Fairfax Ballet Names Artistic Director

Andrea Cook will serve as The Fairfax Ballet Company's new artistic director. One of the longest running ballet companies in Northern Virginia, the Fairfax Ballet Company is a 501(c)(3) non-profit performing arts organization.

Cook, a Fairfax County native and Chantilly High School alum, attended Point Park University, where she received a BFA in Dance Performance, with a concentration in jazz and was awarded Outstanding Graduating Senior for her class. She then moved to New York City to pursue dance performance and teaching opportunities.

During her time in New York City, Cook danced with PushFactor Dance Company and was a founding member of the Undertoe Dance Project, worked for the New York International Ballet Competition, and taught dance classes at the New York Kids Club. She also served on the faculty of and was a judge for DanzJam Conventions in the New England area. Cook is currently the academy administrator at the Fairfax Academy for Communications and the Arts, after directing its dance program for 9 years. As the dance director, she received a Wolf Trap Grant for High School Performing Arts Teachers, which allowed her students to learn and perform two works by Paul Taylor.

Cook's choreography has been featured on numerous companies and as part of choreography festivals in Pittsburgh, New York City, and the Washington D.C. area, in addition to local theatre companies. She has been nominated for numerous WATCH awards and won for Best Choreography for Reston Community Player's production of "Curtains." Cook joined the NCA Cappies Gala team to direct and choreograph the Cappies Gala Dancers at the Kennedy Center each June. She has worked with dancers at various youth companies including setting both ballet and contemporary works for the Fairfax Ballet Company.

"Having worked with the dancers of the Fairfax Ballet Company for the past decade, I am excited to be taking on a new role that will allow me to continue to stretch myself and the dancers artistically," Cook said. "I am thrilled to be part of a program that creates a wonderful environment for dancers to learn, grow, and discover who they are as artists and human beings."

Target employees Kathy, Adrienne and Lisa accept a plaque from Sheriff Kincaid, thanking the retailer and their associates for many years of support for the Shop with The Sheriff program.

he first day of school can be as anxiety-filled as it is a time of excitement and anticipation. The scales, however, tend to tip towards the negative when you are a student living not in your own home, but in a family shelter instead. The baggage you bring with you to the classroom is a lot more than a backpack filled with school supplies and you often haven't had the pleasure and privilege of loading up on new clothing and paraphernalia to bolster your confidence as you walk through those school front doors.

For the last 27 years, the Fairfax County Sheriff's Department has hosted its annual "Shopping with the Sheriff" at Target to give those children the basics — and a few extras, too — to alleviate some of those anxieties and help get them off to a great start for the school year.

"This is one of the highlights of what we get to do," said Fairfax County Sheriff Stacey Kincaid. "It's a joyful part of our summer."

Kincaid praised the county's efforts to end and prevent homelessness, but says that until all children are living in safe and permanent housing, the "Sheriff's Office will continue to do its best to make their lives a little bit easier."

THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE partners each year with Target and other sponsors, and Almost ready – one last photo before the kids and their sheriff's office partners hit the aisles for some serious shopping.

Sometimes the electronic gadgetry is almost as fun as shopping for new stuff. Jayron took his time scanning every item in his cart, while his shopping buddy, 2nd Lt. Chris Atkins tracked their spending. "We're doing great!" said Atkins, "let's keep going, my friend!"

solicits donations to provide each child with $250 in gift cards to purchase clothing, undergarments, shoes, accessories, and school supplies.

This year's shopping extravaganza took place on Aug. 14, with about 40 children from the Katherine K. Hanley, Patrick Henry and Next Steps family shelters participating.

"Some of the kids were so excited, they didn't really sleep last night," reported Joe Meyer, the executive director and CEO of Reston-based Shelter House, the nonprofit that operates both the Hanley and the Henry shelters. Meyer said that the result of Shopping with the Sheriff was more than just the children "getting some new things. It's also about helping maintain their dignity and their pride."

Before starting their shopping spree, the kids, aged 5 and up, were treated to a Paisano's pizza party at the Fairfax County court house where they engaged in some fun activities that helped them get acquainted with the deputy or the support staff member who would be their shopping partner.

Lunch and introductions over, it was time to shop. Escorted by official vehicles, some flashing lights, and a quick sound of a horn, or two, the yellow school bus carrying the young shoppers arrived at Target in Burke, where more Sheriff's Office staff, Target representatives, and some VIPs were waiting to welcome them. Del. Eileen Filler-Corn (D-41) was on hand, as was Braddock District Supervisor John Cook.

