Arlington Doctor Supplied Oxycodone Ring

A Front Royal woman pleaded guilty today to being the ringleader of a decade-long oxycodone distribution network, sourcing high-dosage oxycodone pills from a doctor in Arlington.

According to court documents, Candie Marie Calix, 40, nominally worked as an office manager for a physician in Arlington, referred to in court records as Doctor-1. Between 2012 and 2022, Doctor-1 prescribed Calix nearly 40,000 oxycodone 30-mg pills and more than 9,000 oxycodone 15-mg pills. Doctor-1 also prescribed similar quantities of oxycodone 30-mg and 15-mg pills to Calix's relatives, including her mother, grandparents, great-grandmother, brother, and husband. These quantities were far in excess of therapeutic doses, and Calix personally distributed or directed others to distribute most of the pills that Doctor-1 prescribed to Calix and her family members.

Calix functioned as the gatekeeper to Doctor-1; she recruited individuals she knew from around Front Royal to be "patients" of Doctor-1 and obtain large quantities of oxycodone. These "patients," in turn, typically kicked back the oxycodone 30-mg pills they were prescribed to Calix to redistribute, and kept the oxycodone 15-mg pills for their own use. Calix recruited at least 12 individuals to be "patients" of Doctor-1.

Calix and her co-conspirators used coded language to refer to the pills they distributed, for example, referring to oxycodone 30-mg pills as "tickets," "blueberries," or "muffins." The co-conspirators typically sold oxycodone 30-mg pills at a cost of $25 per pill, and over the course of the conspiracy, generated at least $5,000 per month in profits.

Two of Calix's co-conspirators, Kendall Sovereign, 56, and Jessica Talbott, 35, both of Front Royal, also pleaded guilty to their involvement in the conspiracy.

Silver Line Transferred to Metro's Control

Passenger service date to be determined by Metro's Board of Directors.

BY MERCIA HOBSON
THE CONNECTION

After years of delays, at 6 a.m. on June 23, Metro formally took over control of the Phase 2 Dulles Extension project of the Silver Line from the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority. In a news release, Metro Board Chairman Paul C. Smedberg said, "We are one step closer to extending our service offerings to customers that have long-awaited access to Metro."

The conditional milestone is known as the Operational Readiness Date. While there is still more work to do, achieving this milestone towards opening the Silver Line Extension will create jobs, improve economic vitality, and increase ridership for the region. We appreciate the support and understanding of our jurisdictional partners and customers as we work towards project completion," Smedberg said.

When Phase 2 opens to ridership, on a date still to be determined, the extension will provide a direct transit connection to Washington Dulles International Airport and points in Loudoun County with the terminus at Ashburn.

The six new rail stations are Reston Town Center, Herndon, Innovation Center, Washington Dulles International Airport, Loudoun Gateway, and Ashburn. The Extension also includes a new, 90-acre rail yard with a storage capacity for 168 railcars and new maintenance facilities to service, inspect, and clean the trains, according to Metro.

"[The] announcement brings the National Capital Region a big step closer to new rail service which will connect existing Metro stations with Dulles Airport and Loudoun County," said U.S. Representatives Don Beyer (D-8th District), Gerry Connolly (D-11th District), and Jennifer Wexton (D-10th District), who represent Northern Virginia in the U.S. House in a joint release. "We are encouraged by this news, and will continue to seek safe, reliable Metro service that benefits as many of our constituents as possible."

