Spring Break? Please Take a Break

Back to school just in time — for Spring Break?

BY KEN MOORE
POTOMAC ALMANAC

The school system opened just in time -- for students to take Spring Break. "I think it created more consternation in the community than almost anything other than just reopening the schools in general," said Potomac's school board member Patricia O'Neill, at last week's Board of Education meeting, Thursday, March 11.

"We have many lucky parents who are taking their children to Florida, to Utah for skiing, a staff member wrote about going to visit her elderly mother in Massachusetts," she said. "From the emails we received, there are a lot of people who are moving about the country in general."

MCPS Spring Break is scheduled for March 29 - April 5. Students have been returning to hybrid and in-person learning in phases starting March 1.

The Board of Education also received "a huge influx of emails" from families and from staff, O'Neill said, "very alarmed" that many families will be travelling. Some families even suggested that the school system reclose the two weeks after, said O'Neill.

"You are on an honor system and we encourage you to educate your children about being honorable, good citizens. So, if you do travel, use common sense, and if you do, you should follow the guidance to have the testing and the quarantining when you come back.

Vice President Karla Silvestre asked everyone to be cautious, to avoid high risk areas, and keep doing the right thing with masking and social distancing, "no matter where you plan to spend it, hopefully at home," even if you're staying here in Maryland or Montgomery County, "We know the drill now, right?" said Silvestre.

Board President Brenda Wolff was straightforward.

"I think people have to accept responsibility for their health and the health of their community and that's the only way to look at it," said Wolff.

BEFORE SCHOOLS REOPENED, the school system declared an expectation that people will not travel for spring break in order to prevent getting and spreading Covid.

"Together, we all share an interest in and responsibility for keeping our schools and offices as safe and healthy as possible for all staff and students," according to a letter MCPS sent to all students and families. "The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the Maryland Department of Health (MDH) discourage nonessential travel, asking residents to travel only for essential or emergency reasons, and to restrict or delay travel for tourism or vacation purposes."

"Students who choose to travel outside of Maryland and its adjacent jurisdictions (Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Washington, D.C.) should take a COVID-19 test within 72 hours of returning and self-quarantine while awaiting results," according to the school system.

"We understand that some families already have plans to leave the area during spring break and that this safety guidance may disrupt their plans. However, we believe taking precautions like this can reduce and limit the possible spread of COVID-19 in our schools. We appreciate your cooperation and we encourage you to spend spring break at home as requested by County Executive Marc Elrich."

Positive Covid Test at Bells Mill

Parents of Bells Mill Elementary School students received a letter from Dr. Stacy L. Smith, Principal, that between March 8 and March 9, 2021, someone who was present in the school tested positive for Covid-19. "Following Montgomery County Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) guidelines, we notified individuals who were known to have direct contact with this individual and have advised them to quarantine for 14 days," said the letter of notification.

Per current DHHS guidance and the contact tracing process, unless parents are notified directly, their student does not need to be tested or quarantined because they were not in direct contact with the person who tested positive. Direct contact is defined as being within approximately 6 feet of an individual with Covid-19 for a prolonged period of time (e.g., being in the same office or classroom as a positive and symptomatic individual); or having direct contact with the infectious secretions from an individual with Covid-19 (e.g., being coughed on).

Parents are asked to monitor their children for symptoms of Covid-19, such as fever, cough and shortness of breath. "If your child develops any of these symptoms, do not send them to school. You should contact your healthcare provider immediately for advice. Please contact the school if your child develops Covid-19-like symptoms. Students who develop symptoms, or test positive for Covid-19, will not be able to return to the building until they are medically cleared."

Council Comments on the Montgomery County Budget

The Montgomery County Council issued the following statement after County Executive Marc Elrich transmitted his recommendations for the County's $6 billion Fiscal Year 2022 Recommended Operating Budget to the Council:

This past year has been unlike any other and the County Executive's recommended operating budget provides a strong starting point for the Council's work on the final County budget for fiscal year 2022. The Council appreciates the hard work by the County Executive and his staff for putting together a budget of this scale and complexity during an unprecedented time.