A few welcoming speeches and instructions later, and well-organized chaos ensued as the shopping teams grabbed carts and began making their selections.

The law enforcement personnel who accept Shop with the Sheriff duties all volunteer their time, but Kincaid said it's not too difficult to get willing participants from among her officers and staff.

"I am so glad to do this," said PFC Kanli. It was obvious that she was enjoying helping 9 year-old Kayden choose his new duds. "These kids deserve our help to make things just a little bit better for them."

Kincaid also sees this event as an opportunity to build relationships with these children, some of whom may have had previous interactions with law enforcement during difficult circumstances. The Sheriff hopes that spending this time together will encourage the youngsters to "see us as being here to help them, as people they can turn to."

Celebrating Women's Equality

By Judy Helein and Anu Sahai Co-Presidents League of Women Voters of the Fairfax Area jail time, physical assaults by the police and spectators (at demonstrations), as well as insults, during the struggle for voting rights. This struggle spanned more than seven decades. However, it was not until 1973 that Congress by resolution designated this day as "Women's Equality

The League of Women Voters was founded in 1920 by Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, during its convention which was held six months before the ratification. She was a women's rights activist and a suffragist, who stated correctly that the vote was the "emblem of equality" for all citizens, women and men.

The League of Women Voters of the Fairfax Area (LWVFA) celebrates the fact that in 2018 there are 38 female legislators in the General Assembly as compared to 24 in 2015, an increase of 14. Although the LWVFA does not endorse any candidates, we recognize this historical achievement. The LWVFA is a non-partisan organization. It provides voter services such as voter registration for first time voters, updating registration for people who have moved or had name changes and citizen education. LWVFA also advocates and takes action at the state and local levels for particular policies that are in the public interest such as Election Reform, Voting Rights, Redistricting Reform, Firearms Safety, Transportation and Behavioral Health. To learn more about the League of Women Voters of the Fairfax Area, please go to its website, www.lwv-fairfax.org.

their future has to be one of the cruelest acts of the federal government ever and is completely abhorrent to the moral standards of most Americans.

At the same time we condemn these evil acts of a misdirected federal agency and work in every way in the courts and through the ballot box to get these policies changed, it is important that the subject of isolating children be viewed in its larger context.

As more is learned about the traumatic effects separation and isolation can have on the future emotional mental stability, health, and behavior of children, the necessity of reforming the way that our juvenile justice system functions becomes obvious.

Information gathered by The Commonwealth Institute shows that almost three-quarters of youth who have been held in the state's juvenile prisons are convicted of another crime within three years of release. Data shows the longer a child is held in a facility the more likely it is they will commit a crime. (www.thecommonwealthinstitute.org)

I recently talked with Valerie Slater who heads RISE for Youth: United Families, Safe Communities on my television show "Virginia Report." Listen to that conversation on YouTube. She points parities in Virginia's juvenile system are higher than the national average. In Virginia, black youth are seven times more likely to be incarcerated than their white peers, and youth of Latino heritage are out that racial dis-

2 times more likely to be incarcerated than their white peers. Likewise, the higher the rate of poverty in their community the more likely children are to be sent to youth prisons.

As Valerie wrote recently, "we must dismantle, once and for all, the systems that allow the institutionalization of children. The best way to protect and rehabilitate children is to ensure their parents are the foundation of their support, whether in their homes, communities or suitable communitybased environments. There are community-based alternatives to youth prisons that work better, cost less, and help young people get the support they need to get back on track." (www.riseforyouth.org)

At the recent meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL) I learned of the important work being done by a committee in NCSL to identify the principles that states should adhere to in reforming their juvenile justice systems. It is being demonstrated in states that it is possible to reform the system to reduce crime and recidivism, enhance public safety, and produce good citizens from those who in the past may have been referred to as criminals. I am pleased that Virginia is making improvements, but we must stay vigilant to continue progress.

As a nation of high moral standards, we must insist that the youngest and most vulnerable among us have an opportunity to succeed even if they are in our poorest communities or seeking asylum for their safety among us.

September Is National Voter Registration Month

Voting is the way leaders are chosen to represent residents at the Federal, State and local levels of government. Carrie Chapman Catt, founder of the League of Women Voters, stated that the vote was the "emblem of equality" for all citizens. In order to vote, one first has to be registered to vote.

