More than a hundred people gathered in front of the National Rifle Association in Fairfax Monday evening, Jan. 20, to remember victims of gun violence at a candlelight vigil held after an annual gathering scheduled that afternoon at the state capitol in Richmond was canceled by organizers due to safety concerns law enforcement deemed credible.

Led by Martina Leinz, president of the Northern Virginia chapter of Brady, the vigil featured guest speakers — including 13 student gun violence prevention activists, who camped out overnight at the Pocahontas Building in Richmond inside the offices of Del. Daniel I. “Dan” Helmer (D-40) of both Fairfax and Prince William counties and Del. Chris L. Hurst (D-12) of Blacksburg.

shooting Aug. 26, 2015. The gunman was a disturbed former colleague who murdered news reporter Alison Parker and her cameraman, Adam Ward, during a live broadcast on location near Smith Mountain Lake.

Community activists of the Herndon-Reston Indivisible spell things out to motorists passing by the National Rifle Association at 11250 Waples Mill Road Jan. 20 at a vigil that was pushed out of Richmond by gun rights proponents Monday afternoon up to Fairfax for a candlelight remembrance of the more than 1,000 Virginians killed each year by bullets.

Speakers included Peter Read, the father of college student Mary Karen Read. She was one of 32 people killed in a mass shooting April 16, 2007 at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. She was a graduate of Annandale High School, according to her memorial page at weremember.vt.edu.

He said the forces of hope are winning over the forces of fear. Read also quoted the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and 1800s American Transcendentalist movement minister and abolitionist Theodore Parker: “Let us realize the arc of the moral universe is long, but it bends toward justice.”

OTHER SPEAKERS included Mariah Cooley, 18, a college freshman, who helped form a chapter of March For Our Lives in October at Howard University in Washington, D.C. She explained how gun violence disproportionately affects Americans in black communities.

“We are 25 times more likely to be shot by police,” Cooley says on a cold Monday evening. She and her fellow students say their chapter has about 50 members who help with voter registration drives and plan to participate in education outreach opportunities at neighboring high schools.

Leinz said about 30 gun violence prevention activists, including Northern Virginia lawmakers, did continue their 28-year tradition in small part and met on the steps of the state capitol Monday afternoon to pay their respects to the more than 1,000 Virginians who die each year from gun violence.

Their mass vigil was canceled to avoid a potential clash of hundreds of GVP activists — who have gathered each year in Richmond at the Bell Tower and statehouse — with the thousands of gun rights advocates, who showed up en masse Jan. 20 with their weapons.

Candlelight vigil speakers agreed forfeiting their annual MLK Day of service tradition was the right thing to do because no violence occurred that day at the state capitol.

Michael McCabe, 17, a senior at the James

W. Robinson Secondary School in Fairfax and Virginia Political Director of March For Our Lives, told participants about the sense of urgency he and his peers feel about gun violence.

HIS EXPERIENCE IN RICHMOND Jan. 20 was intense, he describes in an email Jan. 21:

“The gun lobby’s vocal, extremist minority was out in force, both inside and outside. The streets around us were flooded with AR-15s and AK-47s, and chants shook the building.

“In the morning, in particular, many opposition members came inside to lobby. Most of them only gave us furtive glances, but as they filled up the hallways and offices, we were physically confronted and accosted by a number of them — the people of color and women in our group were their choice target.

“When they tried to escalate and make things physical — standing uncomfortably close to us, pushing us, laying their hands on our shoulders — we ignored them and continued on with our business. When there was particular concern, we would all silently congregate around the individual being targeted, and put our bodies between them and the individual confronting them.

“Eventually, as the VCDL,” as in Virginia Citizens Defense League, “rally started and as legislators went across the street for caucuses and floor proceedings, the building emptied out, and there was no sound but the screaming outside.

“It was eerie, and a little bit terrifying,” McCabe recalls.

“We went to Richmond yesterday to reassert the democratic will of a vast majority of Virginians, and to act as a moral counterweight to the hate, divisiveness, and extremism in the streets below us,” he explains.

“Our goal was to stay safe and to make our presence felt, and we succeeded.” McCabe said his group made tremendous

Board of Supervisors Legislative Committee: Tracking items of interest to FX CO against Governor's proposed budget and specific legislation.

BY MERCIA HOBSON
THE CONNECTION

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors held their first 2020 Legislative Committee Meeting on Fri., Jan. 17 with James Walkinshaw, (D-Braddock), chairman of the committee, and Jeffrey McKay, (D) vice-chairman. During the nearly three-hour meeting, staff reported to the Legislative Committee items deemed important and specific to Fairfax County.