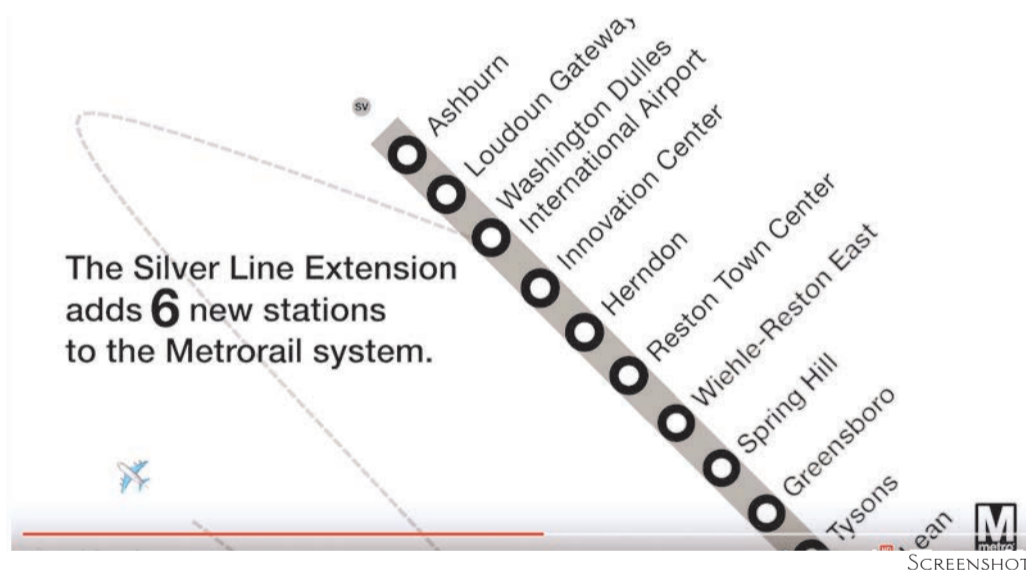

After the most recently announced Silver Line Phase 2 delay on March 29, 2022, Wexton, Beyer, and Connolly wrote a letter to John Potter, president and chief executive officer of the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority, and William Sudow, chairperson, Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority. In the letter, they expressed concern about the additional delay as revenue service was planned to start before June 30, 2022.

The Members of Congress wrote, "During recent testimony before the House Committee on Oversight and Reform, Mr. Wiedefeld stated that his goal was to begin revenue service on Phase 2 before the end of Metro's fiscal year and Mr. Wiedefeld's retirement on June 30, 2022, but, with this update, that goal is unfortunately no longer attainable."

There is still important work to do before the Silver Line Extension (Phase 2) can be opened for passenger service, including readiness testing and workforce training.

Supervisor Walter Alcorn (D-Hunter Mill) said that Phase 2 of the Silver Line "should be open and running in 2-3 months." There are no guarantees, however. The opening date for Phase 2 of the Silver Line passenger service will follow action by Metro's Board of Directors on the final acceptance of the line by MWAA.

Phase 1 of the new Silver Line opened for revenue service over eight years ago, on August 26, 2014, after a ribbon-cutting ceremony. Local, county, and state elected officials and dignitaries boarded a train that departed the Wiehle-Reston East Metro station, the present western terminus of the line.

"This is a major milestone having the Metro transferred and testing now beginning," said Sheila Olem, mayor of the Town of Herndon. "I look forward to the opportunity to ride the train as I did in Phase 1, this time when the Silver Line Extension opens."

Police Advise: Avoid, Deny, Defend in Active Attacks

Would you know how to respond in critical minutes?

BY SUSAN LAUME
THE CONNECTION

Recent news reports of active shooting events in distant locations, like Uvalde Texas and Buffalo New York, and in our own backyard, at Tysons Corner Center, have some wondering when it will stop.

Calling to mind the tragic deaths in earlier Virginia incidents at VA Tech, Virginia Beach municipal building, and at various locations around the beltway by two snipers, you also might well ask, "What should I do to survive in an active shooter situation?"

Fairfax County police have advice and training for the public to help people prepare, as best one can, for a traumatic active attacker event. Training provided on June 25th, at West Springfield District Government Building, by MPO Anthony Capizzi, from the police department's crime prevention unit, taught attendees how to respond to an active situation, learning from tragedies that happened before.

While almost all past mass killing incidents involve guns, use of knives and cars in such attacks have led law enforcement to use the term "active attacker" instead of "active shooter." The FBI and DHS still refer to "active shooters."

Most attackers, 95 percent, are male of any age, set on avenging a perceived wrong done to them in a location they have some connection with; many broadcast their plans in advance on social media or by other means. The majority of incidents occur at commercial establishments, about 50 percent; about 25 percent at schools, and 15 percent outdoors, according to police.

Regardless of the method or location, police urge people who find themselves in such situations to "avoid, deny, and defend," previously called "run, hide, fight," as the FBI still refers to the strategy.

❖ AVOID means run away from the area if you can to avoid the killer. This might include using an exit other than the one you used to enter an area.