Recognizing the importance so many decades later. of voting in a democracy, on Sept. 6, 1962, President John F. Kennedy signed Proclamation 3489, designating September as National Voter Registration Month. This proclamation states, "a disturbingly large number of citizens, who would otherwise be qualified to vote in Federal, State and local elections, are barred from voting because they fail to register to vote in compliance with State election laws [and] each citizen has not only a right to vote but also a civic obligation to do so." This is still true

The National Association of Secretaries of State, also recognizing the importance of voter registration, designated Sept. 25, 2012, as the first National Voter Registration Day. It has been celebrated on the fourth Tuesday in September since then. This year, it is will be celebrated on Sept. 25. Many local chapters of League of Women Voters will be registering voters in their counties, cities and towns during September. Register to vote if not already registered. This is also a time to check and update one's voter registration if recently moved or had a name change. Check the League of Women Voters of the Fairfax Area website at www.lvv-fairfax.org to get information on the voter registration drives.

"They have things to say, things to share," remarked Deputy Martha Heyward, as she smiled down on 6 year-old Nirvana who was clutching her cart, already holding some spiffy new sneakers, "socks with pom-poms!" and other essentials.

Needless to say, the sight of dozens of deputies wandering the aisles took a few of the Target patrons by surprise.

"This has got to be the safest place to be right now in the whole county," laughed Carole Miller of Fairfax. Once the activity was explained to her, Miller seemed a bit emotional.

"That's just the nicest thing I have heard or seen in I don't know how long. Bless them all."

AFTER ABOUT AN HOUR of shoe-sizing, holding up pants to check for fit, serious deliberations about the right cap to buy, deputies crawling about looking for size 6 jeans in that color and helping to choose which pencil case best matched a glittery binder, the carts rolled to the checkout points and the tallying began. There was some jovial ribbing among the deputies aimed at those who had exceed the $250 budget, like Lt. Ricardo Evans who was shopping with 8 year-old Jamaury - "Hey, he needed all this stuff!" – but the little extras were kept, even the Barbie Doll that Miss Nirvana couldn't help but proudly show to one and all.

Target still had one more surprise for the young shoppers before they headed off with their bundles; each child also received a backpack filled with a variety of school supplies.

When Did This Happen?

By KENNETH B. LOURIE

I remember conversations regularly occurring between me and some other person, presumably older (if heard over the phone) or in person if my sight and senses didn't deceive me, where the question was asked to me: "You're probably too young to remember?" concerning any number of subjects. Now, I'm asking the identical question, and I don't think my sight or senses are deceiving me, though they are refracted, so to speak.

Somehow, I'd like to believe that despite the obvious passage of time, I am, to quote Bob Dylan from his song "My Back Pages," included on his "Another Side of Bob Dylan" album released in 1964: "Ah, but I was so much older then, I'm younger than that now."

I may be wiser and full of perspective, but despite flowery lyrics, I am older - just check the calendar. Father time waits for no man - or woman. As years pass, the pages turn and you simply aren't the person you used to be (or thought you were).

Benjamin Button may have gotten younger (aged in reverse, having been born an old man), but for the rest of us, we may feel that "youth," as they say, "is wasted on the young." Nevertheless, none of us is getting any younger.

Moreover, to quote Charles Franklin: "No one gets out of this life alive." (Although, I swear I remember my late mother attributing that quote to the legendary screen actress, Bette Life goes on is the short version, and through that passage of time, at some point, apparently you're addressed respectively as "Mister" and "Sir," and doors are opened/held, seats are offered and accommodations made. And when I have those random conversations with strangers - to pass that time or even with people with whom you have a familiarity, more and more of those people are younger than I am and I find myself asking/presuming if they know what past event, historical fact, popular culture reference or sports memory, etc., I am even referring to. And as often as not, they don't.

What's odd - or lost on me because I'm loathe to admit it, is that the former "questionee" - vours truly - has become the current questioner - again yours truly. As is becoming abundant clear, where I was once ascending, I am now descending.

This has nothing to do with my last few cancer columns. It has to do with my birth year: 1954. Meaning, as the birthday card jokes on the front cover "I wouldn't say you were old this year" to the inside-of-the-card slam: "Hell, you were old last year."

It just seems/feels that this juxtaposition of the "space-time continuum" ("Star Trek: Voyager") time/age relative to others has happened in a blink (nanosecond) and that blink is a tell. And no matter what I do to counter that impression, I can't stop it. It seems that tell has become a

And since I'm telling all, dealing with one's own mortality for as long as I have been: Feb. 27, 2009, the official date of my non-small cell lung cancer diagnosis, has certainly had its share of wear and tear, emotionally and physically.

