It did not represent them through nearly 100 years of Reconstruction and Jim Crow and discrimination. And in many ways, it struggles to represent them today."

truth upon them, we have to start with ourselves." And the Governor is showing that with his personal experiences he is willing to provide the leadership to move forward.

As the Governor explained, "Virginia is a place of contradictions and complexity. ... We are a state that for too long has told a false story of ourselves. ... The story we tell is insufficient and inadequate, especially when it comes to black history that is American history."

By Executive Order the Governor established a Commission on African American History Education in the Commonwealth with the purpose of ensuring that the history we teach is true and complete. Earlier he had established a Commission to examine the racial inequities in Virginia laws, and there are many that the General Assembly needs to amend out of the Code.

He has directed his staff to ensure that programs and services in the state do not discriminate against anyone because of race or the color of their skin among other areas where discrimination has occurred.

The events of 1619 can remind us that there is much work to be done, and we have a Governor who is willing to provide the leadership to accomplish it.

Anti-drunk Driving Campaign Launched in Fairfax

Roessler Jr., Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles Director of Highway Safety John Saunders and Virginia-based Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP) President Kurt Erickson launched the annual statewide antidrunk driving Checkpoint Strikeforce Campaign.

The DUI law enforcement and public education campaign continues through Labor Day weekend and will resume during Halloween and the holidays.

Fairfax County Statistics: To date in 2019, there have been 209 alcohol-involved crashes resulting in eight fatalities and 106 injuries. Of the eight alcohol-involved fatalities, three involved impaired pedestrians and five were caused by intoxicated driv-

In 2018, there were 362 alcohol-involved crashes resulting in 12 fatalities and 181 injuries. Of the 12 alcohol-involved fatalities, four were the result of impaired pedestrians and eight were caused by intoxicated drivers. There were also three fatalities resulting from drivers impaired by drugs.

Working on a Solution to Save Lives: Since it began in 2017, the DWI Enforcement Squad has played a significant role in reducing alcohol-involved squad was deployed, we responded to and investigated 501 alcohol-involved crashes. In 2017, that number dropped 19.5 percent to 403 alcohol crashes, and in 2018, it dropped another 10.1 percent to 362 alcohol-involved crashes. Overall from 2016 to 2018, there was a 27.7 percent decrease in alcohol-involved crashes investigated by FCPD officers.

What You Can Do:

Don't drink and drive.

Plan ahead. If you are planning to drink, arrange for a designated driver, use a ride sharing company, or take a taxi.

If you are with someone who has been drinking, do not let them drive and try to arrange a sober ride for them.

If you are hosting a party where alcohol will be served, ensure that your guests leave with a sober driver.

While on the road, report any suspected impaired drivers by calling 9-1-1 or non-emergency dispatch at 703-691-2131.

Communication is important. Parents should talk to their children about the dangers of impaired driving.

Side-Splitting But Not Very Funny

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

The most recent near-having-to-think-about-death experience I wrote about last week ("Barbosoul") was guite a shock to my system.

In spite of all the ups and downs and all-arounds I've experienced over the past 10 and a half not-funfilled cancer years, I had never gone emotionally to the place I went to last week. Certainly I've thought about death and dying before: heck, I'm a cancer patient having been given a "terminal" diagnosis.

Nevertheless, I had never really put two and two together to equal four. It had always equaled three and a half, if you know what I mean? (Maybe you don't. Sometimes I'm not sure what I mean.) But last week's column was different. I went there.

It's not as if I haven't experienced pain before. I have. Most notably in the area of my lungs (the mediastinum) where my non-small-cell-lung-cancerstage-IV tumors take up primary residence. Sometimes, the pain I felt was that of the tumors growing. Other times, the pain was that of scar tissue which had grown over tumors.

Any of which I would never know until my oncologist discussed with Team Lourie the radiologist's report from the preceding CT scan. Moreover, these assessments were never given with any kind of arithmetical-type certainty. Still, if it could have been worse, I was happy and if it could have been better, I was hopeful. Never too high and never too low.

As you regular readers know, I roll with the punches, wherever they land.

For the past week, those punches (pain) were in the identical (so far as I knew) place where my non-small cell lung cancer, stage IV symptoms first manifested in late December 2008. As such, I was rolling like I had never rolled before - and without any kind of mat to soften the fall.

Aside from experiencing headaches/pain in my head (which I haven't), which might indicate progression (in 30 percent of lung cancer patients the cancer moves to the brain), a recurrence in the same area as 10 and a half years ago likewise scares out the daylights living inside of me.