❖ DENY means precluding the killer the ability to see or get to you. It may be possible to hide and be undetectable, or to block access to your location by locking or tying doors, creating barriers or changing your position to remain unseen.

❖ DEFEND is the action you might need to take if "avoid" or "deny" are not possible. It means to take aggressive action to defend yourself using whatever materials may be at hand, grabbing the gun, or fighting the attacker. Police advise that you do not attempt to "play dead" as this is not likely to be convincing and is more likely to make you an easy target.

While police cannot prepare you for every situation possible, they say using the "Avoid/Deny/Defend" strategy provides your best chance of survival until they arrive on the scene. Police response time, at a national average of three minutes from a 911 call, while short, means you may need to rely on your own preparation and deliberations for critical moments. Training yourself to make note of possible exits when you enter any area, giving prior consideration to defense, and keeping "avoid/deny/defend" strategy training in mind, could help save your life.

Capizzi also says it's important to come to your action decision quickly, to fight the denial phase; if you hear gunshots — react — don't wait to convince yourself gun fire is happening.

Should the worst happen and you or someone around you is wounded, the Fairfax County Police training includes instruction on how to stop bleeding, which saves lives. The instruction includes applying pressure to and packing wounds, and pos-

Only after eliminating the continued threat will police then assist with treatment of the wounded, and evacuation of the injured.

Statistically, public active shooter events are very unusual according to FBI documents, referring to them as "low probability, high impact events." For example in 2006, the average school in the U.S. could expect to see a current or former student involved in a homicide on its grounds every 13,000 years.

The next training for citizen response to active attackers at West Springfield District Station will be July 16, 9 a.m. until noon. Contact MPO Capizzi at anthony.capizzi@fairfaxcounty.gov to register for a limited number of seats.

NOVA Parks Seeks Input into 5 Year Strategic Plan

Park users invited to comment before July 8.

By SUSAN LAUME
THE CONNECTION

With 34 parks and 12,335 acres spread over six jurisdictions in Alexandria, Arlington, Falls Church, Fairfax, and Loudoun cities and counties, NOVA Parks serves many northern Virginia people with a variety of park amenities. Whether you look for ornamental gardens, historical sites, golf, waterparks, biking, kayaking, cabins in the woods, holiday light shows, or simply the pleasure of enjoying time in nature along its many hiking trails, you can find a special place in the NOVA Parks system. Founded as a conservation organization over sixty years ago in 1959, the organization has acquired and now boasts ownership of “more parkland adjacent to the rivers of the region than any other public lands organization.” It generates 88% of its operating revenues from park programs and events.

Touching the lives of Northern Virginia’s 2.5 million people is a challenge and a responsibility, and NOVA Parks continues to reassess their approaches and look at “conserving natural and historic resources, making parks more central to the community’s life, and funding all of these vital community needs.”

As part of that on-going reassessment, NOVA Parks is asking the public’s help to provide feedback on their draft 2023-2027 Strategic Plan. The plan addresses five “pil-

Executive Director Paul Gilbert says, “A strategic plan sets the course for any organization. I am very excited about what our new strategic direction will mean for Northern Virginia. NOVA Parks can be a leader in a number of important areas. We can address the causes of climate change by focusing on how to make our lands absorb more carbon and how to reduce our carbon footprint. everyone. We have a whole section of the plan called ‘Belonging.’ We can become even more welcoming by being thoughtful about creating community partnerships and developing programs and facilities that are culturally relevant to different groups. This is a plan that will make our region better and, in the process, make our world a little better.”

The online survey asks only a few minutes of your time to give input, by answering two questions related to each of the five pillars, and a couple overall questions, ranking objectives within each area. Visit <https://www.novaparks.com/StrategicPlan> to review the plan and provide feedback by July 8.

OPINION

U.S. Supreme Court Threatens Women's Fundamental Rights

BY SEN. SCOTT SUROVELL

Last week the U.S. Supreme Court issued three very important decisions: Carson v. Maikín, New York Rifle & Pistol Assn v. Bruen and Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Org. (Dobbs). The Carson case relates to taxpayer funding of religious schools. NY Rifle affects firearm violence prevention.

Dobbs eviscerates a woman's right to make her own healthcare decisions. This column addresses the Dobbs decision. I will discuss NY Rifle next week, Carson and the Governor's budget amendments in future columns.