For me – or for any of you regular readers to think that this unexpected journey has not been fraught with before, during and after side effects - and main effects, up and down and all around, is unrealistic at best and delusional at worst. And since I'm rarely delusional except when it comes to the Boston Red Sox, it must be unrealistic.

But maybe being unrealistic is what has taken me nine years and nearly six months past my original diagnosis. If that's the reason, I see no reason to change now, age notwithstanding, or sitting, however the case may be.

Braddock Basics for Newcomers

By Supervisor John C. Cook

t is an honor to welcome you to Fairfax County and the Braddock District. As you will soon discover, this County is filled with activities, resources, and opportunities for all to enjoy. I would like to highlight a few in Braddock.

Autumn is the perfect time to explore Braddock's lakes and parks. Lake Accotink Park is the environmental gem of the Braddock District, with a scenic 50-acre lake and a variety of activities surrounding it. Visitors can play mini-golf, rent boats, walk a 4-mile loop trail, ride a carousel, and enjoy the well-stocked snack bar.

Another outdoor locale residents enjoy is Royal Lake Park. There, families can enjoy playgrounds and easy walking trails around a smaller, but beautiful lake. Nature lovers and outdoorsmen will feel right at home

THE SCHOOLS in our District are some of the best in the nation. Every year, our elementary and middle schools receive topscores in state and national standardized testing. Meanwhile, our three top-rated high schools - Lake Braddock, W.T. Woodson, and Robinson — produce scores of national merit scholars and countless champions in sports, music, arts and more.

George Mason University and Northern Virginia Community College offer first-rate higher education to Braddock residents and contribute immensely to the Braddock neighborhood.

The Braddock District has a strong tradition of providing music and cultural events to the community. Each year, my office hosts a free summer concert series called Braddock Nights, which features local artists at Lake Accotink Park and Royal Lake Park. At George Mason University's EagleBank Arena, concert-goers can see the hottest musical acts and entertainers year round in the 10,000 seat stadium. Also on campus is George Mason's Center for the Arts. Students, faculty, and renowned international artists present the best of classical music, opera, jazz, world music, dance, theater, global music and dance, and more. There is never a lack of cultural events in Braddock.

One problem we do have is choosing where to eat with so many wonderful restaurants nearby. University Mall, located just across from George Mason University, has plenty of eateries, shops, a newly renovated Giant grocery store, and the University Mall Theatres. Fairfax Corner is another exceptional shopping center with popular restaurants. After a meal you can watch a movie at the Cinemark Fairfax Corner 14 Theater, take the kids to the "splash pad," or go shopping

> Chapel. The Oak Hill Mansion in Annandale is a Georgian-style manor built in 1790. It is the last standing of three properties owned by the Fitzhugh family, who played significant roles in the Revolutionary War and Civil War. The mansion was also the site of a pivotal Civil War ambush called the "Oak Hill Kitchen Skirmish."

Another popular historic landmark is Wakefield Chapel. Built in 1899, this place of worship was named after a Union soldier-turned-pastor, E.W. Wakefield. Visiting these sites helps you understand the significance Braddock played in the course of American history.

FOR FUN FAMILY EVENTS, don't miss Celebrate Fairfax! at the Government Center in June, an exciting County-wide carnival and musical event fit for the whole family. Good Charlotte, Sugar Ray, and Gin Blossoms headlined this year's

I hope you take advantage of everything Braddock has to offer.

he City of Fairfax is an exciting place to be because new things are always on the horizon. Look ing toward the future, several development projects are either proposed or in the works. Below are details about some of them:

Mount Vineyard

The Oak Knolls Realty Corp. is redeveloping the former Oak Knolls apartment complex into Mount Vineyard, which will boast 102 brand-new condos and 30 townhouses. The site is 6 acres along Main and Oak streets in Fairfax. Being constructed are two, 32-unit condominium buildings with elevators; 38 stacked condo units and 30 townhomes, for 132 units total.