Now, the Council begins its process of carefully evaluating the County services that are vital to relief efforts for our residents and investing in essential services that will spur economic recovery while maintaining reserves and holding the line on taxes. Some of the shared priorities in the recommended operating budget include: fully funding the budgets for Montgomery County Public Schools and Montgomery College, making significant investments in affordable housing and early care and education, reimagining public safety by enhancing mental health services and crisis response, supporting safety net services and ramping up funding for

The Council's public hearings on the operating budget are scheduled for April 6, 7 and 8. Those interested in testifying at the public hearings can sign up online starting March 19 at www.montgomerycountymd.gov/COUNCIL/PHSignUp.html or by calling 240-777-7803. The Council also encourages residents to use #MoCoBudget2022 to communicate their views on the budget via social media.

the Earned Income Tax Credit that will put more money in the pockets of our residents.

We recognize what a difficult year this has been for business owners, public health professionals and all of our residents. We will be taking all of this into consideration these next two months, as we finalize a budget that will make the investments necessary to restore our public health and put our County on the road to financial recovery.

This budget funds many of the needs in our community, thanks in part to the more than $203.7 million coming to Montgomery County Government through the American Rescue Plan, with another $100 million going to Montgomery County municipalities. The Council is incredibly grateful to our federal delegation for working so closely with us this

Creating Healthy Mother-Daughter Relationships

Local authors and therapists offer thoughts and guidance.

BY MARILYN CAMPBELL
THE ALMANAC

As a middle school student, Sofie Jacobs was at times mocked by other girls for her fastidious study habits and the good grades she received as a result. She joined an after-school cheerleading and dance class, but was taunted because of her lack of talent. At the time she didn't want to discuss the pain she felt from the rejection by peers, who she now labels as "mean girls." Initially, Sofie rebuffed her mother Meredith's efforts to console her. There was one place, however, where she felt comfortable expressing her feelings without the shame or humiliation: her journals.

"I remember so clearly the night she came home, ran to her room, and slammed the door," said her mother, Meredith. "I could hear her crying, but she didn't want to open the door or talk to me. Finally, she opened the door and handed me the journal where she had poured everything onto the page. After I read it, we were able to talk about it."

"Writing in my journal took away any worries about my mom's immediate reactions," said Sofie, now 24. "It also let me work out my thoughts and have space for myself. I've always thought the most important thing in writing is the eraser. You rarely risk saying something you wish you hadn't said when you're writing."

Journaling became part of the foundation of Meredith's relationship with Sofie.

"If we have a relationship with our children that is based on respect and trust and is non-judgmental, ours will be the voice they hear, that resonates. We will be the ones they turn to when they aren't certain."

— Meredith Jacobs

Meredith and Sofie Jacobs of North Potomac use journaling as a way to maintain a healthy relationship.

To help others, they created an interactive journal called, "Just Between Us: Mother & Daughter Journal" that is designed to inspire conversations and healthy communication. It will be released next month and is an updated version of their first book, which they published ten years ago.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER relationships can be among the most difficult to navigate and maintain, say mental health professionals. Patterns range from an unhealthy closeness to a distant connection that is devoid of emotional intimacy, affecting mental and emotional health.

Enmeshed, is the way that Springfield psychotherapist Joyce Marter describes relationships that lack boundaries. "This is when the mother and daughter have a symbiotic relationship that doesn't allow for healthy separation and independence," she said. "They simply are too close. This can make it difficult for the daughter to develop a healthy sense of self as her own individual person or to separate and individuate into an independent adult."

At the opposite end of the relationship spectrum is a relationship that is characterized by control and disconnection. "The mother and daughter are not emotionally close," said Marter. "This can happen when they haven't had a proper bonding experience, haven't spent enough time together, or don't relate or connect on a deeper emotional level. It can also happen when a mother is too authoritarian and controlling and there isn't a sense of respect or trust for the daughter as a capable person."

An ideal relationship has a healthy balance of attachment and healthy separation, advises Marter. "The daughter feels loved, understood, respected, valued and supported by the mother and also feels free to be her own person with her own life and interests," she said.

It is possible to repair what is broken, cultivate what doesn't exist and maintain what is working, says Tori Stone, PhD, Assistant Professor, Counseling at George Mason University. Stone said there are many ways to develop healthy mother-daughter relationships, particularly at an early age.