Staff began their presentation with items on Gov. Northam's proposed 2020-22 Biennial Budget and amendments to the 2018-20 budget," followed by House and Senate bills introduced to the Virginia General Assembly by the Fairfax County Delegation.

The meeting kicked off with Claudia Arko, Legislative Director reading the Committee's approved "Five Priority Principles For Reviewing Legislation: Adequately fund K-12 education; Restore funding to the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority; Build upon the successful enactment of significant transportation revenues by the 2013 General Assembly; Restore the funding partnership between the state and localities; and Preserve local government authority, particularly in taxation and land use; and allow greater flexibility in the administration of government."

Albena Assenova, Revenue Coordinator of Department of Management and Budget, had tracked items of interest to Fairfax County that were included in the budget as well as the impact of these relative to county and school budgets and shared updates with the Committee. "The governor's budget did not include across the board salary adjustments for constitutional officers and state-supported local employees...the governor included funding to fully reimburse the general registrar and electoral board salaries in the localities, and we think that this would result in an increase of $41,000," she said.

Assenova said, "The governor proposal included an increase in state cigarette tax rate from 30 cents per pack to 60 cents...allowing the Board of Supervisors to increase the cigarette tax and that would result in an increase of 5.4 million to Fairfax County...deposited in the general fund."

According to Assenova, in the judicial department, the County expected they might see an increase in four positions, given the governor's budget included funding for 59 additional positions for public defenders across the state. Still, it was unclear how many additional district court clerk positions. "We need more than 21 additional positions in the district court and more than 9 positions in the juvenile court," Assenova said. The budget did include one new general district court judgeship and one clerk support staff for Fairfax County, funding for local stormwater assistance, Virginia Housing Trust Fund and for the 2020 Presidential Primary, reimbursement to localities for their expenditures.

As for the school budget, Governor Northam's Proposed Budget targeted more than one-third of new spending on education. According to Assenova, the governor's budget includes a total of $69.2 million increase for fiscal year '21 compared to the current year budget...There were no teacher salary increase proposed for the first year of the biennium. Assenova reminded the supervisors that the County did receive state funding towards salary increases of teachers for fiscal year 2020, and the governor included another increase for fiscal year 2022. The proposed budget includes funding for additional counselors related to school safety at $2 million.

In the Human Services section of staff presentations, Ellen Volo, Deputy Legislative Director, Office of the County Executive said the governor's proposal would provide a 3 percent increase for state-supported local employees of social service departments, "We do think that we would get about receive $2.2 million for a 3 percent increase...if this component of the budget is passed, the County will receive $2.2 million in FY 2021," she said. There would be an approximate $400,000 match required.

Noelle Dominguez, Legislative Liaison, Department of Transportation, said the proposed budget did provide about $50 million more than the last projections for Northern Virginia Transportation funding due to legislation passed in the previous year related to sales of items to the internet as well as revenue from the I-81 bill last year that provided some funds back to Northern Virginia Transportation Authority.

The second item Dominguez presented had to do with regional transportation entity appointments. "Two years ago the General Assembly put language in the budget that allowed the Speaker of the House to appoint non-legislative members to the Northern Virginia Transportation Commission, the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority and the Potomac and Rappahannock Transportation Commission. Some members are currently not general assembly members," said Dominguez. The budget would remove the language for the next appointments; appointees would have to be from the General Assembly.

ONE ITEM concerned the Department of Motor Vehicles and the proposal for 100 more employees given the need for a REAL ID compliant driver's license. "About 1 million or at least more than a million people might get those licenses in Virginia... Proportionately nine of the ten busiest DMVs are in Northern Virginia, two I think are right in our area," Dominguez said.

Moving on, the Committee received details on three County Initiatives of Special Legislation that they had asked the Fairfax County Delegation to move through the General Assembly, among them SB-23 by Senator Adam Ebbin (D-30) that prohibits discrimination in employment and public accommodations based on sexual orientation or gender identity.

Next, the Committee received reports for continuous support of historical positions for legislation such as Courthouse Security Fees SB 149 (Howell); Equal Rights Amendment HJ 1 (Carroll Foy) (Passed House; SPE)/SJ 1 (McClellan) (Passed Senate; HPE) ratifies the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution of the United States that was proposed by Congress in 1972; Solar Freedom HB 572 (Keam) and others.