And, just like when a little knowledge in the wrong hands can be a dangerous thing, so too does zero knowledge in the right hands (mine) become a dangerous thing. Why else would I be experiencing pain in my left side by my rib cage if it wasn't the cancer, only worse? But that wasn't the case.

As those of you who read to the end of last week's column know, I have survived to fight another day, or I should say, fight another two months because that's when my next CT scan is scheduled. At present, that's my cycle: bi-weekly immunotherapy followed by bi-monthly scans of my neck down to my lower abdomen, followed by an office visit with my oncologist to discuss the findings and plan for the immediate future

Might that be palliative care? Apparently, if the inference/suggestion made by my oncologist in our last face-to-face meeting had any basis in fact? I suppose that's the problem with inferences/suggestions made in the medical "whirled."

I'm sure there are facts and figures and years of research supporting recommendations upon which one's treatments/protocols are based. Moreover, they're unlikely "made up of whole cloth," to quote the late Washington Redskins' owner Jack Kent Cooke commenting on some football rumor I can't remember.

Nevertheless, it's not exactly a straight line from the oncologist's mouth to the patient's estate planner. It's more like a roller coaster - without the safety bar (I wish it were more like the merry-go round, but it's not.). Often times, it's more like whack-a-mole.

Now that the pain and discomfort has subsided, I feel like I've dodged a bullet. It reminds me of my elementary school gym classes when we played a game called "Bombardment" where dodge balls were thrown across the gym from one half of the class at he other. As random as it was, it was only a matter of time until you couldn't dodge any more, and then vou were out.

I realize that was only a game and this is life, but cancer has a way of intertwining fact and fiction with the past, present and future whether you like it or not. Kenny Lourie is an Advertising Representative for The Potomac Almanac & The Connection Newspapers.

Tour de Mount Vernon at the Workhouse Arts Center.

Making a Difference, One Person at a Time

Take the time to find the many experiences awaiting you at Mount Vernon District.

By Dan Storck Supervisor - Mount Vernon DISTRICT

elcome to the Mount Vernon District! For those of us who live, work, learn and play in the District, this is a wonderful place to live. From our incredible history and heritage - the Mount Vernon Estate and the Workhouse Arts Center for example - to the exciting revitalization of Richmond Highway and the new amenities coming to Lorton - the Lorton Community Center and South County Police Station and Animal Shelter - no matter where you live in the District, the future is bright.

Even if you are new here, you likely know that Fairfax County has one of the best school systems in the country, but for us it goes beyond that. Life-long learning is important to many of our residents and I am proud to say we are bringing more opportunities through our future partnerships at Original Mount Vernon High School (OMVHS) with the Northern Virginia Community College (NVCC) and Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS). In addition, the synergy created by collocating Teen and Senior Centers, the Library, Neighborhood and Community Services, and the Lorton Community Action Center (LCAC) in the new Lorton Community Center will provide many more active and passive learning activities for residents of all ages and abilities.

Fairfax is the safest community of its size in the country, with our Police force actively engaged in our neighborhoods and communities. National Night Out was a great example of residents and Officers coming together to build relationships, trust and community spirit! The new South County Police Station and Animal Shelter will enable even greater community engagement in Southeastern Fairfax County.

While a decades long process, the revitalization of the Richmond Highway corridor will bring Bus Rapid Transit (BRT), higher density urban living with ecologically sensitive, walkable, livable neighborhoods. A focus on community development, preservation of existing community character, urban design and a variety of transportation modes will bring new residents, businesses and partnerships to the corridor. My Strategic Economic Development Team (SEDT) is working hard to bring the best commerce partners to the region, while my Tourism Task Force is working to enhance and grow our tourism market and our Embark Housing Advisory Committee keeps us grounded in the need for more affordable and workforce housing.

Exciting New Developments

From nationally ranked parks, fine restaurants, and shopping there is something for everyone in Springfield.

By Pat Herrity SUPERVISOR -Springfield District

pringfield District encompasses everything from the historic town of Clifton, to the bustling shops of Fair Oaks Mall, to miles of trails at beautiful Burke Lake Park. Our district offers a variety of attractions for the whole family throughout the year. From our nationally ranked parks, fine restaurants, and shopping there is something for everyone in Springfield.