The Dobbs case overruled the landmark Roe v. Wade decision which has been the law of the land since Jan. 22, 1973. That decision held that the right to privacy, embodied in various amendments in the U.S. Constitution's Bill of Rights, gave women a constitutional right to make their own healthcare decisions. Justice Samuel Alito wrote that the Roe case was wrongly decided and should no longer stand.

The Dobbs decision does not change Virginia law -- yet. In Virginia, abortion is legal and in 2020 we even repealed a series of restrictions on a woman's right to make this decision, limits put in place between 2010 and 2019, including requiring an external ultrasound and a picture of the ultrasound's results given to the woman, requiring a 24-hour wait after obtaining the ultrasound, the provision of medically inaccurate information, and revoking a mandate to the Board of Health to unnecessarily regulate abortion clinics like hospitals.

Today, a Virginia woman may obtain an abortion in the state without restriction during her pregnancy's first two trimesters or during the third trimester if three medical doctors certify that the pregnancy will lead to the woman's death or "substantially and irretrievably impair the mental or physical health of the woman."

After the Supreme Court's decision, Virginia Governor Glenn Youngkin announced that he will propose legislation to ban all abortions after the fifteenth week of pregnancy. Another Senator has announced that he will introduce legislation to state that life begins at conception. These bills will not pass the current Senate Education and Health Committee, but after the 2023 elections, if the membership and control of the State Senate changes, Virginia's laws could be significantly modified or repealed.

I support a woman's right to make her own healthcare decisions. In 2020, I even introduced legislation to codify Roe v. Wade, to put that policy into Virginia's laws. Senator Dick Saslaw introduced legislation to start the process of placing Roe in the Constitution of Virginia. We withdrew our own bills at the request of several abortion rights organizations who did not want the legislation to be presented for various reasons. The current composition of the General Assembly along with Governor Youngkin's views make it impossible to pass these bills today, but that could change after 2023 or 2025 when we could try again.

I cannot convey how disturbed I am by the Supreme Court's decisions. While past precedents have fallen before, the Court has never taken away a constitutional right. Americans rely on the Court to follow our Constitution and the law through reliance upon precedent and incremental change. Last week, the Court inappropriately behaved like a legislature.

Five of the six justices who signed on to Dobbs and the other two opinions were nominated by presidents who did not win the American popular vote. All six told Congress that Roe was settled precedent in their confirmation hearings. One was confirmed after the U. S. Senate refused to hold confirmation hearings six months before an election. Three were confirmed after the Republican majority changed internal rules and exempted Supreme Court nominations from the filibuster. All were confirmed by U. S. Senators representing a minority of America's population.

The Court's legitimacy derives from the public's trust, that the public believes that the court bases its opinions on the law and not on a judge's personal opinions or religious beliefs. This week's decisions have eviscerated public confidence and will further inflame the divisions that have plagued our country for the last five years.

I will do everything I can to protect the ability of Virginia's women to have access to contraception and make healthcare decisions without government interference.

All Aboard!

DELEGATE KENNETH R. "KEN" PLUM

The latest word is that the second phase of the Metrorail Silver Line from the Wiehle-Reston East Station to the Route 606 Station in Loudoun County will open this fall. It was originally slated to open in 2018, but a number of hiccups related to construction delayed the project. Many of us will breathe a deep sigh of relief for the completion of a project that has taken decades of our effort. The work will have been worth it. As the Washington Post editorialized in 2005, the Silver Line will "stitch together an incongruent edge city whose future is integral to the region's."

My direct involvement with the project that for some periods of time became an almost full-time job began in 1989 when the Transportation Committee of the Reston Association asked me to meet with them to advise them of my thoughts on how the long-term challenges of getting in and out of Reston might be solved. I was a long-term believer that mass transit had to be part of the answer with my belief that an extension of Metrorail was the best solution for Reston and for Dulles Airport. I knew that the Committee chaired by urban planner and transportation expert Patty Nicoson and membership including transportation planning expert Joe Stowers would not be satisfied with a too-generalized and simplistic answer. I advised them that I was going to establish an organization made up of community and business leaders with whom I would work to advocate for an extension of Metrorail in the Dulles Corridor. The organization became the Dulles Corridor Rail Association (DCRA)—I chaired its Board and Patty Nicoson became Executive Director for nearly two decades until the project was approved and underway.