Referring to the four bills in front of the Legislative Committee that spoke to Solar Freedom, Vice Chair McKay said, "I suggest that we do an individual letter on these, what this means to Fairfax County; to come forward from the chairman at our next board meeting, so we can be on record specifically on this issue, and specifically putting it down in terms of what this means for Fairfax County and how far along we are in this. And this would put a halt if these are not approved."

Highlights of New Bills 2020 General Assembly

HB 1391 (Leftwich) (HCT)/SB 253 (Chafin) (SJUD) - Recommend oppose.

Chris Sigler, Assistant County Attorney: I think the issue with the bill is that our affordable housing, ADU program relies on things like affordable housing restrictions and covenants that don't appear in the Deed of Trust, but when there is a foreclosure we want those restrictions and covenants to be protected by the Trustee and honored...I think this bill may say they might not have to do that, and that gives us great concern for the ADU Program.

HB 1534 (Samirah) (HCCT)/SB 649 (Boysko) (Senate Floor)-Recommend support.

Chris Sigler, Assistant County Attorney: It allows Fairfax County, to enter into agreements with towns either wholly or partially within its boundaries for the collection and enforcement of property taxes. So we would be able to collect those by agreement with Herndon.

The People's Business

BY KENNETH R. "KEN" PLUM
STATE DELEGATE (D-36)

The General Assembly has shifted into high gear to get through its agenda of thousands of bills in sixty days. The old saying that you cannot be in two places at one time is disproven every day as the 140 members of the House and Senate scurry among subcommittees and standing committees on which they serve and the subcommittees and committees before which they have to present their bills. By strategically placing an assistant or intern in one meeting while the member moves quickly among several meetings, it may even appear that a member is in more than even two places at one time. The legislature is not a place for lengthy contemplation but rather is a place for action. After all, we ran on a platform of what we promised we were going to do, and the legislative session is the time of action to deliver on our promises.

With such a "meat grinder" approach can we trust the outcome of a legislative session? Consider that in order for a bill to become a law it must meet the approval of a subcommittee and full committee, passage twice in the full house on two different days, the same process in the other house of the legislature, and the signature of the governor.

All that time there are hundreds of advocates, constituents, lobbyists and others looking over your shoulder and providing comments on what you are doing. Bills get intense scrutiny before they are passed. It is easier to describe how a bill does not make it than it is to tell how a bill becomes a law. Fewer than half the bills introduced become law.

Election outcomes do matter for to change the outcome of debate on important issues it may be easier to change the people in the legislature through the ballot box than it is to change the minds of incumbent legislators. A case in point is ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment that was debated for decades but approved within a week in a General Assembly made up of new members supporting the rights of women. Those same new members, joining the progressives who were already there, have even now approved sweeping new common-sense gun safety laws such as my universal background check bill that had been defeated for two decades by previous members of a subcommittee of the House. Laws that put barriers in the way of women in making choices concerning their own reproductive health are being repealed. Laws that disproportionately affected people of color are being repealed. The criminal justice system is undergoing a major shift to make it work more fairly for all people. Challenges to the environment are being met with meaningful legislation.

It is impossible to list in a short column the thousands of bills before the legislature. You can however review the full list with descriptions and status at lis.virginia.gov and for the first time this year you can see livestreaming of most full and subcommittee meetings at virginiageneralassembly.gov/house/chamber/chamberstream and virginia-senate.granicus.com/ViewPublisher.php?view\_id=3. And you can visit the Capitol in Richmond; all meetings are open to the public. Some say the process is like making sausage. The important thing is it is doing the people's business.

After Virginia Ratification Of Equal Rights Amendment Beyer: 'Next Steps Depend On Congress'

Rep. Don Beyer (D-8), a longtime supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), and cosponsor of legislation to extend the deadline for ratification, issued the following statement after the Virginia General Assembly voted to ratify the ERA: "Today, Virginia became the 38th state to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment, and I could not be more proud. Ratification of the ERA is long overdue, but it is wonderful that Virginia took the historic step today which brought the Amendment across the three-fourths threshold necessary for ratification.

Rep. Don Beyer (D-8)

"I congratulate and applaud everyone in the Virginia General Assembly, including Senator McClellan, Senator Locke, and Delegate Carroll Foy for making this long-overdue legislation a top priority, and seeing it through successfully.

"The recent legal opinion issued by the Trump Administration via the Justice Department makes it clear that the next steps depend on Congress. I am determined to do everything I can in Congress to help pave the way for the final ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. Equality, justice, and history demand nothing less."

