Local community helps global neighbors through Rotary Club of Reston's service project.

The Rotary Club of Reston participated in a global-reaching volunteer event coordinated by Rise Against Hunger to serve vulnerable families and individuals across the globe who have basic, immediate food needs. Held at Aldrin Elementary School, Reston on Sat., Jan. 11, approximately 50 Rotarians and their family members, South Lakes High School students and the local community packed 10,152 meal packets assembly-line fashion.

Mark Griffin, President of the Rotary Club of Reston, said, "This is our signature event." To fund it and other projects, the club solicited donations through Anython, a social fundraising website. The meal-packing event required funds to pay the cost of shipping and customs clearance for the containers of packed meals.

Alzina Fasadeja is a Community Engagement Coordinator with Rise Against Hunger. She ensured the ordering and delivery of the raw materials, equipment and supplies to the site and would facilitate the large group of volunteers to package the meals from filling, weighing and sealing to final boxing of the packs. The well-orchestrated event began shortly after 10 a.m. when the truck arrived. Volunteers unloaded the contents, including the 50-pound bags of rice, crumbled soy protein and dried vegetable flakes.

Reston Club Rotarian, Peter Murray of Oak Hill, brought his daughter Caroline, 6. "I'm trying to set a good example of helping fellow neighbors around the world," said Murray. Caroline applied shipping labels to the boxes. "I'm trying to be helpful," Caroline said. "The food will go in my boxes. My mom said the people could turn it into soup, people who do not have enough money to buy food." At the label station, Haley MacLean, 8, of Chantilly and her sister Marissa, 6, applied perishable date stickers to the packs. "We are doing this for people who don't have money for rice and vegetables," said Marissa. Nearby, Shruti Singh, 16, and brother Ishaan, 11, of Chantilly, demonstrated how to measure the dry ingredients. Fasadeja said one pack could serve up to six children when hydrated with water. Beginning with one bag, then the next and the next, teams worked non-stop until the last packet was filled. Afterward, Griffin said, "Believe it or not, we packed more than 10,000 meals in one hour, fifteen minutes. It was all hands on deck, and the Reston community came out and helped us with this fantastic project."

Rise Against Hunger is an international hunger relief organization that is driven by the vision of a world without Hunger. Since 1998, the organization has coordinated the distribution of food and life-saving aid to the world's most vulnerable in countries all over the world.

The organization's mission is to build awareness and drive a global commitment to ending Hunger by 2030.

Children in need at Hutchison Elementary School in Herndon will have warm and cozy feet for the New Year enabling them to comfortably learn, play and thrive with dignity and joy. Dranesville District Supervisor John W. Foust (D) and Arts Herndon worked in the days leading up to and over the winter holidays to support the school's shoe locker. The annual program is now in its 11th year.

According to Katie Aldridge Assistant Principal, Hutchison is a Title I federal program funded school, identified based on the percentage of students eligible for free or reduced-price meals. "We have approximately 1,100 students preschool through sixth grade in which more than 80 percent receive free or reduced-price meals," she said. With footwear being one of the most expensive items families have to purchase for their children, when parents have to decide whether precious income goes toward food, housing or shoes, children may come to school without appropriate footwear. On Jan. 4, Foust and Joanne Ormesher, CEO and President of Arts Herndon, visited the school to present the donation. Foust said he finds this day one of the most rewarding days of his job. "The children are so appreciative of the kindness from neighbors across Herndon, McLean and Great Falls. It warms my heart to see their smiles and know they will have new shoes or clothing this winter," he said.

The contribution from the communities totaled more than $1,200 in gift cards and monetary donations, as well as a selection of new shoes and boots. "Hutchison Elementary is incredibly grateful to Supervisor Foust, Arts Herndon and the community for their continued support through generous donations of gift cards and shoes. These donations go a long way to support our students and families who are in need," said vice principals Wilson and Aldridge in a statement.

Since 2009 and every winter holiday year after, Arts Herndon, formerly called the Council for the Arts of Herndon, has joined with Foust to gather contributions for children at Hutchison. According to Ormesher, "Hutchison Elementary School is a wonderful partner with Arts Herndon. "We enjoy a great relationship -I'm looking forward, once again, to some amazing art for the Pyramid show in April, helping by providing instruments and equipment and collaborating with Supervisor Foust's Shoe Drive. I look forward to more collaborative projects."

Town of Herndon Approves Short-Term Lodging

Protects neighborhood character through quantitative and operational restrictions.