They're all for-sale units. The four-story, 32-unit condo buildings will have red-brick, fiber-cement siding, metal railings, stacked siding and bay windows on the corners. And a red-brick, courtyard wall along Oak Street will offer privacy to the 22-foot townhome

The developer is undergrounding all utilities on site and in the adjacent rights of way people have already moved in and made this on Oak and Main streets, constructing a bus shelter, donating money for improvements in nearby Pat Rodio Park and contributing $550,000 to the City of Fairfax toward affordable housing. It's also making streetscape improvements, providing a pedestrian connection to the park and reducing about 95 percent of the site's surface

The homes will feature "green" building practices and other contemporary amenities, uses in three, separate buildings. And Fairfax including rooftop terraces and garage park- officials hope this project will be a catalyst ing. Three access driveways will be along Fairfax Boulevard, with another at a traffic light at University Drive. An access will also be added for the Whole Foods. There'll be no access to Eaton Place, but the University Drive Extension will provide it. Work won't begin until late this year, but it's earmarked and renamed Point 50. buildings, plus a Giant Food store – which will be a 54,000-square-foot, full-service, grocery store with pharmacy. Two parking garages are also part of the project.

Dubbed a "transit-oriented development," it's located at Fairfax Circle and flanked by Fairfax Boulevard (Route 50), Lee Highway (Route 29) and Pickett Road, so it will have easy access to and from major highways. And once the lease agreement was signed with Giant, the project's construction schedule was accelerated and site-preparation work has already begun.

CBG, Clark Builders Group, will construct the all-rental apartments, and 6 percent of them will be affordable housing. Two buildings will have retail uses on the first level and five stories of residential above. There'll be some 3-bedroom apartments, but most will be 1- and 2-bedroom units. Parking-garage entrances will be from Route 50 and from a back street.

Novus Fairfax Gateway

In 2015, the Fairfax City Council approved Novus Fairfax Gateway LLC's application to transform part of the Kamp Washington triangle between Fairfax Boulevard and Lee Highway into a modern, community-serving, mixed-use project.

Planned for the 8.33-acre site were 403 multifamily apartments, 24 of which would were 29,000 square feet of first-floor commercial uses – 25,000 square feet would be Paul VI Site for retail and a restaurant, and a 4,000square-foot office space would be dedicated to the nonprofit CASA, Court-Appointed Special Advocates.

square feet of retail divided between two would be centrally located, and a seven-story develop this land along Fairfax Boulevard parking garage would have a pool on top. Some 11,000 square feet of residential amenities were also envisioned.

But in February, the applicant asked to amend the project. The new proposal maintains all the apartment units. But it features a more varied mix of apartments, including studios, 1-bedroom, 2-bedroom and 3-bedroom. Furthermore, the commercial space has been reduced to just 19,136 square feet, including the 4,000 square feet for CASA.

The remaining 15,136 square feet of commercial use is proposed as a restaurant, plus ground-floor retail. One of the previously approved buildings has been removed from the plan and the footprint of another has been revised. And the pool has moved from the roof of the garage to behind one of the other buildings. The City Council public hearing on these revisions is tentatively scheduled for Sept. 11.

The plan also contains a through street with a connection at the Bevan Drive signal at Fairfax Boulevard, plus a new, un-signalized entrance on Lee Highway. The community's road network could correspond to the future redevelopment of the rest of the Kamp Washington triangle, while treating the section connecting Lee Highway to Fairfax Boulevard with several, traffic-calming elements to reduce cut-through traffic.

Also planned are trails connecting to adjacent properties, plus open space including a 5,600-square-foot contemplative space next to the Jermantown Cemetery. Novus be affordable dwelling units. Also slated will maintain this space and the cemetery.

For the past 2-1/2 years, IDI executive Enrico Cecchi has proposed various incarnations of a complex, mixed-used development there, but many residents believe it would be too dense. So he's met with them and with City staff several times to come up with something more palatable.

At the June 12 City Council public hearing, the latest revision contained 295 residential units comprising 131 townhouses and 164 condos, 20,000 square feet of retail in two buildings, plus 24,000 square feet of commercial and/or community uses in the retained, original portion of the school building. Fifteen of the townhouses along Fairfax Boulevard would be live/work units with retail on the bottom.

The new, retail buildings would be onestory and to the east and west of the remaining school building. Overall, building heights would be one to five floors, with three floors adjacent to neighborhoods. A four-story, multifamily building would face Oak Street, with a five-story building behind it.

Drivers would access the site via an existing entrance from Oak Street and four points along Fairfax Boulevard. No vehicular connections are proposed between the site and McLean, Cedar or Keith avenues. A service road would run the length of the Fairfax Boulevard frontage, and Fairfax Boulevard would have slow-lane parking.

IDI would also add a shared-use path along McLean and Cedar avenues and a 10foot-wide walkway along the Fairfax Boulevard frontage.

The amount of open space was increased, and the site will contain pocket parks and a In 2020, Paul VI High School will move village green. Ultimately, though, the pub-