I anticipate that the ride on the Silver Line will be a smooth one extending from Ashburn in Loudoun County past Dulles Airport, Reston and Tysons Corner into the District of Columbia and Maryland with no need to get out of your seat. The years getting official approv-

SoberRide for July 4

A local nonprofit organization will offer free safe rides to would-be drunk drivers throughout the Washington-metropolitan area during next week's Independence Day holiday.

The nonprofit Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP) will offer the 2022 Independence Day SoberRide program beginning at 4 p.m. on Monday, July 4 (Independence Day) and operate until 4 a.m. on Tuesday, July 5 as a way to keep local roads safe from impaired drivers during this traditionally high-risk holiday.

During this twelve-hour period, area residents age 21 and older celebrating with alcohol may download the Lyft app to their phones, then enter the SoberRide code in the app's "Payment" tab (under the "Add Lyft Pass" option) to receive their no-cost (up to $15) safe transportation home.

WRAP's 2022 Independence Day SoberRide® promo code will be posted at 3 p.m. on Monday, July 4 on www.SoberRide.com

During the 2019 Independence Day period (COVID-19 prevented the last two year's full offerings), 817 people in the Washington-metropolitan area used WRAP's SoberRide® program rather than possibly driving home impaired. The charity also offers its SoberRide® program on St. Patrick's Day, Cinco de Mayo, Halloween and the winter holidays.

SoberRide® is offered throughout Lyft's Washington D.C. coverage area which includes all or parts of: the District of Columbia; the Maryland counties of Montgomery and Prince George's; and the Northern Virginia counties of Arlington, Fairfax, Loudoun and Prince William and towns therein plus the cities of Alexandria, Fairfax, Falls Church, Manassas and Manassas Park.

Sponsors of WRAP's 2022 Independence Day SoberRide® campaign include the 395 Express Lanes, Amazon, Anheuser-Busch, Beer Institute, Brown-Forman, Constellation Brands, District of Columbia Association of Beverage Alcohol Wholesalers, Enterprise Rent-A-Car, Foundation of Advancing Alcohol Responsibility, Giant Food, Glory Days Grill, Kendall-Jackson, Lyft, Molson Coors Beverage Company, New Belgium Brewing, Restaurant Association Metropolitan Washington, and the Washington Area New Automobile Dealers Association.

Since 1991, WRAP's SoberRide® program has provided 82,300 free safe rides home to would-be drunk drivers in the Greater Washington area.

Celebrating Vienna's Pets

From poodles to parakeets, Vienna's loyal companions provide unconditional love in both good times and bad. That's why starting the week of July 4, Mayor Linda Colbert will recognize a Vienna pet of the week via the Town's social media channels.

"Studies show that pets can help decrease stress in their human companions, improve heart health and even help children with their emotional and social skills," Colbert said. "Whether you own a pet or not, these stories will surely make your day."

Submitting your pet for consideration as the Mayor's Pet of the Week is easy! Just email Mayor Colbert: Mayor@vienna.gov with the following:

- ❖ Your pet's name
- ❖ Type of pet (please be specific)
- ❖ Three reasons why your animal should be the Mayor's Pet of the Week - A photo of your pet either alone or pictured with you or your family.

Each Monday at noon beginning July 4, the Mayor's Pet of the Week will be posted on the Town's Instagram, Facebook, and Twitter pages (@TownofViennaVA). Then, beginning in August, Mayor Colbert will select one of the weekly winners for recognition as the Mayor's Pet of the Month in the Vienna Voice newsletter.

als and agreed-upon details were more like a roller coaster ride, however. DCRA had a professional survey conducted that showed 93 percent support for the project, but the federal administration at the time was backing away from costly mass transit ventures. The late Senator John Warner and then Governor Tim Kaine and Congressman Frank Wolfe provided critical and timely support. DCRA organized dozens of citizens, businesses, and organizations in a "Dulles Rail Now" advocacy effort. There were debates on alignment, over or under in Tysons Corner, financing alternatives, and other issues. Supervision for building the project was assigned to the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority (MWAA) as it had experience with large project management with the airport expansions. Metro that operates the entire subway and bus system for the region will operate the extension as an integral part of the system.