By MERCIA HOBSON
THE CONNECTION

The Town of Herndon joined other local jurisdictions such as the City of Alexandria and the counties of Fairfax and Arlington, in approving Short-Term lodging regulations. During the final Herndon Town Council Public Session of 2019 held Dec. 10, in a vote of 6-0 Council took action and approved Zoning Text Amendment, ZOTA #18-03 to permit and establish limitations on Short-Term Rentals as an accessory use to the principal occupancy of a dwelling in the town.

During council level discussion before the vote, members asked for clarification on some of the proposed required provisions. Comment ranged from Operator requirement to add their unit to a Short-Term Registry in addition to obtaining the town's $200 Zoning Permit, the impact of Short-Term lodging as a possible affordable housing option, Short-Term Rentals providing a revenue stream for Operators, and the unexpected consequence of town staff being able to note and enforce housing occupancy policies through the Operator's submission of a site plan indicating the number and location of required parking spaces for the residence.

ZONING ADMINISTRATOR David Stromberg presented the report. "The purpose behind this amendment came about partially because of the rapid growth of sharing economy ... through platforms such as Airbnb and Vrbo (Vacation Rentals by Owner), as well as changes made by the General Assembly in 2017," said Stromberg. His PowerPoint presentation defined Short-Term Rental as: "A room or space that is or intended for occupancy for dwelling, sleeping, or lodging purposes, for a period of fewer than 30 consecutive days, in exchange for a charge for the occupancy. Short-Term Rental does not include accessory dwelling unit, bed and breakfast, boarding house, or motel."

However, according to Stromberg, if the application property was located within an area subject to additional restrictions pursuant to covenants, bylaws, condominiums acts, and such, the town Permit would not revoke or nullify limitations applicable to the property.

Stromberg discussed highlights of the proposed amendment. He focused on Short-Term Rental Regulations incorporating performance-type standards for the operation of the properties and registration/licensing requirements. He said that the Short-Term

Town of Herndon Councilmember Jennifer Baker.

Rental Operator must be a permanent resident of the property hosting the Short-Term Rental, and if the Operator was not the Owner, written consent from the Owner of the property must be obtained. According to the town's Department of Community Development Short-Term Rental Application as viewed online, "Any violation related to Short-Term Lodging is deemed to be a violation by both the Operator and the Owner."

As for occupancy, for a Short-Term Rental of the entire dwelling, meaning the whole house and the occupant Operator not present, such could be no more than 90 nights per calendar year. However, the 90-day limit did not apply when the Operator was present and renting out a portion of the dwelling; that number of nights remained unlimited.

According to Stromberg, the maximum number of lodgers per night could not exceed six adults including the residence's permanent occupants. Also, the maximum number of rental contracts per night was one, meaning all lodgers would be named on the same rental contract. In addition, Short-Term Rentals had to have a minimum of two designated parking spaces available for lodgers in single family-residences and one designated parking space for every condo/townhouse. Events and activities, other than those with the authorized lodgers, were prohibited during any Short-Term Rental period.

Town of Herndon Vice Mayor Sheila Olem.

Also, all advertisements had to include the Short-Term Rental Permit Number and identify the location of the required parking space(s).

Transient Occupancy Tax had to be collected for each rental contract and a monthly return filed even if no taxes were due. The Zoning Administrator's issuance of the Permit would not invalidate any other provision of federal, state, or local law, any restrictive covenant, or any property owners' association bylaw. As for safety, a working fire extinguisher and smoke/carbon monoxide detectors were required, as was the zoning Permit with the $200 fee for the two years. There would be an initial inspection and reinspection.

According to the town's website, to be compliant the effective date is Feb. 1, 2020, or risk a $500 penalty.

DURING QUESTIONS from Council, Jennifer Baker referenced a letter sent to Council from local real estate agents. Her understanding she said was the agents wrote that registering with the state was enough, and questioned why a town registry too. "Was that your understanding," Councilmember Baker said to Stromberg.

"When the state passed the legislation, it allowed locality to have Short-Term Registry, and as a locality, you can exercise that as the only thing you adopt, but you can also have zoning regulations for any accessory use just like we do for a home-based business," said Stromberg in reply.

Councilmember Pradip Dhakal asked for clarification on occupancy limitations, the maximum numbers of lodgers. "That maximum number of six (adults) actually combines with the number of residents already living in the house. For example, if two people live in the house, (and) they want to go for short-term rental, then they can only allow four more and those four more should come with one rental agreement," said Councilmember Dhakal.