Beyer is a cosponsor of House legislation to extend the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, sponsored by Rep. Jackie Speier (D-CA). The issue of the deadline was raised most recently by a Trump Administration legal opinion arguing that the ERA could not be ratified because of the expiration of the original deadline. Beyer is also a cosponsor of new Equal Rights Amendment legislation introduced by Rep. Carolyn Maloney (D-NY).

Beyer's most recent Annual Women's Conference and Forum focused specifically on the need to pass the Equal Rights Amendment, with a panel discussion that featured speakers from VA Ratify ERA (Virginia's campaign to ratify the ERA) and the ERA Coalition.

Wexton: 'A Historic Moment'

In response to the final passage of the Equal Rights Amendment in the Virginia General Assembly, Rep. Jennifer Wexton (D-10) issued the following statement: "Today, Virginia sent a powerful message to the rest of the country — that 'Equal Justice Under Law' is a constitutional right for women.

"I was a sponsor of the Equal Rights Amendment during my time in Richmond, and I am proud of my former colleagues in Richmond who made this issue a priority in this year's session.

"This is a historic moment nearly one hundred years in the making. Thanks to the tireless work of so many trailblazers and activists over the years, women — finally — are one step closer to being included in our nation's founding document."

Cleaning Up Park on MLK Day of Service

More than 30 volunteers bundled up and braved the cold to help Lake Accotink Park on this year's Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service.

Friends of Lake Accotink Park (FLAP) sponsored the volunteer clean-up on Monday, Jan. 20, 2020, at the park's marina. FLAP board members Jim Hickey and Dave Gibson met the volunteers, provided trash bags and led the group to a successful day of giving back and making a difference.

Volunteers filled dozens of trash bags with garbage collected in the park.

FLAP holds monthly volunteer clean-ups at several Lake Accotink Park locations. For more information about FLAP events, visit Friends of Lake Accotink Park. For a complete listing of volunteer opportunities in Fairfax County parks, visit the Park Authority volunteer page.

Tax Season, Tax Scams

The most common tricks and have to avoid them.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE CONNECTION

Tax season and tax scams often go hand-in-hand. Scammers will try to steal tax documents, money and even a person's identity and seniors are often their prime target.

"Con artists will target anyone, but older adults are targeted at higher rates because criminals go where the money is, and older adults have the majority of wealth because of their years of hard work and savings," said Amy Nofziger, Director of Fraud Victim Support at the AARP. "Plus, older adults have not grown up with the technology of today, which has grown so fast."

"Older Adults are often targets because they are going through life transitions and scammers can be very convincing," added Rachel Coates, Director of the Arlington County Agency on Aging. "Awareness is critical."

While numerous scams abound, there are some that are currently more prevalent than others. "The complaints we hear...is the IRS phone scam," said Stacy Northrop of the Fairfax County Office of Public Affairs. "This is where the caller will state that a warrant of arrest has been issued for the victim."

"The crook will claim that the recipient in trouble for not paying enough in taxes or not filing properly," added Eric Friedman, Director of the Montgomery County Office of Consumer Protection. "Crooks instill a sense of fear and urgency, then they'll trick the consumer into wiring money or paying over the phone with a prepaid gift card. Consumers make quick decisions that they wouldn't make if there wasn't a sense of urgency."

Some of the features commonly thought to be safeguards may not be so, says Friedman. "You cannot trust Caller ID to tell you who's really on the other end of the phone," he said. "Caller ID is of no value because crooks can say anything over the phone. They can have IRS as the name that appears to make it look official."

Telephone calls and emails are two warning signs of a scam.

"This is not how the government actually operates," said Nofziger of AARP. "You would always first receive a letter from the IRS, and they would never threaten you with arrest or use foul language. If you receive this type of call, hang up the phone."

Fraudulent emails and websites can be created to look as though they are from a government agency.

"If anyone calls, mails, emails or texts you asking for money, that is a red flag. If they ask you for personal information such as your Medicare number, Social Security number or financial information, it's a huge red flag."

Victim Support at the AARP

"Many older adults are unaware that criminals are lurking on what we consider innocent websites or apps, like 'Words with Friends,' Instagram or other social media platforms," said Nofziger. "This is why education and warning people about the red flags is crucial."

Identify theft is also prevalent during tax season, says Friedman of Montgomery County. "Crooks will steal someone's social security number and file [taxes] really early, like in January or February, before the consumer files their return," he said. "When the consumer really does file, the IRS rejects it. When the problem is reported, the IRS will have to investigate which takes months to resolve, which is not good if you're getting a refund."