There are some exciting new developments in Springfield District. One major project is the renovation of the Old Keene Mill Shopping Center. The shopping center's owner, Federal Realty Investment Trust, is giving the entire shopping center a face-lift through renovations including a double-sided outdoor fireplace and a communal village design, with new storefronts and signs, wider sidewalks, as well as new landscaping and pavilions. I recently attended the opening of an interactive art exhibit at the shopping center sponsored by ARTSFAIRFAX. This project is expected to be complete by Thanksgiving 2019.

There are also a number of critical transportation improvements in the pipeline for Springfield District - Rolling Road from Old Keene Mill Road to the Parkway will be widened to 4 lanes with trail improvements; the Fairfax County Parkway will be widened from four lanes to six lanes from Popes Head Road to Route 29 and the interchange at Popes Head will be grade-separated (no traffic light); Route 29 will be widened from 4 to 6 lanes from Buckley's Gate to Union Mill Road; Route 28 will be widened from the Lab in Fair Oaks Mall is a fantastic munew interchange is being constructed at I-66. There will be new HOT lanes on I-66 and many other minor transportation improvements that will help to get you home to your families.

Top Ten

My top 10 favorite places in the District (it's hard to pick just 10):

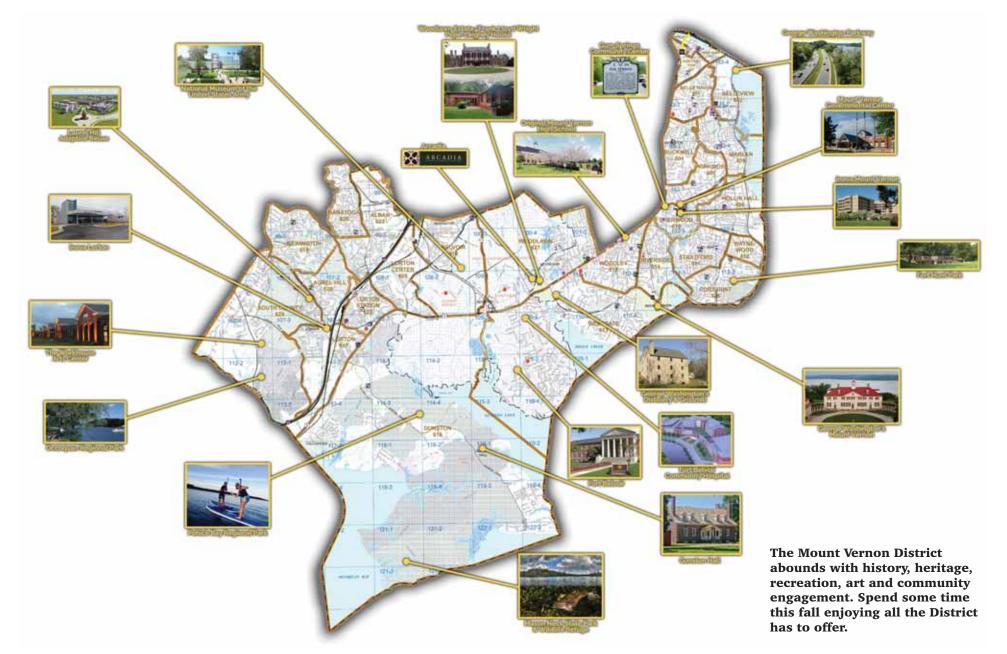

1. Burke Lake Park was named "Best Public Park" by NoVA magazine in 2018 and is the most visited park in Fairfax County's Park system. The park contains a trail that goes around the lake and is great for walking (with or without your dog), running and cycling. American Hiking Society has named these trails in the top ten in the nation. There is also fishing, boat rentals, camping, disc golf, mini golf, an 18-hole golf course, a newly renovated driving range, volleyball courts, a miniature carousel, and miniature train. My favorite event at the park is the Springfield Nights Concert Series that runs from July through August sponsored by my office and the Park Foundation. With free music by nationally and internationally recognized bands, beautiful scenery, and the best of local food vendors from Two Silos Brewery and Peterson's Ice Cream, these are a great way to spend your summer nights. (7315 Ox Rd, Fairfax Station)

2. Fair Oaks Mall, one of the region's largest shopping destinations in Fairfax, features a collection of 200 shops, services, and dining establishments in an enclosed, two-story retail center. The mall offers one of the most diverse and compelling retail and dining collections under one roof and is the perfect destination on a sweltering or rainy weekend afternoon. (11750 Fair Oaks Mall, Fairfax).