"That's exactly correct," said Stromberg. The online application states, "The maximum number of lodgers per night may not exceed 6 adults, including permanent residents, except where the Virginia Uniform Statewide Building Code requires fewer occupants."

Councilmember Bill McKenna said, "In regards to how this could shape the town... We have been talking about affordable housing."

If you have a single room you want to rent out, this might help to defray that cost... The unintended consequences are since we have these parking ordinances... that we are putting in place, we will be able to identify places that are not in compliance. They are breaking the rules. We can determine what that is based upon the fact that they have people living there that maybe shouldn't be... based upon parking patterns," said Councilmember Bill McKenna.

"This (amendment) captions the essence, the spirit of what the town meant by this ordinance," said Councilmember del Aguila.

According to the online Summary of Town Council Actions, Mayor Lisa C. Merkel recused and disqualified herself from presiding and voting on the transaction. Mayor Merkel stated for the record that she owned a rental home in California with her husband and, although the matter might not have application solely to property or business in which she had a personal interest, she relinquished the gavel to Vice Mayor Sheila Olem and left the Council Chambers during proceedings.

VIEWPOINTS

Legislators Reflect on the First Days of the 2020 Session

—MERCIA HOBSON
PHOTOS VIA VIRGINIA GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Sen. Jennifer Boysko (D-33): My top priority is recovering the local funding for our regional transportation.

Today (*Monday - Jan. 13), I cast my first votes on the Senate Judiciary Committee and was able to vote for four life-saving bills to prevent gun violence: universal background checks, giving municipalities local control about allowing firearms in government buildings, a red flag law and restricting gun purchases to one gun a month. Last week I cast my first vote on the Senate Privilege and Elections Committee to make Virginia the 38th state to Ratify the ERA.

Del. Ibraheem Samirah (D-86)- introduced HB 152 Middle housing allowed on lots zoned for single-family use. “Middle housing is defined as two-family residential units, including duplexes, townhouses, cottages, and any similar structure. Such structures shall not require a special use permit or be subjected to any other local requirements beyond those imposed upon other authorized residential uses.” Samirah said, “Across the country, there is a shortage of affordable units that is putting a squeeze on working families and contributing to rises in rents for existing units...I will certainly get pushback for this”

Del. Mark Keam (D-35) HB 572 Distributed renewable energy; promotes the establishment thereof. Del. Keam said, “This bill would free up the solar market, not only for local governments... but also for residents, businesses, schools, institutions and non-profits that want to install solar for their own use... (It would) remove the rule that limits customers to installing only as big an array as would have served their needs in the past year ... Today, residential customers are penalized with so-called “standby charges” if they install more than 10 kilowatts of solar (enough for a larger home, or a modest home with electric vehicles) ... Many Virginians do not have access to solar at all, especially if they live in rental apartments or condominiums, because the building owners are not allowed to install solar panels and sell the output to tenants. My bill would make this legal.”

Del. David Bulova (D-37) introduced HB 1012 Early childhood care and education; establishment of system, licensure. “A child’s earliest experiences - and particularly those in the critical years between birth and age five - have lifelong impacts on their likelihood of success. However, according to statistics from the Virginia Department of Education, 40 percent of students entering kindergarten lack the key literacy, math and social emotional skills that predict success. Further, only 25 percent of Virginia’s early childhood programs that receive public funding participate in the state’s voluntary quality measurement system. I am pleased to be carrying House Bill 1012 on behalf of the Governor, which directs the Board of Education to consolidate and simplify Virginia’s early childhood education programs and create a uniform quality rating system for programs that accept public funding. This will improve quality, foster continuous improvement, and help parents better understand their options. As the parent of three children, this is very important to me. I have personally witnessed the difference that a quality pre-school program has made on my children.”

ASSEMBLY - WEEK ONE

Highlights of Some of the Bills Proposed

—MERCIA HOBSON

Del. Karrie Delaney (D-67) introduced HB 547 Virginia Energy and Economy Transition Council; established, report. The bill establishes the Virginia Energy and Economy Transition Council, consisting of 28 members, to develop plans to assist the Commonwealth in transitioning from the use of fossil fuel energy to renewable energy by 2050

Sen. Janet Howell (D-32), Chair Senate Finance and Appropriations, introduced SB 581 Minors; allowing access to firearms, Class 6 felony which provides that any person who recklessly leaves a loaded, unsecured firearm in such a manner as to endanger the life or limb of any person under the age of 18 is guilty of a Class 6 felony.