Scammers seek to obtain money from a victim often in the form of wire transfers or cash, says Nofziger. "It's important to know the red flags of scams," she said. "Even though the scam tactics might vary, the criminals' demands never change. They want money or personal information. So if anyone calls, mails, emails or texts you asking for money, that is a red flag. If they ask you for personal information such as your Medicare number, Social Security number or financial information, it's a huge red flag."

Bald Eagle Released at Burke Lake Park

BY MIKE SALMON
THE CONNECTION

In December, a bald eagle was found along a trail near Burke Lake Park and it was suffering from injuries that kept it from flying. The police were called to the scene and an officer from the Fairfax County Animal Protection Police, donned some heavy-duty gloves and picked up the eagle, and contacted the veterinarians.

From there, Dr. Belinda Burwell of Wildlife Veterinary Care ran some tests and found the male eagle had lead poisoning and a shoulder injury that left him unable to fly. He was taken to Wildlife Veterinary Care located in Boyce, Va. to be rehabilitated.

A few weeks later, on a sunny Sunday in January where the temperatures were unseasonably warm, the eagle was released back to the wild at Burke Lake, where the Fairfax County Park Authority believes there are two other eagles living at the lake. Dr. Burwell facilitated the release, with Fairfax County Police Officers, residents, and Supervisor Pat Herrity (R-Springfield) looking on. "It was an incredible experience to see this majestic bird returned to its home at Burke Lake Park," Herrity said.

The eagle has landed with Dr. Belinda Burwell, and after a few weeks of rehab, she's releasing it back to the wild at Burke Lake.

Burke Dentist Saves Auto Crash Victim

Life-saving continuing education.

On Aug. 1, 2017, the ambiance of Dr. Pamela Marzban's dental practice was shattered by the sound of a serious auto accident just outside the building. Had it not been for the ACLS training Dr. Marzban's team received as part of their Continuing Education, the outcome of a serious accident would have been very different.

A truck had jumped a curb and hit a light pole in the parking lot; a second car had pulled over and a man—who turned out to be active military—was pulling the victim out of the wreck. Dr. Marzban and an assistant rushed outside.

"We called 911," according to Dr. Marzban. "The man was turning purple and gasping, then he passed out and his pulse stopped."

The soldier began compression, while Dr. Marzban began advanced airway clearing as an AED unit charged. The AED read "shock advised," so she opened the victim's shirt and shocked him as instructed.

The victim gasped loudly, then crashed again...no pulse. The AED advised another shock, which brought him back. By that time, EMS arrived and took over the life-saving work.

"Had it not been for the advanced training we received through DOCS Education, my team and I would not have known what to do," says Marzban. "I'm extremely proud of my team and the soldier I will never know."

"Some time after the accident, the man whose life we had saved walked into our office to thank us," says Dr. Marzban.

"Thank you for not dying!" she responded.

Dr. Marzban and her staff have taken an ACLS Recertification course offered by DOCS Education five times.

After witnessing the benefits of sedation dentistry in treating high anxiety patients, Drs. Michael Silverman and Anthony Feck partnered to establish DOCS Education in 1999. Since then, DOCS courses have earned the distinction of featuring America's Best Dental Faculty, with instructors renowned for their interactive, hands-on teaching pedagogy. DOCS Education offers a variety of training options, from adult and pediatric oral sedation and IV sedation to advanced life support and emergency airway management courses, along with regular seminars across the nation. More than 24,000 dentists nationwide have benefited from DOCS training, enabling them to provide a higher standard of care to over two million patients...and counting.

Legislative Committee Tracks Priority Bills

SB 631 (Surovell) (SLG)-Recommend support.

The County supports expanded local authority but has concerns about its ability to implement this authority.

Chris Sigler, Assistant County Attorney: "(May allow by ordinance) the County to fine people who have essentially stolen or removed the shopping cart from the shop that it belongs to and can fine them up to $500... There's concern that there are shopping carts that end up in our creeks."

Supervisor Rodney L. Lusk (D- Lee): "I'm not sure if the punishment fits the crime...I have some issues that the $500 penalty will probably be assessed to someone who is homeless."

Supervisor Dalia Palchik (D-Providence): "This is penalizing poverty. This is how my family shopped when we first moved here."

Supervisor John Foust (D- Dranesville): "If this bill is passed, we do not have to implement any fine at all...I support it...Fining someone $500 or any amount would be inappropriate, but putting the burden on the store owner to retrieve these and get them back is reasonable."