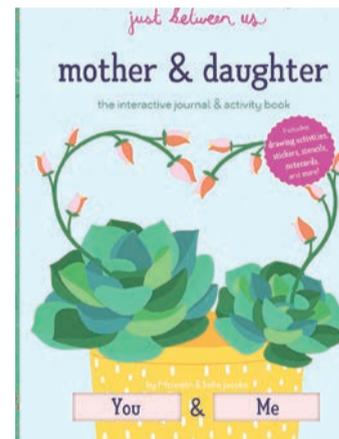

"Try to be emotionally present when you are with your daughter and listen when she is ready to talk," she said. "Resist the impulse to provide advice or solutions. You can ask, 'Is there anything I can do to help?'"

During teen and preteen years, mother-daughter relationships can be difficult to navigate. "Give choices whenever possible Set expectations [and] reasonable limits that have reasonable end dates," said Stone. "Let your daughter know the consequence in advance. For example, cell phones are a privilege, if you do not follow through on responsibilities, you will lose your phone privilege."

Securing and harmonious relationships requires parental guidance, but also space to flourish, says Stone. "Detaching with love does not mean we don't care about our loved ones," she said. "Rather, it means having a healthy separation in relationships where you do not try and control. We must separate enough to allow them to make their own mistakes so they can learn. They need to be free to be their authentic selves instead of living as we hope or expect them to be."

Infusing an element of light-heartedness into a mother-daughter relationship is an important element that the Jacobs express in their books.

"We thought we could help other mothers and daughters have the kind of conversations we had through our journal, but insert the humor that Sofie and I share to make it fun," said Meredith. "There is a lot of trust that is built through those silly moments that help form the foundation for when it's time to have harder conversations."

"Just Between Us: Mother & Daughter Journal" will be released next month and is designed to strengthen mother-daughter relationships.

VIETNAM VETERANS DAY MARCH 29

The Montgomery County Commission on Veterans Affairs is honoring dozens of Montgomery County Vietnam War and Vietnam Era veterans with detailed tributes displayed on a special website created by the commission.

The tribute honors the veterans leading up to National Vietnam War Veterans Day, which is observed every year on March 29. The special day recognizes U.S. Armed Forces and Uniformed Services personnel with active duty service between Nov. 1, 1955 and May 15, 1975, regardless of location of service.

The Montgomery Commission on Veterans Affairs website includes photos, military histories and later personal updates of Vietnam veterans who are either originally from the County or who lived in Montgomery after their service. The site can be viewed at www.montgomerycountymd.gov/vietnamvetday.

Anyone who would like to share their story or the story of a friend or family member for the website tribute can e-mail Carly.Clem@montgomerycountymd.gov and provide the following information: Servicemember or veteran's name. Your name (if submitting on behalf of a servicemember or veteran) and your relationship to the individual. Branch of service and rank.

Years of service. Brief narrative of their service. Live in or once lived in Montgomery County. If you attended high school here, name school from where you graduated. Photo(s) (preferably one during service time and one present day).

SUMMER CAMPS REGISTRATION BEGINS
Montgomery County Recreation

(MCR) and Montgomery Parks are hosting safe, fun and exciting camps that promote children's active and healthy lifestyles this summer. AT THE TIME of the school board meeting on March 11, 11,811 school staff had completed the vaccination process; 25,319 requested.

"This is a very fluid number," said Helen Nixon, Associate Superintendent, Human Resources and Development.

"The BOE did send a letter to the governor asking for our teachers and all our employees to be considered essential workers," said Wolff. "We also sent a letter to our county executive as well."

O'Neill asked how many employees have declined to be vaccinated. Nixon said 1,289 responded to the question worded, "wouldn't require MCPS to assist them in securing a vaccine." Staff who were vaccinated elsewhere would also be included in that number.

O'Neill asked for the school system to make its own public service announcement encouraging all employees to be vaccinated for Covid. "It's so vital and important to our school community" and to Montgomery County, she said.

"I like the idea," said Monifa McKnight.

THE BOARD NAMED McKnight as the Interim and Acting School Superintendent when Dr. Jack Smith retires on June 1, 2021.