3. The Children's Science Center seum that allows children (and their parents) to get hands on experience with STEM concepts (Science, Technology, See Development, Page 8

My Last Welcome Letter For Connection Newcomers

By Sharon Bulova, Chairman Fairfax County Board of Supervisors

hen I was first elected to the Board of Supervisors in 1987 the Braddock District was called Annandale. Fairfax County's population (now 1.15 million) was approximately 746,600. There was no VRE (Virginia Railway Express Commuter Rail System) nor was there a Springfield Franconia Metro Station or a Fairfax County Parkway. When I took office as a freshman Supervisor in January 1988, Fairfax County was, for the most part, a rapidly growing suburban bedroom community. Tysons was still just a shopping mall.

I will be retiring at the end of December, after serving 31 years on the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors — 11 years as Chairman and 20 years before that as the Braddock District Supervisor. What I have come to understand over these many years is that the one thing you can be certain of is that things will change. Indeed, a lot has changed over that span of time.

During the past decade while I have had the honor to serve you as Chairman, Fairfax County has:

Navigated the financial crises caused by the Great Recession with the County's coveted triple A bond rating by all three rating agencies still intact;

Welcomed Metro's Silver Line to Tysons and Reston, with a station at Dulles Airport to open next year;

• Ushered in new land use plans for Tysons and other aging commercial and industrial areas of the County in need of revitalization;

Reengineered our police policies to include more transparency and de-escalation tactics with a focus on the sanctity of life;

Created Diversion First, a program for people with mental illness or developmental disabilities, experiencing an encounter with law enforcement to receive treatment instead of incarceration;

Updated the County's Environmental Vision to include a new focus on Energy Efficiency and Climate;

Strengthened collaboration between the Board of Supervisors and the School Board in the areas of budget development, land use planning and joint environmental initiatives;

Reduced homelessness by nearly 50% employing a Housing First strategy to put a roof over homeless individuals' heads and connecting them to resources needed to help them get back on their feet;

Lastly, and most importantly, our Board, in partnership with the School Board, established One Fairfax, a social and racial equity compact, to ensure that ALL residents of Fairfax County have access to equitable opportunities for success.

I have been deeply honored to serve the residents of Fairfax County for these many years. I will really miss this job! Jurisdictions throughout the country look to Fairfax County as a leader and innovator, and I am proud, working with my colleagues on the Board and our excellent County staff, to have led our county to where it is today. Fairfax County is an awesome place, with a culture of engagement, acceptance of different cultures and backgrounds and a willingness to work together to resolve conflicts.

Fairfax County is poised for many exciting opportunities ahead. I am confident the next Board of Supervisors, in partnership with members of the community, will continue the positive momentum we are known for.

Engineering and Math). Education is so important, and this museum, which is designed for kids between 2 and 12 years old, does an excellent job of challenging and shaping young minds. Be sure to stay and shop and/or eat at one of the best malls in the area. (11948 Fair Oaks Mall, Fairfax).

4. Make sure to catch your fill of Friday Night Lights! The Springfield District has some of the best high schools both academically and athletically in the country. As a West Springfield High School alumnus, there are few things I enjoy more than getting to a football game in the fall where there's a buzz in the air and a little snap of cold from the changing seasons. Go cheer on your local high school team at West Springfield, Lake Braddock, South County, Robinson, or Centreville.

5. The newest addition to Fair Oaks Mall, Dave & Buster's is a great time no matter what age you are. With a full arcade and an entire room of potential prizes, plus you can get half-priced games all day, every Wednesday. After playing your favorite arcade games, you can make it a complete afternoon or evening by stopping by the restaurant for dinner or bar for drinks and snacks.

6. One of our most visited "one-stop shops" is South Run RECenter. Not only does it feature a two-story fitness center with heated indoor pool and poolside spa, but the surrounding park offers soccer and baseball/softball fields, two tennis courts, two outdoor basketball courts, a field house with newly installed athletic turf playing surface, accessible playground, and an offleash dog area. In addition, the newly opened Go Ape ropes and ziplining course is another great feature of South Run Park. (7550 Reservation Dr., Springfield).

Most importantly, if there is ever anything my office can do for you, do not hesitate to ask. I have always agreed with Thomas Jefferson's notion that government closest to the people is best, and you cannot get much closer to the people than being a Supervisor. Our jobs are multi-faceted; I would go as far to say that somewhere around 80 percent of an individual's contact with government at any level is at our level. Whether it's land use, transportation, education, public safety, or tax related, my staff and I are always here to answer your questions. www.ConnectionNewspapers.com