HB 812 (Ward) (HPS)/SB 69 (Locke) (Passed Senate)-Recommend support.

The bill would reinstate one handgun a month.

SB 297 (Favola) (SRSS)-Recommend support.

Creates the Virginia Sexual and Domestic Violence Prevention Fund-Recommend support.

Sue Rowland, State Legislative Consultant, SR Consulting, Inc.: "This is a good bill; we recommend you support... The idea is that there would be funding for local programs such as ours to focus on prevention prior to the support that we give when people have had a bad experience."

HB 151 (Samirah) (HCCT)—Recommend oppose.

Provides that all localities shall allow for the development and use of one accessory dwelling unit (ADU) per single-family dwelling (SFD), notwithstanding any contrary provision of zoning ordinance.

Chris Sigler, Assistant County Attorney: "I think the issue we have with this bill is that we are eroding our land use authority number one. And number two, I think this bill is driving at the affordability crisis... to resolve some of the affordability issues...Right now, our staff is looking at our accessory dwelling unit policy and will be coming back to you...This bill is a mandate that goes a little bit too far."

Clarification

Regarding our article "All-Night Graduation Parties Are Coming Fast" (Burke Connection, January 23-29) the parents involved in fundraising wanted us to clarify the following point: The St. James is not charging $65,000, that's the price of the whole evening including food and games. They helped with the venue and it isn't enough without everyone's help to raise the money needed to make our childrens' last year in school before starting their next chapter in their lives memorable.

Can You Spell Thyroidectomy? (Or Ice Cream?)

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

I couldn't before, Mr. Rogers, but now I can. And I even know what it means, which 10 days ago, in my neighborhood, I wouldn't have had a clue. Now, not only do I have a clue, I have a date for surgery: Jan. 27. Moreover, in addition to a date (and I don't mean my wife, Dina), I have a time and a place, a list of pre-surgical dos and don'ts, and a few items to buy: a post-surgical healing ointment and a special scrub to help minimize the risk of infection. And of course, I've been advised to wear loose-fitting clothing, perhaps a button down cardigan will do. If all goes well, I'll be home in my jammies around supper time when my recovery begins. Details of which are still a bit sketchy. I suppose I'll have to 'recover' to find out.

Let me amend that last sentence: I'll be on a soft-food diet for five days. What might not jump at you is that I don't eat many soft foods (M&Ms melting in one's mouth instead of their hands likely doesn't count). More significantly and quite out of my ordinary, my wife, Dina will be managing and controlling my menu. So far that menu includes eggs, pudding, apple sauce; all good but her last two items: spinach and kale, not good at all. I imagine I'll survive the surgery, but given how rarely Dina and have shared meals together over the years, I may not survive the recovery. And though her heart and head might be in the right place, I'm afraid my knife and fork won't be. During the best of times, I'm challenging to feed. After my surgery, I'm likely going to be at my worst. Although I certainly don't look it, food has always been the bane of my existence.

But at that post-surgical point, aren't I entitled? I mean, when I was a little boy and had my tonsils removed, I remember being given ice cream to eat - in bed. That had never happened before - or since, quite frankly. Soft foods. What's softer than ice cream? Why should I be deprived? I have two types of cancer. Yet so far, I don't see ice cream on the list. Maybe Dina's waiting for confirmation from the surgeon that cold foods are just as soft as hot. If true, I think I'm going to need that in ALL CAPS to convince my wife to give in to my indulgences. After all, one's thyroid gland isn't extracted every day so shouldn't I scream (perhaps whisper would be advisable) for ice cream? Wouldn't it soothe the savage beast that I might be after surgery? Presumably there will be some pain or discomfort and/or side effects from prescription medications I'm obliged to take so why not humor me; I like to laugh.

Except there's really nothing funny about surgery, other than the old joke: it's minor surgery when it's someone else, when it's me, it's major. So even though I've been told on relatively good authority that a thyroidectomy is not exactly major surgery, it's still me that's being anesthetized and operated on for four hours. And though I'd rather it would be somebody else, I don't see how that would help remove my thyroid gland which apparently has spread cancer to my neck and a lymph node. I guess if it has to come out, it might as well come out of me. And then we can get on to the business of learning whether I have one cancer or two and perhaps get an updated assessment of my life expectancy. If I had my druthers, I'd just as soon have only one cancer. Two is too much.

That being said/vented, right now, I just want to wake up after surgery and get home. And when I get there, either that night or for breakfast the next day, there better be a pint or two of ice cream with my name on it. I think it's only fair, don't you?