Dr. Monifa McKnight currently serves as Deputy Superintendent in MCPS. Prior to this role, she served as the Chief School Management and Instructional Leadership Officer for Howard County Public Schools.

"I thank you for your five years of service to Montgomery County. We will really miss you," said O'Neill to Smith. "This has been an unbelievable year, unlike any other I've known in my 22 years on the Board, or my 12 years as a MCPS parent."

"Dr. McKnight, I know that you are an incredibly able, capable woman and I know you have been involved in every aspect of MCPS," she said.

"She brings people along with her who want to work with her and want to do the right kinds of things," said Judith Docca (District One).

The appointment of Dr. McKnight as acting/interim superintendent is through June 30, 2022, which will provide time for the Board of Education to conduct a national search for the next superintendent.

The Board expects to issue a Request for Proposal in the spring to identify an executive search firm by early summer 2021. Once the firm is identified, it will work with the board to develop a timeline for the superintendent search process.

A Shot in the Arm

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Literally and figuratively. After a year or so living the pandemic life; staying at home/quarantining, wearing a mask, social distancing, washing my hands and watching the death toll from covid-19 top 500,000 - in the United States alone, I recently became of the lucky ones to have been injected with a vaccine. I have to wait another two weeks to get my second shot. No worries. I have some protection now, but according to Dr. Fauci, the second/follow up shot increases one's protection "tenfold." It wouldn't exactly be foolish to throw caution to the wind - and reintegrate back into society (depending upon where you live), but it seems premature and irresponsible to risk being stupid when in another two weeks, I could be smart.

My wife, Dina, also recently shot, has been very smart all along, especially as it concerns my actual standing in the world. (Moreover, she has no plans to step out until she receives her second shot.) Belonging in the special comorbidity group; presumably, a 66-year old with cancer/weakened immune system, I presented a very appealing target for the virus. I mean, my immune system is already compromised and with occasional breathing problems side-effected by my thyroid cancer medication, I was potentially easy pickins. As such, Dina refused to give me passage out of our house. Victor Laszlow had a better chance of leaving Casablanca than I did of leaving Burtonsville.

But soon it appears I will have my own "letters of transit." However, Dina has already informed me that I won't be returning to my former errand-running ways. She intends to continue ordering food online from the grocery store - and then drive to pick it up contact-less in their parking lot. Actually, I might be allowed to go that far since I'd be remaining in the car and still wearing a mask while popping the trunk and keeping my distance as the groceries are loaded into the boot. We'll see; we're still negotiating. But definitely not until I receive my second shot. In the interim, I imagine our lives will change very little. Thanks to the vaccine though, there is hope that once again, I'll be able to interact with people, places and things.

But return I shall and relieved I will be. However, having lung cancer, and/or thyroid cancer which has metastasized to the lungs, in the midst of a pandemic with a virus that often locates in the lungs and creates breathing/pulmonary problems - even with the two shots, is still as scary and risky as it gets, especially if you're of a certain age as I am. In two weeks, I'll have received my booster shot, and I'll have a lot less to worry about, thankfully. And for a cancer patient still undergoing treatment with a less than a "normal" life expectancy anticipated, being fully vaccinated is as good as it gets. And I suppose I can live with that, live being the operative word.

Having cancer, irrespective of the type, your diagnosis/prognosis, is pretty damn difficult. It impacts every facet of your life. The thought (your reality) is never far from your conscious mind. And once you become a member of this less than exclusive club (more every day, unfortunately), a club that nobody wants to join, there are more risks to your life than you ever imagined, and many more for which you have absolutely no awareness. Having an external complication, like a virus, with variants that seem to spread rapidly; which have now infected over 30,000,000 Americans, and an infection for which there's no specific cure, and seems to have its greatest negative impact on people exactly like me (age and disease) is about as foreboding as it could possibly be. And with no place to hide, other than in your own home - with no visitors allowed, a precaution most recommended (to invoke the syntax of Hercule Poirot, "the greatest detective in the world") has made many of us impatient and perhaps a bit tense. I can, as many healthcare professionals have said, almost see the light. Hopefully, it will be July 4th of this year as the President has suggested and not July 4th of next year.