Sen. J. Chapman Peterson (D-34) introduced SB 26 Plastic bags; tax in the Chesapeake Bay Watershed which imposes a five-cent per bag tax on plastic bags provided to customers by certain retailers in localities located wholly within the Chesapeake Bay Watershed and directs revenues to be used to support the Chesapeake Bay Watershed Implementation Plan.

Del. Paul Krizek (D-44) introduced HB 15 Public school buses seat belts. The bill requires the Board of Education to make regulations to require each new public school bus purchased for the transportation of students to be equipped with a seat belt consisting of a lap belt and shoulder strap or harness in every seat. He also introduced HB 16 Safety belt system; all occupants of motor vehicles to utilize.

Beautiful, Bold, Soothing: Classic Blue

Dependable, stable and calming are the characteristic of the Color of the Year for 2020.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

Dependable, stable and calming are the characteristic of the Color of the Year for 2020. For the past 21 years, Pantone Color Institute has announced a “Color of the Year,” which the self-proclaimed authority on color says will be on trend during the year ahead. Local designers share how the color can be used in a home’s interior.

“Classic Blue is a beautiful and bold, yet soothing color reminiscent of the evening sky and the deep blue ocean,” said Keira St. Claire of Anthony Wilder Design/Build in Bethesda, Maryland. “Soft, rich and versatile, this color has the potential to inject creative confidence into your interiors.”

From an accent wall in a child’s bedroom, throw pillows or a kitchen backsplash to a home’s front door, mailbox or shutters, Allie Mann, designer and senior interiors specialist at Case Design/Remodeling suggests a variety of ways to use classic blue. “Perhaps as a ceiling color to draw your eye up or add interest,” she said. “As a powder room wall color or vanity, this bold color will work well in the tiniest of spaces including the back of a bookcase or built-in, a reading nook, a laundry room or mudroom or as cubbies.”

Whether bold or subtle, St. Claire said the design options are plentiful. “Opt to incorporate this color in your home with decorative accents like throw blankets, pillows, rugs, and artwork and even kitchenware to add a pop of color without feeling over-saturated,” she said. “Repurpose old pieces [or furniture]. A fresh blue lacquered coat of paint would magically transform an old chair or dresser into a unique statement piece.”

For the courageous homeowner, St. Claire suggests a bolder approach. “Paint your walls or refinish your kitchen or bathroom cabinets in blue or upholster a large piece of furniture like a sofa or armchair in blue,” she said. “Introduce other complementary colors like olive greens, golds or magenta to really offset the color and make a statement. Classic blue doesn’t have to be the only pop of color.”

Adding the color gradually is what Amanda Mertins of Patina Polished Living in Alexandria, Virginia suggests. “Infuse it into your home and fashion design in bits and pieces,” added “Maybe you paint an accent wall classic blue and let that be the focus. The color blue is kind to many colors and therefore easy to use in a room as an accent color. You can also mix varying shades of blue.”

“Classic blue is just that, it’s classic and timeless and can be weaved into many design schemes,” said Mann. “Do not be afraid of color.”

A Must Destination for Latino Fare

Restaurant Review: Pupusas Express in Herndon.

BY ALEXANDRA GREELEY
THE CONNECTION

Celebrate the New Year — 2020 AD — with yummy foods and all at very reasonable prices. You don't even have to travel out to the wide, open plains to get a real kick to your palate and a thumbs-up to your wallet: Pupusas Express in Herndon is a must destination, particularly if you love Latino fare.

(Note: It's located on a side street in a modest store front. Parking is somewhat limited ... but worth the escapade.)

Although inspired by Salvadoran recipes, many of the offerings will have a familiar ring. Take, for example, among the appetizers: yuca con chicharron, or deep-fried cubes of pork served with fried strips of yuca, makes a universal appearance in many Mexican, Tex-Mex, and South American restaurants that feature Honduran and Guatemalan dishes. The serving is ample for two, and though it is classified as an appetizer, it can well become a main course at lunch or dinner. Other appetizers include ceviche, fried plantains, chicken nachos and chicken quesadillas, and chips and guacamole.

For main fare, sample some of the pupusas, a traditional Salvadoran dish using two corn tortillas that sandwich a filling of your choice: shredded pork and beans with cheese; just cheese; just beans and cheese; and loroco flower (an edible flower from a Central American plant) and cheese, among others. Typically, the thick tortillas are corn, but the kitchen also offers a choice of flour tortillas.

Soups, as starters or main course offerings, include beef tripe stew; beef and beef bones cooked with yucca and other veggies; a seafood combo; and a country chicken soup. You might want to add on a salad as well, which is simply romaine lettuce and veggies topped with your choice of chicken or steak.