With the opening of Phase One of the Silver Line and contracts approved for Phase Two, DCRA recognized that its mission had been accomplished, and it merged with the Northern Virginia Transportation Alliance in 2017. I am relieved that we seem to be past the delays. See you on board Metro in the near future!

INPUT NEEDED ON MCC DRAFT STRATEGIC PLAN

The McLean Community Center is seeking public input as it works to finalize the MCC Draft Strategic Plan. The plan is based on public feedback MCC has gathered from district residents over several months spanning 2021-2022. MCC is located at 1234 Ingleside Ave. MCC has hired consultants AMS Planning & Research to help craft the plan. AMS has extensive nationwide experience in strategic research for community centers and nonprofit organizations that are similar in scope to MCC. The goal is to design an effective strategic plan that will yield significant impact over the next three to five years. The next step is to invite residents of Dranesville Small District 1A, who pay a real estate surcharge to support the center, and other patrons and stakeholders to again express their ideas about the future programming and strategic priorities of the center. An in-person public hearing on the MCC Draft Strategic Plan will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 6, at the center. AMS staff will present the draft plan to attendees and record their responses. The draft plan is posted on the center's website, www.mcleancenter.org, and printed copies are available at the center's welcome desk.

Being Naïve Is Just Plain Stupid

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

Even though I was unexpectedly diagnosed at age 54 and a half with stage IV, non-small cell lung cancer, I never felt compelled to look for additional trouble by ever having an age-recommended colonoscopy – until recently, that is. I figured what I didn't know wouldn't hurt me or rather, I had already been hurt enough (my pre-existing cancer diagnosis). As such, I didn't consider that cancer has its own set of rules and presuming otherwise is not a prudent course of action – or in my case, inaction. Incorrectly, I also thought that having one cancer diagnosis would somehow mitigate against having another cancer. I must have thought that there was some logic to the process. I should have known better. Cancer and logic aren't usually a part of the same diagnosis/prognosis.

But I rationalized that since I was regularly being CT-scanned, MRI'd, bone-scanned and P.E.T. scanned, I thought – wrongly, that if there was cancer to be found in my body somewhere, all these scans would find it, even if they weren't exactly looking for it. I mean, who's having more diagnostic scans than a "terminal" cancer patient undergoing active treatment? Given how much diagnostic process I was already enduring, I didn't/never really grasped the importance of doing more. I figured I was already doing more than my share. Not that share has anything to do with fending off cancer. Nevertheless, it made for plausible deniability and so it wasn't until nearly age 67, almost 13 and half years after my initial lung cancer diagnosis in 2009, that I acted my age and not my shoe size. I scheduled the procedure and am relieved to report that all's well that ends well, except that I still have a "terminal" form of papillary thyroid cancer. 'Terminal' in that the medication I'm taking, and which is working to keep me stable, has a limited shelf life: three years, expiring Sept. 2023-ish. So either I'll need new medicine or a stronger shelf.

But I can't worry about any of that. I must live my life like everyday matters and that means getting scanned/examined like my life depends on it because you know what? It just might. And in the process of paying attention/following doctor's orders/age-related protocols, I just might improve my quality of life by lifting that bale and toeing that line because it's probably not going to happen by itself. I'm a humanities person, not a science person and so there are lots of substance that is lost on me. Certainly, I can keep my eye on the ball but it's the ball I'm sort of paying attention to. The problem is? There's a lot more than the ball I need to be paying attention to. Fortunately, delaying this most recent procedure hasn't complicated my life. In a way, it's sort of unencumbered me. I'm less afraid now that the next procedure will result in something bad because I've been through one that wasn't. Not that I was paranoid, but when you've been diagnosed with cancer at a relatively young/unexpected age (54 for me), your entire orientation, how you think and feel, how you prioritize and analyze and theorize changes. On the one hand, you live and learn, on the other you value each day as if it might be your last. And when an oncologist tells you your prognosis is "terminal," as mine told me in late February 2009, you take him at his word, that the next day really could be your last.

But that was a long time ago and somehow, I'm still alive. And though I've been given no assurances of anything living forward, I am grateful for each day and will try to care for myself in a way that doesn't hasten my demise but rather prevents it. And if that means having colonoscopies annually so, be it. It's a small price to pay/minor inconvenience to endure to take advantage of the blessings I've been given.