Traditional main dishes include several types of tacos; fajitas; beef stew; Salvadoran rib steak with sausages; chicken and shrimp; and a grilled chicken or steak burrito, among several other offerings.

But if you are a pupusa fan, order several with the fillings of your choice; these will provide an ample meal. Sides include rice, refried beans, tamales, fried tortillas with such add-ons as refried beans, grilled steak or chicken, and avocado.

Desserts: flan; tres leches cake; arroz con leche; and Salvadoran empanadas, or fried sweet plantains filled with corn flour and milk. But no meal here would be complete without its stunning hot drink, the atol de elote, or sweet corn drink—this is much like sipping on a creamy corn custard with bits of corn kernels inside. Order several for take-home enjoyment.

Pupusas Express, 720 Grant St., Herndon, 703-383-0025. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., closed Sundays. Order online or ask for delivery with a 4-mile radius. www.pupusasexpress.com.

Still Waiting for "Canswers"

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

As I half expected, with my oncologist out on vacation this week, he and the endocrinologist didn't speak. As a result, after sitting in the examining chair, the first question the doctor asks is "So you have thyroid cancer?" I snickered and said something like "Hopefully," before I began to elaborate. Though she had access to my medical records, I can't say she was prepped and ready for our appointment. As she listened to my story, I could she see was simultaneously trying to review my medical history on her computer. In fact, as I hemmed and hawed in response to some of her medical questions, I kept saying/pointing to her computer for her to get the proper answer.

Nevertheless, eventually we were able to move forward in the determination of exactly what kind of cancer I have: thyroid cancer or lung cancer - or both (it's possible, she said). To that end-result, the doctor performed a biopsy on my "Adam's Apple" tumor, as I call it. The biopsy I had two weeks prior was from a lymph node. The results from which caused my oncologist to call me with his "exciting news." Apparently, those results were not enough for the endocrinologist (who had never seen me before) to make a definitive judgment, so in her office, that day, this second biopsy was performed. Fine with me since a second biopsy from a different tumor is absolutely moving the ball forward, as if is so often said these days; I just hope it leads to a touchdown instead of another possible fumble.

For the last nearly 11 years, I've been diagnosed with non small cell lung cancer, stage IV. Now after two biopsies, not so much. Right now, the assessment of my cancer status is somewhere between a definite maybe and a confirmed I don't know.

Will I now know - in another week's time (when the results of this most recent biopsy are confirmed) whether my non small cell lung cancer is actually thyroid cancer or will there be additional biopsies, additional diagnostic scans, injections of isotopes, etc., to make a once-and-for-all confirmation of what the heck is going on (or has been going on) in my body? If so, it's been a long time coming. I first went to the Emergency Room Jan. 1, 2009 so it's sort of an anniversary of sorts as I write this column. I'd just as soon we get it right this time, if in fact it was ever wrong.

I have a few questions, some of which were answered by the endocrinologist. Yes, I can have two types of cancer. Could my lung cancer have changed to become thyroid cancer? No. And the underlying curiosity/question: During this cancer life that I have lived, I have been told - and seen multiple times on discharge-type paperwork I've received that I have "metastatic cancer" meaning that the cancer has moved. Moreover, when one considers the staging aspect, my cancer was stage IV. Stage IV means, among "relevancies" (like inoperable) that the cancer has moved from its "primary" location. I remember asking my oncologist where did my lung cancer come from (I'm a lifelong non-smoker with no cancer history in my immediate family). His answer, if I recall correctly, and I may not due to "chemo brain," a confirmed side effect of chemotherapy) was that he didn't know, and if I further recall correctly, he wasn't particularly interested in finding out and accordingly no additional tests were ordered. Perhaps we misunderstand the need to know now or misunderstood the answers we were given then (Feb., 2009). But as of this past Friday, Team Lourie is sort of wondering as was the endocrinologist.

As of this moment, our focus is on hearing back from the endocrinologist. Until then, we'll try to move forward. What's done is done and we'll hear back when we hear back. I have what I have (and have had what I've had) and right now, all we can do is wait.

That being said, we are having a little difficulty restraining ourselves. We can't get past the fact that my oncologist called us in the first place, and in the last place, if he wasn't so sure, why call us and get our collective hope sky high? Why go out on such a presumptive limb? In spite of that call, somehow, we have to internalize and compartmentalize and try to synthesize fact from fiction. So far, it's proving extremely difficult.
